

OFFICEHOLDERS IN CAMDEN WORRIED

Forgotten Statute Giving Mayor Power of Removal or Appointment Revived

TWO NEW SCHOOLS SOON

Camden is trying to recover from the shock of discovery of the forgotten acts of the Legislature which probably will change the complexion of the city's present Republican Government.

'CUT-OVER' LAND INCREASES

National Forest Reservation Commission Reports
Washington, Dec. 6.—Pointing out that the areas of cut-over forest lands in the United States has increased in the last decade from 144,000,000 to 213,000,000 acres, of which a considerable part is devastated and unproductive, the National Forest Reservation Commission, through its president, the Secretary of War, reported yesterday to Congress that the means employed by State, Federal and private agencies for reclaiming this land and again making it productive were entirely inadequate.

ROAD SIGNS SET BACK

State Officials Clearing All Highways of Obstructions
WVest Chester, Dec. 6.—The State Highway Department has served notice on all residents along State roads that every sign must be removed and all obstructions of all kinds taken away to a point four feet back of the pole lines along the roads.

Camden Board of Education

Yesterday accepted plans for a $500,000

junior high school and a sixteen-room grammar school.
The junior high school of forty rooms will be located between Bradley and Buell avenues, west of Park Boulevard. The grammar school will be built at Thirty-sixth street and Hayes avenue.

Vice Chancellor Learning, in Chancery Court, yesterday decided that Mrs. Marietta Schleinkefer and her husband, Raymond Schleinkefer, should divide the custody of their three children. Mrs. Schleinkefer brought habeas corpus proceedings to obtain custody of the children, who have been making their home with the father. Mrs. Schleinkefer said her husband boasted of his conquests with women and that he taught the children to sing improper songs. She sang two of the songs in court, thereby causing much laughter. The Court instructed counsel to arrange the times for the visits of the children between the homes.

One of the five or six great collections of linens in America is at Gimbels—and in no other store are "linens" strictly separated—articles of "all flax"—pure linen—here being in the Second-floor Salons and on any temporary First-floor counter displays.

Union linens (part cotton) and cotton damasks have their place, but not at "all-linen" prices—so here they are classified in the Subway Store—good values, too.

But—a child can safely buy linens here—no chance of choosing wrong: everything in the Second-floor Salons, excepting Turkish towels, is of pure linen.

One of America's foremost linen experts is in charge—his pride and honor wrapped up in his business.

Values? The best possible values are at Gimbels. Gifts—where such true values are to be found.

We equip most of the great hotels with linens—and the dining cars and some ships; some boats, of course, buy in their own country.

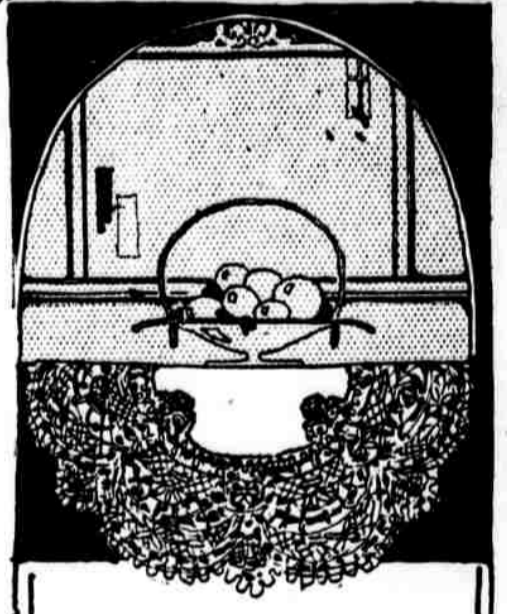

Not long ago we outfitted the dining-car service of China's greatest railroad.
