

ADMIRAL CLARK, NAVAL HERO, DIES

Commanded U. S. S. Oregon When That Craft Rounded Horn in War With Spain

CAREER A NOTABLE ONE

Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark, U. S. N., who commanded the battleship Oregon on its famous voyage from San Francisco to Key West and later in the Battle of Santiago July 3, 1898, in the Spanish-American War, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, in Long Beach, Calif. He was seventy-nine years old.

He will be buried tomorrow afternoon from the home of his daughter, with only a few intimate friends, high officers of the League Navy Yard, and a captain of the Oregon.

In 1860 Admiral Clark was made a member of the League Navy Yard, and was subsequently in charge of the Home for Naval Orphans in this city. In June, 1894, he was promoted to rear admiral. In 1904 he was made rear admiral of the Board of Navy Retirement at Washington. He retired on August 10, 1905.

It was Admiral Clark who guided the battleship Oregon in its race against time on a voyage without a single accident or mishap to men or machinery.

This remarkable race occurred during the opening of the Panama Canal. The Oregon was the first of a Spanish fleet of 1898. Clark, then a captain, was fifty-four years old.

He sailed from San Francisco March 15, 1898, and his destination was the Straits of Magellan, where a Spanish fleet of 1898 was waiting. He was in the Straits of Magellan when a Spanish fleet of 1898 was waiting.

A similar letter was received last Saturday. The letter, which had been mislaid by one of Mr. Pomato's children before it had been opened. There are four children in the family.

Rear Admiral Clark was born in Vermont in 1843. At the age of twenty he had been ordered to the West Gulf blockading squadron in the Civil War before he had finished his second year at Annapolis. A year later he was assigned to the Oregon.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon. He organized them into a defensive party to hold off 400 hostile Indians until rescue arrived. He watched the Spaniards, whom he was ordered to engage in battle, bombard Valparaiso and Callao; he served on the Pacific, West Indies and Atlantic stations; was attached to the Brooklyn, Mare Island and Portsmouth Navy Yards, and instructed a class at Annapolis. He spent three years in surveying the North Pacific Coast, and four years in inspecting lighthouses.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services. At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

He, on board the Oregon, helped to destroy the Spanish fleet at Santiago, and was advanced six numbers in rank for his distinguished services.

At the age of fifty-nine he again was advanced in rank, seven numbers, and promoted to rear admiral.

Clark's naval career was varied. He was shipwrecked off the coast of British Columbia in 1878 when the Seward was foundered, and through the loss of his superior officer became commander of the thirty-gun gunboat Oregon.

Missing Wife

MRS. MARGARET POMATO Letter from New Jersey deepens mystery of woman's disappearance.

POLICE TO QUIZ WOMAN

Think Winslow Junction Resident May Know About Mrs. Pomato

City detectives went to Winslow Junction today to question a "Mrs. Williamson," who, they think, knows something of the disappearance of Mrs. Anthony Pomato from her home, 3741 North Randolph street, on August 28.

The detectives yesterday found a letter in the Pomato home. It had been written by "Mrs. Williamson," and was postmarked Winslow Junction, August 28, the day the woman disappeared. It read: "Learning of your sadness, I would like to care for your children. I am neither rich nor poor."

A similar letter was received last Saturday. The letter, which had been mislaid by one of Mr. Pomato's children before it had been opened. There are four children in the family.

ATTACK STORY TOLD BY MRS. BRINTON

Cook Is Unmoved as Wife of Noted Physician Tells of Brutal Assault

Staring steadily ahead, and without counsel, Tatsuzi Sakurai, a Japanese cook, sat unmoved in Judge Johnson's court at Media today as Mrs. Lewis Brinton, of Rosemont, described the murderous attack he made on her last July.

Sakurai is accused of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill. He is also charged with arson. After leaving Mrs. Brinton unconscious and knocking down Elizabeth, her daughter, he set fire to the house.

Mrs. Brinton, the wife of Dr. Brinton, a noted physician, said the cook asked her to look at some butter in the refrigerator shortly after noon on July 17. The man suddenly gripped her head with both hands, she said, and then lifted her and threw her through the window.

Mrs. Brinton continued that the cook knocked her down and jumped on her chest, shouting: "This is the way I progress men die." She said she lost consciousness. John did not know the cook was stabbing her with an ice-pick.

Miss Elizabeth Brinton, her daughter, testified she heard Sakurai give a loud yell and that she saw her mother unconscious in the kitchen. She was knocked down after wrestling the ice-pick away, she said. The man ran up stairs, where John Mulligan, the butler, entered the house.

The last of the four machines to be claimed, that owned by Morris Shaw, 2228 Kensington avenue, was discovered by the owner this morning as he was walking through the City Hall courtyard, where the police held the cars.

