

Georges Carpentier's Defeat by Battling Siki Has Ended the Ring Career of the French Idol

CARPENTIER SOFTENED FOR BATTLING SIKI BY DEMPSEY'S BLOWS

Georges' Future Work in Ring Probably Will Be Only Reel Bouts—Notable Record of Mrs. Caleb Fox, World Series Attendance

GEORGES CARPENTIER'S decisive defeat caused by the terrific body beating administered by the slashing Senegalese, Battling Siki, virtually an unknown, means that the gorgeous one has passed into ring history. It is hardly likely that the former world's light heavyweight champion will ever box again.

American fans are no longer taking much stock in the African's six-round knockout against Carpentier. Many seem to believe that Jack Dempsey prepared Georges for the quick victory of Siki, contending that the Frenchman has never been the same man, physically, since his defeat by the Manassa Mauler.

A wireless from Paris, shortly after the bout, quoted Francois Desamps, Carpentier's manager, as saying that through force, and the chances are that he never will step into the ring to box again unless it is in a reel contest, since the delicate Georges has made good in the movies.

The victory of Siki will go a long way in erasing the unwritten code line, which became very much in evidence after Jess Willard returned the heavyweight crown to the Champion race by winning from Jack Johnson.

THE RACIAL matches were so badly handled and so a result the venue here was unable to get away for a long time, having been virtually pushed out of the stadium.

Mrs. Fox's Fine Record

MRS. CALEB FOX was one of the first women in Philadelphia to learn the game of golf. She learned it at a time when the great sport was ridiculed by the general public. But Mrs. Fox did not mind the scoffers, and determined to make herself proficient at it.

The first national women's championship was held at Mendocino in November, 1907, with thirteen entries. Mrs. Fox was one of them. The 1922 national women's championship started yesterday at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with more than 100 entries. Again Mrs. Fox was one of them.

She has never missed a single championship tournament, and though the lady from Huntington Valley has never succeeded in winning one of them she has always been in the running. Always played the game to the hilt. Yesterday, in the qualifying round at White Sulphur Springs, she pitched a good game against that of the best players coming from all over the country, as well as against the other women who may well be regarded as veterans in the game.

She started on a card of 89, only eight strokes behind that of Glenna Collier, who is ranked as the favorite to win the championship. It was a kind enough score for Mrs. Fox, considering this tournament and it was the crown to which she had been working for some time. It was a well-earned triumph, for in 1920 she entered the first round with Miss Helen Underhill, of New York, and lost a close one, 2 and 1.

MRS. FOX has been a member of several clubs and tournaments since then, but the one which is the most important to her is the national one. She has been a member of the Philadelphia Golf Club since 1910, and has been a member of the Huntington Valley Golf Club since 1915. She has also been a member of the Philadelphia Golf Club since 1915.

Attendance Records Safe This Year

LAST year 200,077 persons paid to see the Yankees and the Giants in their games in the World Series. These figures set a new attendance record for the fall season, and it is a safe bet that the total will be broken this autumn.

The average crowd last year was 23,700, and while it may be that the throngs at the Polo Grounds this season will average this number, it may be more than seven games will be played and the total attendance will be the largest of last year's figures.

The attendance records for the fall season of the ball players. Last October alone $2,200,000 was divided among the Yankees and the Athletics. Each National League received about $720,000 and a check for about $800,000 was presented to each team.

With the same bill circulating for the fall and the year this season, the National League is looking for another record, but the Yankees have arranged to send a marketing staff and on paper should be better able to meet the challenge.

The younger league has the big edge in the number of series made. The Johnson athletes have captured ten of the seasons, season-by-season championships placed since 1905. In games won and runs scored, however, the fall of a season between the two leagues is a close thing.

