DEADLOCK LOOMS OVER COAL BOARD

Government Asks List of Members Disassociated With Mining

BUT CONFEREES OBJECT

By Associated Press

Cleveland, Oct. 3.—A telegram from Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, requesting submission of a panel of twenty names of persons disassociated with coal mining, for use in the creation of a fact-finding committee of the coal industry, possible under the Borah-Winslow bill, was in the hands of T. K. Maher, of Cleveland, temporary chairman, at the second joint session of the bituminous coal operators' conference here today.

The request for the naming of such a panel was in reply to the operators at a previous meeting, the operators explaining their action by saying that they believed they were required under the Cleveland agreement, which practically settled the soft-coal strike last August, to appoint a committee of men connected with the coal mining industry and that compliance with the request of the Federal Government would violate the Cleveland agreement.

[illegible] Worthington, of Wheeling, W. Va., chairman of the operators' committee, said that the operators were standing pat on the Cleveland agreement and that the request, which involves the appointment of an investigating commission.

Considerable difference of opinion has developed among the operators as to the method of organizing their forces during the conference, yesterday's caucus failing to agree upon a plan. Whether the operators would again go into caucus after the adjournment of today's joint conference was undecided when the joint conference assembled.

Miners are insisting upon the formation of some representative organization on the part of the operators, claiming that in the present they have not perfected a definite organization and [illegible] leaders.

A movement looking to the formation of a national association of soft coal producers representing 200,000,000 annually was attempted at a meeting of operators, but was not [illegible] Cleveland.

F. Grable, president of the maintenance men, [illegible] threatened strike in alternative which the board granted a rehearing on the pay question.

An agreement to continue existing wage scales and working conditions on a group of principal trunk lines west of the Mississippi river also was in prospect today.

"SPARTACUS" IN TOILS

Well-Armed Gladiator Peered Into Homes Once Too Often

Most persons connect the name of Spartacus with high ideals and things noble. But there's a Spartacus at the [illegible] Derby police who is an exception of these. In fact, there's little of the gladiator about him, although he was well-armed for battle when arrested last night by Patrolman Noonan.

New York Compliments Philadelphia

The Music Trade Review, of New York, on February 11, 1922, said:

"No other firm in this city (Philadelphia), and probably any other city in the United States, has such a great array of names in pianodom as Heppe's.....There is hardly a right to question that at the present time Heppe's have the best assortment of pianos of any house in the United States.

"Heppe's have the entire line of Mason & Hamlin Grands and Uprights, the Steinway Duo-Art, the Weber Duo-Art, as well as the Weber Grands and Uprights, the Steck Duo-Art, Grands and Uprights. Heppe's are also the exclusive representatives in Philadelphia of the Henry F. Miller Piano; and aside from these, it has its own makes, the Heppe, Edouard Jules and Marcellus, both Grands and Uprights. No other firm in this city, and probably any other city, has such a great array of names in pianodom."
