

RAIL INJUNCTION IS PUT IN FORCE

Effectiveness of Order Unmodified by Court—Slight Verbal Changes Made

SHOPMEN TO TAKE APPEAL

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The drastic temporary injunction order asked by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty against shop craft strike leaders was put in force today by Judge James H. Wilkerson without any of its effectiveness being modified.

Several slight changes in the wording of the order submitted Saturday were made by Judge Wilkerson to clarify its meaning.

Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the railway shop crafts, indicated today that the next step would be a petition to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for a review of the order.

To combat Attorney General Daugherty's efforts to have the temporary writ made permanent means a long, costly fight, Mr. Richberg said, a fight which would severely test the effectiveness of the unions. "What we are most interested in now," he said, "is an effort to obtain a review of this case by the Circuit Court of Appeals."

Judge Wilkerson signed the order after Donald R. Richberg, defense attorney, said he was "unable to suggest any form of order which would effectively give legal sanction to the exercise of an authority which we respectfully urge is not within the power of the courts in this proceeding in its method and result 'due process of law,' in order to justify the denial of constitutional rights of the defendants by an judicial finding based on ex parte affidavits," said Mr. Richberg, "seems to me to disregard the fundamental principles of our system of laws, as well as to exercise a power specifically denied to the Federal courts by an Act of Congress passed in order to prevent the very deprivation of liberty and property which is here accomplished."

"It appears that none of the named defendants is even charged with the commission of any unlawful act. Apparently, however, the Court has found that there is proof of an unlawful conspiracy in the large number of unlawful acts shown to have been committed, most of them by unknown parties, and that the defendants are presumed to have knowledge that these things were done."

Following the short plea by defense attorneys that the Government petition for an injunction be denied, Judge Wilkerson denied the motion and added the phrase "with intent to further said conspiracy" in several paragraphs and signed the order.

Signalmen Ask High Wage

A return to wartime wages and resumption of the basic eight-hour day were requested before the United States Railroad Labor Board today by representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America. D. W. Held, president of the brotherhood, is the leading force in the organization of 60,000 signalmen and their subsidiaries.

The signalmen are seeking a return to the wages established by the board under Decision No. 2 of March 1, 1920, an average daily wage of $4.72 to $7.04 a day. They ask in addition for differentials above those rates for foremen.

Mr. Held told the board that the brotherhood's action was based on four phases:

First, "The general upward trend of the living wage."

Second, "That the board, in computing reductions in 1921 and 1922 had not used the cost of living index."

Third, "That the Government action was made in error, because Decision No. 2 was based on a living wage prior to December, 1919, which since has increased materially."

Fourth, "That Government figures place the living cost of the average family at $2400."

Washington, Sept. 25.—(By A. P.)—Hearing was indefinitely postponed by the District of Columbia Supreme Court today on the Government's motion for dismissal of the injunction proceedings brought by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to prevent serving of notice of the restraining order issued in Chicago by Judge Wilkerson on local striking railroad shopmen. The postponement was by agreement of counsel.

Told to Take Tips, Fired Guide Says

back some of the small change he had given to others. You must then find everywhere at Independence Hall. Positions in life change every day. The things today become the things tomorrow and vice versa.

"Why such a fuss over tips in Independence Hall? If the officials hold the buildings in such reverence, why don't they keep them in a building museum? Most of the time they are dingy and dirty and some part of them closed. They permit a vendor of small bells to stand outside the inside door. I don't buy his wares. Why shout from the rooftops that Mr. Myers has been guilty of accepting tips in exchange for valuable information given? One feels facetiously belittled over the matter."

Complaints that guides who take bribes through the tower of City Hall are asking for tips have been made. The complaint is made by Mrs. J. B. Jones, wife of the Rev. R. T. Jones, 1025 Diamond street. Mrs. Jones took a trip to the tower with a party of relatives.

"After pointing out the sights," said Mrs. Jones, "the guide walked over to the women in our party, said something to them, and saw them open their pocketbooks. The guide went to my brother-in-law and said:

"Now I have shown you all the sights. Is it worth it to you?"