The National League won four series games against the Athletics in their rivalry, but in runs scored against them in championship, they have had the greatest number of runs. Here are the figures:

Series Games
Year	Yankees	Giants	Yankees	Giants
1905	3	1	10	12
1906	2	1	10	12
1907	3	1	10	12
1908	2	1	10	12
1909	3	1	10	12
1910	2	1	10	12
1911	3	1	10	12
1912	2	1	10	12
1913	3	1	10	12
1914	2	1	10	12
1915	3	1	10	12
1916	2	1	10	12
1917	3	1	10	12
1918	2	1	10	12
1919	3	1	10	12
1920	2	1	10	12
1921	3	1	10	12
1922	2	1	10	12

THE Yankees and the Giants are expected to have a record season in the fall. In 1910 the Yankees captured the pennant in the regular season and in 1905 they won the World Series.

The Green A. C. football team held its last scrimmage prior to the opening game of the season on Saturday at Fourth and Hill streets. Coach Bob Evans, former Philadelphia halfback, will be the boss of the team. He will be assisted by several other coaches.

Three coaches were on hand for the final scrimmage, namely, the regular coach, together with Shamrock, of Lehigh, who took charge of the line, and Dr. Kerr, coach of Southern High, who is a resident of Shiloh Hill and who directed the ends. Evans gave his attention to the center.

The team for the opening game has not yet been definitely settled, but several players stand out prominently. Among these are Frank "Duke" Kane, a brilliant halfback of Dury's Fire Company, a wonderful player and a rattling good punter.

McLann, who last year was considered the best quarterback in Delaware County, will hold down a halfback position. Doyle, of last year's squad, who is in a wonderful shape for the line, is in better shape than former years due to being fifteen pounds lighter. He will battle it out with Kane for punting honors, but the latter will do the dropping kicking.

"Doc" Chambers, a Sharon Hill applicant, more recently of Drexel Hill, will be the quarterback. The team will be coached by Evans, who is a former Philadelphia halfback.

SHADE OUTCLASSED IN LOUGHRAN BOUT

Despite Ten-Pound Handicap and Knockdown, Local Lad Scores One-Sided Victory

TOM STILL LACKS WALLOP

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

WHILE Tommy Loughran may still lack powers of the well-known South Philadelphia pugilist, the youthful Philadelphia pugilist, beyond any question that he has qualifications of a promising fighter when he comes off with a clean-cut, well-earned and one-sided victory against George Shade of California, at the Olimpia last night.

Handicapped ten pounds, plus a five-second knockdown, Loughran went right on through to a dazzling and impressive win in his scheduled eight-round bout with the native son, a squatty built, rugged and dangerous punching batter. Shade was outboxed, outfought and outpunched.

The South Philadelphia, who will not turn twenty until November, showed a much better varied attack than ever before, to display a lot more aggressiveness and for by his right hand he made a sensation from the start, administering a terrific thumping to the head of the Three Fighting Shades.

While Shade, weighing 175 pounds, had the advantage in weight, Loughran's bigger height and longer reach served him in great stead. Beating the Californian was the punch almost throughout, Tommy virtually won as pleased.

Forces Fighting From Opening Bell

Loughran started to force the fighting from the opening bell. He unceremoniously took Shade's head and right ear, and made the referee stop the fight. Shade's mouth started to bleed in the third round and it remained on until the finish, his nose being in the same condition from the third round on.

Virtually smothering Shade with an avalanche of punches in the first three rounds, Loughran appeared to be making a real record of the man from the West when, in the fourth frame, Tommy was stopped coming in with a right hook on the chin. He went down, apparently unconscious, but Loughran showed a good defense and he succeeded in keeping himself out of danger until the end of the period.

Loughran failed to make Shade waver and Tommy went after Shade at the start of the fifth as he did in all of the previous rounds. In the remaining rounds, especially the seventh and eighth, Shade was boxed hard if he were in a close fight with a flock of the birds being tested at him from all sides.

Loughran's most directed line attack to the head, switching often to the body, and these punches eventually took Shade so that George was forced to fall on a glory in the last two rounds.

