IN LIFE INSURANCE 158 Companies Report $9,300, 000,000 New Business for Ten Months

1922 DEATH RATE LOWER

7 PER CENT GROWTH

New York, Dec. 7 .- The American ople are buying $3,200,000,000 of new life insurance this year, according to the reports of 158 companies submitted at the sixteenth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents here today.

This is $600,000,000 more than was bought in 1921. This increase is regarded by the leaders of the convention as reflecting improved business and conomic conditions generally throughwill show an increase of nearly 70 year. to the convention by was presented to the concentrol by Frank II. Davis, second clea pre-ident of the Equitable Life Assurance So-ciety, of New York, who said: "A record of the current sales of life insurance is now considered a neces-sary integral factor in constructing a atisfae ory barometer of national busi ness conditions. An approximation this year's business, therefore, noist be of especial interest in measuring the recovery from general economic depression.

To secure as accurate a survey this year's situation as possible all of the life insurance companies writing business last year were requested to submit estimates of this year's business based upon two months' actual and two months' approximated business. for last year 1922 Death Rate Low

Life insurance death claims, up to November 1, show that the United States and Canada are this year ex-periencing a health record almost identical with that of 1921, which was the best in public health history.

A survey of these claims evering the eaths for the first ten months of 1922uong 29,000,000 insured persons was submitted to the convention by Dr. Augustus S. Knight, medical director of Metropolitan Life Insurance Cominy of this city.

This year's experience with a low death rate is considered all the more remarkable, the report stated, because the first quarter of the year began with much higher mortality than did the cresponding period in 1921. Two successive low annual death iss are regarded as more than a colu idence, and are believed to be a fore anner of a distinct permanent improve sent in national health conditions.

THE ROSENBACH GALLERIES THIRTEEN TWENTY WALNUT ST.

London, Dec. 7.— The efforts of a London bookseller to dispose of a hitherto unpublished Kipling manu-script which the author does not remember having written is likely to result in legal action to prevent the document from being published. The manuscript is "At the Pit's Mouth: Personal Recollections of Duncan Par-renness Translated From His Diary by R. K."

The price asked for the manuscript, which it is said Kipling produces there, eight years ago, is S4060. The manuscript is written for the most part n parallel columns, one containing the tory and the other instructions and suggestions from a person to whom the minuscript was sent for revision. The statement of the present holder is that the unduscript was prepared when Kipling was a journalist in India and that after writing it he gave it to a soman author to 'embroider' and have published. She, it is said, attempted to get Kipling's permission to publish it a few years ago, but he refused to "give permission for the publication of a work written by me more than a generation ago, which I sannot even recall," but he offered to buy it from her.

buy it from her. The manuscript is the earliest of Kipling's known to exist. It consists of a satire on Anglo-Indian society, and mithough in a series, the same as the stories in "Wee Willie Winkle," it resembles the latter only slightly.
