REPUBLICAN WOMEN URGE UNION WITH INDEPENDENTS

Mrs. George A. Dunning Tells 46th Ward Branch Diversion of Effort Prevents Full Realization of Political Power

To attain the political power of which they are capable women must obliterate sharp lines among groups and kind themselves into one great organization, Mrs. George A. Dunning told the Forty-sixth Ward branch of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania last night.

Mrs. Dunning, who is organization chairman of the Republican Women of Pennsylvania, made this statement following a discussion with Miss Lillian S. Howard, a charter member of the Forty-sixth Ward branch, who wanted to know why the Independent Republican Women of Philadelphia County, headed by Mrs. Bessie Johnson Adams, had never affiliated with the Republican Women of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Dunning explained that the organization between her club and Mrs. Adams' club were most friendly at all times. The meeting was held in the "Doll House," 140 South Fifty-first street, and was attended by more than fifty women.

Mrs. Robert Carson, chairman of the Forty-sixth Ward branch, said for the first time a formal vote of the club of the Independent Republican Women was taken to merge with the Republican Women of Pennsylvania.
