without seeing dozens of people you know these days, what with the crowds of shoppers everywhere an' everything The other day I saw Mrs. Henry Brinton Coxe, Jr., with Miss Kitty Porter, both of them busily "window shopping." Mrs. Coxe looked very well in a dark brown duvetyne suit trimmed with bands of beaver and a striking closefitting turban of green and blue twisted slik, and Miss Porter wore a long

She was Miss Helen Sewell before her marriage in September, you remember, and, if I am not mistaken, she and her husband have been living at Penllyn with his parents until now.

Another attractive absence Vaccounty Mr. and Mrs. H. Evan Taylor have issued invitations for a supper on Wednesday evening, December 27, in honor of their daughter, Miss Mary Taylor. The guests will be members of the school set.

Another attractive shopper I passed was Georgiana Harris, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Andrews Rarris, Jr. She wore a dark blue tricotine sult made plain with a light tan felt hat trimmed on the right with a large bow of tan satin. A large dark brown fox fur piece was thrown across her shoulders and brown gauntlet glores fringed at the top completed her costume. She is very pretty, with golden hair, blue eyes and a wonderful complexion, and seems to be one of the of the school set.
