College Football Coaches Give Varsity Elevens Shake-Ups in Preparation for Saturday's Games

SCRUBS RUN WILD ON PENN VARSITY

Second-String Men Score Five Touchdowns Against Regulars in Practice

DEWHIRST IN COMEBACK

"WATCH that team of mine this afternoon," warned Coach Tom McNamara yesterday afternoon when his scrubs took the field to do scrimmage duty against the Penn varsity. And every one who was on Franklin Field did watch them as they romped over the varsity to the tune of five touchdowns. It was the first real revenge of the scrubs this season and they went to it with a will.

The scrubs, battered and torn from the beginning of the season to the end in the molding of a good varsity team, very seldom get a chance to gloat over their afternoon's work, but if ever a scrub team could, surely the wearers of the red jersey of the Penn squad should after their work yesterday.

They ran the ends, hit the line, threw forward passes and gained ground with each attempt. They played the heavier varsity linemen to a standstill and their backs ran wild for five scores before a halt was called.

It is all in an afternoon's work with them win or lose, but when they perform in the fashion that they did yesterday, there is a reason for them to rejoice.

Varsity on Defense

The scrubs were called to take the ball at midfield and with the varsity on the defensive used every trick in their bag to make it an interesting afternoon for their betters. With Jimmy Dewhirst back in the scrub backfield, there was a renewed fight and push that has been lacking in former scrimmages.

Jimmy staged a comeback yesterday that will take him far on his journey back to the varsity ranks. He has been out of the game for the last week with a bad knee and has been unable to scrimmage. His sterling line plunging yesterday, if it continues, will soon place him among the first backs on the squad.

The varsity was unable to hold the scrubs for a down after that procession started toward the goal line. On straight line plunges and cross bucks the scrubs advanced the ball to the 4-yard line, from which point Dewhirst hurled himself through the varsity forward line for a score.

Taking the ball again on the 15-yard line, the scrubs scored on four plays, this time by a cross buck, O'Reilly carrying the ball. Both of these men scored a pair of touchdowns as their share of the afternoon's work, and Jerry Coleman accounted for the fifth and last one from a perfect pass over the varsity line.

Friedlander Shines

Friedlander and Curtis, the other scrub backs, showed up in fine style. The former was one of the stars of the freshman team last year and has only been with the squad for a few days. With a little more work he will make considerable trouble for the varsity backs and may win himself the right to wear the Red and Blue.

There was considerable change in the varsity line yesterday. Coach Gaston is doing some experimenting, and it may or may not be permanent. However, as they were yesterday on the defense, the line looked stronger than at any other time this season.

Thurman, who has been playing a tackle post, was shifted to guard, and Frank Sutherland was sent to tackle. Kauffman, the regular tackle on the other side of the line, was moved in to guard and Bill Kelly was in at tackle. This adds greater weight and strength to the center of the line, where the weight is most needed, as both of the Lan pivot men are pounds lighter than any of the other linemen.

Sutherland played as tackle in several of the games last year and is no new man for the position. Kelly is far faster than Kauffman and a better tackler in an open field. Yesterday he handled himself in fine style in the new position and looks like a fixture.

Pat McDonald, center of the freshman team last year and a member of the first-year crew, was taken over to the varsity ranks yesterday after a week's stay with the scrubs. He was sent in at center during the scrimmage and showed lots of power. He is far heavier than any of the other Penn centers and will make a strong bid for the regular varsity berth.

Open Field Running

Something new was tried with the backs yesterday in the way of open field running and picking a hole. A number of wooden stakes were erected in a corner of the field and the varsity backs sent running through carrying the ball. The stakes were uneven and the man with the ball had to twist and turn. This was a phase of the game that was missing with the backs in the game last Saturday. They seemed unable, with the exception of Sullivan, to find the hole that was made for them by the line.

Several hundred students gathered in the stands to watch the practice yesterday. Today will be an open day to any one who can show that he is a student. It was the first time that the "studes" have been allowed to see the team in action.

Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, of the United States Marine Corps, was a visitor at Franklin Field. The general was interested in the construction of the new stadium, as he is building one on similar plans for the marine barracks at Quantico.

Coach Heisman gave the varsity backs a long drill in a new aerial attack preceding the scrimmage drill. It looks as though the same backs who started the game last Saturday will be given the call this Saturday. All of them worked in the signal drill and scrimmage yesterday and showed considerable improvement over any practice this season.

Joe Riben and Al Langdon, who have been on the injured list since the team returned from Mount Gretna, reported for practice yesterday. Langdon got into the scrimmage for a short time, but Riben will take several days to get into shape before he will be ready.

Captain Boots Lever and several of the varsity track men were out on the field for a workout yesterday. The cross-country men are running daily now in preparation for the first meet of the season with Syracuse on November 4.

