

MUST UPROOT TREE, PINCHOT ASSERTS

Removing Deadwood of Government Not Enough, He Tells Women Voters

MOSPARRAN APPLAUDS HIM

The government of Pennsylvania was described today by Gifford Pinchot as a tree that needs more than the mere removal of dead wood and the pruning of superfluous branches.

The Republican nominee for Governor spoke in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia before a group of Women Voters on his plans for a more efficient and more economical administration of the State's affairs.

John A. McSparran, Democratic nominee for Governor, was in the audience that crowded the ballroom to capacity and liberally applauded the Republican candidate.

The long speakers' table was beautifully decorated with different varieties of flowers, with dahlias predominating. Scores of the most prominent women in politics throughout the State mingled and formed the background of a setting that might have been in the open air.

Applause Greeted Candidates. The Democratic candidate was the first of the two speakers to enter the room. He was accompanied by Mrs. McSparran and received an enthusiastic welcome from the Democratic women.

When Mr. Pinchot advanced a few moments later he acknowledged the outburst of applause and entered the speakers' table, where he and Mr. McSparran exchanged formal greetings.

"Governments grow," he said, "like trees. With advancing age they become larger, heavier and cover more ground. Like trees, with advancing age, they are likely to develop straggling and irregular branches and unsoundness here and there under the bark."

Reorganization a Necessity. "Every kind of tree grows in accordance with a definite, systematic plan. Governments as a rule do not. Governments grow not in accordance with a prearranged scheme, but in accordance with the whims of successive Legislatures and executives may dictate.

From time to time, therefore, reorganization becomes a necessity. Such a time has come in Pennsylvania. You cannot reorganize a State government merely by cutting out the dead wood and removing superfluous branches. The whole structure must be reorganized along lines which will result in more service for the taxpayers' dollar.

Mr. Pinchot said many are inclined to believe that all engineering work of a government should be given to government engineers. His own view, he said, is that it should be almost entirely given to private organizations of a government department on engineering as it would be on a typical engineering project.

The reorganization of our State government," he concluded, "will be long, difficult and complicated task, out of which Pennsylvania should secure a modern, up-to-date business machine capable of producing the utmost return in service for every dollar the taxpayers of the State devote to it."

Both Mr. Pinchot and Mr. McSparran will address a group of Jewish Women in the Lorraine this afternoon. Mr. Pinchot tonight will speak at meetings in Chester and Media with Senator Reed. He is to leave tomorrow and return to Bedford for a few days rest, but will take part Saturday night in a big rally at Wilkes-Barre, where Senator Borah, of Idaho, is scheduled to speak.

Mr. Pinchot returned to Philadelphia today after one of the most fruitful days of his campaign, which included an enthusiastic reception throughout Chester and Montgomery counties and an official pledge from Senator T. Larry Fry that he would support the Pinchot platform and policies.

Following the close of the two candidates yesterday, predictions were made that Pinchot would carry Montgomery and Chester counties by huge majorities.

McSparran Rib Broken. Mr. McSparran came here today, although suffering from injuries he received in an automobile accident last Thursday at Bradford.

It was first thought that Mr. McSparran had sustained no broken bones, but the candidate was taken to the hospital with severe pains yesterday afternoon and forced to return to the Lancaster Hospital, where it was found that he had a broken rib.

Likely to Be Envoy

GENERAL E. H. CROWDER

According to persistent reports is the logical man for the appointment as United States Minister to Cuba

EMPLOYER LAUDS SERVANTS WHO DIED IN HER KITCHEN

Miss Caroline Sinkler Says Their Character Was Above Reproach

Miss Caroline Sinkler, wealthy employer of Stella Zeisoff and Harry A. Devine, of this city, who were found dead in the kitchen of her summer home at Gloucester, Mass., on October 8, has issued a statement from her home, the Highland, in Andover, in which she praises the character of the maid and chef.

The statement was issued after Medical Examiner Philip Moore, of Gloucester, reported that death of the couple was due to carbon monoxide poisoning. Miss Sinkler, in her statement, said: "The official report on the deaths of Stella Zeisoff and Harry Devine having now been given, it is proved that their deaths were absolutely accidental, due to carbon-monoxide from gas leaked in the kitchen, which had been lighted earlier in the evening. Since statements have been published which indicate they died either from poisonous whisky or some other poison, intentionally administered, it is only right and just that the truth should be made known at once."

