

THE WEATHER
Fair tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature; gentle variable winds.
TEMPERATURE AT EACH HOUR
8 9 10 11 12 1 2 3 4 5
63 68 71 72 75 78 79

Evening Public Ledger

NIGHT EXTRA

VOL. IX.—NO. 15 PHILADELPHIA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1922

GIRL'S PLEA WINS GOVERNOR'S AID TO RUN DOWN SLAYERS

Edwards Orders State Police to Use Entire Force in New Brunswick Mystery

DAUGHTER OF ONE VICTIM IS ASSURED FULL JUSTICE

Trip of Charlotte Mills to New Jersey Capital May Arouse Authorities

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 30.—Every member of the New Jersey State Police will be available, if necessary, to apprehend and bring to justice the murderers of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, whose bodies were found on the Phillips farm, two miles from here.

This pledge, made by Governor Edwards in a letter to Charlotte Mills, sixteen-year-old daughter of the murdered woman, has revived the confidence of the townspeople in the ultimate solution of the murder mystery.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte Goes to Jersey City
Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

Charlotte journeyed to Jersey City late yesterday to see the Governor at his bank and plead with him personally to do something to get action in the murder investigation, apparently no nearer a solution of the mystery at present than it was two weeks ago.

The Governor made his promise late yesterday, after he had heard the report of an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mills, which showed the woman had been shot four times in the head and her throat cut with a sawguy which almost severed her head from her body.

WOODROW WILSON TODAY

FORMER PRESIDENT
This is the latest photograph of Mr. Wilson. It was taken this week when he was out for his daily auto ride in the outskirts of Washington. The photo gives an excellent idea of the war President's health.

PENN ALL SET FOR GRIDIRON OPENING

Heisman's 1922 Football Team Will Oppose Franklin and Marshall

FIRST GAME IN NEW STADIUM
The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

By JOSEPH T. LABRUM
'The locomotive yell: Hip! Hip!'
This command from sundry peppy cheer leaders will ring out across Franklin Field this afternoon, and thousands of students and graduates will rend the air with the most famous battle cry in the repertoire of college yells.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

The 1922 football season will be officially cracked open this afternoon in the reconstructed stadium with all the usual trimmings that go with an opening, Franklin and Marshall, from the garden spot of the State, Lancaster, coached by Walter H. Peirce, a native son, but a brilliant one, will meet Coach John W. Heisman's 1922 outfit of the University of Pennsylvania football team.

BANDIT, WOUNDED IN PAYROLL THEFT, FALLS ON STREET

John Dougherty Is Rescued by Aides in Car Before Detective Can Get to Him

SUSPECTED IN HOLD-UP OF WILSON-MARTIN EMPLOYEE

Two Other Men Who May Have Figured in Robbery Are Held

John Dougherty, thought to be one of the payroll bandits who robbed Charles Rosner, of the Wilson-Martin Company yesterday, and who was wounded in a spectacular pistol battle with City Hall detectives late last night, collapsed from his wounds at Ninth and Tasker streets this morning. He was rescued by companions in an automobile before a detective on a passing trolley car could reach him.

In his battle with Detectives Cope and Stillman, at Front street and Washington avenue, last night, Dougherty escaped after wounding Stillman and shooting the hat off Cope's head. As he ran, the detectives heard him scream and later found a pool of blood on the sidewalk, leading them to believe he had also been seriously wounded.

Philadelphia and Reading Railway Detective Keyser saw the notorious gunman, who is also wanted for the murder of a Negro last April, walking on Ninth street near Tasker this morning about 9 o'clock. He was limping badly, and as the trolley on which the detective was riding passed Dougherty collapsed on the sidewalk.

Keyser rang the buzzer as a signal for the car to stop at Tasker street. Gripping his pistol, he started to work his way through the crowded aisle to the door. As he alighted and looked back at an automobile in which three rough-looking men were riding dashed by the thieves were imported champagne, age-mellowed whiskies and famous brands of cordials.

