

HAD NO TROUBLE REACHING VERDICT

Could Have Returned It Without Leaving Box, One Juror Says

MINDS QUICKLY MADE UP

The twelve men who sat in judgment at the trial of Mrs. Catherine Rosier, the second longest murder trial in Philadelphia County, were of one mind as to the innocence of the defendant.

Asked if the jury was nervous or in any way doubtful as to the righteousness of its verdict, Mr. Brown replied: "Certainly not. After listening for two long and weary weeks to the testimony and reviewing the evidence, and listening to closing arguments by Mr. Spenser and Mr. Scott, we had some conception as to what the result would be."

Center Party Hint by Lloyd George

Speech Interpreted as Plea for Creation of New Political Group

HITS AT "STANDSTILLISM"

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Lloyd George received a rousing reception from an audience crowded into a motion picture theatre when he appeared to make a political speech today.

Stand Was Worst Ordeal

The most awful ordeal of the whole time, Mrs. Rosier said, "leaving out the time I waited for the verdict, was when I went on the stand. I was so afraid I would get nervous and I told Mr. Connor and Mr. Scott, my lawyers, not to prompt me because that would make it worse."

Like a Dream

Only Mrs. Reid was quiet. A photographer in making a picture aimed the daughter to lay her hand on her mother's shoulder.

More than a Dream

"More than a dream. A nightmare—this afternoon. When I look back on it I don't know how I got through with it. When I was waiting for that verdict I couldn't let myself think. If I had ever let myself think I would have been here in the nutcracker, were you, dear? You know, lean back—that's the girl."

And he shook his head sadly, thinking of the days of normalcy in politics. This is only an extravagant way of putting it. But none the less the real issue in Republican minds is the comparative showing of the regulars and progressive on election day.