At the Detective Bureau in City Hall this morning it was said the police have not received my request to search for the two students. Police think it would hardly be a case for them, as the men seem to be wanted as defense witnesses in the trial.

The advertisement sent by Lewis reads: "Attention, college men. Wanted, the two hikers who ate breakfast in a lunch room between Wheeling, W. Va., and Zanesville, O., on the national road, near Cambridge, about 5:30 on the morning of June 27. They were on their way to Columbus, O. They had a talk with an official of the United Mine Workers about impending labor troubles. These two men can assist in saving the lives of fifteen men. This is vitally important. If you don't know anything yourself, pass this word along. Telegraph at once, collect, to Earl Lewis, St. Charlesville, O."

Camden Woman Goes to New York to Attempt Identification. Mrs. Alvira Zarradino, 322 Raydon street, Camden, went to New York today to attempt to identify the body of a man found dead in Bronx Park, New York, October 2.

She believes it is that of her brother, Louis Mass, who left Camden eight months ago in search of his wife, from whom he had been separated. A picture of the dead man, published in an Italian newspaper, led to a partial identification. According to the New York police, the man was murdered.

Some of the Opponents. Following is the list of some of the opponents which are not members of the association, but which have registered in opposition to the Sesqui-Centennial: Samuel M. Vaudin, president Hudson Light & Power Co.; Charles H. Bickel, president of the Philadelphia Manufacturers Association; and the taxes paid by those who are given a livelihood by these opponents, amount in the aggregate to sufficient to pay a very large proportion of the current expenses of the city and county of Philadelphia.

It is surprising, to say the least, that a member of the judiciary of this city should arbitrarily assert that this group gives little to the public benefactions in the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia is primarily an industrial city and what reputation it has throughout the world is such to attract those who operate her industries is to attract the City of Philadelphia.

The Rev. James A. Maxwell, of Chester, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Baptist general convention at its opening of a four-day session this morning in Germantown. Ministers from all sections of the State assembled in the Second Baptist Church, 15th and Germantown avenues, where they were welcomed by the Rev. B. L. Newkirk.

The Revs. Charles M. Angle, Scranton, and P. H. Lynch, Newmarket, were elected vice presidents and the Rev. Henry W. Stringer, of Germantown, was chosen secretary.

The Rev. Harold S. Stewart, of this city, presided the convention session.

MOTORMAN FINED $10. Had Ignored Camden Traffic Officer's Signal to Stop. For ignoring a Camden traffic officer's semaphore, Henry Stimer, 1248 Empire avenue, Camden, a motorman on a car operating between Camden and Pennsylvania, was fined $10 by Recorder Stuckhouse today. It is said to be the first time in many years that a motorman has been fined in Camden for violation of the traffic laws.

THE development of business-building ideas is one of the features of The Holmes Press service.

THE HOLMES PRESS, Printers 1315-19 Cherry Street Philadelphia

LIVES OF 13 IN STUDENTS' HANDS

Mine Workers Seek Trace of Youths, Hikers in Trouble Zone Last June

WANTED AS WITNESSES

Two college students who "can save the lives of thirteen men," are being urgently sought by Earl Lewis, of St. Charlesville, O.

An advertisement asking for information concerning the college students was telegraphed to this city today by Mr. Lewis. He believes the students may be at some college in or near Philadelphia.

According to the advertisement, the two students, on a hike to Columbus, O., passed through the troubled mining area of West Virginia and Ohio. On the morning of June 27, last, they ate breakfast in a lunch room on the national highway, near Cambridge, O., about 5:30 o'clock and while there talked with an official of the United Mine Workers concerning impending labor troubles.

It is thought here that the students probably came into possession of evidence while passing through the mining district that is now of vital importance in a trial of the thirteen men referred to in the telegram on charges of murder growing out of the mine war of last spring.

At the Detective Bureau in City Hall this morning it was said the police have not received my request to search for the two students. Police think it would hardly be a case for them, as the men seem to be wanted as defense witnesses in the trial.

The advertisement sent by Lewis reads: "Attention, college men. Wanted, the two hikers who ate breakfast in a lunch room between Wheeling, W. Va., and Zanesville, O., on the national road, near Cambridge, about 5:30 on the morning of June 27. They were on their way to Columbus, O. They had a talk with an official of the United Mine Workers about impending labor troubles. These two men can assist in saving the lives of fifteen men. This is vitally important. If you don't know anything yourself, pass this word along. Telegraph at once, collect, to Earl Lewis, St. Charlesville, O."

