NO LAW TO REMEDY RIVER'S POLLUTION

Commissioner of Fisheries Says He Is Unable to Cope With Schuylkill Situation

DEPLORE FISH SLAUGHTER

The Schuylkill River is polluted from its mouth to its source and the State Department of Fisheries has not enough power in law to remedy the situation, according to N. R. Buller, Commissioner of Fisheries.

Mr. Buller made this statement in a letter to John M. Sickinger, 4423 Mansion street, Manayunk, who wrote to Harrisburg complaining about the slaughter of fish by polluted matter in the river. The commissioner's reply, in part, follows:

Blames Mine Refuse

"In the first place, it is badly polluted by the refuse from the mines, and under our laws it is useless to prosecute for pollution of this character, as several cases were brought before the courts which were lost. Along with the pollution from the mines, this stream receives the effluent from all the industrial establishments, together with the sewage from the cities which line its banks throughout the entire length.

"The pollution question is a stupendous one to solve, not only from the standpoint of the conservation of the fish, but the health of the people, and during the years I have been Commissioner of Fisheries I have continually worked toward securing better legislation which would give us greater powers. The laws governing pollution coming under the jurisdiction of this department are not adequate to cope with a situation such as the Schuylkill presents. At the last session of the Legislature the department had a bill introduced which included mine pollution and gave us broader powers on all classes of pollution (except sewage, this being a matter for the State Health Department). This bill was widely advertised and public hearings held, but met with little response from the public throughout the Commonwealth and consequently failed in passage.

Asks Sportmen's Aid

"The department trusts that the sportsmen, either individually or through the associations, will at the next session of the Legislature assist this department or some other to secure more adequate legislation on this subject. It is our thought in the matter that along wih this bill an appropriation should be made for the survey of all waters of the State, showing the location, character and extent of pollution on each stream so affected."

WOMEN ZIONISTS TO HOLD FAIR TO RAISE $10,000

Three-Day Affair to Begin Nov. 21 in the Turngemeinde

The Philadelphia Chapter of Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization, will hold a "county fair," beginning November 21 and continuing for three days in the Turngemeinde, Broad street and Columbia avenue.

The chapter wants $10,000 to outfit an ambulance for Palestine. Side shows, vaudeville acts, dancing and motion pictures will be some of the features of the fair.

Exhibits of art needlework made by children in Palestine and other merchandise will be so displayed and placed on sale. Mrs. H. Harry Frankel, 928 North Broad street, is receiving exhibits for the fair.

The opening day will be arranged especially for children. There will be amusements for the youngsters. The second day will be known as Palestine Day and the closing day as Big Thursday.

"We realize that a fair is an education to the people witnessing it and also the greatest neighborhood gathering," said Mrs. Frankel. "For this reason we are sparing no efforts to show what our organization strives to do.

"It is our best chance to display our work, and from present indications, I can safely say that the event will be a great success. In every department of the fair will be some of the things that are found in the homes in Palestine, as well as the modern implements and the kind of work engaged in there, most of which has been brought about through our movement."

Those in charge of the affair are Mrs. L. Moskowitz, chairman; Mrs. I. Jacobs, Mrs. George Roseman, Mrs. R. Ginns, Mrs. R. Schachman, Mrs. A. Golden, Mrs. H. Josephs, Mrs. M. Behrend, Mrs. H. Verbit, Mrs. H. Brav and Mrs. Frankel.

Ferryboat Jumper Rescued

Just as the Pennsylvania Railroad ferryboat Millville pulled away from its slip on the Philadelphia side of the river last night a man rushed to the rail and jumped overboard. Railroad employes fished him out of the murky water and took him to the Jefferson Hospital, where he was identified as Charles Gildersleeve, twenty-three years old.

If there is every out-of-doors reason for taking your family to California -this winter and every travel-comfort reason for going via the Santa Fe

YOU CAN motor every day over perfect highways—by the sea or along the base of green-clad mountains. There are big resort hotels and cozy inns—or you can rent a bungalow and enjoy your own rose garden. Golf links galore and excellent schools for your children.

The Santa Fe operates four daily trains to California. One of them—the California Limited—is exclusively for first-class travel.

Fred Harvey serves all the meals "all the way."

Spick-and-span new steel equipment on the California Limited.

There are Pullmans via Grand Canyon National Park to Los Angeles on both the California Limited and the Missionary. We will arrange your Pullman reservations so you can stay at the Canyon any number of days and be assured of space when resuming journey.

Why not visit Southern Arizona going or returning? It is delightful at Castle Hot Springs, Ingleside and Chandler.

May I send you our descriptive booklets and arrange details of your trip?