West Phila. Wants Soccer Game

As there is a possibility of Wolfden-Shore not being able to meet the West Philadelphia F. C. on the latter's grounds at Forty-ninth and Spruce streets on next Saturday afternoon, as the scheduled league game, the West Phillies would like to negotiate an exhibition game on its home grounds, pending a decision on league match. Final arrangements may be made Thursday night. The team does not wish to be idle at this stage of the season. J. Young, Walnut 3000, or reach him at Woodland 2099 R between 6 and 8 P. M.

DRASTIC CHANGES IN HARVARD GRID SQUAD

Coach Fisher Delegates Eight Men to Second Team and Another Is Promoted

FITTS GETS END JOB

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 4.—Coach Bob Fisher, of the Harvard football squad, dropped eight men to the second team and one man was raised from the second team to the varsity at yesterday's practice.

The men who were dropped include a quarterback, a halfback, three ends, two tackles and a guard. G. W. Tower is the man promoted to the varsity squad.

Coach Bob Fisher made several drastic changes in position among his men. Roscoe Fitts, one of the best punters on the team, was shifted from halfback to end and George Braden, former Worcester Academy and Harvard freshman star, was shifted from end to halfback. Russell Hubbard, second string tackle, will be tried out at guard.

The varsity squad had a long defensive workout against the second team and the play of the ends was noteworthy, especially as Coach Fisher is experimenting this week in order to obtain a man to take Percy Jenkins' place. Jenkins will probably be out until the Dartmouth game, and Eskie Clark, the center, who has an injured knee, may get back into the game Saturday when the Crimson eleven meets Holy Cross.

YALE—Charley O'Hearn and George Becker, the Yale quarterbacks, picked elevens which struggled half an hour through the daily practice. Captain Jordan, Neidlinger and Bill Mallory did not line up. O'Hearn's team won, two touchdowns to nothing. Knapp and Bench scoring.

Eddie Bench made a touchdown after he had recovered a fumble by his own team on the other team's one-yard line. Following Bench's touchdown Becker kicked a goal. The teams then scrimmaged with the ball in the possession of O'Hearn's eleven on O'Hearn's 30-yard line and by a series of line plunges rushed the ball to the other 30-yard line, where O'Hearn tried a long forward pass, which Knapp intercepted and prevented a score. Knapp made an 80-yard run and touchdown.

Yale football coaches regard North Carolina, which plays here Saturday, as stronger than usual. Myron Fuller, Yale line coach, was coach there for two years.

PRINCETON—Dissatisfied with the lack of smoothness of the Tiger grid machine, Coach Bill Roper has returned to a stiff drill on the fundamentals of the game. No scrimmage was held yesterday, but drop-kicking, punting, tackling the dummy and signal drills kept the Tiger gridiron candidates busy.

Two teams were lined up against each other and many line plays, both on offense and defense, were executed at a slow pace.

Hills, Van Gerbig, Crane and Baker tried punting. Baker, Graves and Smith tried for the point after touchdown by way of the drop-kick route.

NAVY—The heaviest line in the history of the Naval Academy is being used in practice. It averages 192 pounds as a whole, and 197 exclusive of the ends. Several changes were made in the line-up yesterday. Bolles, last year's left tackle, resumed his old position, while Shewell went to the second team. Lentz, the big Rutgers guard of last year, changed places with Winkler. The varsity was kept largely on the defensive during the scrimmage, and toward the last the big forwards generally broke through and threw the second team back for losses.

ARMY—Army has started preparations in earnest for the game with the University of Kansas next Saturday. The Cadets worked in the intense heat for an hour, using up nearly all their A and B squad members in the hard scrimmage which followed the preliminary drill. Kansas is said to be strong and is making its first trip East to play football.

WEST VIRGINIA—Five men who started in the opening game for West Virginia against Wesleyan College last Saturday were on the side lines when Dr. Spears scrimmaged his first and second squads in preparation for the game this week with Marietta College. It was easy to see he was not satisfied with the showing of his team in the opening game and that he contemplates several drastic changes. Barnum, reserve fullback, was used at end, and Mahan, another scrub back, was used at end and guard respectively, on the varsity yesterday. The feature of the scrimmage was a long run by Bowers, reserve halfback.

LEHIGH—Another light workout was the order of events for the Lehigh team as the warm weather continued to hold sway. After such a hard battle last week in the sun, Coach Baldwin decided to allow his men to rest up a little before going back into the hardest part of the work. The game this Saturday is with St. Francis College, which is situated at Loretta. The team is not very strong, this being the first year it has had an eleven since 1915. Due to its weakness, Baldwin is not working his team too hard.

