

BALDY IGNORES WARBURTON ATTACK

State Welfare Chief Says He'll Stand on Record of Department

PRAY DENIES PROBE

Major Barclay H. Warburton's attack on the State Welfare Department will be ignored by Dr. John M. Baldy, the department's director, according to a statement by Dr. Baldy today.

"I don't care anything about Mr. Warburton," said the doctor. "Everybody knows him. And I may also say that everybody knows the work of the State Welfare Department. The department can stand upon its record with perfect assurance.

"I will ignore these charges. As for the work of the department itself, let me remind you that Mr. Pinchot has had four investigators going over our work, and I am perfectly satisfied to stand upon what they say."

Charges Made in Rebuttal

The charges of Major Warburton, who is head of the city's Department of Public Welfare, were in rebuttal to Kenneth L. M. Pray, secretary of the Public Charities Association, before the National Municipal League convention at the City Club on Wednesday, praised the work of the State Welfare Department.

Major Warburton retorted in a long statement to the effect that the department was a "rotten political spot," and attacked Dr. Baldy as a "past master of the political art and a personal henchman of the late Senator Penrose."

"It should be made clear that I have not conducted an investigation of the State Department of Public Welfare," said Mr. Pray today. "With a sub-committee of the Pinchot Citizens' Committee I examined the phase of the State welfare work, namely, appropriations to private charities."

"Obviously, any statement in reference to the administration of the department was made on my own responsibility, after personal observation in the ordinary course of my regular work, and represented in no sense a report to, much less a report by, the Pinchot committee. In due time specific facts relating to the department will be submitted to the people in the community, when they can judge more certainly than at present of the work it is doing."

When Prime Minister Bonar Law moved that the Government be empowered to take all the time of the House for Government business during this session the Laborites opposed it. The Prime Minister's motion, however, was carried by a vote of 238 to 185.

Mr. Bonar Law today introduced the bill putting into effect the constitution of the Irish Free State, and the Free State "Consequential Provision Bill." Both measures received their first formal reading.
