Nancy Wynne Tells of Miss Constance Rodgers' Debut This Season—She Notes Costumes of Odd New Material—Other Matters of Interest

EVERY day I hear of another debutante to be added to the tremendous list this winter (there are more than a hundred now). The latest is "Tonight" Rodgers, if that's the way to spell her nickname. She has been in Paris for five years at the Convent of the Assumption, and last winter was introduced in Paris by the Comtesse de Montmart.

October 25 is the date which the T. DeWitt Cuyler have set for the dinner-dance which they will give in their place in Haverford for Helen Hope Montgomery and Bunny Geary. Mrs. Cuyler has been up in Har Har-bos until this week, but is returning today. I hear, The Cuylers are great friends of the Montgomerys. I remember Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery gave several parties for the Cuyler's younger daughter, Eleanor Cuyler, now Mrs. Joe Walker, of New York, the year she made her debut.

Don't you wonder what name they'll get next for dress materials? And, for that matter, what further new material could possibly be invented? I am perfectly against the kinds and species which are used every day, and they are all perfectly beautiful. Even if the color combination in some is not pleasing the texture of the stuff is marvelous. Cloak is the latest, and it looks like a sort of silk that has been out of the land and gotten sunburned, for it's a sort of series of little blisters.

I saw a scarf of cloki worn by one of the guests at a recent wedding. The background was black and it had white figures and brown and tan figures on it; very large, they were, and I give you my word very much in the shape of a mystic shield. It was very striking. Now don't laugh, because it did really look like that, and at the same time it was perfectly stunning. It was worn with a tan costume and hat, and though I can't not be sure, I think it was this model, as her back was turned to me, it surely was beautiful. Ruth Cox Stokes was out at the polo one day last week wearing a soft gray frock and a hat. Her hair, made of wire and silver metal cloth, was very becoming and in contrast with Mrs. Stokes' glorious red brown hair most effective.

Jimmie's mother has labored hard to instruct her young hopeful to tell the truth under all circumstances. She has talked and talked, telling Jimmie: "You must tell mother the truth always; you know you might as well, anyhow, for I can see what you have done. I know it's all written right on your forehead." Jimmie was solemn and silently nodded his head.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

An engagement of interest in this city and New York announced today is that of Miss Caroline C. Prentice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Prentice, of 23 East Sixty-ninth street, New York, to Mr. Frederic Cromwell, of Mr. and Mrs. Senator L. Cromwell, of 169 East Seventy-fourth street. Miss Prentice was introduced to society two years ago, but is a member of the Colony Club and Junior League of New York. Her mother was formerly Miss Kate deForest Prentice, her younger sister, made her debut in New York last winter. Her father is the president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Mr. and Mrs. John White Geary, of Russell and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, will give a ball on Monday evening, January 1, in honor of their daughter, Miss Mary deForest Geary. Miss Geary will make her debut at a tea which her parents will give on October 11.

THIS WEEK'S BEAUTY HELP

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleaned each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The shampoo to use and the quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair, and that is enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthox, which can be obtained from any drug store, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the hair, and into every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the hair is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Adv.