One man piloted the truck into Latimer street, a small thoroughfare in the rear of the Pierce home. Three other men followed in a touring car. The vehicles were seen about 5 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Behan and Novell, of the Fifteenth and Locust streets station. The patrolman crouched in an alley and saw the men carrying case after case from the rear of the house and piling them on the truck.

The patrolman advanced cautiously with revolvers drawn. One of the thieves saw them, and shouted an alarm. All ran for the touring car. In a round-up of friends of Dougherty who the police think may possibly know something of yesterday's hold-up, Albert J. Saulino, Bainbridge street, near Sixth, was arrested this morning, and Frank Wilson, of Locust street, are being held for investigation.

Wilson applied at St. Agnes' Hospital a short time after the robbery for treatment for a gunshot wound in the shoulder. He refused to give any information to hospital authorities or the police as to the manner in which he received the wound.

Police investigation, however, revealed the fact that Wilson had been shot by Dougherty in a saloon at Thirtieth and Locust streets. Witnesses said the men quarreled when Wilson refused to drink with the gunman, but police think the quarrel may have been caused by the theft of the stolen money.

Saulino's arrest was on a warrant. Miss Willard Annexes Interclub Individual Championship

Miss Mildred Willard, Merion Cricket Club tennis champion, captured the interclub individual tennis championship for women by defeating Mrs. Madeline Crawford, also of Merion, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

The match was much closer than the score indicates, as each game was hotly contested.

Miss Willard was somewhat staid and exhibited fine control and change of speed. By her victory Miss Willard obtains a large on the cup, which must be won three times for permanent possession.

As a matter of fact, the law gives an over-riding task to the United States Tariff Commission which it has no facilities for carrying out. Such investigations as would be necessary to recommend changes in duties would require a large staff of experts, much time for study and the expenditure of much money.

Congress supply gave the commission the job and did not provide the means. The only funds which the commission has with which to become a recognized authority upon subjects as various as those covered by the Fordney-McCumber bill is $240,000 provided in the Emergency Deficiency Bill.

To determine whether any rate is equitable or not would call for an investigation into the cost of production of the commodity, and into the cost of production abroad and ask him what the costs are. Such information is of very doubtful value.

With the commission equipped as it is, about all it can do toward scientific tariff-making is to follow the practice of Congress, ask manufacturers for a plain explanation of the rates, their cost of production, and recommend an adjustment.

Even in this there will be a certain gain. Schedules will be considered by themselves and on their own merits. Duties will not be fixed as a result of trading between their advocates and the advocates of other duties. Log rolling will be impossible. But all this will be very far from a scientific tariff.

There will be another advantage, too. Continued on Page Four, Column Four

Near Golf Title

MISS GLENNA COLLETT
The Providence girl was 6 up on Mrs. William Gavin, of England, at the end of eighteen holes in their thirty-six-hole match for the golf championship of the United States at White Sulphur Springs.

MISS COLLETT 6 UP FOR U. S. GOLF TITLE

Providence Girl Has Big Margin Over Mrs. Gavin at Eighteenth Hole

TAKES LEAD AT 8TH HOLE
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., outclassed Mrs. William Gavin, of England, in the morning round of the women's national golf championships final match. At the finish of the first eighteen holes, the American girl was 6 up. The match is at thirty-six holes.

Mrs. Gavin started out well, and took a temporary advantage, due principally to Miss Collett's nervousness. After the fifth hole Glenna kept her self well in hand and began hitting an almost unerring line. Her driving was magnificent, shots of 250 and 280 yards frequently being her portion.

Mrs. Gavin lost control several times, particularly on the sixteenth, where she twice drove into the lake and finally picked up.

It was youth against experience, and youth had all the better of the fight. Nearly all of the Providence girl's advantage was won on the second nine by playing that was close to par. At the same time her opponent was committing costly errors, over-shooting the greens and nibbling shots.

