

Penn Soccer Eleven Must Defeat Harvard to Keep in Running for Intercollegiate Title

Penn and Harvard in Soccer Tilt

Unbeaten Red and Blue Eleven Expected to Win Over Crimson—Close to Title

TEAM IS VETERAN ONE

Football will be shoved out of the picture on Franklin field this afternoon when the University of Pennsylvania soccer team meets Harvard in an intercollegiate league contest. A victory is expected for the Red and Blue in the Crimson proving set-ups in their league meetings to date.

After a year spent in experimenting, Coach Douglas Stewart has again given a championship contender to the University. To date, Yale, Haverford and Cornell have been the only intercollegiate opponents of the Red and Blue.

Cornell was undefeated until stopped by Penn two Saturdays ago in a game that was marked by the most successful playing of the season. A late goal enabled the local collegians to bring the defeat sign on the Ithacans.

A victory this afternoon, which is expected with the entire championship team in hand, will make it the only undefeated team in the league. Princeton which comes here next Saturday afternoon for the game that will decide the title, will be the only team to have lost one game.

Should Penn be defeated by the Orange and Black, a tie will result in the final standings. Cornell has finished second in one reverse, three triumphs and a tie.

Last season Penn finished in fourth position, the lowest since 1913, due to the loss of almost the entire championship team of the previous season. Penn lost the title in 1915 by one point and won in 1916. The following year Haverford nosed out the Red and Blue by a single point.

In 1919 and 1920 Penn scored intercollegiate triumphs in the latter season, three games in a decision was reached. The final game played on the Merion Cricket Club grounds, at Haverford, in one of the most famous intercollegiate soccer matches in the history of the game.

According to one of the players, this year's team is not composed of seven or eight players and the remainder of the season will be worked as a "reserve" machine, with all eleven playing high-class soccer. Bayard Amelia, the captain and veteran of a couple of seasons, will play every bit as sensationally as the Frankford wingman.

The eleven men who played on the team that finished fourth last year, eight of whom are still in the ranks, will be the mainstay of the team. They have learned a year. Cowperthwaite, goal; Castle, a fullback, and Lingelbach, forward, were the stars of the freshman team last year and has done yeoman work on the varsity.

FRANKFORD ELEVEN TO OPPOSE AKRON

First of Three Leading Western Football Teams Meets Yellowjackets Today

GREAT DUEL IS EXPECTED

The Akron, O., Club will furnish the opposition for the Frankford Yellowjackets at Frankford this afternoon in the first of a series of three games between the Yellowjackets and leading Western clubs to decide the independent championship of the United States.

Akron has proved a stumbling block for virtually all the teams in the National League this season, and the visitors are confident of lowering the colors of Frankford, which now has a string of eleven consecutive victories.

The Western players arrived in town yesterday afternoon. Coach Brewer, the former University of Maryland star, who plays halfback, reports that all his men are in excellent condition.

The visitors are placing a heap of faith in their line. The Akron forward line consists of Heinie Miller and Whittier Thomas, who have prevented all the visiting players from running back punts.

King, the big fullback of the visitors, who played at West Virginia, is their chief reliance for gains through the line. King weighs 205 pounds and is a hard runner.

Tramer, Akron captain, plays the halfback opposite Brewer. He is a consistent snatcher of the King's passes. In Steele, the former St. Louis player, and Conroy, North Dakota, Akron has a pair of capable quarterbacks.

The line, from end to end, will average 290 pounds, against about 160 for the Yellowjackets. Brewer is a halfback opposite Brewer. He is a consistent snatcher of the King's passes.

Army to Play Yale Again Next Season

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 2.—The Army eleven will meet Yale again next year. The game will be played in October in the bowl at New Haven. This is the only definitely arranged football game yet decided on by the Army schedule makers.

Negotiations are under way which may bring the unbeaten University of Iowa eleven here for a game with Army next fall. The Hawkeyes are to decide after the Western Conference schedule is considered. Army wants to play the game in October.

CLIFTON HEIGHTS TO PLAY NORWOOD

Delaware County Rivals Meet on Former's Field in Sunday Football Clash

The independent football eleven that have selected Sunday as playing day have decided to continue for a few weeks longer in keeping with the teams that play on Saturday.