GETTYSBURG—The line that Gettysburg will pit against State on Saturday will be light in comparison to that of Bezdek's warriors, as from end to end the Battlefield line averages 174 pounds. Coach Wood is depending upon condition, experience and stamina. That he has a defensive team was shown in the Lehigh match, when they held the foe for three downs without losing a yard, which would have meant a touchdown.

P. M. C.—Coach Si Pauxtis put the varsity through a severe drill in signal work in preparation for the game with St. Joseph's College in Chester Saturday. Pauxtis thoroughly threshed out the faults of the cadets in the Rutgers game and then followed some practice in offensive work. New candidates included Stanley Malinowski, brother of "Giant Frank" Malinowski, a star guard on last year's varsity.

Lukas' Nose Broken In Penn Scrimmage

Johnny Lukas, captain of the Red and Blue boxing team and a member of the varsity last year, while playing on the scrub football team yesterday suffered a broken nose and was forced to leave the field. Doctor Light, the team physician, believes that Lukas will be able to get back into scrimmage in about three weeks. Clarke Craig, who reported yesterday with a boil on his elbow, has developed an infection and will not be back in the game for two weeks.

EAST FALLS IN FIELD

Ready to Inaugurate Second Season on Basketball Court

The East Falls Professionals, a first-class traveling basketball team, is ready to open the second season of its existence on the court. This quintet, which is being handled by Squire Kershaw, had such a successful season last year that it was decided to launch another campaign for the 1922-1923 season. They defeated such teams as Wildwood, Salem and clubs of that type in New Jersey and the upper part of this State.

In the line-up are such stars as Edwards, Starrett, Cross, Buckley and Warrington as forwards. Gephard, Ashton and Kershaw are three well-known pivot men, while the guarding is taken care of by Allen, Starrett and Lister.

The Professionals are particularly desirous of hooking up with K. of C., St. Nicholas, All-Jewish, Immaculate Conception and teams of their class. Teams wishing to engage this attraction can do so by writing to T. S. Kershaw, 569 East Comarroe street, Roxborough, or by calling him on the phone during the day at Spruce 2764.

Scraps About Scrappers

Jimmy Tendler, 116, is here from Baltimore and has placed himself under the management of Arthur Seelig. Tendler is open for competition with Tommy Murray, Jack Perry and Benny Bass. Together with Jack Valentine, Silver is looking after other boxers, as follows: Jackie Hermann, 135; Jack Miller, 122, and Mike Brown, 175.

Chapple Marks has returned from the Catskill Mountains, together with a pair of punchers. They are battling Joe Fisher and Lou Brody, who are preparing for bouts with Eddie Dempsey, Young Jack Dempsey, Billy Gannon, Bobbs Barrett and Patsy Broderick.

Jimmy Murray has returned from Atlantic City, where he scored two knockouts within ten days. His victims were Dennie Moore and Young Sharkey, each being put away in the first round. Murray is in training now under the eyes of Jack Philbin and is ready to take on any of the local featherweights. Philbin also handles Young Tommy Langdon, a bantamweight.

The boxing class of Louis H. Vecklerherr, physical director at the West Branch Y. M. C. A., will get under way this evening and will be in session for the next twelve Wednesday nights between 7 and 9.

Charley Vernon, 150, winner of a Bijou semi-final journey, is making ready to start a professional career. His stablemate, Charley Kaisl, 105, and a former amateur, is in shape to take on Harry Jaffe, Patsy Togo, Phil Brown and Ray Mulligan.

Johnny Downey, West Philadelphia lightweight, is being managed and trained by Dennis Nautry. He is getting in shape for sparring with Patsy Broderick daily and will be ready to box in about two weeks.

An eight-round heavyweight match between Jack Gerstein and Johnny Dougherty will be the semi-final to the Mike Shultz-Sammy Bisbee setup at the Cambria Friday night. Schultz, formerly boxed under the names of Tom Sharkey and Tommie O'Toole. Bobby Sean Nocia vs. Jimmy Tierney, Georgie Nolan vs. Willie Patterson and Patsy Tate vs. Dick Crane.

The veteran Lew Stinger is to appear in one of the bouts at the old Rolonia A. C. Friday night meeting Stuggy Murray. Leo Patterson and Johnny Gardiner are to appear in the wind-up of this show. Other bouts: Kid Holmes vs. Jack Tanner, Marting Penrose vs. Kid Happy and Jimmy Wilson vs. Andy Murray.

Joe Wenke announces tickets have been put on sale for the reopening of the National A. A. at the National Sporting Club on next Friday night. Wenke has been appointed promoter and matchmaker by a group of Atlantic City and Philadelphia business men, who are behind the new organization.

DELAPLAINE SEEKS TO WIN GRID TITLE

Speedboys' Coach Knows How to Get Most Out of His Men

STUDIES PECULIARITIES

By PAUL PREP

THE man who looks into the future and makes his plans accordingly is the man who succeeds in life.

