STATE LEADS IN

Also Ranks First in Number of Its Agricultural Training Institutions

Pennsylvania leads all the States of the Union in vocational education. The State also ranks first in agricultural

These two facts have been brought out by the reports of the Federal Vo-cational Educational Board, which declares that more money in Federal aid is paid to this State for this work than is paid to any other.

The leadership has only been attained during the last three years, during which, under the present State educational administration, great advancements in the lines of specialization have been accomplished.

In this State there are 406 vocational educational schools, which autional educational schools, which autinually receive Federal financial ald. New York State, which is second, has 197 such schools, and Texas, holding the third place, has 175. In 1919, Pennsylvania had 236 schools of that type, so the gain in two years has been 72 per cent.

The Federal aid is given only to the second had such as the second had been 72 per cent.

The candidates, headed by Hummel's band, will leave the headquarters, Tenth and Walnut streets, at 7:30 o'clock, proceeding west on Walnut street to Bread street, and north to Scottish Rite

The situation in regard to the agri-iltural schools, which are on the not exceed, 90,000. The situation in regard to the agrieultural schools, which are on the same basis, shows that Pennsylvania has 125 such schools. Texas is second with ninety-five and Arkansas third with eighty-four. In 1919 Pennsylvania had fifty-eight, which makes the increase in two years a remarkable one.
The State Department has stressed the value of agricultural education and Sethus McKeegh, advertising director.

The State Department has stressed the value of agricultural education, and many of the rural schools fearntly have established special agricultural branches. In that study the children get practical experience as well as theoretical tutelage. They make and take care of gardens in their own homes, and the results of the home gardens help their credits at school.

The national figures show that in this State there are 52,934 pupils in vocational schools. New York, even with the wealth of industries and commerce, has 39,860, and Massachusetts has 28,866 students in the trade and vocational courses. In addition, in this State there are 2500 junior project students, who will progress into vocational work.

In the agricultural schools funding in those who read your message. In the agricultural schools in Pennsylvania there are 2011 pupits, while in Michigan, which is one of the foremost States of the country in farm products, the number is 2139. Missouri, with 2120, is third in children attending these schools.

Speakers at the meeting were Conversionan Watson: Fletcher W. Stites, of Narberth, candidate for the State Senate, and Burd P. Evans, candidate for the Legislature. for the Legislature.

Survey of political conditions in every part of Bucks County indicates the county—always a Republican strong-hold and the home of Joseph R. Grundy—will again repeat and pile a heavy majority for the Republican candidates, from Pinchot down the list. Sentiment generally among the women is for Pinchot, and this sentiment will be "al in voting for all Republican candidates.

Congressman Watson, representing the Bucks-Montgomery district, will be returned for another term at Wash-ington. His Democratic opponent is GREW IN RECENT YEARS

C. William Freed. State Senator Clarence J. Buckman is opposed for reclection by Jesse C. Everitt, of Hulmeville, Democrat. There are likewise Democratic nominees for the Legislature; but, viewed from every angle, there doesn't seem to be anything to it but a Republican sweep in the county. The Republican candidates to the Legislature are Dr. W. Albertson Haines and William H. Wenmer.

To the German Evangelical Lutheran Church, Camden, the sum of $500 is left. The Rev. Thilo Gore, paster of the church, is bequeathed $100. Nephews and nicces in Germany also will receive bequests of $200 each. The estate is valued at $25,000.
