1922 Collegiate Football Campaign Gets Under Way Today With Contests in All Sections

29 GAMES IN OPENING OF GRID SEASON TODAY

Franklin and Marshall, Penn's Opponent Next Week, Clashes With Albright as Collegiate Football Campaign Begins

YALE ENGAGES BATES

ACROSS the chalk-lined green of the gridiron today will roll cheers from thousands of throats, but all will be quiet at the new Franklin Field save for the sound of construction, speeded up under stress of a contract nearing its time limit.

The 1922 college football season will blossom into reality in all sections of the country today, but Philadelphians must wait until next Saturday before Pennsylvania baptizes its new stadium with the first rush of the campaign.

Twenty-nine games are slated for today, an unusually large number for the fourth Saturday in September. The teams are getting an early start, the big elevens with the idea of practical training and the smaller ones with the hope of gaining immediate recognition by causing an upset.

Penn to Watch F. and M.

Locally the game which holds the most interest is the one which will be staged up at Lancaster. There Franklin and Marshall will oppose Albright, and the University of Pennsylvania athletes will be on hand spying on their opponents of next week.

The tobacco county collegians are reputed to have an exceptionally strong eleven, and danger warnings have been whispered about the training quarters at Mount Gretna. The Quakers will have a look and will gain some idea of the opposition they will face in their opening game. Franklin and Marshall ranks a big favorite over the Myerstown athletes.

Four other powerful Keystone State teams will swing into action. Penn State plays St. Bonaventure at State College; Bucknell engages Mansfield Normal at Lewisburg; Stroudsburg will attempt to stop the onslaught of Muhlenberg at Allentown, and out in Washington, Pa., Geneva will battle against Washington and Jefferson, the undefeated 1921 aggregation which reached the heights by holding Southern California to a scoreless tie at the Carnival of Roses.

Yale Opens With Bates

Yale is the only member of the Big Four, so called, to start the season. The Blue takes on Bates at New Haven, of course. Eli backers are banking on Yale to score more than four touchdowns.

The only other games in the East of prominence are those between Syracuse and Hobart at Syracuse, Holy Cross and Submarine Base at Worcester and Maine and Connecticut Aggies at Orono, Me.

In the South, Charlie Moran's Praying Colonels from Centre, minus Bo McMillan, will oppose Carson-Newman, whatever that is, Virginia Military College will battle Lynchburg at Lexington and Georgia will take on Newberry at Athens.

Last year Yale beat Bates, 28 to 0. Head Coach Tad Jones has developed a faster and more versatile team to meet Maine College, and most Eli rooters look for a larger score. Yale will probably present at least two full elevens.

Two Bates Stars

From last year's team Bates will bring to New Haven two stars in Captain Gulney and Davis, fullback and tackle. Of the newcomers on the Bates team, Safford, formerly captain of the Augusta, Me., High School team, and Burke, the former Haverhill, Mass., High School tackle, have shown promise.

The Bates team has been coached by Oliver Cutts, the former Harvard tackle.

After three weeks of strenuous training, the Muhlenberg football squad is pronounced in excellent shape.

Coach Siegel has been giving the boys scrimmage for the last two weeks. At times he had as many as four elevens going at one time.

The only cripple is Grenville Andrews, who, two years ago, was first quarterback on the University of Michigan.

Local Boys Get Chance

Toward the end of hard scrimmage last night Andrews was at the bottom of a heap and, in addition to having been knocked out, sustained a painful injury of the knee. He will be out of practice for several weeks. It is likely Siegel will try out McAlpin and Clark, the former Philadelphia Central High stars, in today's game.

On the eve of the opening game of the season, with St. Bonaventure, Coach Bezdek has made a characteristic last-minute shift in the Penn State line-up. In practice last night Dick Schuster, the big Williamsport lad who was regular tackle in 1920, but who has been playing on the second eleven this fall, was sent to left tackle on the varsity in place of Logue, and it is virtually certain that he will start the game in that position.

The cause of the shift was not so much due to weakness in Logue's playing as it was to the good work that Schuster has been doing in scrimmage this week. He has continually smashed through the varsity line to break up plays, and the coaches finally felt that he had earned promotion to the first team.

Coach Hugo will start both Harry Wilson and Mike Palm in the backfield, Wilson's injured leg has stood up very well in scrimmage, and since he is the only experienced backfield man on the squad he will be needed to steady the new players.

Kerstetter will be on deck to replace Palm whenever Bezdek decides to take the latter out, while Earl Krar will no doubt get into the game in place of Wilson before it is over. Carson, Gregory, Singer and Shanor will alternate at the other backfield posts.

