

Evening Public Ledger

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY
CYRUS H. KURTIS, President
John C. Martin, Vice President and Treasurer
Philip E. Collins, John H. Williams, John J. Brown, George F. Goldsmith, David E. Smiley, Editors
DAVID B. SMILEY, Editor
JOHN C. MARTIN, General Business Manager
Published daily at 12th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

Member of the Associated Press
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches received by it from any source.

Philadelphia, Friday, November 17, 1932

SENATOR PEPPER EXPLAINS

SENATOR PEPPER, whose address to the Sesqui-Centennial Membership Committee was generally interpreted as a rather clouded expression of sympathy with the cause of the fair-wreckers, hastens to explain that he made no mention of the larger plan and talked in terms of parades and pageants only because he viewed the major design as an established and accepted thing.

It is good to know even at this rather late date that he has not been over-ruled or persuaded to inaction by the antagonists of the Sesqui-Centennial. His approval of the larger plan means that his great influence in Washington and Philadelphia will be directed in the interest of a fair and not in aid of those who want to see a thin imitation of one.

IT HAS JUSTIFIED ITSELF

THE Welfare Federation, organized to coordinate the welfare work in the city and so far as to prevent waste and duplication of effort, has won the confidence and support of the city. This is demonstrated by the success of its drive for $2,700,000 for the work of next year. Although at this writing $150,000 was lacking to complete the amount, this will be secured before the end of the week.

GIRL CENSORSHIP

"The working girl," said Miss Henrietta in an address to the Big Sisters' Association in an address to the C. E. U. yesterday, "should be made to accept not only a standard of conduct but a standard of good taste." This perfectly logical remark was part of a sane discussion of the general question of getting parties and joy rides and hip flasks and other symptoms of the modern spirit of youthful unrest.

WILL KANSAS DO IT?

GOVERNOR-ELECT DAVIS, of Kansas, has announced that he regards his triumph at the polls as a mandate from the people to bring about the repeal of the law setting up the Industrial Court. He insists that the court has been used as a weapon of the rich for oppressing the poor. Governor Allen, at whose suggestion the court was set up, will not agree with Mr. Davis. He insists that the court has been used to compel corporations to respect public rights as well as to compel workmen to keep their contracts.

THE MERRY KLUX

AT BROWNSVILLE, Tex., a Mexican who had the audacity to defend himself in a fist-fight with a native citizen was first locked in jail and later taken out by a mob and lynched. The Mexican Government mentions this incident in a formal protest to Washington and presents a long list of similar outrages perpetrated against Mexicans on the Texas border.

ARE WE ON THE EVE OF AN ANTI-BUNK CAMPAIGN?

Solicitude for Votes Instead of Principles Has Brought the Nation Toward the Point Where a Change Impends
WORLD comes from Washington that the conservative Republican leaders are planning to fight the bloes and the insurgents instead of surrendering to them.

ANOTHER PARKWAY PROJECT

WITH half a million dollars especially set aside for new quarters, the Board of Education is confident that it can effect a more needed improvement in its administrative efficiency without prejudice to the school equipment program to relieve overcrowding and modernize the whole system.

SHORT CUTS

Congress may yet become a long series of bloc parties.
The Hall-Mills moving picture seems to lack careful continuity.
Ship Subsidy appears to have sprung a leak in the recent tempest.

ART MUSEUM "MYSTERY"

THE "mystery" of the Art Museum delays has been solved by Eli Kirk Price, vice president of the Fairmount Park Commission, in a way that somehow suggests one of the plots of the story of Frank R. Stockton. The plot of the story is the solution of its principal characters hinged upon the discovery of a recipe for root beer.

HALLOWED GROUND

IT HAS been announced with unqualified exultation that more than 8000 visitors registered at Washington's Crossing Park during the last twelve months. While these figures attest the enthusiasm of many pilgrims, they are insignificant compared with attendance records at several other historical shrines in the country, especially in New England.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS

POLITICALLY speaking, it might be said that Great Britain is passing through its 1920 were it not that the Conservative victory is partly offset by the greatly increased strength of the Labor Party. This year enters the new House of Commons by far the largest number of representatives in its history, a total thus far of 136 as against the previous seventy-six.

