

WOULD HALT STEP TO DEPORT ACTOR

Theatrical Producer Learns of Baby, Then Writes to Port Officials

HEARS OF COMING WEDDING

New York, Nov. 10.—"I learned about the baby two days ago. It gave me a queer, depressed sensation. I couldn't get it out of my mind. So I've written this."

Carl E. Carlton, theatrical producer, who petitioned immigration officials to rid the country of Pat Somerset, the actor, and issued a stormy complaint from his stage-star wife, Edith Eng, yesterday afternoon handed across his desk a re-written letter with the above explanation.

The letter was addressed to "Robert E. Todd, Esq., Commissioner of Immigration, Ellis Island, N. Y.," and read:

"My dear Commissioner:

"I have thought deeply since yesterday's proceedings before you, and respectfully and conscientiously request your permission to withdraw from the case, and further to ask a withdrawal of any action against Somerset."

"I feel that regardless of what the personal feelings may be and the wrongs that have been done, there is no dear life—their child—at stake. Inasmuch as the parents intend to marry again in the near future, I think I should do my part in simplifying matters for that child."

"I report, I am requesting this after the most deliberate and careful thought. Faithfully yours,"

"CARL E. CARLTON."

Carlton mailed a pile of papers before him, letters from friends and encouraging him in his trouble. He said musingly:

"I'm afraid it was my friends, or perhaps fear of publicity that prompted me to it in the first place."

"I was obliged to object to his admittance into this country because of his moral conduct. I did not dream there was a baby."

"Two days ago, after needless delay, I got the papers in the Somerset divorce. In the testimony I found references to the birth of the child in April, 1921. I had never had any thing like dictive feeling. When I learned about this innocent victim of the whole wretched affair I wanted to drop the whole thing, to wipe it all out if possible.

"I don't know whether the immigration authorities will do it. But from my heart I hope so. The publicity has done none of us any good. I long for an end to it."

INDIAN COUNCIL TONIGHT IS FIRST IN 147 YEARS

Six Nations, Oneidas and Tuscaroras to Claim N. Y. Land

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(By A. P.)—Indians representing the Six Nations and the Oneida and Tuscarora tribes will meet in council here tonight for the first time since 1775.

Preparations will be made for the establishment of what the Indians contend is a claim to a million or more acres of land in New York State and a decision as to the sovereignty of the tribes.

Assemblyman Edward A. Everett, chairman of the Indian Affairs Committee, some time ago discovered a treaty made in 1784 between the United States Government and the Six Nations. This is taken to indicate from its provisions that the confederacy has never relinquished its rights to self-government. It is also claimed by the Indians that the treaty sets forth that they are wards of the Federal Government and not of the State.

TOOL PIERCES SKULL

Screwdriver Falls Nineteen Stories, Striking Woman

New York, Nov. 10.—A half-pound screwdriver, which rolled from a window sill on the nineteenth floor of a Sixth avenue building yesterday, struck Mrs. Ella Coleman, a passerby, on the head, penetrating her skull and puncturing her brain.

The force accumulated by the small tool in its fall knocked Mrs. Coleman instantly paralyzed. At Bellevue Hospital, where her condition was described as critical, it was found the screwdriver had entered her head about two inches.

Ernest Ray, a sheet metal worker, who put the tool on the sill while repairing a window, was arrested on a technical charge of felonious assault.

SHIPPING GOLD BY AIRPLANE

The unusual event of some American bankers shipping gold from Haranquilla to Gibraltar, in Columbia, by airplane, is the subject of a recent editorial article in the Financial section of the Finance Leader.