Boyd Defeats Kelly

Ralph Boyd, Ohio State champion pocket billiard player, defeated George Kelly, Penn sylvania State champion, by the score of 125 to 116 at the National Billiard Academy. Kelly has been chosen by the opposing managers as their last run of four games, while Boyd, by his perfect position playing, ran forty-three, Charles Peterson, New York champion, will meet Boyd tonight in a 150-point game.

FINAL ROUND IN POLO TOURNAMENT

Because of Rumsey's Death, Argentine Takes Meadow Brook's Place Against Eastcott

ARGENTINES (Blue and White)	EASTCOTT (Dark Mauve)
Luis Nelson	S. Sanford
John Miles	W. E. Hopping
Jack Nelson	Maj. P. B. Hurrdall
Luis Lacey	Maj. V. W. Lockett

The flying Argentines will take the place of the Meadow Brook four against the Anglo-English Eastcott team in the final round of the international polo tournament this afternoon at the Philadelphia Country Club.

Because of the death of C. C. Rumsey, number two on the Orange County team, Devereaux Milburn decided to forfeit the match to Eastcott. Mr. Rumsey was an old friend of Mr. Milburn's, and out of respect to his memory the leader of the Meadow Brook team withdrew.

So as not to disappoint the tremendous crowd that is on edge to see the final match arrangements were made to have the South Americans meet Hopping's team. Though the Argentines, who are the champions of England and America, were decidedly off their game on Wednesday and were outclassed by Meadow Brook, 15 to 4, they are capable of wonderful play, and are slight favorites over Eastcott in spite of the fact that the latter will carry a two-goal handicap.

The match will start at 4 P. M., and tickets number 6 will be good for admission.

Scraps About Scrappers

Joe Wagner, of New York, has been in Philadelphia trying to complete negotiations for a match between Jack Sharkey and Joe O'Donnell, to take place at the Pioneer Club, of New York.

Jack Palmer, South Philadelphia welterweight, has been in strict training for about a week. He now weighs 150 pounds and expects to be down to 148 in a few days.

Vincent Lopez, the Mexican middleweight, has been matched by Eddie Hayes to meet Johnny McLaughlin in one of the eight-round bouts at the Olympia October 2.

Joe Farrell, who dropped Benny Pascal three times last Wednesday night, has been added to the stable of Eddie Hayes. Bobby Burman, Billy Davine and Al Holtzman are other Hayes hitters.

Tommy Murray is out for big league competition this season. He is willing to make 118 pounds for either Carl Tremaine or Joe Lynch at any old time.

Ping Bodie has gained somewhat in weight. This season he will be ready for matches with Earl Baird, Kid Wagner, Kid Kaplan and Johnny Shugrue.

Otto Hughes has been keeping in touch with the dozen farmers he has paired at Shanahan's. Tuesday night, and finds them all in fit condition. The matches are: Sam Blackiston vs. Johnny McLaughlin, Artie McCann vs. Judge Rice, Eddie O'Malley vs. Frankie Rice, Joe Grimm vs. Joe Hoyle, Jack Duane vs. Frankie Kelly and Kid Howard vs. Frankie Burns.

Willie Thomas will appear in the wind-up spotlight at the Bijou next Wednesday night, meeting Young Jack Dempsey. Two other bouts are: Frankie Brady vs. Frankie Kramer and Marty Harris vs. Joe Manning.

J. E. Susco writes that Johnny Leonard was the winner of a bout with Bobby Williams at Allentown early in the week, choosing two different clippings which award the Northampton, Pa., lad the decision.

At Lang is ready to match his Italian protege, Tarzan, against Ray Mulligan and other flyweights in Philadelphia, to prove who is the leading 112-pounder in this city.

There are letters in the Sports Department of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER for Billy Moore.

PRINCETON VARSITY SCORES ON SCRUBS

Has Lots of Trouble in Crossing Omelets' Goal Line Twice

TO CUT HARVARD SQUAD

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 23.—Two touchdowns for the varsity eleven were the result of the first afternoon of regular scrimmage for the Princeton football squad, held on University Field.

For more than an hour Coach Bill Roper and his staff sent members of the varsity combination against the Omelets, and it was with difficulty that the regulars were able to push the ball past the scrubs, which are being groomed again this year by Nat Poe with the assistance of Linn Gordon.

The first touchdown was made after fifteen minutes of fast play by the veteran Jack Cleaves, playing fullback, who advanced the ball from the thirty-yard line with a series of line bucks and carried the pigskin over the line on a charge off tackle.

The first injury of the season was received by Tillson, an end from last year's freshman team, who suffered a twisted knee. It is not known how long he will be absent from practice.