The big game on for tomorrow is at Clifton Heights, where the Norwood eleven will be the attraction. These teams battled for the championship of Delaware County last year, and Clifton won on Thanksgiving Day, 19 to 11.

Norwood may not have the same impressive record this year as Clifton Heights, but it is determined to lower the color of its rivals and will have a whole flock of new players on hand to turn the trick.

Clifton had a hard game with East Falls on Thanksgiving and won its eighth straight 13-0, but its goal line was crossed for the first time this season. There will be no changes in the Clifton line-up, according to Manager Gallagher.

Norwood has secured Gallagher, of Westinghouse; Bagley, of Swarthmore; Martin, Stevens, of Hobart, and Egan, also of Westinghouse. The teams will take the field as follows:

RICHMOND LOSES TO BOSTON, 4 TO 3

Virginia Hockey Girls Defeated After Three Extra Periods at Phila. C. C.

96 MINUTES OF PLAY

After ninety-six minutes of play in the greatest field-hockey game ever played in Philadelphia, the Boston team defeated Richmond 4 goals to 3 at the Philadelphia Cricket Club this morning.

The first ten minutes of play were a struggle, with both sides exchanging goals. Boston scored first in the second minute, and Richmond tied in the fourth.

After six minutes of play in the third period, Miss Louise Fessenden, who had scored all three Boston goals, made a rush for the goal that could not be stopped, and shot in a lightning-fast shot that evaded the sight of Miss Cecil, the goal tender.

CUP CONTESTS ON SOCCER PROGRAM

Many Important Matches Will Be Played in All Sections This Afternoon

PLAY FOR AMATEUR TITLE

Soccer football comes into its own today. In all sections games are listed and more "big" contests are on the schedule for the afternoon than has ever been listed for one day in this city.

In the Penn Stadium the college booters of Douglas Stewart have a couple of league contests on the program. At 12:15 Penn's team in the Interstate League will meet the Lafayette representatives at 2:30 P. M. the Red and Blue opposes Harvard in an intercollegiate league affair.

Cup competition will feature in several localities. The new United States Football Association Amateur Cup tournament will get going with a game this afternoon and another tomorrow.

This is something new in the annals of soccer and is intended to have the same place in soccer for the amateur as the National Cup is to the professionals.

Three first-round matches will be decided this week-end. At Second and Clearfield streets, Contention opposes Puritan; at St. Martin's, Philadelphia C. C. meets Crescent Field Club, of New York. Tomorrow afternoon, at Carlington, Wolfenden-Shore takes on Fleisher, with Arthur Watson, secretary of the Referee's Association, holding the whistle.

Another cup game that will be keenly contested is booked at Thirty-fifth and Queen streets, Contention opposes Puritan; at St. Martin's, Philadelphia C. C. meets Crescent Field Club, of New York.

Picks World's Ten Best Net Experts

A world rating of lawn tennis players has just been made by A. Wallis Meyers, the noted English critic, with the following ten men in the lead, in the order given: W. T. Tilden, 2d, United States; W. M. Johnston, United States; Gerald L. Patterson, Australia; Vincent Richards, United States; James O. Anderson, Australia; Henri Cochet, France; Pat O'Hara Wood, Australia; R. N. Williams, 2d, United States; A. R. F. Kingcrove, England; Andre H. Gobert, France.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Lafayette and Georgetown are all set for their most-season gridiron battle this afternoon at American League ball park.

The eleven elevens held their final practice yesterday and entered the game with all the regulars in form, showing Lafayette is favored to win, but the hilltop warriors are expected to give a good account of themselves.

Georgetown is always dangerous and especially so when it goes into action as the underdog. Moreover, the players are anxious to redeem themselves by a victory over Lafayette. A win today will develop into an enduring football rivalry after the decline suffered by the mid-season defeats.

The Delco football eleven, of Darby, had another neighborhood football clash on this afternoon at Hilldale Park, Ninth and Cedar streets.

