

MUMMERS' PARADE TO BE BIGGEST YET

Plans for Applications for New Year Celebration Permits Opens

WILL ECLIPSE ALL OTHERS

The New Year's mummers' parade will be a bigger affair than ever before, it was indicated today, when the permit bureau was opened in the office of the Superintendent of Police.

When Permit Clerk Theodore Herdige arrived at his desk at 8:30 o'clock this morning five permit seekers rushed toward him and demanded the first permit.

This is the first time in the history of the mummers' parade that there has been a rush for applications at the headquarters.

"If half the things that the club captains are saying about the next celebration are true," said Mr. Herdige, "the parade will eclipse any that has ever been staged. Plans far more elaborate are being talked over among the comic and fancy dress club members. If the parade is staged as it is being planned I have no doubt it will outshine the gigantic New Orleans Mardi Gras."

There is a superstition among the club members who compete in the demonstration that the club which holds the first permit will win a prize.

Among those who were waiting for the clerk were Bernard Dougherty, 1714 McClellan street, who arrived at the office first by a few seconds, Dougherty in captain of the "Jack Blues Old Timers." It was decided among the five, however, that they "took up" for the right to the first permit.

Joseph R. Martin, 2330 South Watts street, was the last to be eliminated and got permit No. 1. He is captain of the "Lobsters," an organization which in the past has carried off many prizes. Others to obtain permits were Charles J. Joyce, 822 Cantrell street, captain of the D. R. Oswald Club; William

W. Ellis, 3009 South Franklin street, captain of the Frank Collins Club; Charles Reach, 434 Federal street, captain of the Charles Reach String Band. Dougherty was the second one eliminated in the coin-tossing contest and drew the fourth permit.