The Varsity B combination was not to be outdone in the scoring, and Ken Smith, veteran back from last year's eleven and who is out for end this season, grabbed a forward pass and dashed twenty yards for the second marker of the day.

HARVARD — Yesterday's football session at Cambridge lasted three hours including the half-hour kicking drill for the backs, who had the stadium to themselves before the beginning of the regular drill.

Later the varsity squad was put through all the work which has been done to date, and in addition to a lot of work on individual play, the workout including a long defensive drill.

After today's workout a large cut will be made in the first team squad, which is still much larger than usual. The work will consist of a hard scrimmage for the best of the material, there being no other football planned. After two week's practice the Crimson squad is now surely as far along as it was after three weeks' drill a year ago.

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON'S gridiron players will open their 1922 campaign today by playing Geneva College, winner of the Class B championship in Western Pennsylvania last year. Head Coach Greasy Neale announced that the Presidents are fit and ready for the fray. He said the line-up at the start would be as follows: Ends, Kopf and Konvolinka; tackles, Oltz and Weiderquist; guards, Perkins and Vince; center, Crook; quarterback, Captain Brenkert; halfbacks, Erickson and West; fullback, Basista.

LEHIGH—The football squad will have the first secret practice of the season today. Henderschoot, Harper and Greer, last year veterans, yesterday were allowed to practice, having overcome their scholastic difficulties. Levitz, a new man, is giving Greer a hard run for the fullback position. Of the new men, Yeager, Miller, linesmen, and Stephens, a back, are showing up best. The freshman class has not uncovered as yet the amount of material that was expected and at this date it looks as if the team will be made up mostly of last year's material.

COLUMBIA—Driving his first and second string teams at a terrific pace, Buck O'Neil, head of football strategy at Columbia, yesterday afternoon started polishing up the rough spots on his big Blue and White squad for the opening game with Ursinus a week from today. O'Neil sent his two elevens through the longest scrimmage of the training season and watched his first string backfield plunge through the second string line for three touchdowns in the fifty minutes of scrimmaging.

SWARTHMORE—Coach Mercer sent the Garnet football squad through the most strenuous practice of the season yesterday in preparation for the scrimmage work which he says will probably be started Monday. For two hours every man on the large squad, which was increased today to eighty-six members, grabbed forward passes, ran through the signals and bumped shoulders with the line of defense in a hardening-up process for the big work of next week.

NAVY—Academy football officials expect a substantial addition to their line candidates in Lentz, who played at guard on Rutgers last year, and who has been appointed to the Academy. He has passed the preliminary physical tests and the Academy authorities are now considering his scholastic certificates. Lentz weighs 215 pounds and played a strong game last year.

HAVERFORD—The squad at Haverford College has been put through the severest kind of field practice in the preliminaries of the game, and Coach Marmon has called the first scrimmage for the squad today. Every effort to put the team across this year is being made. Don Wilbur is developing at center into a steady sort of player. Wilbur weighs 186, and had no football experience prior to coming to Haverford from Haverford Prep.

SILK SOX HERE

Howard Lohr's Aggregation Play South Philly for Final Time

Howard Lohr and the Paterson Silk Sox will make their final appearance of the season here this afternoon against the South Phils at Shetzline Park.

Lohr is the crack local outfielder, who also plays with the South Phils every day but Saturday and Sunday, which he gives to the Silk Sox.

The Doherty Oval aggregation are big favorites with local fans, and as this is the only game downtown this afternoon a large turnout is expected.

The Silk Sox play the Phillies tomorrow at Clifton Heights, N. J.

WEST PHILA. NINES TO BATTLE AGAIN

Stonehurst to Play Shanahan and Lit Brothers Will Oppose Terminal

FLEISHER VS. STRAWBRIDGE

The series for the West Philadelphia section championship of the Philadelphia Baseball Association has come to a conclusion, with Shanahan the winner, but the same keen rivalry exists between the teams and rooters.

The four clubs that participated will meet again this afternoon and the usual large outflowing of fans will be on hand to root for their respective rivals.

At Forty-eighth and Brown streets Stonehurst and Shanahan come together, James Bonner's boys came from the rear and copped the honors, while Stonehurst won three straight, then had a lot of players crippled and lost the next three. They are confident of taking the measure of Shanahan, and there will be a merry battle when Friday and Manning take to the hill.

At Fifty-fourth and Elmwood avenue Lit Brothers will meet Philadelphia Terminal. The railroaders put the store boys out of the running last Tuesday when they won out, 3 to 2, and robbed Barney Slaughter's team of a chance to tie Shanahan. Pitcher Ott, who dropped the deciding contest, will be used again in the box against Eddie Lennon or Eddie Bariess.