The garages were owned by Miss Raehel Cornell, Seventh and Berks streets, who said that she rented them to men known to her as Morris Smith and the Harris brothers. The men have since disappeared.

Police raided the garages on a "tip" that stolen cars were stored there. The three other cars were owned by the J. & A. Garage, Thirty-sixth street and Woodland avenue; the Kensington Supply Company, 127 North Ninth street; and Morris Medina, 5006 Pine street.

Among Them Salvationist Whose Journeying Had Barred Him

Captain Hugh Melivar, of the Salvation Army, widely known in Camden, was one of 228 aliens admitted to citizenship today by Judge Shay in the Camden County Court.

Melivar formerly had charge of the Salvationist work in Camden and built a $20,000 citadel there. He is now stationed in Atlantic City. He was an English subject and has been in this country fifteen years. He never before was stationed in one State long enough to qualify for citizenship, he said.

Police Find Owners for Four Machines—Garage Lessees Vanish

Detectives today found owners of four automobiles which the police officer took from private garages in Berks street, between Seventh and Franklin streets, Saturday night when they discovered a gang of automobile thieves stored their loot while the cars were camouflaged.

Although the owners identified the cars, it was found that in each case the engine number had been changed so as to prevent detection through the State Highway Department registration bureau.

The last of the four machines to be claimed, that owned by Morris Shaw, 2228 Kensington avenue, was discovered by the owner this morning as he was walking through the City Hall courtyard, where the police held the cars.

The garages were owned by Miss Raehel Cornell, Seventh and Berks streets, who said that she rented them to men known to her as Morris Smith and the Harris brothers. The men have since disappeared.

Police raided the garages on a "tip" that stolen cars were stored there. The three other cars were owned by the J. & A. Garage, Thirty-sixth street and Woodland avenue; the Kensington Supply Company, 127 North Ninth street; and Morris Medina, 5006 Pine street.

Among Them Salvationist Whose Journeying Had Barred Him

Captain Hugh Melivar, of the Salvation Army, widely known in Camden, was one of 228 aliens admitted to citizenship today by Judge Shay in the Camden County Court.

Melivar formerly had charge of the Salvationist work in Camden and built a $20,000 citadel there. He is now stationed in Atlantic City. He was an English subject and has been in this country fifteen years. He never before was stationed in one State long enough to qualify for citizenship, he said.

Police Find Owners for Four Machines—Garage Lessees Vanish

Detectives today found owners of four automobiles which the police officer took from private garages in Berks street, between Seventh and Franklin streets, Saturday night when they discovered a gang of automobile thieves stored their loot while the cars were camouflaged.

Although the owners identified the cars, it was found that in each case the engine number had been changed so as to prevent detection through the State Highway Department registration bureau.

The last of the four machines to be claimed, that owned by Morris Shaw, 2228 Kensington avenue, was discovered by the owner this morning as he was walking through the City Hall courtyard, where the police held the cars.

The garages were owned by Miss Raehel Cornell, Seventh and Berks streets, who said that she rented them to men known to her as Morris Smith and the Harris brothers. The men have since disappeared.

Police raided the garages on a "tip" that stolen cars were stored there. The three other cars were owned by the J. & A. Garage, Thirty-sixth street and Woodland avenue; the Kensington Supply Company, 127 North Ninth street; and Morris Medina, 5006 Pine street.

Among Them Salvationist Whose Journeying Had Barred Him

Captain Hugh Melivar, of the Salvation Army, widely known in Camden, was one of 228 aliens admitted to citizenship today by Judge Shay in the Camden County Court.

DEMOCRATIC CHIEF TO UPHOLD PINCHOT

John M. Flynn, Minority Floor Leader, Pledges Support to Forester's Program

REFUTES MSPARRAN CLAIM

Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for Governor, not only has the support of Republican candidates for the Legislature, a fact challenged by John A. McSparran, the Democratic nominee, but he is even making inroads among the Democrats.

The most conspicuous proof of this is the support pledged Mr. Pinchot by John M. Flynn, of Elip County, a candidate for the Legislature who has been Democratic floor leader at Harrisburg.

Mr. McSparran, in a speech at Williamsport Saturday night, said his Republican opponent for the governorship would not have a single member of the Legislature to support his platform.

Mr. Pinchot, later the same night at Williamsport, blasted McSparran's contention by making public a list of forty-seven prospective members of the Legislature who have pledged their aid.

Mr. Flynn is believed to have promised his support to Mr. Pinchot on Thursday night when the Forester was at DuBois. The Democratic leader called on Mr. Pinchot at his hotel and later attended the Republican rally there.

Mr. Flynn has been a consistent supporter in the House at Harrisburg of Joseph R. Grandy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Grandy was one of Mr. Pinchot's supporters in the primary campaign.