SOLDIERS MARINES BATTLE ON GRID

French and Vidal on Army Eleven for Big Service Fracas Today

45,000 WILL SEE GAME

Baltimore, Dec. 2.—Doughboy versus Leatherneck.

Thus will the Third Army Corps arena football team and that of the Quantico marines line up in their annual battle this afternoon, which will dedicate the Venable Stadium, built in honor of the late Major William Venable, a leader in civic promotion of this city. It is estimated that more than 45,000 people will witness the fray.

Among those who will witness the battle are Secretary of War Weeks, several members of the upper and lower branches of Congress, cabinet members and many ranking officers of the army and navy.

A parade through the city streets by soldiers and marines led by Major General C. J. Bailey, head of the Third Army Corps, as grand marshal, preceded the game.

The Quantico, owing to their victory over Georgetown University earlier in the season, are favorites for today's game, but the army followers are pinning their hopes on French, Greene, Van de Graaf and Wickes, all former West Point stars.

WILLIAMS MEETS JOCK SOUTAR TODAY

World's Titular Racquet Match Starts at Philadelphia Club at 1:30

PLAY FOR OPEN CROWN

Charley Williams, Briton, will try this afternoon to get off to a running start in his challenge match with Jock Soutar, champion of the world, for the open racquets crown of the globe. Incidentally it might be mentioned that there is a purse of $5000 and a few side bets at issue also.

Soutar took Williams into camp during the early spring of 1914, only a few months before the World War. At that time Williams was the king of the court "pro."

They stage this long-deferred return match at the Philadelphia Racquet Club, starting at 1:30 o'clock. The small but select gallery has paid scalpers' prices for its seats, the front rows of the first stand costing $20 per while the other rows set you back $10 each.

The only real trouble with a racquets match is that the construction of the court makes it impossible to seat more than a limited number of spectators, which makes it all the more a "fait accompli" to be among those present.

This is only the first of a series of arguments, the other section being due for New York next Saturday. It is scheduled to play the best four out of seven games at each encounter.

Soutar accumulated Williams' diadem by coming fairly close to breaking even with the handsome Englishman in the first half of the 1914 duello, fought at the Prince's Club, London, and then slamming the titleholder for an array of goals when the second half was put on at the local Racquet Club six weeks later.

In justice to Williams it must be said the Philadelphia climate had been too much for him on his first visit here, and he had developed a cold that hampered him more than this game young "pro" would admit.

But at that, it is doubtful if he could have beaten Soutar back in 1914 even if he had been in the best of health. For Jock was at his prime then and an combination of remarkable covering ability with an uncanny gift for catching his opponents off guard and slipping one over that left them flustered, with a dizzying repertoire of shots and a positive endurance for minding his game up and minding his pace and direction as a big league baseball pitcher masks his delivery.

The only real trouble with a racquets match is that the construction of the court makes it impossible to seat more than a limited number of spectators, which makes it all the more a "fait accompli" to be among those present.

BILLIARD CHAMPS WILL MEET HERE

Conti and Horemans to Clash at Hudson Recreation Parlors Tuesday

Two of the foremost exponents of the 18.2 balling billiard world, Roger Conti, champion of France, and Edward Horemans, champion of Belgium, will meet in an 1800-point continuous match Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week at the Hudson Recreation Rooms, Broad and Cherry streets.

Rivalry between these two artistic wielders of the cue is intense, and as there is a purse of $1000 up, 75 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser, there is bound to be some keen competition.

There is also an added incentive, as the winner of the match will meet Jack Schofer to decide who will challenge Hope for the world's title. Conti, who is only nineteen years old, half of Horemans' age, has shown extreme brilliance of play. He defeated Schofer in Chicago, and Horemans pulled a like stunt on the former titleholder in New York.

Horemans is king of the masse shot, and holds the world's record run of 749.

Young Mack Loses to Willis

Mount Carmel, Pa., Dec. 2.—A thrilling young Mack of Ashland, a ten-round fight with Stanley Willis in Philadelphia, in one round, after he had boxed with a book in the first round, instead he fell into the arms of the champion, Jack Williams, who, in the second round, secured a technical knockout over Mack.