The Fleisher garners, who have several victories over Strawbridge & Clothier, are back again at Sixty-third and Walnut streets. Mechan or McKenty will hurl for the yarners, with McMillan pitching for the home team.

HEISMAN SELECTS 18 FOR VARSITY

Team Will Return to Training House This Evening and Practice Here Monday

CAMP PLEASES HEAD COACH

Mount Gretna, Pa., Sept. 23.—The Red and Blue flashed into Lebanon Valley for the last time this season, when the Penn football team wound up its preseason training at Mount Gretna with a final scrimmage against the Lebanon Valley College eleven at Annville. The practice game scheduled between the two teams was called off when Penn arrived two hours late for the scheduled encounter.

This afternoon the Penn warriors will witness the Franklin and Marshall-Albright game at Lancaster. They will arrive in Philadelphia this evening.

The varsity then will take up regular quarters at the training house.

Coach Heisman made his first selection of a varsity last evening when he nominated eighteen men to go into the training house this evening. The list is composed of those who have made the best showing in camp. This means that the varsity team is in no way staple. Ten men will be added later to live in the training house, while as high as thirty-five will be possibly eating there by midseason.

The present varsity squad follows: Captain Miller, Dern, Thurman, Vogelin, Ertresvaag, Wittmer, Langdon, Adam, F. Dewhirst, McGraw, Craig, Papworth, Kells, Kauffman, Fairchild, Johnson, Sullivan and Woodard.

Coach Heisman issued the following statement last night regarding the training camp: "I have been very well pleased with the way things have turned out up here. It is an ideal spot for the training and conditioning of a football team. We have been able to do a lot of scrimmaging and badly needed work that has been impossible in former camps.

"In fact, my varsity team this season is far in advance of those I have coached at Penn in any of the past years. We are fully two weeks ahead in scrimmaging, and I have a much better line on my material than before, especially in the case of the line, which has shown remarkable improvement during the last two weeks."

UPTOWN NINES IN ELIMINATION CLASH

Bridesburg and Dobson Play Northern Title Contest at Richmond and Orthodox

Whether the J. & J. Dobson baseball team will finish the northern section series for the Philadelphia baseball championship in a tie with the North Phillies will be determined this afternoon at Richmond and Orthodox streets when Bridesburg meets the East Falls weavers.

Bridesburg is out of the running and is also out of the association, but agreed to play the nine games in order to have the series completed. Manager White, of Dobson, will send his strongest team in the field and Norman Pfaff will pitch, while Bill Wittman will use "Lefty" Steely in an effort to check the hick opponents.

At Fourth and Wingohocking streets the North Phillies will again meet Burlington. The Jerseymen have provided the Phils with some stiff competition this season and have met defeat only in close scores. "Lefty" Robinson will pitch for the North Phils.

The National Cricket Club and Kensington Congregational play for the seventh successive Belgrade and Ontario. Once again it will be Seibold against Bradley.

SHADE IS HARD HITTER

Californian Meets Loughran at Olympia Monday Night

Tommy Loughran, South Philadelphia's middleweight, went through another busy day of training yesterday in preparation for his next ring test of the indoor season at the Olympia A. A. Monday night, when he will clash with George Shade, of California. Shade has fought nearly 150 ring battles, and his record shows that he has won all but about half of them in the knockout route.

Three of Shade's opponents in his most recent bouts were rocked to sleep by the Californian, the list of victims including Johnny Howard and Tillie (Kid) Herman.

Young Montreal, of Providence, who has stopped his last two opponents, will square off with Joe Nelson, of this city.

Earl France, of California, will meet Frankie Rice, of Baltimore.

Southpaw and right-hander will vie for honors when Bobby Burman, of this city, clashes with Earl Baird.

Benny Berris, of Chicago, and Messenger Miller, of this city, are paired off for the opening number.

FIGHTING THE DOPE RING

Strenuous efforts are being made to clear the city of the deadly "dope" ring. The situation is changing every day. For latest developments, read the news columns of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER. "Make It a Habit."—Adv.

BRILL BROTHERS STAR IN PENN CHARTER WIN

Dick Merritt's Quaker Eleven Starts on Way Through Another Successful Season by Defeating Frankford High, 15-0, in Opening School Football Game

By PAUL PREP

PENN CHARTER, 15; Frankford High, 0.

The scholastic football season blew in on our fair city yesterday afternoon and that was the result of the first clash between male-spunned schoolboys.

At the outset we will tip the new fall toppiece to one Mr. Merrit, called Dick, because his name is Henry.