Roy W. Delaplaine, physical director and football coach of the West Philadelphia High School, is such a man. His ability to look into the future has made him one of the most successful of scholastic coaches.

Roy first took charge of Northeast' track team—and broke Central's great string of victories by winning the outdoor championships. He repeated with the Archives the following year before he was transferred to West Philadelphia.

He then took hold of the Orange and Blue cinder pathers last spring and turned out another champion aggregation, thereby giving the Speedboys their first title.

And every one of these teams was placed on the highest pedestal possible because Delaplaine was able to look into the future, study his players and their moods, find the weakness of his strongest opponents and make his plans accordingly.

Delaplaine gave up coaching the track team to take charge of football at West Philadelphia. Right now he has one of the three best teams in the city. But the former Swarthmore star is laying plans for his 1923 eleven.

Satisfied that most of his 1922 regulars will not be back next season, Delaplaine decided to start training freshmen to take their places. He has been drilling the yearlings almost every day, and says they will have some real football knowledge when they report for the squad in 1923.

Not only has he been drilling them, but Delaplaine also has been arranging games for the yearlings. For instance, Friday afternoon the members of the 1926 class will battle Frankford High's freshman team.

Delaplaine has the right idea. Train the freshmen! It is to them that the coaches will have to build their future teams. And a lot of other coaches would do well to start yearling elevens also.

The "Ardmore Twins," Duffy Myers and Fred Sweet, both former West Philadelphia High football stars, are in the limelight again. They have returned to the Brown University football squad after a week's vacation.

Myers was the only regular on the casualty list, having turned his ankle in the opening scrimmage of the season. Sweet, however, was benched for an infraction of the training rules, made while the varsity squad was in camp on Narragansett Bay.

But since coming back to the squad Fred has been meek, so far as the rules are concerned. Outside of that he has been setting everything on fire and looms as the real backfield "threat." And Myers is making just as big an impression on the line.

CARPENTIER-SIKI BOUT FIXED, IS PARIS RUMOR

Georges Was to Knock Out Senegalese, According to 'Arrangement'

Paris, Oct. 4.—By innuendos and thinly veiled accusations, it is now being intimated that Battling Siki and Georges Carpentier had "an understanding" in their recent bout and that the Senegalese double-crossed Georges by hitting him a terrific wallop in the third round.

According to the reports now in circulation, the so-called "arrangement" called for Carpentier and Siki to battle five rounds for the benefit of the films. Georges was then to knock the black out, so the story goes.

These insinuations have raised a storm in sporting circles here and demands are being made that the report either be proved or disproved immediately. In this connection, Le Echo de Sports declares:

"If true, or even if there is a suggestion of scandal, it will give a death blow to French boxing."

ED BOYCE AGAIN WILL COACH MOUNT AIRY TEAM

Henrich and Bracken, Former College Stars, in the Line-Up

The Mount Airy football eleven promises to have one of the best teams in the city and virtually the same team as last season is back on the job, with a few new additions.

Among the local stars signed are: Bill Bracken, last year's star fullback; Fritz Henrich, star halfback and drop kicker; Andrea, of Germantown High, and Lou Gray, of Glenside.

The line-up will be: L. Bracken, Daly and O'Donnell, ends; Rockford and R. Bracken, tackles; Tegan and Morasco, guards; Whelan at quarter, with McCaulley, Owens and R. Tegan also in the backfield.

Mount Airy is after games with the leading teams. Address Frank J. Tegan, 420 East Mount Airy avenue, or call Chestnut Hill 1039 after 6 P. M.

Willie Jackson Loses Decision

Newark, N. J., Oct. 3. Willie Davis, Detroit lightweight, outpointed Willie Jackson, of New York, tonight in a ten-round contest, according to the verdict of newspaper men at the ringside. Jackson was knocked down for a count in the fifth round.

TRANSIT SERIES TO START TOMORROW

Richmond and Allegheny Ready for Championship Contests on P. R. T. Field

STARS IN RIVAL LINE-UPS

The big baseball series for the championship of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit system will get going tomorrow morning at 10:30 A. M. on the grounds of the company at Tenth and Butler streets.

The teams in action are Allegheny and Richmond, champions of their respective sections in the company league which played during the entire summer.

The opening game will be followed on October 10 and 12. The famous Allegheny Band will be present at all of the contests, and the first ball will be tossed out by F. W. Johnson, a prominent official.

All the money taken in at the games will be turned over to the Helping Hand Fund. The players on the Allegheny team have batted .400 all season in their section, but this is expected to shrink when they face the hurling stars of Richmond. The latter captured the championship last season, while Allegheny was the winner for the three previous years.