Mr. Flynn has been a consistent supporter in the House at Harrisburg of Joseph R. Grandy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Grandy was one of Mr. Pinchot's supporters in the primary campaign.

Mr. Flynn has been a consistent supporter in the House at Harrisburg of Joseph R. Grandy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Grandy was one of Mr. Pinchot's supporters in the primary campaign.

PICKPOCKETS REAP SUNDAY HARVEST

Two Men Who Attended Luncheon Dedication Report Loss of $660

Pickpockets took advantage of the large crowd which jammed street cars en route to the dedication of the new institute for the blind at Lansdale yesterday.

Two men were robbed of a total of $660. George Heintz, of Bridgeport, Pa., discovered that his wallet was missing when he reached Lansdale. It had contained $300 in cash.

Charles Mehl, of 1710 North Sixth street, reported the loss of his pocket-book with $80. Both men think that they were relieved of their cash while being crowded in a crowd at the Erdelheim car barns, where they were changing cars.

The robberies are believed to have occurred on a Germantown car and the Germantown police are aiding the Montgomery County authorities in the investigation.

Harry Wolf also reported to the police today that he lost his wallet, containing $200, while he was walking in a crowd at Eighth and Callowhill streets yesterday. He believed that he was robbed by a pickpocket.

Dr. Fiella identified the car as one stolen from his garage after District Attorney Taylor, of Delaware County, had notified him that several of his cards had been found inside.

A large coffin-shaped box which was taken from the automobile, containing a quantity of liquor, according to the District Attorney. It was at first believed to hold the body of a boy, brought there for burial.

Police of Radnor Township found a second automobile abandoned in a blind lane leading off Stratford avenue in Wayne. Its ownership has not yet been established.

Notified that the car had been standing in the lane for some time, Captain of Police Sweeney found it almost concealed under two trees. The automobile was undamaged and in the tank was considerable gasoline. The ground nearby had been trampled as though from a struggle. Nearby by an empty box for .32-caliber cartridges. Inside the car were found twenty-five blank cartridges of the United States District Attorney of the Southern District of New York.

The house tags bore the New York number 02470. Inquiry of the New York City police revealed that the limousine was the property of T. J. Ward, that it had not been reported as stolen and that Ward could not be located.

Lit Brothers HATS TRIMMED FREE OF CHARGE Phone Orders Filled ONE YELLOW TRADING STAMP WITH EVERY 10c PURCHASE ALL DAY

Specimens of the Excellent Values Always Offered to Shoppers at Lit Brothers' Store These lots are Tuesday's offerings—equally good ones for other days.

Special for Tuesday Only! Women's & Misses' $25 to $30 Fall Frocks, $15

Special for Tuesday Only! $3 Silk Chemises $1.98

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! $1.85 "Harvard" Sheets $1.18

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! $3.50 Embossed Velour $2.19

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! $10 All-Wool Blankets $6.95

Special for Tuesday Only! $4 Chiffon Taffeta Silk Petticoats, $2.98

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! Men's $5 Imported English Broadcloth Shirts $2.69

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! $17.50 Winter Coats for Girls, $9.96

Special for Tuesday Only! Women's $4 Bath Robes $2.98

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! Misses' and Children's $3 and $3.50 Shoes $2.19

Special for Tuesday! U. S. Army Leather Jerkins $3.55

SPECIAL FOR TUESDAY ONLY! $6 Velour Sports Hats $3.98

Special for Tuesday Only! Women's $1.50 Union Suits 74c

Special for Tuesday Only! Men's 50c Fiber-Plaited Half Hose $29c

Over 9000 Suits and Overcoats At Our Super-Value Prices $28 $33 $38 & $43

Think what this means. So many Suits and Overcoats you can't help finding one that fits and suits you just right. And no matter which of the 9000 you choose, you get a Super-Value—fine quality at a definite saving of $5 to $12 on every Suit or Overcoat.

The courtesy of this great store is yours. Come see the greatest display of fine quality clothes in our history and in Philadelphia's. All at Super-Value Prices which save you many dollars.

PERRY & CO. 16th & Chestnut SUPER-VALUES in Clothes for Men

REED'S "POLO" SHIRT White Oxford—exactly right in its proportions, fits just as a shirt should fit. $3.00

Delay Irked Autoist

A motorist who said he was Dwight G. Johnson, of Fortieth and Walnut streets, this city, arrested in Camden last night when he refused to get out of the car, was held for a further hearing Wednesday.

Police say the young men were singing outside the office and that when the worshippers objected bricks were hurled and the disturbers invaded the synagogue.

Delay Irked Autoist

A motorist who said he was Dwight G. Johnson, of Fortieth and Walnut streets, this city, arrested in Camden last night when he refused to get out of the car, was held for a further hearing Wednesday.

Police say the young men were singing outside the office and that when the worshippers objected bricks were hurled and the disturbers invaded the synagogue.