

MANY AND BEAUTIFUL WERE THE FLORAL OFFERINGS SENT TO THE GRIEF-STRIKEN HOME OF THE LATE SENATOR VARE. The flower-banked casket is shown above, on the shoulders of the pall-bearers, being carried from the house

LEADING THE PROCESSION from the house, Governor William C. Sproul and Gifford Pinchot were among the many who attended the services at Ambler, yesterday

MRS. HAZEL McNALLY, of Hammond, Ind., admits "doll twin" hoax to please husband

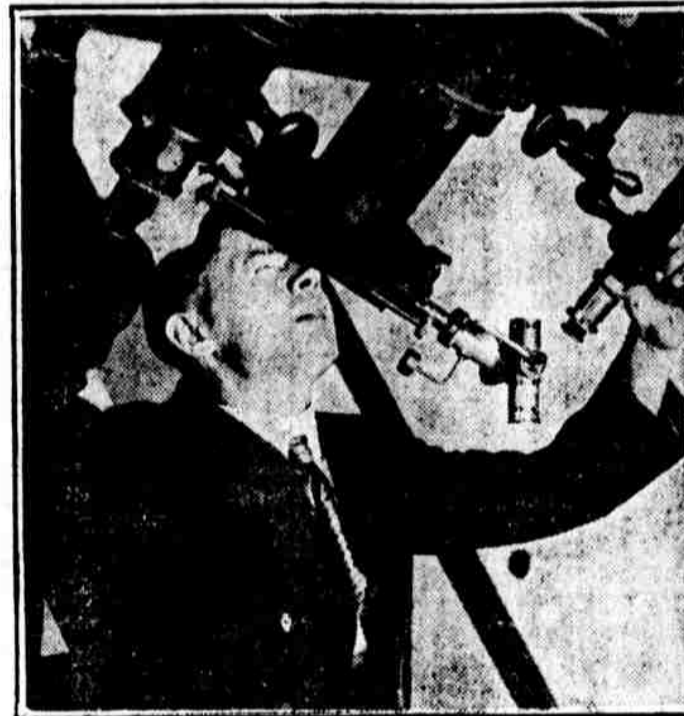

WITH THE BEAGLES AT WEST CHESTER. "Little Miss Moffitt" and "Lady Congo," two prize-winners, are shown on the left with their owner, Mrs. Herbert Weiskettle, of Baltimore. (Right), John Hawthorn, and his prize-winning "Hawthorn Flash"

ALL IN A ROW. The camera caught this beautiful pack of beagles, at the sportsmen's beagle trials at West Chester, yesterday. They were entered by James W. Fox. The events brought out a large gallery

A NOVEL BET. The helmeted tennis player couldn't see, and his opponent, wearing diving shoes couldn't run. So neither won

"STAR GAZING." Dr. Samuel G. Barton will lecture on "The Heavens Through the Camera Lens," at the Y. M. C. A., Monday. Pictured above in his workshop

BELGIAN GIRLS BECOME COLUMBIA CO-EDS. Five new students at Teachers College are these proteges of the Commission for Belgian relief. Left to right, Yvonne Caesens, Marie L. Well, Yvonne Nevejan, Julienne de Haen and Josette Delgoffe

CAMDEN GIRLS IN "KATCHA-KOO." Miss Marie Stanton, as La Belle, and Miss Lucille Hesser, one of the Susquehanna chorus, in "Katcha-Koo," a playlet produced by the Catholic Woman's Club of Camden

SEEN AT THE ROSIER TRIAL. Baby Richard cooed as he posed for his picture, wearing a city hall guard's cap on his small blond head. "Cookie," as James Cook (left) is familiarly called, is an important personage at the trial—he's the doorkeeper, and it's no cinch to get past him. Arthur Rosier (right), brother of the slain man, an important witness

RIVAL CAPTAINS. Miss Henrietta Turner, Swarthmore College, and Miss Alice Carlin, Temple College, led their teams at Swarthmore yesterday. The Temple girls handily defeated their opponents by a score of five goals to one

A COACH ON HORSEBACK is the latest stunt at Quantico, Virginia. Coach J. W. Beckett, formerly of Oregon University, has devised this method of getting around the parade grounds used as a gridiron for the eight teams he supervises

A BIT OF ACTION in the Germantown-West Philadelphia High School football game yesterday. The picture shows McMahon, of West Philadelphia, making an end run. Germantown won by a score of 6 to 0

THE FEDERAL FACT FINDING COAL COMMISSION, authorized by Congress to investigate the coal industries with view to prevent strikes. They are, Judge Samuel Alschuler, George Otis Smith, Thomas R. Marshall, former Vice President; John Hays Hammond, Charles P. Neill and Clark Howell

NO TRAFFIC COPS THEN. They weren't needed. This is how Market Street appeared, looking east from Ninth Street, in 1870. Send us your old Philadelphia photographs

WORLD'S SMALLEST DOG, is the title claimed by "Winkie Wee," diminutive black and tan terrier. It seems right at home in a drinking cup

ONCE OFFICE BOY to Charles Dickens, Frederick Edrupt celebrates his 75th birthday

MRS. HELEN D. LONGSTREET, widow of famous Confederate general

J. A. PRESCOTT, newly elected president of Investment Bankers Association

CHANGE IN THE WEATHER BRINGS OUT FURS. Some of the camera snaps on the streets yesterday caught Miss Nellie Orr, on Rittenhouse Square; Mrs. Elizabeth Dobson Altman, on Walnut Street; Miss Gladys Saver, on Chestnut Street, and Miss Mary Hill, on Rittenhouse Square