SUCCOTH FESTIVAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

8000 Expected to Attend Silver Jubilee at National Farm School

BOND ISSUE IS PLANNED

It is expected at least five thousand persons from Philadelphia and York road towns will attend the silver jubilee succoth harvest festival of the National Farm School next Sunday. Chief events on the all-day program include the unveiling of the Rebecca F. Loucheim Auditorium erected in memory of Mrs. Loucheim, the dedication of three new model houses, the gift of William Herman, of Philadelphia, and the dedication of the Nation greenhouses, gifts of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar S. Straus, as a memorial wedding anniversary.

The National Farm School is the project founded and conducted by the Rev. Mr. Krauskopf and its celebration naturally is centered largely on worship. Rabbi [illegible] of the United States Government speakers will be present, and there will be addresses from [illegible] leaders.

It is [illegible] will pass [illegible] school bond [illegible] Bradley C. Algeo is president of the Springfield Board of Education.

An offer of $1500 for the Harboro-Horsham toll road has been made by the commissioners of Montgomery County to the owning company. This toll road extends from Harboro to Horsham, connecting the Old York road and the Easton highway, and is less than one and one-half miles in length. The Harboro-Horsham pike is one of two pikes in the county on which tolls are still collected, the other toll road being in the North Penn district.

Women of Upper Gwynedd Township affiliated with the Upper Gwynedd League of Women Voters met last night to outline the fall and winter meetings and to urge a large turnout of women voters in November.

VALUABLE GOETHE RELICS TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

American Peace Society Tries to Stop "Impending Calamity"

Washington, Oct. 13.—(By A. P.)—Disturbed over reports that a valuable collection of Goethe relics is to be sold at auction by the authorities of Lyons, France, the American Peace Society, through its official organ, "The Advocate of Peace," is instituting a campaign to prevent what it regards as an impending calamity to the world of literature.

According to information reaching the society, the Goethe collection was loaned by the Goethe Museum, of Frankfort, to a French committee at Lyons for exhibition purposes in April, 1914 a few months before the world war, was seized during the war by the French Government, and now is held for storage costs of 500,000 francs, a sum which the Frankfort Museum says it cannot pay with German currency at its present low level.

The sale is understood to be arranged for October 28.

As a Direct Result of the Unexpected Hot Spell

¶ Tomorrow's values are the most phenomenal offerings of the season. They are the direct result of the unexpected warm spell of the past few weeks, which has somewhat retarded our business. This hot spell in addition to the fact that our factory produces to its fullest capacity at this season of the year has caused an unavoidable accumulation of stock.

¶ Tomorrow, in order to induce you to purchase in spite of the weather, we offer these finely fashioned furs at summer clearance prices. The values are so unusual that comparative prices would seem an exaggeration. Suffice it to say that to purchase your furs here tomorrow will enable you to save many dollars.
