

DEADLOCKED OVER MOTORISTS WANT N. J. SENATE HEAD CONCRETE ROADS

Smith and Wallworth Each Receive Eight Votes in Republican Caucus

STEVENS FOR FLOOR LEADER

Trenton, Nov. 24.—Seventeen Republican Senators who met here in caucus yesterday to select officers for the next session ran into an unexpected deadlock over the choice of a president. After seven ballots, resulting in a maximum of eight votes each for Senator Wallworth of Camden, and Senator Smith, of Passaic, the caucus was adjourned until next Tuesday.

Senator Stevens, of Essex, who divided his votes on the various ballots between Senator Whitney of Morris, and Senator Case, of Somerset, refused at any time to vote for either of the major candidates, though he might have swung the election to either Smith or Wallworth.

Senator Stevens, of Monmouth, was elected majority leader by a vote of 12 to 10.