"The guide held his hand out, and there were two silver quarters on it. Probably he did not want us to think he was a dime."

"My brother-in-law gave the man fifty cents, making a dollar he got fifteen minutes from our party. We thought that he was dependent upon the tip for his living. They receive a salary of $1500 a day. Guides are in charge of Chief Baxter."

police after four automobile thieves, who were chased by him and ended in Norrisown. The men escaped after a pistol fight with their pursuers.

Pollman Maxwell, of the Lower Merion police force, saw four men in a touring car drive alongside of the machine of William Nunnaker at Broad and Mower avenue and Abertale road, Malvern, Pa. The men stepped from their car, got into Mr. Nunnaker's car, and both machines sped away.

When the men failed to stop at Maxwell's command, the latter ran to City Line, where he met Patrolman Wertz, and together they commanded an automobile to stop. They gained on the thieves, and got close enough to fire at the tires of the two machines ahead of them, but they failed to stop. The bandits turned the fire as the chase continued through Manayunk and Roxborough and then into Norrisown.

Two hijawmen attempted to hold up the Delmar, forty-two years old, 55 Mermald lane, Mount Airy, shortly after he stepped off a trolley car at Germantown avenue and Mermald lane last night. They were frightened away when the Delmar pulled up and was followed by the police.

During the scuffle Delmar was hit on the head with a revolver and was treated by a physician in the neighborhood.

Pepper Urges Jury as Labor Arbiter

many of you there is a feeling of disappointment that I have no formula to give to you and to suggest, however, that our problem is fundamentally one which concerns the spiritual attitude of our man toward another and that all the troubles which we are considering presuppose something wrong in that attitude. Under these circumstances there can be no formula and no panacea. If our hearts are not right in attitude, we hope to do is to make the best of a bad situation. If employers and unions not only lack confidence in one another but if the lack of confidence is mutual, and if the obstacles in the way of organizing industry on a partnership basis seem to us insurmountable, and if the stabilizing of industry does not itself minimize the labor problem, then we must inevitably founder.

"Let us at least, however, be honest enough to recognize that we are floundering and let us not make frantic appeals to Government and force to work the miracles which we do not desire."

"Let us set up sufficient governmental organization to give us official fore-casters who will scan the skies and sense the air currents. Let them be empowered to invoke executive action for the insupportable of emergency juries. Let these juries find the facts, enlighten the public and recommend the solutions, and let us be honest enough to realize that no power on earth can force the acceptance of these solutions except the concerted opinion of you and all your fellow citizens in America."

veloping unexpected cohesion in strength and may even live out the present national crisis.

It has added new members to the military, chosen with the view of lending it popular support; has appointed General Panopolis governor general of Thrace, and has designated three popular generals to proceed to Thrace and push the work of reorganizing the army there.

Meanwhile a note from the allied Powers directing their communication to Mustafa Kemal Pasha reaching his conditions for peace has reached the Foreign Office and has had the effect of sending the Greek position even further and deeper into a crisis. The Powers in their communication merely informed the Greek Government of their action.

The Greeks are not looking for negotiations, said one official today, but she intends to go right on with the task of building up her army in Thrace. In Thrace Greece is, and in Thrace Greece will remain, is the watershed today of the Greek people.

"I refer to the tragic lack of confidence which permeates both groups in such cases. The employers distrust the unions. The unions distrust the employers. It is likely for the defect agreement when such is the state of mind of the contracting parties.

"If mutual lack of confidence blocks agreement normal recourse is to third-party intervention."

TURKS WITHDRAW UNDER WHITE FLAG

Constantinople, Sept. 25.—(By A. P.)—The British officials announce that a Turkish force of 100 cavalry, which crossed the neutral zone at Chanak Saturday night, retired yesterday at 6 o'clock following a meeting at 6 o'clock yesterday morning between the commanders of the Turkish and the British forces. No shots were fired. The Turks retired under a white flag.