DEAD MAN MAY BE BROTHER. Camden Woman Goes to New York to Attempt Identification.

Mrs. Alvira Zarradino, 322 Raydon street, Camden, went to New York today to attempt to identify the body of a man found dead in Bronx Park, New York, October 2.

She believes it is that of her brother, Louis Mass, who left Camden eight months ago in search of his wife, from whom he had been separated. A picture of the dead man, published in an Italian newspaper, led to a partial identification. According to the New York police, the man was murdered.

Some of the Opponents. Following is the list of some of the opponents which are not members of the association, but which have registered in opposition to the Sesqui-Centennial: Samuel M. Vaudin, president Hudson Light & Power Co.; Charles H. Bickel, president of the Philadelphia Manufacturers Association; and the taxes paid by those who are given a livelihood by these opponents, amount in the aggregate to sufficient to pay a very large proportion of the current expenses of the city and county of Philadelphia.

It is surprising, to say the least, that a member of the judiciary of this city should arbitrarily assert that this group gives little to the public benefactions in the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia is primarily an industrial city and what reputation it has throughout the world is such to attract those who operate her industries is to attract the City of Philadelphia.

The Rev. James A. Maxwell, of Chester, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Baptist general convention at its opening of a four-day session this morning in Germantown. Ministers from all sections of the State assembled in the Second Baptist Church, 15th and Germantown avenues, where they were welcomed by the Rev. B. L. Newkirk.

The Revs. Charles M. Angle, Scranton, and P. H. Lynch, Newmarket, were elected vice presidents and the Rev. Henry W. Stringer, of Germantown, was chosen secretary.

The Rev. Harold S. Stewart, of this city, presided the convention session.

MOTORMAN FINED $10. Had Ignored Camden Traffic Officer's Signal to Stop. For ignoring a Camden traffic officer's semaphore, Henry Stimer, 1248 Empire avenue, Camden, a motorman on a car operating between Camden and Pennsylvania, was fined $10 by Recorder Stuckhouse today. It is said to be the first time in many years that a motorman has been fined in Camden for violation of the traffic laws.

THE development of business-building ideas is one of the features of The Holmes Press service.

THE HOLMES PRESS, Printers 1315-19 Cherry Street Philadelphia

OBJECTIONS TO FAIR ANSWERS BONNIVILLE

Assert Judge Is Not Informed of Real Magnitude of Opposition to Big Project

GIVE LIST OF NAMES

The Sesqui-Centennial Committee of the North Philadelphia Manufacturers' Association today made public a list of manufacturers and business concerns which are taking an active part in the campaign for the location of a fair building on the grounds where the famous botanist lived.

These concerns are not members of the association itself, but the association lists, representing business interests in all sections of Philadelphia, and a vested interest in Philadelphia running into hundreds of millions of dollars.

The list is descriptive, representing only a part of the total number of individuals and concerns that are co-operating with the association, but is a representative one.

In reply to statements made by Judge Eugene Bonniville in behalf of the Sesqui-Centennial, the committee made public the following statement for the association:

"The committee notes that, according to a report in newspapers of this date, Judge Bonniville, in a public address, has made a deliberate attempt to minimize it by making such grossly inaccurate statements as he is reported to have made. A glance at the list of names which this committee makes public today is a sufficient answer to Judge Bonniville's statement that the opponents of the fair pay comparatively little of the cost of the project. The taxes paid by those who have gone on record as being opposed to the fair and who are actively co-operating with the North Philadelphia Manufacturers' Association, and the taxes paid by those who are given a livelihood by these opponents, amount in the aggregate to sufficient to pay a very large proportion of the current expenses of the city and county of Philadelphia.

It is surprising, to say the least, that a member of the judiciary of this city should arbitrarily assert that this group gives little to the public benefactions in the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia is primarily an industrial city and what reputation it has throughout the world is such to attract those who operate her industries is to attract the City of Philadelphia.

Some of the Opponents. Following is the list of some of the opponents which are not members of the association, but which have registered in opposition to the Sesqui-Centennial: Samuel M. Vaudin, president Hudson Light & Power Co.; Charles H. Bickel, president of the Philadelphia Manufacturers Association; and the taxes paid by those who are given a livelihood by these opponents, amount in the aggregate to sufficient to pay a very large proportion of the current expenses of the city and county of Philadelphia.