Morning Round
The first hole was halved 6-6. Miss Collett played two bird shots, but had difficulty with a sand trap near the green.

Mrs. Gavin won the second hole, 4-6, when Miss Collett drove in the bunkers left of the fairway, missed her second and was in bad position on her third. The Providence girl seemed somewhat nervous at the start.

On the short third Miss Collett drove to the green 229 yards. Mrs. Gavin missed.

Continued on Page Fifteen, Column Six

WINS TENNIS TITLE

Miss Willard Annexes Interclub Individual Championship
Miss Mildred Willard, Merion Cricket Club tennis champion, captured the interclub individual tennis championship for women by defeating Mrs. Madeline Crawford, also of Merion, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2.

The match was much closer than the score indicates, as each game was hotly contested.

Miss Willard was somewhat staid and exhibited fine control and change of speed. By her victory Miss Willard obtains a large on the cup, which must be won three times for permanent possession.

As a matter of fact, the law gives an over-riding task to the United States Tariff Commission which it has no facilities for carrying out. Such investigations as would be necessary to recommend changes in duties would require a large staff of experts, much time for study and the expenditure of much money.

Congress supply gave the commission the job and did not provide the means. The only funds which the commission has with which to become a recognized authority upon subjects as various as those covered by the Fordney-McCumber bill is $240,000 provided in the Emergency Deficiency Bill.

To determine whether any rate is equitable or not would call for an investigation into the cost of production of the commodity, and into the cost of production abroad and ask him what the costs are. Such information is of very doubtful value.

With the commission equipped as it is, about all it can do toward scientific tariff-making is to follow the practice of Congress, ask manufacturers for a plain explanation of the rates, their cost of production, and recommend an adjustment.

AUDENRIED FROWNS ON TAX BURDEN FOR BROWN'S 'PALACE'

Puts Controller Hadley on Grill at Hearing on Court Project

CITY OWES 234 MILLIONS; GUESSES AT FUTURE INCOME

Develin Recalls State House Craft in Prediction of Huge Total Cost

The city, which is asked by Judge Brown to expend $5,000,000 for a Municipal Court "Palace of Justice," already has debt obligations of $220,000,000. City Controller Hadley told the judges of Common Pleas Court No. 1 today.

In addition to that debt total, the taxpayers of Philadelphia also are responsible for $13,540,000, the debt of the local school district, or a grand total of $234,230,000.

Judges Audenried, Finletter and McCullen held a session public hearing today on the "Palace of Justice" proposition which Council jumped through over the veto of Mayor Moore. An old state adviser, the Common Pleas Court power to review plans for new court structures.

Develin Issues Warning
Sharing interest with the debt total which Judge Audenried sought from Controller Hadley was the declaration of Controller Develin that the State Capital was originally supposed to cost $10,000,000.

Continued on Page Two, Column Four

3 AUTO BANDITS FAIL IN ROBBERY ATTEMPT

Patrolman Surprises Gang, Catches One After Chase

Three automobile bandits made a daring attempt to rob the store of the Hurley Rubber Company, Croskey street near Chestnut, early this morning by smashing a window with a brick. They were about to enter the place when Motorcycle Police-men, Consts., of the Fifteenth and Locust streets station, appeared and frightened them away.

Consts jumped from his machine just as the third member of the band disappeared around a corner. His two companions had already entered a waiting automobile and sped away.

The patrolman pursued the fleeing man to Twenty-fourth and Walnut streets and caught up with him as he was about to leap on the running board of the machine which had turned around to pick him up.

The two struggled while the automobile once more picked up speed and was lost in the darkness. Consts finally subdued the suspect. The man gave his name as Martin Kenny, of Twenty-fourth and Catherine streets. Kenny was held in 8000 jail for a further hearing by Magistrate Rooney.

