Plot to Ruin R. R. Unions is Alleged
Jewell Springs Counter-Charge to Rebut Railroad Executives
MENTIONS E. T. STOTESBURY
Chicago, Sept. 20.—With counter charges of a union wrecking conspiracy of railway executives injected in the proceedings by the defense, hearing on the Government's rail strike injunction continued before Judge Wilkerson today, with only two days remaining to finish testimony and complete arguments before the temporary order expires tomorrow night.
The charge of a conspiracy to destroy the railroad unions, made in an affidavit by B. M. Jewell, head of the shop organizations, was offered to counter-charges by Attorney General Daugherty that the rail strike was a conspiracy against interstate commerce.
Mr. Jewell's affidavit was read by defense Attorney Donald R. Richberg, who today continued his attack on the injunction bill. Mr. Richberg indicated he would consume the entire day with counter-charges and argument.
Mr. Jewell laid the blame for the strike at the door of the Association of Railway Executives. Twenty-five rail heads linked together in the operation of ninety-nine class one roads with a trackage of 2,200 miles or 22 percent of the country's entire mileage were specifically mentioned as responsible for conditions leading to the strike.
Of these twenty-five there were eight named as a group forming "the inner circle of the financial combine." They were named as follows:
Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Board of the Union Pacific and director in twelve railroads; William Rockefeller (now dead), director in eleven roads; H. W. De Forest, New York, lawyer and capitalist, and director in eleven roads; A. H. Smith, president of the New York Central, director in eleven roads; G. F. Baker, president of the First National Bank of New York, director in ten roads; H. E. Vanderbilt, director in ten roads; Charles E. Rice, president of the Pennsylvania system, and L. F. Lorce, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad.
These eight are bracketed by Mr. Jewell with a group of seventeen others, as follows:
A. J. County, A. W. Kreech, F. N. Davis, Fairfax Harrison, W. W. Atterbury, J. F. Reynolds, Charles Steele, Howard Elliott, M. H. Smith, Charles Hayden, A. H. Harris, Julius Kruttschnitt, Charles E. Ingersoll, E. T. Stotesbury, E. V. R. Thayer, T. De Wit Cuyler and H. Walters.
"The first four of these twenty-five men," it is asserted, "sit on the board of directors of thirty-one roads; the first eight, on fifty-one roads; the first twelve, on seventy-four roads, and the first twenty hold approximately 160 directorships on 188 class 1 roads. Lovett is a director on twelve roads, Rockefeller on eleven, De Forrest and Smith on eleven each, Baker and Vanderbilt on ten each. In other words, the first six men control sixty-five railroads."
"Virtually the entire group is from the inner circle of the financial combine. It should be noted that both Cuyler, president of the Association of Railroad Executives, and Atterbury, chairman of the association's Labor Committee, belong to this inner group, which might easily be viewed as constituting the Railroad Committee of the New York banking combine. They are obviously the men who would have a very large part in determining the policy to be followed throughout the railroad industry of the United States."

HUCKSTER EXONERATED
Gloucester Youth Retracts Charge King Taught Him to Steal
William King, a Gloucester huckster, who was declared by fifteen-year-old Lawrence Mapes to have taught the lad to steal, has been exonerated of the charge in the Camden Criminal Court before Judge Shay.
Mapes, who lives in Gloucester, has been arrested many times. King hired him to assist in delivering vegetables. While in Brooktown, N. J., Mapes stole a pocketbook containing $6 from Mrs. Frances Sayer, of 214 New Jersey road. He was arrested, and at the time accused his employer of sharing in the profits.
In court the boy retracted this statement, saying King knew nothing of his thefts. King was discharged and the boy sent to the reform school at Jamesburg.

FREED IN SHOOTING CASE
Camden Boathouse Dweller Was Defending Woman He Later Wed
Fred Krauss, who lives in a boathouse at the foot of Jackson street, Camden, was tried before Judge Poreh in the Camden Criminal Court today for assault and battery on William Jones, also a boathouse dweller. He shot Jones twice in a fight.
Nellie Chew, the woman in the case, had been subpoenaed to appear as a witness against Krauss. When her name was called Krauss said he had married her, since the fight, so she was unable to testify against him.
When it was shown Krauss had fought in defense of the woman he was acquitted.

ALLEGED ASSAILANT HELD
Fruit Peddler Attacked by Three Men, Two of Whom Escape
James Cully, twenty-three years old, was held in $1500 bail by Magistrate Terri at the Fifteenth and Snyder avenue police station today on charges of assault and battery, highway robbery and larceny. He was arrested last night after he and two companions had attacked Samuel Rosen at Mohr and Morris streets. Police say the purpose of the attack was robbery.
Rosen conducts a fruit stand at Mole and Morris streets.

WINDOW SMASHER GETS $75
Huris Brick as Trolley Car Passes Store
Taking advantage of the noise caused by a passing trolley car, a robber threw a brick through a plate-glass window of the furnishing store of William Backer, 224 Ridge avenue, early this morning and escaped with two coats valued at $75.
The man, a Negro, was seen by Miss Mollie Shannon, who lives at 2277 Ridge avenue, but the robber disappeared so quickly she did not have time to give an alarm. Backer was unaware of his loss until notified by police.

Woman, 70, Falls Down Stairs
Mrs. Nettie Rosen, an elderly woman, fell down the stairs at her home, 2545 South Sheridan street, last night, and suffered fractures of the left arm and leg. She was taken to the Mount Sinai hospital, where her condition is serious, owing to her advanced age.

Pig-iron and bobbed hair

Iron foundries and beauty parlors haven't much in common, yet we have recently heard of pig-iron and hair-bobbing being sold in the same way.

Both the founder and the hair-dresser realized the value of attractively presented information about what they had to sell. Both increased their business by the use of interesting circulars, with a direct, personal appeal.

If your product is a worthy one, and you feel that more people should buy it, the intelligent use of a few direct mailings may show you how to make more sales and to keep on making them. Many firms with diverse selling problems have used these personal reminders successfully.

Indispensable to the successful use of direct mail advertising is good printing, on good paper. The choice of a good printer practically assures the selection of good paper. Most good printers will recommend whichever one of Warren's Standard Printing Papers is best suited to your needs.

SENTIMENTS OF THE SONS OF THE FOUNDERS

Soon We Shall Have A Half Century Club

Many of the members of our Quarter Century Club are nearing the half-century term of service. One of these has been here since the forming of the partnership of the founders 54 years ago. Another has given 47 years of faithful service.

9 have served over 45 years
32 have served over 40 years
88 have served over 35 years
158 have served over 30 years

—And 269 men and women (this year's full membership of the Quarter Century Club) have been in the Store's service 25 years or more.

The members of this Club comprise but a small part of our organization of approximately five thousand; but we honor them as constituting the keystone in the arch that spans the stream of time and bears aloft the ideals of the founders.
