Nancy Wynne Speaks of the Attractive Costumes Seen at Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery's Race Meet Yesterday. She Tells of a Debutante Dance Tonight

The race meet at the Montgomerys came off splendidly in spite of the blanket of fog which made every one call up every minute of the morning to get the much harassed host and hostess if it would or would not be. It was a very smart occasion, of course, and every one was there. Helen Gove wore a beautiful tan sports suit and a smart hat trimmed with brown velvet loops. Mrs. Montgomery herself was charming in a sports gown of gray flannel material with a design in black velvet on it. Her hat was of gray velvet and the brim was bound with gray velvet.

Miss Tom Loran, Ed. Dees Hutten, who that was, wore a perfectly stunning hat of Callot red velvet with flowing panels of peach color georgette which touched the ground all around. The color combination was most attractive. Another lovely dress, with an equally long skirt, was worn by Dolly Dunne. It was of yellow tulle with wide borders of silver lace and was made with a tight bodice and a wide, full skirt.

Clear Gittings wears a dress made like that of the debutantes seen in the country club at Highland Park on Saturday last.

While most of the debutantes seem to wear dresses of light-colored georgette or sometimes tulle or satin, black velvet is always popular. Bitzy Ferguson wears a good-looking one finished with a stunning rhinestone ornament on the left at the waist and with touches of silver cloth. Tish Landreth has a handsome black velvet dress with a wide border of silver lace and with silver cloth.

Sunny Geary was in yellow and white. Bunnys is so dark and has such brilliant coloring that she can wear bright colors exceedingly well.

I wish I could begin to remember all the frocks and stunning hats I saw, but it's almost too much even for my colossal brain.

Terrell Austin will make her debut this evening at a dinner-dance, which her father will give for her at the Acorn Club. The guests will be the debutantes, and an entire party will be lots of fun. Small dinner-dances always are.

Terrell went to Miss Irwin's, and is very attractive. She is an only daughter, but has a small brother. Her father, Mr. Carl Austin, will give a theatre party for her later in the season, and on December 10 she will be the guest of honor at a luncheon-dance party, which Mrs. L. Webster Fox and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Francis Griffith, will give. The luncheon party will be at Mrs. Fox's house at the southeast corner of Seventeenth and Spruce streets.

This afternoon there will be another meeting of the Junior Club of the Seaman's Church Institute at Mrs. Van Hensseler's. The club is arranging for the Hazaar Bouquet, which will be held at the Bellevue for the first day of the beginning of December and, from all I hear of it, it will be an interesting and unusual kind of fair.

There will be a cafeteria in charge of Mrs. Robert Large and in which a lot of debutantes and sub-debts will work, a fashion show, dancing and every imaginable kind of thing to buy.

Today, too, there will be the annual meeting of the Colonial Society of Pennsylvania.

I WAS so sorry to hear of Mrs. Billy Freeman's illness, and every one will be glad to know that she is now much better, though by no means entirely recovered. She has a serious operation on her ankle last spring. She is not yet able to entertain or go out very much on account of the ankle and, of course, cannot dance. Now that most of the painful part of her illness is passed, it must be very trying to have to refuse all invitations and miss lots of parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman have come back from Saranac Inn, where they spent most of the summer, and are at their town house, 2124 Locust street.

ON THURSDAY afternoon at 4 o'clock there is to be an interesting "parlor" meeting at Mrs. Thoons Robins' house, at 1710 Locust street. Miss Vivian Rhys Davids, a prominent member of the Girl Guides in England, will talk on the Brownies. No. 11 is not to be a discussion of fairy tales, as I thought when I first heard of the subject, but of the Junior Girl Scouts here and abroad, who are known as Brownies. There will be a meeting of the Leaders' Association of the Girl Scouts at the Emergency Aid and Miss Rhys Davids will talk to them.

LONG skirts are an old story these days, and I think they are certainly graceful and becoming to most people. The debutantes, especially, seem to have fallen on the trailing garments "with a low growl," as I've seen any number of pretty dresses which nearly touch the ground.

Lily Morgan wore a very becoming pink georgette dress at one of the tea last week. It was made with flowing panels of peach color georgette which touched the ground all around. The color combination was most attractive. Another lovely dress, with an equally long skirt, was worn by Dolly Dunne. It was of yellow tulle with wide borders of silver lace and was made with a tight bodice and a wide, full skirt.

A New Novel By Arthur Somers Roche A MORE HONORABLE MAN "If Arthur Somers Roche in 'A More Honorable Man' has not written the great American Novel, he has come nearer to it than any other author I know. 'IT IS A WONDERFUL, COMPELLING PICTURE OF AMERICAN LIFE. His skillfully drawn characters, Jim Willoughby, the Magnificent, his lovely wife, Ramsey, and Uncle Frank Dabney, are people every American is acquainted with, and in Sam Foyle, who is there that will fail to recognize his own better self?' 'THE BOOK IS VASTLY MORE THAN JUST ANOTHER NOVEL. IT IS PHILOSOPHY IN FASCINATING FICTION. It is history in dramatic form. It is a film of contemporary American life, powerfully told with epigrammatic phrases, and with a masterful use of English that to my mind will give Mr. Roche a high and enduring place in our literature.'—William Johnston of the New York World. $2.00, wherever books are sold.
