

77 ON TRIAL TODAY FOR HERRIN RIOT

Mine Union Members to Be Arraigned on Murder Charge

92 MEN WERE INDICTED

By Associated Press
Marion, Ill., Nov. 8.—Seventy-seven members of the United Mine Workers of America, are scheduled to face Judge D. T. Hartwell in Circuit Court today, charged, in 262 indictments, with murder, conspiracy to murder, rioting and assault to murder. The charges are the outgrowth of the killing of nineteen non-union men near Herra June 22 following the attack on the Lester strip mine.

Ninety-two of the indictments charge murder, fifty-eight allege conspiracy to murder, fifty-eight rioting and the remaining fifty-four, assault to murder.
The first case on the docket accuses forty-eight of the defendants of the murder of Howard Hoffman, of Huntington, Ind., a steam-shovel operator. Judge Hartwell has indicated that case, because of its position on the docket, will be called to trial first, although Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, who directed the work of the Grand Jury, said he preferred first to try Otis Clark, the first man indicted, charged with the murder of C. K. McDowell, the mine superintendent and the first mine man killed.
Send False Fire Alarms
West Philadelphia police were searching last night for five men in a large black motorcar, who sent in false fire alarms from the box at Sixty-first street and another from Fifty-seventh and Chestnut streets at 8 o'clock and Gray's Ferry avenue at 6:50 o'clock.

ADMITS SHE STOLE $10,000

Brooklyn Woman Entered Homes on Pretense of Buying Furniture
New York, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Catherine Flynn, wife of a mail carrier, admitted in Magistrate's Court yesterday she was the "woman who had" who had robbed nearly a dozen Brooklyn homes, getting jewelry valued at $10,000, she was held for action by the Grand Jury.
According to the police, Mrs. Flynn said she had gained entrance to the houses by answering advertisements of furniture for sale, lifting the guns under the very noses of the housewives she visited. She carried a hammer in a cretonne bag, but never had occasion to use it, the police say she told them.
Former "Cop" Held as Extortionist
Burlington, N. J., Nov. 8.—Matthew Schaffer, a former policeman, has been arrested and held under $1000 bail by Mayor Mooney for Grand Jury action. He is charged with attempted extortion while impersonating an enforcement official and also is accused of having sold his testimony in a bootlegging trial.

MRS. TAYLOR-WILCOX WEDS

New Husband to Retired St. Louis Navy Commander
The marriage of Mrs. Mary Taylor-Wilcox on September 29 to Commander Mark St. Clair Ellis, U. S. N., retired, in St. Louis, has just been announced. Commander and Mrs. Ellis are making their home at Sunbury, Mrs. Ellis' home, near Bristol.
Mrs. Ellis divorced her first husband, Bromley Wharton, head of the State Board of Charities, in 1900. Five years after the divorce Mrs. Taylor-Wilcox was married to John H. Wilcox of Bedford, N. H. Mr. Wilcox was then known as the richest bachelor in New Hampshire. Several years later she obtained a divorce.
Emily Wharton married again in July of this year, taking for his bride Mrs. Helen Thomas Ferrer, of Harrisburg, who had been divorced nine years before.
Miss Alice Taylor Wharton is a daughter of Mrs. Ellis by her first marriage.

Moving Picture of Ordinary Householder at Radio Show

—By J. P. McEVY
SCENE—Householder wanders into Radio Show.
Approaches booth cluttered with dials and things.
Salesman glides toward him, purring audibly.
Pick up whatchamacallit and shows it to householder.
Householder smiles, intelligently, he thinks.
Salesman asks householder to please note lamination.
And what does he think of the core iron?
And isn't the winding a distinct departure?
SUB-TITLE—Oh, yes, yes . . .
SUB-TITLE—Oh, yes, yes . . .
SCENE—Householder wanders and wanders to near another booth.
Salesman reaches out and grabs him by the lapel.
Bring him to come in and see the cute little aerial.
And what does he think of the amplifier?
And the induction coil?
Isn't it a cute induction coil?
SCENE—Householder slightly dazed. Deafened by loud horns shrieking. Sounds like 10 o'clock Sunday morning in the lion house.
When the lions have just learned it is Sunday and they are not going to be fed.
Salesman seizes householder.
Another salesman reaches over and grabs him.
Two more come up stole bearing thingsamacallit.
Others approach bearing whatchamacallit and thingsamacallit.
Ask him to observe the air space.

And what does he think of the amplifier?
And the induction coil?
Isn't it a cute induction coil?
SCENE—Householder stepping out. And out and out.
And out.

