

WOODHOUSE ADMITS DOING PRISON TERM

Aero Club's Ex-President Explains His Conviction for Manslaughter

WOULD PROTECT $20,000,000

New York, Sept. 26.—Henry Woodhouse, formerly president of the Aero Club of America, filed an affidavit and photographic exhibits in the Supreme Court yesterday to show that his indictment proceedings against the president of the club are brought to prevent the disposition of funds of the organization and the dispersal of evidence, which he declares is in the club files, pending on aircraft trials against the United States Government totaling $20,000,000.

At yesterday's hearing Mr. Woodhouse admitted that in 1905 he was convicted of manslaughter and had served a term in Dannemora Prison.

That chapter in his life was brought forward for one of the defendants.

Mr. Woodhouse said the killing occurred while he was working as a cook under his right name, Casagrande, which is his native name. It means the same as Woodhouse. Another cook working at the same place was in a bad humor, he added.

"The other cook said something to me in an angry way and I simply said, 'Oh, go along,'" the former aviation official testified. "He jumped at me, seized a knife in my hand with which I had been working in the kitchen. After he jumped at me, the next thing I knew he was dead."

Woodhouse describes himself in his affidavit not only as acting as chairman of a committee chosen at a special meeting of the Aero Club of America to institute legal proceedings to protect the funds and properties of the organization, but also declares he is acting "as chairman of the committee co-operating with the United States Government in the prosecution of aircraft frauds, requested by the United States Department of Justice to transmit to the department certain documentary evidence of aircraft frauds and the records and files of the Aero Club of America."

CAPTURES AN ANT-EATER IN NEW JERSEY WOODS

P. R. Ferry Master Stalks Animal Thought to Have Escaped Ship

William Barnard, a Pennsylvania Railroad ferry master, captured a South American ant-eater in the woods near Woodbury, N. J., yesterday.

Barnard was gunning when the long-tailed mammal ambled over a path. The ant-eater was as astonished as the hunter, and scurried into a thicket.

Barnard stalked the animal, seized it in his arms and took it home. It is believed the ant-eater escaped from a South American ship coming up the Delaware.

Friends of the ferry master suggest he cross the ant-eater with a duck-billed marmoset and breed a race of "sketeer-eaters."

Cantilever Shoe For Men and Women

The constant benefit derived from wearing Cantilever shoes is due to the fact that no unyielding metal is used to support the arch of the foot. Cantilever shoes are curved in to fit snugly, and correctly support the inner side of the foot arch, which is the weaker side. They are not rigid, the shoe is made of an ordinary shoe. Instead, the arch is flexible and allows the foot muscles to exercise and regain or retain their normal strength. The properly placed heel saves the strain on leg muscles and helps keep the body in proper balance. The sole outline is designed after the print of the normal bare foot. The toe is trig, yet roomy.

You will like Cantilever Shoes for their good style as well as their wonderful comfort. Why not begin to find a new joy in everything you do by buying a pair of cantilevers at the nearest dealer tomorrow.
