Judge Lewis Says He Chuckles
When Contemplating What is in Store for Defiers

DENONCES ORGANIZATION

"This city and all its splendid citizens have no time for any organization which invites to show its face in the light of day," declared Judge Lewis, Municipal Court, voicing his disapproval of the Ku Klux Klan at a dinner given in the evening last night to Director Cortelyou as president of the Club, a philanthropic organization.

Judge Lewis praised Director Cortelyou for telling the Klansmen what they might expect upon the first show of lawlessness in this city.

"All of us have known 'Jim' Cortelyou as a real man," said Judge Lewis, "a most efficient Director of Public Safety, and a modest, unassuming fellow withal; but never in his three years of public service have I heard him utter a more forceful statement than that of several days past, when he told the powers of darkness—the Ku Klux Klan—what it might expect if it dared raise its head in this wonder city of ours."

"This city has no time for an organization which must needs go about its nefarious work at night, under the cover of darkness, somewhere outside the county line."

"I assume, and I take it all my fellow-citizens assume, that creed and anxiety are best submerged and forgotten in striving for the common weal, and I chuckle to contemplate the welcome awaiting the Klansmen should they, emboldened, seek to defy Director Cortelyou's edict."