Montreal Wins After Being Dropped

After being knocked down for the count of nine in the opening round and also being stopped in the second and third rounds, Young Montreal, the champion, won the fight by a decision in the eighth round. He was a speed, strength and quick punching that he took the remaining five frames and the bout from Joe Nelson, 124, Montreal pugilist, but showed off in the early rounds, and in the fourth and fifth rounds he was the best of the two.

When Monte finally got started he made the best look like a case between a thoroughbred and a selling player. Nelson moved left, while Montreal connected with a powerful and accurate right hand, and a left hand, and right crosses. Joe gamely tried his utmost to get over his thirty right hand, but the champion's punches hit the mark.

The fight between Frankie Rose and the young man from the Baltimore area was a close one. Rose was a speed and strength and quick punching that he took the remaining five frames and the bout from Joe Nelson, 124, Montreal pugilist, but showed off in the early rounds, and in the fourth and fifth rounds he was the best of the two.

Bald Defeats Substitute Hattman

Substituting for Bobby Hattman, Earl Hattman defeated the former light weight champion of Pennsylvania, Hattman, who was defeated by Earl Hattman, another pugilist from the Pacific Coast. In the eighth round Hattman held his opponent in a close fight, and in the ninth round he was the best of the two.

Message Miller and Junior Meigs spent the night with the former pugilist in the eighth round, and in the ninth round he was the best of the two.

Overthoughts are best, and so I am going to give a few reflections on the Davis Cup matches, in which America retained the cup for another year by beating Australia, 4 to 1.

The big trouble, borne in on me, possibly because I was a victim of the all-powerful Australian team, was that the American doubles are woefully weak.

SOUTH PHILS MUST PLAY OR FORFEIT

Ordered to Carry Out Judge Patterson's Decision in Baseball Dispute

NORTH PHILS VS. DOBSON

A week has elapsed since former Judge John M. Patterson, of the Board of Arbitration of the Philadelphia Baseball Association, rendered his decision regarding the protested game.

The South Phils appeared from the protest, and announced that they would abide by any decision rendered by the member of the tribunal.

He accepted the game to be played over and the terms to share like and like in the receipts. The South Phils have made no effort to stage the game and they have been given until tonight to set a date for the contest to be played not later than Saturday or forfeit the downtown title to Philadelphia.

The game between Dobson and Philadelphia was called "no contest" and struck from the records, as Philadelphia played intelligently.

The contest was declared forfeited and this gave North Phils and Dobson four wins and two losses in the Northern Section.

On the loss of the team Bill Gibson, for the Phils, and selecting his own team's field at Fourth and Wingo, looking for the playoff next Saturday at 4 P. M.

The city championship will be decided on October 7 and the final single on October 14 at the Philadelphia Ball Park if available.

How Does It Strike You?

Georges' Slide
Training Diet
Discontented Athletes

By THE OBSERVER

GEORGES CARPENTIER has taken a nose dive in the esteem of his fellow countrymen and he is still headed downward. For more than a decade he has been a hero in the eyes of the French public and the world, too. He was as popular in America as he was in his native land.

After his defeat at Jersey City, Georges' popularity increased, for he fought a clean, game battle and was beaten by superior might. Carpentier had nothing to lose against Dempsey, but his only title was a stake against Battling Siki. Georges attempted to protect his world's light heavyweight crown by foul tactics, with the result that he lost his prestige as well as his championship.

Georges hated the Negro and he hit him low as he felt his laurels slipping from his shoulders, but what is worse still he took advantage of Siki's sportsmanship.

At one stage of the bout Carpentier was flattened. Siki lifted him to his feet and then he could take his arms from around the Frenchman to defend himself. Georges hit him on the jaw. Low? Why, tenderloin sportsmanship is a thing of beauty in comparison.

America was surprised to learn that the French public had turned against Carpentier, but would you expect a baseball crowd to cheer if George Sikes, one of the cleanest and most popular of baseball players, by a sudden change in temperament would deliberately spike an opponent while riding into second base?
