TO HOLD NATIONAL HOCKEY TOURNEY

Women of America Will Compete Here for Highest Honors During Thanksgiving Week

TO PICK ALL-PHILA. TEAM

For the first time since women's field hockey was introduced to the United States, some two decades or more ago, a national tournament will be held to determine the best team in the country.

The idea of this nation-wide competition was evolved by the Executive Committee of the newly formed United States National Field Hockey Association, of which Mrs. Edward B. Krumbhaar, of Chestnut Hill, is president.

Mrs. Krumbhaar and her associates expect for girls of this country, both in the spring and fall, being to the rising generation of femininity what baseball and hockey are to the young men of the country, as now played, under rules drawn up by the British physical directors, as a result of their many years' experience with the game, is ideal for both girls and women, according to Miss Constance Appleby, physical director at Bryn Mawr College and the first hockey booster to land on our shores.

This was some twenty-odd years ago, and it was not very smooth sailing at first; but Miss Appleby persisted, and now has the satisfaction of seeing the game played at virtually every girls' school and college in the East.

For many years efforts have been made to bring Bryn Mawr, Wellesley and Vassar together in friendly competition, just as Yale, Princeton and Harvard meet in all branches of sport. But stiff opposition has prevented until this year.

Plan Open Tourney

But during Thanksgiving week there will be held at the Philadelphia Cricket Club a competition open to any team in the country that thinks it has a chance for victory. Assurances have been received that entries will be on hand from Wellesley and Vassar, Schiela Bryn Mawr, according to Miss Appleby, will be very much on the job. However, the college teams will not be entered as such, but merely as individual teams.

It is also expected that Boston, New York and possibly even Chicago will send eleven picked from the best players in these respective cities, while an All-Philadelphia team is already in process of formation.

The task of selecting an All-Philadelphia eleven has been wished on a committee composed of Miss Appleby, Miss East, English hockey experts who came over this fall to coach some of the local club teams and try to raise the standard of play in this country; Miss Hazel Coffin, of the Germantown Cricket Club; Miss McLean, of River-ton; Miss Maria, of the Philadelphia Schools Hockey League; and Miss Head, of the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

A series of trial matches will be held at the St. Martin's Club at frequent intervals. The first of these tests was staged yesterday, and there was a fair sized turnout, some twenty-five girls and young women being on hand.

Two teams were picked at random and sent against each other, while frequent substitutions were made so that all players were enabled to show their wares.

There are some excellent players in the schools' league and it would not be surprising if two or three of them made the All-Philadelphia team, though they will have to hit and hold a speed, pace to beat out the stars who composed the eleven that went to England Quaker City and fought under the British invaders last fall.

Miss Townsend on Team

Miss Anne Townsend, who formerly played for the Merion Cricket Club, but is now one of the mainstays of the River-ton Country Club's eleven in the Interclub League is practically assured of a place. She has been the captain and center forward of the All-Philadelphia team for the last two years, and is about the best wielder of the crooked mallet ever developed in this district.

Mrs. C. C. Maderia, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Neilson and a corking good tennis player as well as a class hockey star, is one of the best goal tenders in this district, while Miss McAllister, whose combination play with Miss Townsend has made River-ton into a championship contender this year, also cannot be overlooked.

Then there is Miss Hearn, a former Bryn Mawr star; Miss Mary Morgan, another luminary developed by Miss Appleby; Miss Bryn Mawr, Miss Charlotte and Miss Elizabeth Cheston, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Rudcliffe Cheston, of Chestnut Hill, who are entirely too good to be left on the side lines, and a host of others, all experienced and well versed in the finer points of the game, whom it is difficult to see omitted from the final lineup.

Practically all the teams in the school league have had the benefit of expert coaching by English instructors this fall, however, and some of the girls have made amazing rapid progress. This league is composed of Mrs. Maderia's Mary Logan, Springside; Mrs. Haskins School, at Merion; Friends' School, and the Germantown team. The latter team won the championship of the league by blanking the Irwin School's eleven in an interesting and bitterly contested match yesterday afternoon.

The Interclub League season is not over yet, but judging by the results so far the race will narrow down to a battle between the Philadelphia Cricket Club and River-ton for the title held so long by the St. Martin's girls that the other teams count and devoted their energies to fighting it out to see which eleven could grab the runner-up position.

WALTER FRENCH

Former West Point football star, who is coach and quarterback of the Conshohocken eleven

HOLMESBURG SIGNS SEVERAL NEW MEN

Former Penn Star Will Oppose Conshohocken on Saturday

Manager Walter Shisler, of the Holmesburg football eleven, will have several new players in the line-up of the big suburban team when they meet Conshohocken in the annual gridiron clash on Saturday at Conshohocken.

Shisler is not certain who the newcomers will be, but one will likely be a former Red and Blue star of note. He will also be in the game the following week against Frankford.

Holmesburg fans are not in the least dismayed at the 6-to-2 setback on Sunday by Melrose. Manager Shisler says his team should have won by three touchdowns, and the fumbling of two players was responsible for the defeat.

A big delegation of fans will accompany the team to Conshohocken on Saturday. Motorbuses will leave Rhawn street for Conshohocken in plenty of time. This plan was made necessary at the last minute owing to a slipup in making arrangements for the usual special train.