The British ultimatum allowed until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon for guarantees respecting the return of Thrace, and it was because no guarantees were forthcoming that the Turkish cavalry crossed the border.

Successful naval gains from Malta are expected to arrive momentarily at Chanak. General Shuttleworth, commanding the Chanak forces, is confident of holding the Straits of the Dardanelles.

KING STILL TO RULE, METAXAS BELIEVES

Athens, Sept. 25.—(By A. P.)—The Athenians are passionately divided on the great issue of the King of Venizelos. The alleged royal project to summon General Metaxas to the Premier's office, or perhaps even invest him with dictatorial powers if the situation justifies such a step, is a subject of intense discussion. Metaxas himself frankly discussed it today with the Associated Press.

"You must see the King and the Crown Prince too," he said, "the American people should know more about them. The Greek people admire and respect their King, who never signed an abdication, and they yearn to return to him at the last election. That was the only issue—the King or Venizelos, and they chose the King."

"If the King is stronger today than yesterday, I believe he will survive. If he is weaker, I will present myself as soon as possible to the King and I will propose to him to resign. I would prefer to resign as Premier. I doubt, however, that he will want to. He prefers diplomacy already to his specialty."

"Meanwhile I would collaborate of friendly with the Venizelist party in the interests of national unity."

Metaxas said he was unaware what the Venizelists would do. "You must ask their leader," he said. "But make no mistake, the King or the existing royal dynasty will remain and rule. That, at least, I think, is the will of the people. Talk with others. Tell them that the King is the will of the people, for all of us have an unshakable trust in their fairness and honest judgment."

FREAK STYLES AT SHORE

Women's Footgear Blue Striped With Criss-Cross Strap Decorations

Atlantic City, Sept. 25.—Freak styles take the lead in the fall fashion review along the Boardwalk. In footwear especially is the trend toward novelty and eccentricity.

The fair sex seemingly is greatly pleased with the new styles, as to material designs. Blue striped pumps with the strap decorations running in criss-crosses and on a background of white kid, were much in evidence along the esplanade last night. Broaded signers never had such a great demand or were in such wide variety in trimmings here as those that are seen among the promenade.

WILL TALK ON BIG FAIR

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger

Norristown, Pa., Sept. 25.—The Civic Club's program for fall and winter activities is out today and a most interesting season is promised. Each meeting will be featured with the presence of a prominent speaker, starting with Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, whose subject will be "The Sesqui-Centennial."

Club members are also interested in the fall meeting of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held on October 19, at 11 o'clock. In the week of October 19, the club's president, Mrs. Levin Fisher, and delegates will attend the annual meeting of the State Federation at Reading.

The first fall meeting of the local branch of the League of Women Voters will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

The congregation of the First Methodist Church worshiped yesterday for the first time in the enlarged auditorium of the edifice. Enlarged choir and pulpit platforms entirely transform that end of the church. The preacher in the morning was the Rev. George Henson, district superintendent, and Rev. T. J. Jackson, a former pastor, spoke in the evening.

Three runaway boys from Philadelphia were caught at Bridgeport yesterday. William Aket, eleven, and Henry Lower, eleven. They were held until their parents called for them.

Zeland Harver, of 45 North Clyde avenue, Atlantic City, is at Montgomery Hospital, suffering with a broken nose and cuts received in an automobile accident at Pottsville, when a truck chided by the American Transportation Company, of Philadelphia, which he was operating, crashed into the stone abutment of a bridge and upset.

MAN LEAPS TO DEATH

Victim of Third-Story Jump Inaged House Was Afire

When he imagined that the house in which he lived was on fire, Edward Brennan, thirty-eight years old, of 1012 Wallace street, jumped out a third-story window yesterday and was killed.

Passerby found Brennan lying on the pavement in front of the house and he was hurried to the Hahnemann Hospital. An investigation of his death by the police showed that he had attempted to slide from the window on a rope fire-escape, but he apparently lost his hold.