It is surprising, to say the least, that a member of the judiciary of this city should arbitrarily assert that this group gives little to the public benefactions in the city of Philadelphia. Philadelphia is primarily an industrial city and what reputation it has throughout the world is such to attract those who operate her industries is to attract the City of Philadelphia.

The Rev. James A. Maxwell, of Chester, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Baptist general convention at its opening of a four-day session this morning in Germantown. Ministers from all sections of the State assembled in the Second Baptist Church, 15th and Germantown avenues, where they were welcomed by the Rev. B. L. Newkirk.

The Revs. Charles M. Angle, Scranton, and P. H. Lynch, Newmarket, were elected vice presidents and the Rev. Henry W. Stringer, of Germantown, was chosen secretary.

The Rev. Harold S. Stewart, of this city, presided the convention session.

MOTORMAN FINED $10. Had Ignored Camden Traffic Officer's Signal to Stop. For ignoring a Camden traffic officer's semaphore, Henry Stimer, 1248 Empire avenue, Camden, a motorman on a car operating between Camden and Pennsylvania, was fined $10 by Recorder Stuckhouse today. It is said to be the first time in many years that a motorman has been fined in Camden for violation of the traffic laws.

THE development of business-building ideas is one of the features of The Holmes Press service.

THE HOLMES PRESS, Printers 1315-19 Cherry Street Philadelphia

DEATHS OF A DAY. Joseph Smith, fifty-two years old, 225 Paul street, died at his home October 13. He is survived by his widow, Ellen, and six children, six sons and two daughters. He was in the furniture business in Frankford until a year ago, when he retired. He was an active member of the East End Jewish farmers and is thought to have been a member of the old Kensington Riding Club, being a widely known horseman. Services will be held at his home, Wednesday morning, 8:30 o'clock, and solemn requiem mass will be sung at 10 o'clock at St. Joachim's Church. He will be buried in St. Dominick's Cemetery.

Herbert B. Hoopes, auditor of the Bell Telephone Company here, who died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1112 S. 24th street, after a short illness, will be buried Thursday afternoon. Interment will be made in the West Chester, Chester, Westminister Cemetery.

Gloyd first insisted that he was not the man wanted, but later admitted his guilt. He told the police he thought prison authorities had forgotten all about him.

PLANS OUTLINED TO RESTORE BARTRAM HOME

City Architect Sinkler's Letter Read at Association's Meeting

A letter from City Architect Sinkler, outlining plans for the restoration of the John Bartram home, was read yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting of the John Bartram Association on the grounds where the famous botanist lived.

Mrs. Bayard Henry, president of the association, made a short address extolling the life of Bartram and spoke of the interest being shown by several garden societies in reclaiming the property.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Bayard Henry; vice president James M. Boyd; corresponding secretary, Miss Alice Bartram; recording secretary Mrs. H. H. Chance, and treasurer, Mrs. S. Bartram Richard.

Mrs. Suzanne Porter Celebrates Birthday With Quiet Chase. Mrs. Suzanne Porter, who today is 100 years old, walked into the front room of her home at 810 North Preston street, with a quick, firm step.

"Dear me," she said, "it tickles me to have young folks visit me. Do I find the young people of today different? Oh, yes, indeed; I watch them going by and sometimes I say, 'Land sakes, if I looked like that I'd be wearing my skirts a little longer than those.'"

"I'm feeling pretty good, and I'm glad I lived to be a hundred. I got out in the air considerable; my nephew has an auto and last week we went 100 miles one day and I wasn't so tired. Of course, old bones like mine get sort of stiff, but I felt chipper just the same."

Two years ago at the presidential election, Mrs. Porter cast her first vote for Harding.

"Women today are different," she said, "but it does seem good to get out with the men folks. I wish I could get about more than I do."

REV. JAMES A. MAXWELL IS HONORED BY BAPTISTS. Chester Minister Elected President of General Convention.

The Rev. James A. Maxwell, of Chester, was elected president of the Pennsylvania Baptist general convention at its opening of a four-day session this morning in Germantown. Ministers from all sections of the State assembled in the Second Baptist Church, 15th and Germantown avenues, where they were welcomed by the Rev. B. L. Newkirk.

The Revs. Charles M. Angle, Scranton, and P. H. Lynch, Newmarket, were elected vice presidents and the Rev. Henry W. Stringer, of Germantown, was chosen secretary.

The Rev. Harold S. Stewart, of this city, presided the convention session.