Dick Merrit is coach of the Penn Charter eleven, and this team has won the interacademic gridiron gonfalon for the last nine years. Frankford High School won the Interscholastic League title last year.

With weight against it by at least twenty pounds to the player, the diminitive Quaker eleven beat the Pioneers at the latter's own game. Instead of resorting to its famous forward-pass attack, the Yellow and Blue swept its way to victory through line plays and end runs.

Four times during the game Penn Charter tried forward passes. Three times the aerial attack failed, but once it was successful. After the second touchdown had been scored Penn Charter added the extra point with a pass.

THE "try-for-point" after touchdown, which takes the place of the "free" kick for goal, was seen in operation for the first time here in this game.

First Try Fails

THE ball is placed in play by a scrimmage from any point on or outside the 5-yard line and can be rushed, passed or either drop-kicked or place-kicked.

After Martin Brill had scored Penn Charter's first touchdown M. Smith attempted to drop-kick the ball between the posts on the free play. His kick was blocked.

Martin Brill scored P. C.'s other touchdown also and then the Quakers tried a forward pass. Whitney Brill tossed the ball to Freeman, who dropped over the line, scoring an extra point.

Ground rules gave Penn Charter its other two points in the last period, robbing the Quakers of a touchdown at the same time. It was Frankford's ball on its own 10-yard line. The Pioneers lost 7 yards and Acting Captain Tomlin dropped behind his own goal line to punt.

He kicked the ball and it hit the goal post, bouncing over the crowd. M. Smith dropped on the ball, and it was thought the Quakers had scored another touchdown. The ground rules specified, however, that if the ball went into or over the crowd in back of a goal line a safety was to be allowed.

THE game was played under ideal conditions for baseball. It was much too warm for the grid game, but despite this, a remarkable brand of football was shown.

Brill Brothers Shine

TOMLIN, one of the two veterans back from Frankford's 1921 champion eleven, won the toss from Captain Schanche and decided to kick off. He booted the ball to Evans on P. C.'s 15-yard line and the pigskin was rushed back 5 yards.

After Frankford had regained the ball and lost it again, the Brill brothers stepped into the limelight. Whitney, brilliant fullback of last season, who called signals in yesterday's conflict, opened the attack with a long run around left end for a first down.

This was the first of a series of scintillating dashes by the dazzling Whitney. Speeding like an antelope, Whitney dodged, side-stepped and straight-armed his way through the Frankford machine time and again for substantial gains.

Martin helped him by plunging off tackle, smashing through center and displaying remarkable interference. Between them the Pioneers were kept on their toes at all times.

BUT the other members of the backfield must not be forgotten. Derrick K. C. Smith, Burke and Freeman played in wonderful fashion, and deserved the plaudits of the crowd.

Captain Schanche Stars

IT IS seldom that a lineman steps into the spotlight, especially if he happens to be a guard. But Geiger, of Penn Charter, could not be kept out of the picture. He battled his way into every play and crashed into the Frankford defensive like a battering ram. He blocked a punt on Tomlin and played an all-around classy game.

And when it comes to centers, the laurel wreath must be handed to Captain Fred Schanche. The Quaker leader played in true Herb Stein form, and was a terror to Geiger athletes throughout the contest. His offensive play was great, and he was twice as good on the defense.

Three other players starred on Penn Charter's eleven, Evans and Fitler, the old standbys at the tackle positions, and Taulane, on the end. Scholastic fans need no introduction to the tackles, but Taulane is new this year. He played through the entire game while suffering from a "charley horse," and showed great fighting spirit.

* * *

SO MUCH for Penn Charter. Let us turn to Frankford, the vanquished. Coach Elwood A. Geiges' eleven put up a great fight, but was forced to admit defeat to one of the best lightweight machines that ever opened a season for Penn Charter.

Veterans Missing

THE failure of veterans to return to school and the recent injury of Captain Charley Weekes completely smashed the Pioneer aggregation. It went into the game against enormous odds and did itself proud despite the defeat.

With Clausen, who recently quit school, back at his tackle position; with Mike Bennett, one of the best ends in the city, who would not play this season because of his studies, and with Charley Weekes, who broke his ankle, back leading the team, Frankford would have been 100 per cent better.

As it was, Frankford put up a stiff battle. For a bunch of boys who have not been playing together long, the Pioneers showed some team play. They seemed to make a diagnosis of the Penn Charter plays at times and more than once dropped the Quaker backs for losses.

Even a coach with the ability of Geiges cannot win games when Lady Luck deserts him. It is impossible to bring a crippled team through to a victory over a champion eleven. It
