FOREIGN STUDENTS BENEFIT BY WORK

Men of 54 Countries at U. of P. Should Have Good Impressions of U. S., Says "Y" Official

OPENINGS IN LEGAL FIELD

"Foreign students on the campus of the University of Pennsylvania will tomorrow be telling their impressions of America in the cities and villages of fifty-four different countries. It is, therefore, of the greatest importance that they should come into contact with the best that America has to offer."

The International Students' House at 3905 Spruce street has done splendid pioneer work in bringing about friendly relations among foreign students, he asserted. "This is the only institution of its kind supported entirely by the Christian Association of America. It has 2500 representatives, China and the Philippines each 2000, Japan, 1000, and Russia, 500. The rest are distributed among the various nationalities."

More than 70 per cent of these students are in colleges and universities. Twenty per cent in high or preparatory schools.

"The largest groups of foreign students, one hundred or over, are found at Columbia University, New York University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University, University of Pennsylvania, University of Michigan, University of Illinois, University of Washington, University of California, and Iowa State College. More than 15 per cent of these students are sent to the United States by their governments."

"Without a doubt these men will be holding positions of highest importance in the government, education and industries of their respective countries." Mr. Yelton continued: "We saw at the Peace Conference that all of China's representatives were graduates of American colleges and universities. The same condition existed at the Arms Conference in Washington last year. Many of the highest officials of the Chinese Railway system are graduates of the University of Pennsylvania. Frederick S. T. Chow, 222 Wharton, a varsity track man, is now occupying a responsible position as a division superintendent on the Chinese Railway system."

"With the closing of the European universities during the war, foreign students here began to come to the United States in great numbers. No effort is being made by the Friendly Relations Committee of the Christian Association at the University of Pennsylvania to 'Americanize' the foreign students. It is more of an internationalizing process. They may be guided but never forced to accept our ideas or doctrines."

Dr. Charles D. Hurrey, general secretary of the World's Student Federation, has returned from an international conference at Peking, declaring that the spirit of American sport has been one of the greatest contributions this country has made to the world. It is having a very noticeable effect upon the Chinese physique.

"There is a very real need for young men in the legal profession," Edward Hopkins told a group of students who attended the second of a series of six vocational lectures in the auditorium of Houston Hall yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hopkins explained that the ranks of the students who left the law schools to go to war and who did not return to finish their courses, had never been adequately filled. Following his talk Mr. Hopkins met a number of the students in a conference where he discussed problems of a more individual nature with the men.

Seven men were elected to the managing board of the Pennsylvania, the opening date of the University of Pennsylvania, at a meeting of the board in Houston Hall last night. Two Philadelphia men, James M. Henderson, 221 Lombard avenue, and J. Lawrence Davis, 1241 South Fifty-third street, were among those elected to the editorial staff. The others were Kenneth H. McDonnell, of Providence, R. I., and Joseph M. Hughes, of Carlisle, Pa. Thomas Griffith, of Harrisburg, Pa., was retained as an alternate.

The following men were elected to the business staff of the paper: Marcell J. Aves, Louisville, Ky.; Samuel French, Woodstown, N. J.; Paul Schmidt, Toledo, O.; J. Hyman, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; and H. Gilbert Smith, of Havana, Cuba, were retained as alternates.

Will Go on Stage

MRS. HARRISON K. CANER, JR. Who will play a part in "The Torchbearers" to obtain atmosphere for continuing her amateur activities here

MRS. CANER TO PLAY REAL STAGE ROLE

Society Woman Will Appear in "The Torchbearers" in N. Y. and Later Here

SEEKS ACTUAL ATMOSPHERE

Mrs. Harrison K. Caner, Jr., who is prominent socially and who has starred in many amateur theatrical productions here, has been asked to represent the Play and Players of Philadelphia in "The Torchbearers," which will be at the Garrick Theatre here January 6, for a run of two weeks.

It was at the suggestion of Mrs. Oris Skinner that Mrs. Caner was asked to take a part in the production, which is a satire on amateur theatricals and the Little Theatre movement and pertains to Philadelphia—George Kelly, Philadelphia, having written the play.

Mrs. Caner will join the cast in New York and play the last three nights before it closes there to familiarize herself with her role.

"There are parts and parts," said Mrs. Caner this morning, smiling. "Mine isn't much of a role and it wasn't hard to learn, so it will not be difficult for me to take the part."

Mrs. Caner will have the part of Clara Sheppard. Mary Boland is the star in the production.

Mrs. Caner wishes to obtain a larger knowledge of the technique of the stage, and while she has no intention of becoming a professional actress, she believes that the atmosphere she will obtain playing with "The Torchbearers" will help in her amateur theatrical parts, which she intends to continue playing here.

Before her marriage on November 14, 1916, Mrs. Caner was Miss Sara Lyndell Baird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Baird. She made her debut in 1915. Her father-in-law, Harrison K. Caner, has a residence at 1707 Walnut street and also a home at Ambler and a summer place at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. He is an expert horseman.

PETITIONS TO FREE LEIB TOO HEAVY FOR 2 MEN

Woman Tells Pardon Board Ex-Politician Didn't Keep Her $1000

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 12.—The move for the release of William S. Leib, former political leader now in the Eastern Penitentiary, was advanced today when Mrs. Harold Smith sent a letter to the Board of Pardons denying that Leib retained $1000 belonging to her. Charges that Leib kept this money from Mrs. Smith, a widow, were made against him in the investigation before his trial which resulted in his conviction on a forgery charge.

Schuylkill County firemen have signed the Leib petition in a body. More than 5000 firemen have been enrolled in the Pottsville Club, whose members include coal operators, bankers, judges and wealthy merchants and lawyers, have also signed the Leib petition. The Pottsville letters for Leib are now so great in volume that two men will be unable to carry them over to Harrisburg.