MOTORMAN FINED $10. Had Ignored Camden Traffic Officer's Signal to Stop. For ignoring a Camden traffic officer's semaphore, Henry Stimer, 1248 Empire avenue, Camden, a motorman on a car operating between Camden and Pennsylvania, was fined $10 by Recorder Stuckhouse today. It is said to be the first time in many years that a motorman has been fined in Camden for violation of the traffic laws.

THE development of business-building ideas is one of the features of The Holmes Press service.

THE HOLMES PRESS, Printers 1315-19 Cherry Street Philadelphia

DEATHS OF A DAY. Joseph Smith, fifty-two years old, 225 Paul street, died at his home October 13. He is survived by his widow, Ellen, and six children, six sons and two daughters. He was in the furniture business in Frankford until a year ago, when he retired. He was an active member of the East End Jewish farmers and is thought to have been a member of the old Kensington Riding Club, being a widely known horseman. Services will be held at his home, Wednesday morning, 8:30 o'clock, and solemn requiem mass will be sung at 10 o'clock at St. Joachim's Church. He will be buried in St. Dominick's Cemetery.

Herbert B. Hoopes, auditor of the Bell Telephone Company here, who died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1112 S. 24th street, after a short illness, will be buried Thursday afternoon. Interment will be made in the West Chester, Chester, Westminister Cemetery.

DEATH CLUE FOUND IN A DRUG ARREST

Mike Finelli Said to Have Named All in Party That Ended Life of Mrs. May Jackson

SEVEN ADDICTS SENTENCED

With the arrest of Mike Finelli, twenty-three years old, Delbi street near South, police believe they have the principal member of a group of drug users who caused the death of Mrs. May Jackson, twenty-five years old, 2810 Agate street, several weeks ago.

Mrs. Jackson was found unconscious from an overdose of drug on a doorstep near Tenth and Spruce streets. She died a few hours later in the Jefferson Hospital.

Finelli, who was arrested last night following a fight in which bricks and fists figured, is said to have confessed that he knew all the members of the party who gave Mrs. Jackson drugs. He is said to have offered his help in rounding up all those whose names he is alleged to have given.

Finelli was arrested by Federal agents who had been hunting for him since Saturday. He is not a peddler of the regular stamp, agents say, but would obtain drugs from a peddler for any who desired them.

When the prisoner's friends learned that agents were in Finelli's trail they laid in wait and after the suspect was arrested started a free-for-all fight, which was finally broken up by police.

THE GLORY THAT WAS AMERICA'S. Expatriations on Easter Island have brought to light apparently conclusive proof that the ancient Polynesian people of Athens and Rome, and the ancient Greeks, had been in the Pacific Ocean before the time of Columbus. The Sun's rays, however, were not the same as those of today. "Mass & Co."

Specimen Pearls As Necklaces For Necklaces. J. E. CALDWELL & CO. JEWELRY - SILVER - WATCHES - STATIONERY CHESTNUT AND JUNIPER STREETS

Constable—"Wall, you've got quite a piece to go yet. But I guess you could do it in about ten minutes with that Moon. But I'm the constable around here, Sonny, and you'd better count on a half hour."

Prices (F. O. B. Factory): $1195, $1695, $1785, $2485. MACKIN MOTORS, INC. J. Jay Vandergrift, President 885 North Broad St. Display Rooms Open Evenings

MOON Motor Cars. The car of the ten proven units. Authorized Dealers: Westmoreland Motor Sales Co., 4522 N. Broad St., John A. Morrison, 3440 Kensington Ave., Ever Ready Garage, Broad & Rutherford, King Motor Sales, 4520 Chestnut St., Mabeur & Kilroy, W. Philadelphia, Roy Schaeffer, 6742 Gwynedd

Bidding. Broad St., FIFTH AVENUE, Walnut St. RITZ-CARLTON HOTEL. INVITE YOU TO VIEW THEIR FALL AND WINTER COLLECTION. of Day and Evening Gowns—Wraps Tailleurs—Three-Piece Costumes Hats and Furs from the foremost Parisian couturiers and modistes. The prices quoted this season are extremely moderate for the wealth of rich fabric and luxurious fur which the Autumn mode demands.