Holmesburg is out to win as they want to enter then their Frankford game undefeated. Major Butler, of Atlantic City, may be an official on Saturday as he is expected to accept the invitation of the Conshohocken A. A. The newcomers may play Frankford on November 25, according to reports.

KARNAC-LOGAN'S GOOD WORK

Germantown Eleven Adds Racine to List of Victims

Karnac-Logan, which has been setting a fast pace among the traveling football teams, scored its latest achievement against Racine. The latter was completely outplayed and beaten at its own game.

Racine, noted for its line-plunging backs, was stopped in nearly every period. Counting first downs Karnac had 22 to 6 for Racine. The ball was in Racine's territory virtually all the time the play was called with the ball on Racine's 35-yard line following an argument.

Karnac is open for this Saturday and would like to hear from Phoenixville, Lancaster or any first-class team. Karnac is traveling exclusively this year. For game address A. F. Bolger, 4064 York road, or phone Wyoming, 5731 during the day.

They play for the first time, in Manager Harry Pineson's gymnasium, at the West Philadelphia Y. M. C. A. building, tonight at New Auditorium Hall, Seventh street and Snyder avenue. The jinxed team will play at St. Henry's and on Saturday at Boyertown.

THREE GRID TEAMS ARE AFTER CROWN

Lower Merion, Norristown and Berwyn to Battle for Suburban Honors

WINNER MAY PLAY ST. JOE

For the first time in many years an undisputed champion among suburban high school eleven looms. In previous years several teams claimed the title with honors and only last fall Bryn Athyn Academy and Abington High were both in the front rank, while Swarthmore Prep also put in a claim for the honors.

Now with the approach of Thanksgiving and the end of the gridiron season the depositions are again being going over the records of the various suburban elevens. Three teams stand out as contenders for the coveted title which is annually awarded. Added interest is attached to the selection of the premier team this year due to the fact that the Brown University Alumni has decided to give a cup to the champion.

According to the plans of the Brown Alumni, in case one team should emerge above the rest, a post-season game will be played to decide the winner.

Lower Merion High, Berwyn High and Norristown High are the only teams that can claim the title and on the outcome of this trio's future games will rest the decision as to the title.

Lower Merion has been undefeated, although they lost to Berwyn, while Norristown has not even been held to a tie and recently defeated Reading High, one of the best teams in the State.

Berwyn Defeated Once

Berwyn is ranked among those present, but a close survey of their record shows that in addition to the tie with Lower Merion, the Berwyn boys have one defeat on their record. This setback came at the hands of West Catholic High.

Lower Merion has proved its class by downing Lansdowne High, conquerors of Penn in 1921, and has also scored one-sided victories over Abington and Cheltenham, two other suburban rivals. Two games remain on the Ardlow schedule, one with Haddon Heights and the big game with Radnor High for the Main Line title. For the first time in several years Lower Merion is the favorite to win this game, since Radnor has already bowed to Lansdowne and Berwyn.

At Norristown the team under Coach Zimmerman has been bowling over all opposition, and incidentally rolling up a record total of points at the same time. Any team that can take on Phoenixville High and Reading High on successive Saturdays and turn in victories over both deserves some consideration. Four more games still remain on the Norristown schedule, but none of these battles is with teams in this section, and in comparing local elevens these coming battles can be discounted, regardless of the result.

The games still on the Blue and White schedule are Lansford High, Bethlehem High, Allentown High and the University of Pennsylvania freshmen second team.

Norristown Confident

Incidentally, Norristown High is confident of finishing the year undefeated and plans to challenge the winner of the city title with a view to becoming Eastern champions. Fans who advocate or any first-class team will go to the winner of the St. Joseph Prep-Catholic High game on Thanksgiving Day. This view is taken with the expectation that St. Joseph will defeat Penn Charter tomorrow in the big interleague game of the year.

Providing Norristown can win the suburban title, a game between Zimmerman's team and the Catholic League winners would be a group grid treat.

1921 CAGE CHAMPS ARE OUT TO REPEAT

Southern and Catholic High Schools Each Have Four Veterans

ARRANGE STIFF SCHEDULES

By PAUL PREP

Two basketball files that reigned supreme among the city school teams during the 1921 cage season, namely, Southern High and Catholic High, are well fortified for the coming campaign. Each quintet has four players back from the last year team, which won the pennants in their respective leagues, and have many candidates out for the one position to be filled.

Southern High, although not having four regulars has four players who have worked in the machine. Two of the players are classed as regulars because they participated in many of the games last year.

"Menchy" Goldblatt and Foley are the veterans, while Litvack and Lieberman are almost sure of being on the first five.

Catholic's big problem is filling the gap made by the graduation of "Red" Slur, center man. Slur was considered the best pivot in the league last year.

If he is unable to develop a good tap-off from the many that report, Mueller intends to shift one of his regulars to the position. From present indications it will be one of the two new players, Lieberman or Litvack.

A difficult situation which will face Mueller comes in February with graduation. He will lose all but one man, Lieberman. Then his troubles will start as he will have to face some strong teams from that time on.

Logan, McNally, Maxwell and Clifford are the four members of last year's Catholic team, and Schauf, a brilliant forward of the second team, will fill in the position left vacant by the graduation of Captain Coffey.

Two of the four are playing football, and will be in good shape for the opening game, which does not come until the first week in December. They are McNally and Maxwell. The former will play his last year of basketball. It is also his fourth.

In his freshman year McNally tried for the team and succeeded in ob-
