little girls who used to play in Rittenhouse Square.

Both of Mr. Black's parents are dead. They lived in St. Louis for many years, his father dying when Logan was about eight years old. Mrs. Black later married Mr. Thomas Murphy, who lives at Woodmont, Willow Grove, but she died about a year ago, and Logan now lives with his grandmother. Mrs. Enyart. I have not heard of any Philadelphia connection in his family. He is a graduate of St. Luke's School and,
from all I know of him, a very attractive fellow.

A NOTHER interesting engagement A announced today is that of Miss Edith Johnson and Hamilton Warner, of Washington. Miss Johnson, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William N. Johnson, never officially made her debut, but just "drifted out," as so many girls seem to do. She went to Spring Side, in Chestnut Hill, to school, and now is an active worker in the Junior League. She is tall, with wonderful copper-red hair, and is most attractive. She has one brother, Norton, who is younger, though by no means smaller, as he is at least six feet four. Her fiance, I hear, went to Penn, where she knew him several years ago, and has since been in this city in business. His mother lives in Washington, and he has a brother in Allentown and a sister who lives in Frinceton. NOTHER interesting engagement

THE Weightmans' tea at the Rits-

Carlton was a beautiful affair. It was held in the junior ballroom, and Fanny was most attractive in a frock of white lace over white creps de chine. The dress was held in place at the waist by a broad girdle of silver-plaited ribbon, which was finished with a bow at the side. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet. Mrs. Weightman wore a stunning gown of brown georgette trimmed with brown lace.

The guests danced in the front room where refreshments were also served, and, of course, there were a great many debutantes receiving.

Lybert CNE will be excited to hear is that Marguerite Boyle is the second debutante of the season to become entered (Alice Wetherill was the first). That is, Marguerite is the second one to announce it, for you never can tell how many engagements these busy litting "dobe" have up their sleeves, as it were. Anyway, Marguerite's engagement is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bamuel A. Boyle, Jr., to Logan Black, who is of this city, but formerly lived in St. Louis.

Marguerite is the Boyles' only daughter, and a mighty attractive one, at that. She is of medium height, with a mop of splendid red-gold hair. She is very vivacious and popular and has been having a wonderful time. Her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jeffords, will give a ball on December 18 in her honor, and there are several other smaller entertainments in the planning for hor.

Marguerite is a granddaughter of Mrs. John E. Jeffords, of 2510 Pine street. When her mother, who was Aliss Marguerite Jeffords, was a little girl the Jeffords, was a little girl the Jeffords lived on Walnut street above Twentieth, and the present Mrs. Boyle was one of the prettiest of the little girls who used to play in Rittenhouse Equare.

Both of Mr. Black's parents are B remarking to his sister: "You ought to see the kind of chicken mother's got tunight; 's'made out of ham."

Washington, D. C.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Alwina Bohlen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray Bohlen, of Washington and this city, and Mr. E. Francis Riggs, of Washington, took place yesterday at the home of Miss Bohlen's aunt, Miss Eisle M. Cassels, 2121 R street, N. W., Washington, Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends attended the wadding and informal breakfast that followed. The Rev. Thomas Lawrason Riggs, of New Haven, Conn., officiated. Mr. Aifred Biddle, of this city, was best man and there were no other attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Riggs will take a trip to China and around the world. After their return they will live at Green Hills, the old Riggs estate in Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Lippincott, of

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Lippincott, of Seminole avenue, Chestnut Hill, are re-ceiving congratulations on the birth of a son yesterday, Mrs. Lippincott was Miss Elsie Du Puy G. Hirst, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Barton Cooke Hirst, of 1821 Survey street.

I AST aight was the opening performance of the San Carlo Opera Complany at the Metropolitan, and the place was crowded. There were many interesting box parties. One of the most attractive I saw was a group of beth McElroy, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McElroy. Elisabeth looked very pretty in a soft gray dress, over which she wore a pale pink silk Spanish shawl. Her costume was completed by a pink rose in her hair.

Among her guests were Mrs. Robert McLean, who, with Mr. McLean, chaperoned the party; Mary Carroll Spencer and Clair Gittings. Clair wore a black velvet dress and a stunning flame-color velvet wrap finished with a wide collar of white fox fur, and Mary Carroll looked

Allen's Offer the Greatest Opportunity for Obtaining Beautiful Beaded Bandings and Flouncings at a Low Price That Philadelphians Have Ever Enjoyed

In the first place, these bandings and flouncings are lovelier than any others we have seen in this country. They were used on models from the universally known French houses of Renee, Callot, Jenny and Vionnet, and that, of course, tells its own story. They are shimmering things of beadwork in scores of beautiful designs.

And then, the prices! Our purchase was unusually fortunate, on account of the importer's need for immediate cash, and so we are able to offer these exquisite things at a price that is actually half what they were intended to sell for. Only when you see them will you realize how extraordinary this event is.

The flouncings, full 36 inches in width, are for the most part in jet and sphynx, the beadwork being unusually deep. There is some blue of a particularly attractive shade. They are $3.25 to $6.00 a yard.

Bandings may be had in jet, sphynx, blue and crystal, 2 to 10 inches wide, at $1.75 to $5.00 a yard. We advise an early selection as the value and beauty of these goods are bound to make them immediately popular.