UNCLE JOE TO HIT CHILDHOOD'S TRAIL
Cannon Will Cover Route of Parents 83 Years Ago

Washington, Sept. 30.—(By A. P.)—Uncle Joe Cannon dug into his cedar chest today for some wooten things he will wear next week when he hits the same trail westward to Illinois that he and his parents took eighty-three years ago in emigrating from the hills of North Carolina.

The early voyage westward was made in an old granite schooner, out of the back of which Uncle Joe, then barely four years old, watched the shifting scenery and dreamed. There was something that resembled a year in the veteran's eyes as he reviewed today his earliest recollections of that trying trip, but they sparkled as he talked of his coming trip over the same old pipe—this time in an automobile.

Continued on Page Two, Column Four

KEMAL SHUTS PEACE DOOR IN HOSTILE NOTE

Demand That British Quit Asia Minor Brings Clash Near

SAY MIRACLE ALONE CAN PREVENT WAR

Nationalists Again Threaten to Invaade Thrace Unless 'Atrocities' Cease

BRITISH FORCES ARRIVING

Several Thousand English Soldiers Land at Constantinople to Guard Bosphorus

London believes almost a miracle will be needed to avert British-Turkish war.

Kemal's demand that English troops leave Asia Minor is believed to close door to peace.

Turks protest to Allies against 'atrocities' in Thrace, threatening invasion unless they cease.

Thousands of British troops land in Constantinople.

France insists on Turkish recognition of neutral zone and seeks to induce Ottomans to withdraw.

Venezuela agrees to represent Greece in allied capitals.

Military rule prevails at Athens. 400,000 refugees from Smyrna are in danger of perishing from famine.

By Associated Press
London, Sept. 30.—The gravely dependent view held in official quarters here regarding the prospect of avoiding war with the Turks is shared in allied military circles in Constantinople, according to dispatches from the Eastern capital to the Associated Press.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's requirement that the British withdraw their troops from Asia Minor on a condition precedent to a limited retreat of the Ottoman forces from the neutral zone of the Straits is looked upon by local military opinion as closing the door to pacific settlement of the present dispute.

Whether this is the final view of the respective military heads does not appear. Engineers' possibility rests with the latter and their political colleagues.

Up to Military Chiefs
How and when the attempt to enforce the government's demand for the withdrawal of the Kemalists is to be made now lies with Brigadier General Sir Charles Harrington and Vice Admiral Sir Robert Buxton, commanders of the British military and naval forces in the Near East, and Sir Horatio Hambley, British high commissioner in Constantinople. Their decision is awaited with profound suspense.

If war breaks—and at the moment it appears that almost a miracle will be needed to avert it—Great Britain will enter it under discouraging auspices, for the preponderance of opinion in the nation is not behind the government.

It is impossible, of course, to say that the Nation will not rally to the government's support if fighting begins, but at present the voice of the people, as represented by the press, is raised in condemnation of the manner in which the whole Near Eastern situation has been managed.

Lloyd George Criticized
Prime Minister Lloyd George, who but yesterday was a national hero, now is the butt of violent criticism, accused of having modified with international politics which he does not understand and of having brought the country face to face with another war, the duration and extent of which cannot be foreseen, and all for the purpose of saving the faces of himself and his colleagues.

Some of the comments are quite vicious in tone, others credit the Prime Minister with good intentions, but nevertheless roundly condemn his policy. In the latter category is the comment of the influential Spectator, which terms Lloyd George's management of the affair despicable and execrable.

All the lessons taught by one able diplomat after another about the way to deal with the Turks have been ignored as though they did not exist," it says. "Lloyd George has turned our foreign policy inside out and made a mess of it." Such extracts might be multiplied.

Continued on Page Two, Column Two

LAST-MINUTE NEWS

WASHINGTON..... 0

ATHLETICS (1st) 0

Zachary and Lepian; E. Harris and Bruggy. Nallin and Owens.

CONSTANTINE SAILS FOR PALERMO

ATHENS, Sept. 30.—King Constantine, Queen Sophie and Prince Nicholas sailed today for Palermo, Sicily, on a Greek steamer.