WOMEN USE 800 WORDS

Educator Stresses Need of Large Vocabulary in Business
"There are only 800 words in the vocabulary of the average woman. This is a small stock, but she has a wonderful turnover."
This statement was made yesterday by Harry Collins, president of the Philadelphia Kiwanis Club in the Bellevue-Stratford on "The Dawn of a New Day in Business."
The above reference to women he made while stressing the necessity of "good language" and a "large vocabulary" in business.
"What we need," he declared, "are more men who think in a straight line. In the mind of the average man, an original thought is the event of a season, too often a lifetime. Rand McNally says the great American desert is west of the Rockies. It's not. It is under the hat of the average man."

CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Disease No Longer Baffling, Says California Doctor
Tuberculosis positively can be cured, according to Dr. F. M. Pottenger, of Morristown, N. J., who last night addressed more than 100 members of the Philadelphia Clinical Society at a meeting in Thompson Hall, College of Physicians, 15 South Twenty-second street.
"The laity does not seem to have grasped this fact," Dr. Pottenger said. "The majority of persons seem to have the idea that the disease is incurable, and because of this they are much worried, and worry only deters the cure."
Dr. Pottenger, who is regarded by physicians as an authority on tuberculosis, arrived in this city two days ago, answering a special call from the Philadelphia Clinical Society.

PLACARD UNRULY FRESH

Signs Tell Crimes of U. of P. First-Year Men
Sophomores of the University of Pennsylvania have evolved a new method for inflicting punishment upon unruly freshmen. Instead of ducking them in the frog pond or having them run a gauntlet of paddles, the sophomores have devised a large placard bearing the inscription "I am a dandy fool" and then specifying the particular violation of which the first-year man was guilty.
With one of these signs attached to his back and the other in front, the freshman is obliged to parade up and down in front of Houston Hall at a conspicuous hour of the day. Yesterday at least six offenders were on exhibition.

DANCING BOYS ON STRIKE

Instructors in Chicago Hall Want Wages Instead of Passes
Chicago, Nov. 8.—Dancing boys are out on strike, their members announced. They want some sort of wages, they say, for working conditions are hard. Their spokesman declared that ninety-seven boys who receive passes to a West Side dancing emporium to instruct "wall flowers" without compensation were affected. They threatened to spread the strike to other dance halls.
"On with the dance," remarked the proprietor of the dance hall in question, promising that plenty of instructors would be on hand tonight in spite of the strike.

SEYMOUR TO SUCCEED GOFF

Appointed Assistant to Daugherty to Fill Vacancy by Resignation
Washington, Nov. 8.—Announcement of the resignation of Colonel Guy D. Goff, assistant to Attorney General Daugherty, was followed yesterday by appointment of Augustus T. Seymour, of Columbus, to fill the vacancy.
Colonel Goff, it was stated, was forced to leave the Department of Justice because of large business interests. The Attorney General explained that Colonel Goff would continue his connection with the department on some important cases. He was intimately concerned in the early preparation of the Morse shipbuilding case.

BOY HURT AT BONFIRE

Bottle Explodes at Election Celebration Murling Glass
Albert Gunmarene, eight years old, of 500 North Simpson street, was injured severely last night at Simpson and Callowhill streets while watching an election bonfire which children of the neighborhood had made.
Somebody threw a bottle thought to have contained kerosene into the fire. The bottle exploded and fragments of glass severely cut his face, and pieces also entered his eyes. The child was taken to the West Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital.

OLD N. Y. THEATRE BURNED

New York, Nov. 8.—The last press notice of a theatre that thirty years ago was one of the most famous playhouses in the country appeared yesterday in the announcement that fire had destroyed Miller's, at 105 Bowery. A blaze that started in the balcony destroyed a great part of the structure, and tons of water poured into the auditorium dripped last night over the stage that was once the center of the Manhattan spotlight.

NO "ELECTION EXTRAP" IN N. Y.

New York, Nov. 8.—With interest in the election greater than it has been for years, New York last night had no extra editions of evening newspapers after 7 o'clock as the result of an agreement entered into by newspaper publishers when notified that the presence of the New York Evening World had elected not to work after that hour.
Marilyn Miller Returns to "Sally"
Marilyn Miller, who has been absent from the cast of "Sally" at the Portree Theatre for several days, returned to her role last evening and will continue in it until the end of the local engagement a week from next Saturday evening. Miss Miller's part has been assumed by Mary Estess.

A whisper is heard for miles

A few years ago — as time is measured — you would have been burned as a sorcerer for saying you talked to a person who was five miles away.

Today you accept the telephone as a matter of course and could scarcely imagine life without it.

In telephoning, as in so many other activities of modern life, Exide Batteries play a vital part. It is current from an Exide that carries your voice over the wire in the Bell and most other telephone systems.

Exide Batteries operate the fire alarm, propel a majority of the world's submarines, run mine locomotives, and even play the "steam" piano in the circus parade.

It is because the makers of the Exide Battery have gained experience in building batteries for every purpose since the beginning of the industry that the Exide for starting and lighting automobiles has earned the title of the long-life battery.

You will find the dependable power of an Exide a great comfort in motoring, and its long life a worth-while economy.
