28,000 Panic-Stricken Refugees at Rodosto-Outcasts in Sad Plight in Bulgaria

ROBBED BY COMITADIS

Rodosto, Thrace, Oct. 18.- (By A. 2.)-This town has become a jumpingplace in the Greek evacuation of Eastern Thrace. Twenty-eight thoucand panic-stricken refugees are gathered here, all dominated by the came fear of the Turk that swayed the refugee crowds in Smyrna three weeks

Everybody believes the Turks are al-Everybody believes the Turks are alsure them. The general belief is that the Kemalists will arrive simultaneously with the British troops of occupation, and every refusee hopes to put a long stretch of water between himself and Rodosto before that event.

The whole town and all its extra population have sibnulcored any presence of performing normal duties and have suthered along the gravel beaches.

(By A. P.)—Within the last six days
this city has become a great refuger center. The flood of exiles from Eastern Thrace suddenly began last Friday. and since then the stream has been con-

The arrivals are principally Armenians, who fled in ranie at the first news of the impending return of the Turks. Many were robbed en route by Thracian bandits, and few have more than sufficient supplies for two or three days. A hastily organized relief committee composed mainly of local Americans and Armenians, has sent an urgent appeal to Constantinople for aid from the Near East Relief and aid from the Near East Relief and the American Red Cross.

Many of the refugees complain that they were held up by Comitadjis, or Bulgarlan irregular bands, at the frontier, where they say everything above the value of $100 was confiscated.

The influx appears likely to continue for a considerable time, but the relief of the outcasts is dubious, as no employment is available here, the local food stocks are very low and the city is already greatly congested with Russian and other refugees. The new arrivals are being forced to live in the epen fields.