AS ONE WOMAN SEES IT

Three Groups of Public-Spirited Women, Political, Religious and Educational, the First Well-Dressed, the Second Ill-Dressed and the Third as Whim Dictated
By SARAH D. LOWRIE
DURING the week that has just passed I have been in the company of three very different groups of women who are yet public-spirited women of this community, but public-spirited along widely diverse lines.

AS ONE WOMAN SEES IT

Three Groups of Public-Spirited Women, Political, Religious and Educational, the First Well-Dressed, the Second Ill-Dressed and the Third as Whim Dictated
By SARAH D. LOWRIE
DURING the week that has just passed I have been in the company of three very different groups of women who are yet public-spirited women of this community, but public-spirited along widely diverse lines.

PROPHETIC CHANGES

Those of them who are not city-wide in their contacts are to their parishes what the better-known ones are to the town as a whole, i. e., responsible executive women with a belief more or less wholehearted in the cause of the evils society is the religion as taught in the Church and lived by the most consistent of the Christians—the missionaries.

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best
DR. JAMES M. ANDERS
On Tuberculosis Infection From Servants
THE close contact of servants with families in which they are employed, more particularly in the case of children, exposes the latter to the danger of infection with tuberculosis, says Dr. James M. Anders, president of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society.

PROLONGED CONTACT REQUIRED

To contract tuberculosis in this way, however, requires prolonged contact as usually, those who are most exposed to a case of open tuberculosis run the greatest danger of thus catching the dread disease. The germs are expelled by an infected person in sneezing, coughing, laughing and even in speaking.

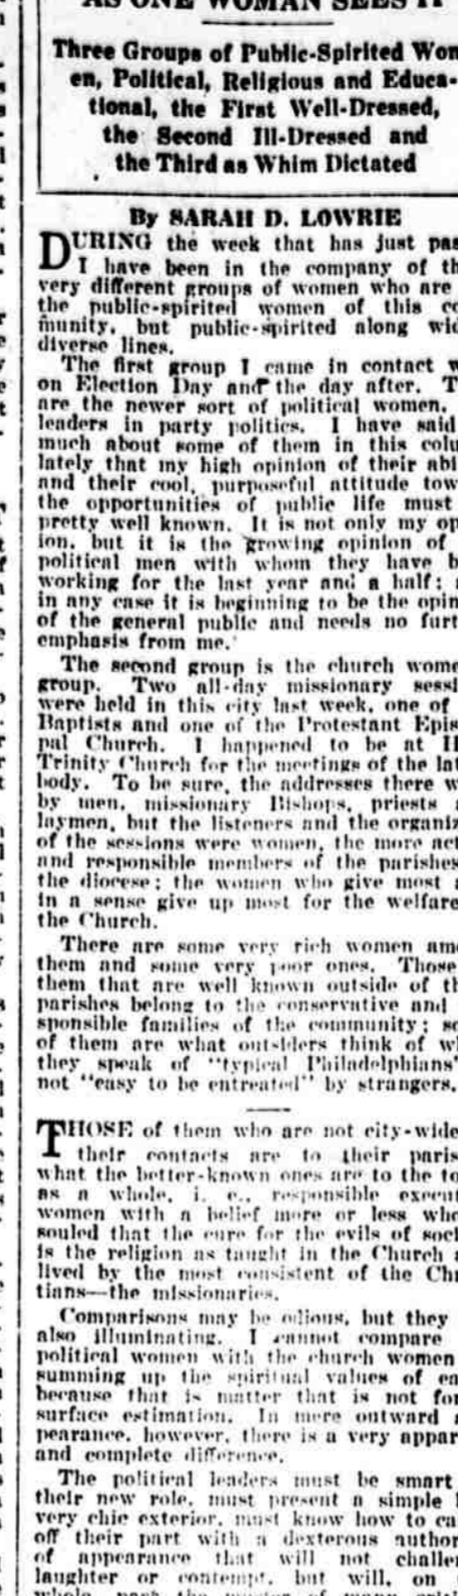

MAY REMAIN THROUGH LIFE

In this inactive condition the bacilli may remain throughout life. On the other hand, they may become active at any time, if conditions favoring their growth and multiplication arise. If the child comes in contact with only a few bacilli, it overcomes them and develops an immunity.