Reproduced by Rogers Peet it makes bully suits for business. Good looking! Long wearing! Ideal for men who are hard on their clothes. Registered Trademark. FERRO & COMPANY Rogers Peet Clothes Exclusively Chestnut St. at Juniper

THE HOLMES PRESS, Printers 1315-19 Cherry Street Philadelphia

DEATHS OF A DAY. Joseph Smith, fifty-two years old, 225 Paul street, died at his home October 13. He is survived by his widow, Ellen, and six children, six sons and two daughters. He was in the furniture business in Frankford until a year ago, when he retired. He was an active member of the East End Jewish farmers and is thought to have been a member of the old Kensington Riding Club, being a widely known horseman. Services will be held at his home, Wednesday morning, 8:30 o'clock, and solemn requiem mass will be sung at 10 o'clock at St. Joachim's Church. He will be buried in St. Dominick's Cemetery.

Herbert B. Hoopes, auditor of the Bell Telephone Company here, who died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1112 S. 24th street, after a short illness, will be buried Thursday afternoon. Interment will be made in the West Chester, Chester, Westminister Cemetery.

Gloyd first insisted that he was not the man wanted, but later admitted his guilt. He told the police he thought prison authorities had forgotten all about him.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Holmes. The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Ann Holmes, at one time a choir singer, will take place Thursday afternoon from the home of her son, 1113 Foulk-road street. Following services at the house, interment will be made in East Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Specimen Pearls As Necklaces For Necklaces. J. E. CALDWELL & CO. JEWELRY - SILVER - WATCHES - STATIONERY CHESTNUT AND JUNIPER STREETS

Constable—"Wall, you've got quite a piece to go yet. But I guess you could do it in about ten minutes with that Moon. But I'm the constable around here, Sonny, and you'd better count on a half hour."

Prices (F. O. B. Factory): $1195, $1695, $1785, $2485. MACKIN MOTORS, INC. J. Jay Vandergrift, President 885 North Broad St. Display Rooms Open Evenings

MOON Motor Cars. The car of the ten proven units. Authorized Dealers: Westmoreland Motor Sales Co., 4522 N. Broad St., John A. Morrison, 3440 Kensington Ave., Ever Ready Garage, Broad & Rutherford, King Motor Sales, 4520 Chestnut St., Mabeur & Kilroy, W. Philadelphia, Roy Schaeffer, 6742 Gwynedd

Bidding. Broad St., FIFTH AVENUE, Walnut St. RITZ-CARLTON HOTEL. INVITE YOU TO VIEW THEIR FALL AND WINTER COLLECTION. of Day and Evening Gowns—Wraps Tailleurs—Three-Piece Costumes Hats and Furs from the foremost Parisian couturiers and modistes. The prices quoted this season are extremely moderate for the wealth of rich fabric and luxurious fur which the Autumn mode demands.

Reproduced by Rogers Peet it makes bully suits for business. Good looking! Long wearing! Ideal for men who are hard on their clothes. Registered Trademark. FERRO & COMPANY Rogers Peet Clothes Exclusively Chestnut St. at Juniper

THE HOLMES PRESS, Printers 1315-19 Cherry Street Philadelphia

DEATHS OF A DAY. Joseph Smith, fifty-two years old, 225 Paul street, died at his home October 13. He is survived by his widow, Ellen, and six children, six sons and two daughters. He was in the furniture business in Frankford until a year ago, when he retired. He was an active member of the East End Jewish farmers and is thought to have been a member of the old Kensington Riding Club, being a widely known horseman. Services will be held at his home, Wednesday morning, 8:30 o'clock, and solemn requiem mass will be sung at 10 o'clock at St. Joachim's Church. He will be buried in St. Dominick's Cemetery.

Herbert B. Hoopes, auditor of the Bell Telephone Company here, who died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1112 S. 24th street, after a short illness, will be buried Thursday afternoon. Interment will be made in the West Chester, Chester, Westminister Cemetery.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS

A few years ago the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railway placed a contract with the ARMSTRONG & LATTA COMPANY for harbor improvements at Cape Charles, Virginia, which included the enclosure of the entire basin with pre-cast interlocking concrete sheet piling and the practical re-construction of the entire harbor.

Our engineering organization is accustomed to mastering new methods, overcoming unforeseen difficulties, and completing its work promptly and efficiently;—we are at your service for plans, estimates and contracts.

ARMSTRONG & LATTA CO.

ENGINEERS AND CONTRACTORS LAND TITLE BUILDING : PHILADELPHIA PLANT AND WORKS AT CAMDEN, N. J. Foundation Work, Piers, Submarine Diving, Docks, Conveyor Systems, Factory Building, General Construction