

DOCTORS AGAIN OPERATE ON "BILL" TILDEN'S FINGER

May Be Necessary to Perform a Third Before It Can Be Known for a Certainty That Tennis Star Will Not Be Deprived of His Championship Grip on Racquet

...of the infection in the middle finger of the right hand of William T. Tilden, 2d, tennis champion, necessitated another operation by physicians at the Germantown Hospital yesterday. According to Mr. Tilden's physician, W. B. Swartley, still another operation may be necessary before the finger is healed properly. A new incision was made yesterday by Dr. Swartley, who found it necessary to find a means to drain the finger. "We are unable to tell as yet," said Dr. Swartley today, "what the result of the infection will be. It takes time to determine whether or not the finger is going to be still after the infection is cured. If the infection does not develop more serious proportions than at present, it should be back to normal in six weeks." According to physicians, it depends entirely on whether the tendons are affected. If "Big Bill" is to lose the use of the finger, which might mean the end of his career as a tennis star. Mr. Tilden went to the hospital last Tuesday for the first operation on the finger. Sunday the second operation was performed and Dr. Swartley says that still a third may be necessary. The fact that Mr. Tilden waited a week before having the finger treated has greatly handicapped Dr. Swartley and, the latter says, will prolong the curative process.