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. William Jennings Bryan first ran for the presidency of the United States in 1896.
2. Flocculent means resembling wool, woolly, concealing in flocks.
3. The Zambesi River flows into the Indian Ocean.
4. Lapland, which is not a political entity, is in northern part of the Kingdom of Sweden, Finland and the Kingdom of Russia.
5. Kaolin is a clay-like substance used in making porcelain.
6. In the recent elections Michigan chose a Democrat for United States Senator for the first time since the fifth decade of the nineteenth century.
7. Lusitania is the classic name of Portugal.
8. H. G. Wells wrote "The History of Modern War."
9. Eugene Fromentin was a noted French author and painter of the nineteenth century. His chief work of fiction is "Dom Juan."
10. The word extempore, which means "studied offhand, without special preparation, in the Latin 'ex,' 'out of the 'tempore,' time, hence literally 'of the time.'

HERE GOES!

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best
DR. JAMES M. ANDERS
On Tuberculosis Infection From Servants
THE close contact of servants with families in which they are employed, more particularly in the case of children, exposes the latter to the danger of infection with tuberculosis, says Dr. James M. Anders, president of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society.

PROLONGED CONTACT REQUIRED

To contract tuberculosis in this way, however, requires prolonged contact as usually, those who are most exposed to a case of open tuberculosis run the greatest danger of thus catching the dread disease. The germs are expelled by an infected person in sneezing, coughing, laughing and even in speaking.

MAY REMAIN THROUGH LIFE

In this inactive condition the bacilli may remain throughout life. On the other hand, they may become active at any time, if conditions favoring their growth and multiplication arise. If the child comes in contact with only a few bacilli, it overcomes them and develops an immunity.

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. William Jennings Bryan first ran for the presidency of the United States in 1896.
2. Flocculent means resembling wool, woolly, concealing in flocks.
3. The Zambesi River flows into the Indian Ocean.
4. Lapland, which is not a political entity, is in northern part of the Kingdom of Sweden, Finland and the Kingdom of Russia.
5. Kaolin is a clay-like substance used in making porcelain.
6. In the recent elections Michigan chose a Democrat for United States Senator for the first time since the fifth decade of the nineteenth century.
7. Lusitania is the classic name of Portugal.
8. H. G. Wells wrote "The History of Modern War."
9. Eugene Fromentin was a noted French author and painter of the nineteenth century. His chief work of fiction is "Dom Juan."
10. The word extempore, which means "studied offhand, without special preparation, in the Latin 'ex,' 'out of the 'tempore,' time, hence literally 'of the time.'

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best
DR. JAMES M. ANDERS
On Tuberculosis Infection From Servants
THE close contact of servants with families in which they are employed, more particularly in the case of children, exposes the latter to the danger of infection with tuberculosis, says Dr. James M. Anders, president of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society.

PROLONGED CONTACT REQUIRED

To contract tuberculosis in this way, however, requires prolonged contact as usually, those who are most exposed to a case of open tuberculosis run the greatest danger of thus catching the dread disease. The germs are expelled by an infected person in sneezing, coughing, laughing and even in speaking.

MAY REMAIN THROUGH LIFE

In this inactive condition the bacilli may remain throughout life. On the other hand, they may become active at any time, if conditions favoring their growth and multiplication arise. If the child comes in contact with only a few bacilli, it overcomes them and develops an immunity.

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. William Jennings Bryan first ran for the presidency of the United States in 1896.
2. Flocculent means resembling wool, woolly, concealing in flocks.
3. The Zambesi River flows into the Indian Ocean.
4. Lapland, which is not a political entity, is in northern part of the Kingdom of Sweden, Finland and the Kingdom of Russia.
5. Kaolin is a clay-like substance used in making porcelain.
6. In the recent elections Michigan chose a Democrat for United States Senator for the first time since the fifth decade of the nineteenth century.
7. Lusitania is the classic name of Portugal.
8. H. G. Wells wrote "The History of Modern War."
9. Eugene Fromentin was a noted French author and painter of the nineteenth century. His chief work of fiction is "Dom Juan."
10. The word extempore, which means "studied offhand, without special preparation, in the Latin 'ex,' 'out of the 'tempore,' time, hence literally 'of the time.'