MITTEN IS MENTIONED

Governor-elect Pinchot arrived in the city from his Milford home this afternoon to hold several conferences on the big problems to be solved in connection with the new State Administration.

Mr. Pinchot will probably remain in Philadelphia until Thursday or Friday. He expects to confer with Dr. C. E. Kline, chairman of the Citizens' Committee on State Finances on the budget and the necessity for further paring of estimates already submitted by department heads in the State capital.

Thomas E. Mitten, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, is understood on high authority to be being considered by the Board of Judges for appointment to the vacancy on the Board of Education, caused by the death of John Wannamaker. Mr. Mitten's name has been suggested by potential political interests as well as by others.

A short time ago Mr. Mitten was honored for Mayor to succeed Mayor Moore. Mrs. Rudolph Bunkburg was one of those who urged the P. R. T. president to consider running for Mayor. Mr. Mitten answered diplomatically the suggestions by saying that he was too busy with his own big job.

Governor Sprule is pleased over a set of engrossed and illuminated resolutions which was presented to him by the Philadelphia Motor Club at the dinner of the Pennsylvania Society in New York on Saturday night. These resolutions express appreciation of the Governor's work for good roads, such as the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the Delaware River Bridge, and the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

BERNHARDT BETTER: REST NOW ORDERED

Physicians Do Not Expect Serious
Consequences From Illness.
Paris, Dec. 19.—(By A. P.)—Sarah Bernhardt's fainting spell, which came at the close of a rehearsal yesterday afternoon, was brought about by overwork, in the opinion of her friends.

The great actress had just returned from a long and tiring tour of Italy, but notwithstanding her seventy-eight years, she plunged wholeheartedly into preparations for the presentation of Sacha Guitry's new play "Un Sujet de Roman," which was to have had its premiere last night.

Madame Bernhardt passed a comfortable night and her physician said no serious consequences were expected to follow her fainting spell. She will be obliged to rest several days, but it is considered certain she will be able to resume her work on the stage soon.

When M. Guitry went to Mme. Bernhardt's house last evening she burst into tears and exclaimed: "Oh, my poor boy, to treat you in such a way! But this is the first time that ever happened to me."

One of the actress's close friends, who saw her late in the evening, reported her as much better. "You see I am quite well now," Mme. Bernhardt said. "My son frowns and says I must take a long rest. But never that. You know quite well that rest means death to me!"

All flowers from the theatre were taken to the actress's house, which was locked up. The telephone was disconnected and a guard posted against too numerous inquiries.

POLAND CONTINUES INQUIRY INTO PRESIDENT'S MURDER

Marshal Pilsudski Likely to Become Candidate for Vacant Post.
Warsaw, Dec. 19.—(By A. P.)—The Government in its efforts to determine whether a plot existed for the murder of President Narutowicz, is continuing its inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the assassination.

The present procedure will insure the widest publicity to all parole hearings. In addition, prisoners will be made aware of the reasons for their parole or non-parole.

The plan is to have the prisoners present their applications to the inspectors of the institution, who will file them with E. M. Horkner, chief parole officer. An investigation into the accuracy of the information will be made, and any expense necessary to the conduct of an investigation or the subsequent hearing will be borne by the prisoners.

Ginsburg Case Recalled.

PUBLIC PAROLE HEARING ON TODAY

Judges Mark End of Secret System Under Which Criminals
Were Freed

CAUSED MANY SCANDALS

The first public hearing of a petition for the parole of a prisoner following the adoption of Judge Monaghan's proposal to end the secret parole system will take place today in Room 230, City Hall.

The petition which will be heard by Judges Monaghan and Gordon is for the release of James Bradley, serving a sentence in the county prison for receiving stolen goods.

The new plan, approved by the Board of Judges December 1, is the result of the loose parole procedure in which judges considered applications in chambers and without due notice to the District Attorney.

Under the new plan the judges of the County Prison and the Municipal Court can release on parole any man they see fit, at any time they see fit.

Many Criminals Released.
The release of many notorious criminals under the secret parole system resulted in widespread criticism of the actions of some of the judges, who, after imposing sentence on criminals in open court, put them on parole without even the formality of giving the District Attorney's office an opportunity to present objections to their release.

The present procedure will insure the widest publicity to all parole hearings. In addition, prisoners will be made aware of the reasons for their parole or non-parole.

The plan is to have the prisoners present their applications to the inspectors of the institution, who will file them with E. M. Horkner, chief parole officer. ## GRAND JURY TO QUIZ PRISON OFFICIALS

Wardens of Both Moyamensing and Holmesburg Are Told to Appear

INSPECTORS COME LATER

Warden Cooke, who is in charge of both the Holmesburg prison and the Moyamensing division, Warden Capron, who is in charge at Holmesburg, were ordered to appear before the Grand Jury probing prison conditions today.

It is probable that the Grand Jury will make another visit to the Holmesburg prison to make a further inspection of alleged conditions there.

The Grand Jury made its second trip to Moyamensing Prison yesterday within the last two days.

The Board of Prison Inspectors, which has charge of both Holmesburg and Moyamensing, will be in special session yesterday and discussed prison reform recently ordered by Dr. John M. Barry, commissioner of the State Welfare Department.

The inspectors will be before the jurors probably tomorrow.

It is thought the jurors had two jobs in mind in their trips to the prison. One was to see at first hand whether conditions at the old county prison paralleled those at Holmesburg.

MEMORIAL TO JAIL HEROES

Honors at Eastern Penitentiary for Service Men

In honor of former inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary, who while on parole served the country in the World War, a tablet will be unveiled this afternoon with appropriate ceremonies.

Many of those in prison will gather about to see that, even though their former fellow-conducts had once transgressed against the law, the State recognizes the good they did.

The tablet, which is of bronze, was provided by the Board of Inspectors. It bears the following:

"To the outstanding honor of those inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary who served in the United States Army and Navy during the World War."

Then follows the names of the men who answered the call to arms. The names were obtained for the reason that the board believed it would be unfair to the men to have their names permanently in the prison. The list shows that 121 men answered the country's call, and records also show that these men gave a good account of themselves in the service.

Major Moore, former Congressman J. Washington Logan, E. J. Cattell, and others will speak.

ELMAN'S WEDDING PLANS ARE BROKEN

Violinist and "Ideal Girl," Mildred Stone, Decide Not to Marry

THINK THEY MADE MISTAKE

New York, Dec. 19.—The engagement of Mildred Stone, violin virtuoso, and Miss Mildred Stone, his "ideal girl," has been broken. Two months ago the romance was formally announced, bringing to a close a period in which it was reported that the musician had been seeking the embodiment of his ideal of womanhood.

Miss Stone appeared to fill the bill with one slight hitch. She was a brunette. The violinist had declared his ideal must be a blonde.

But if the blond-haired Miss Stone had everything to do with the failure of the romance, nothing was said.

The wedding was to have been in June, then a honeymoon to Europe and then back home where Elman's bride could settle down to the duties of a wife.

"That is what a woman's career should be," Miss Stone said in the happy moment following her betrothal on Columbus Day. "Her interest cannot have careers."

Miss Stone and Mildred Elman met at Lake Placid last July during the Polka, also a fiddler of note and only child of the ironmaster. She was Miss Stone admitted it was a case of love at first sight.

"Do I believe in that?" she asked repeating a question put to her. "No, not as a rule, but you cannot apply any rule to real life."