FRENCH REPARATIONS REPRESENTATIVE RESIGNS

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Louis Dubois, chairman of and French representative on the Reparations Commission, has resigned, according to information in official circles.

TARIFF BODY HAS HERCULEAN TASK

Congress Failed to Provide Means for Investigation Into Rates

SEEKING PRODUCTION COST

By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger
Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

Washington, Sept. 30.—President Harding has received only three requests to raise or lower rates in the Fordney-McCumber tariff under the elastic provisions of that law. The limited desire for changes shows either a disposition on the part of business to accept and keep the duties as they are, or a feeling that the necessary modification of them, or a perfectly practical feeling that the elastic provisions will at best be slow to come into operation.

As a matter of fact, the law gives an over-riding task to the United States Tariff Commission which it has no facilities for carrying out. Such investigations as would be necessary to recommend changes in duties would require a large staff of experts, much time for study and the expenditure of much money.

Congress supply gave the commission the job and did not provide the means. The only funds which the commission has with which to become a recognized authority upon subjects as various as those covered by the Fordney-McCumber bill is $240,000 provided in the Emergency Deficiency Bill.

To determine whether any rate is equitable or not would call for an investigation into the cost of production of the commodity, and into the cost of production abroad and ask him what the costs are. Such information is of very doubtful value.

With the commission equipped as it is, about all it can do toward scientific tariff-making is to follow the practice of Congress, ask manufacturers for a plain explanation of the rates, their cost of production, and recommend an adjustment.

Even in this there will be a certain gain. Schedules will be considered by themselves and on their own merits. Duties will not be fixed as a result of trading between their advocates and the advocates of other duties. Log rolling will be impossible. But all this will be very far from a scientific tariff.

There will be another advantage, too. Continued on Page Four, Column Four

BASEBALL SCORES

WASHINGTON..... 0

ATHLETICS (1st) 0

Zachary and Lepian; E. Harris and Bruggy. Nallin and Owens.

CONSTANTINE SAILS FOR PALERMO

ATHENS, Sept. 30.—King Constantine, Queen Sophie and Prince Nicholas sailed today for Palermo, Sicily, on a Greek steamer.

FRENCH REPARATIONS REPRESENTATIVE RESIGNS

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Louis Dubois, chairman of and French representative on the Reparations Commission, has resigned, according to information in official circles.

TARIFF BODY HAS HERCULEAN TASK

Congress Failed to Provide Means for Investigation Into Rates

SEEKING PRODUCTION COST

By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger
Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

Washington, Sept. 30.—President Harding has received only three requests to raise or lower rates in the Fordney-McCumber tariff under the elastic provisions of that law. The limited desire for changes shows either a disposition on the part of business to accept and keep the duties as they are, or a feeling that the necessary modification of them, or a perfectly practical feeling that the elastic provisions will at best be slow to come into operation.

As a matter of fact, the law gives an over-riding task to the United States Tariff Commission which it has no facilities for carrying out. Such investigations as would be necessary to recommend changes in duties would require a large staff of experts, much time for study and the expenditure of much money.

Congress supply gave the commission the job and did not provide the means. The only funds which the commission has with which to become a recognized authority upon subjects as various as those covered by the Fordney-McCumber bill is $240,000 provided in the Emergency Deficiency Bill.

To determine whether any rate is equitable or not would call for an investigation into the cost of production of the commodity, and into the cost of production abroad and ask him what the costs are. Such information is of very doubtful value.

With the commission equipped as it is, about all it can do toward scientific tariff-making is to follow the practice of Congress, ask manufacturers for a plain explanation of the rates, their cost of production, and recommend an adjustment.

Even in this there will be a certain gain. Schedules will be considered by themselves and on their own merits. Duties will not be fixed as a result of trading between their advocates and the advocates of other duties. Log rolling will be impossible. But all this will be very far from a scientific tariff.

There will be another advantage, too. Continued on Page Four, Column Four