ISAAC GUGGENHEIM, CAPITALIST, IS DEAD

End Came This Morning at Southampton After Sudden Illness Last Night

Southampton, Oct. 10.—By A. P. Isaac Guggenheim, American capitalist and copper magnate, died here suddenly today.

Mr. Guggenheim came here in his motorcar from London yesterday to meet Henry W. Marshall, who arrived on the Aquitania. Both were in the prime of life.

For some time Mr. Guggenheim had not been in the best of health and it is understood he had a slight stroke in about the middle of the week. He returned to New York last Saturday morning.

As a successful business man, Isaac Guggenheim had a record of which he was proud. He was the elder of the seven sons of Meyer Guggenheim, founder of the world-renowned house of M. Guggenheim Sons, leading suppliers and merchandisers of tin, iron, copper and other metals.

He was president of the American Mining Congress, and also president of the American Copper and Brass Association. He was also president and director of the American Tin, Lead and Zinc Association.

Mr. Guggenheim was a member of the American Bar Association and of the American Association of Lawyers. He was also a member of the American Association of Engineers and the American Association of Architects.

He was a member of the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons and of the American Association of Dentists. He was also a member of the American Association of Chemists and the American Association of Geologists.

He was a member of the American Association of Public Administrators and of the American Association of Social Workers. He was also a member of the American Association of Teachers and the American Association of Parents.

Mining Congress Delegates Declare Shortage Due to Immigration Laws

FEWER LIVES SACRIFICED

Cleveland, Oct. 10.—The board of directors of the Western division of the American Mining Congress in session here today presented a resolution to the congress requesting the "bureau of the metal mining industry."

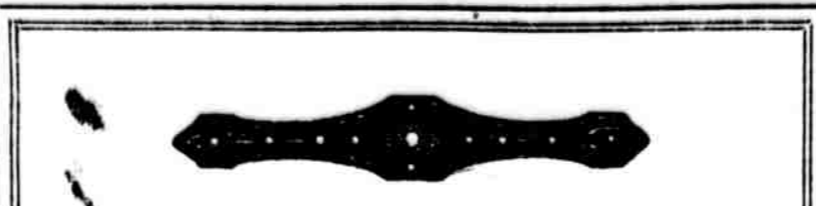

The resolution provides that the board of directors of the American Mining Congress shall investigate the causes of the shortage of labor in the mining industry.

The board of directors of the American Mining Congress also requested that the congress should continue to investigate the causes of the shortage of labor in the mining industry.

Loss of life in the mining industry has been estimated at 50 percent during the period from 1912 to 1922, according to the annual report of the Mining Congress.

The report issued by J. P. Callaghan, of Massachusetts, secretary of the congress, stated that 1922 was the worst year in the history of the industry since 1907.

The report also stated that the number of fatalities in the industry in 1922 was 1,427, a record for the industry since 1907.

DANISH BOND

DANISH BOND is distinctly a superior writing paper. Hand-sorted new rags, pure artesian water, rigidly adhered-to standards, and seasoned skill, make it so.

Danish Bond has snap and crackle, the "feel" and texture, that lift your letters out of "the waste basket class."

Your printer will supply your letter-heads on Danish Bond—if you ask him. You'll be pleased at the quality and surprised at the price.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

With this car, Dodge Brothers have literally created a new type of sedan. They have combined open car ruggedness with closed car protection and smartness.

The body is built of hand-welded steel because steel is sturdy, and will take a permanent, oven-baked finish, eliminating forever the cost of repainting.

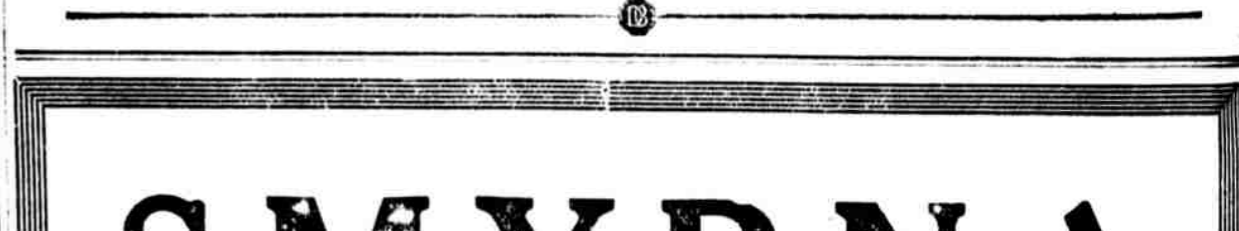

The seats are upholstered in attractive, genuine Spanish blue leather, because leather will wash and wear.

To further enlarge the car's usefulness, the rear seat, back and side cushions, seat frame and foot rest are quickly removable, giving sixty-four cubic feet of flat loading space in the rear compartment.

The top and rear quarters are of non-rumble, fabric construction, conforming with the present attractive vogue. From cord tires to curtain cords, the fittings, inside and out, are distinctive and complete.

In fact, every detail of the car emphasizes its striking adaptability to business as well as social use.

HARDING HAS PRAISE FOR RECREATION WORK

9th Congress at Atlantic City Hears President's Letter to Chairman

Atlantic City, Oct. 10.—That the spirit of organized activities and the spirit of the people have been the chief factors in the success of the recreation work of the National Recreation Association and the National Recreation Council, was the substance of a letter to Joseph Lee, chairman of the National Recreation Council, in session here at the Hotel Hamilton.

In his letter the President expressed his appreciation of the recreation work of the National Recreation Association and the National Recreation Council, and stated that the efforts for greater expansion in recreation work being made by the organization were entirely in the most commendable and proper manner.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 288—The Turning Coin Hand some one two half dollars and tell him to hold them horizontally between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand. (See diagram.) Tell him to drop the lowermost coin into his left hand, which should be about fifteen inches from the right. Before he drops the coin, you predict which side will be uppermost when it reaches his left hand. Although the coin turns over in its fall, your statement will prove correct every time.

The secret lies in the fact that the coin will always make one turn during the drop. It will never fall flat, nor will it turn more than once. So all that you have to do is to note which side of the coin is underneath before the drop. That side will be up when the coin hits the left hand.
