

2 ADMIRAL BURNING BARN AND STABLES

Man and Boy to Be Grilled by State Police Today Following Confession

ANOTHER SUSPECT HELD

Crill Wood, confessed burner of his father's barn, and Leo Finerty, watchman at the stables of Arthur J. Fox, at Radnor, who confessed yesterday to having set the stables on fire, will be taken from their cells today and given another grilling by State police.

While Major C. M. Wilhelm, head of the State troopers searching for the mysterious firebrands that have terrorized farmers in counties adjacent to Philadelphia, does not believe the Wood boy has any connection with other fires, he feels that Finerty knows a great deal more than he has told.

A man called "Bones," who was out in an automobile with Finerty Wednesday night, is being sought this morning. The barn of Bernard Martin, at Swedeland, was burned the night the two men were together. A clue to the identity of "Bones" was received last night and Major Wilhelm is confident of finding the man soon.

In addition to Wood and Finerty, a third prisoner is being held at the West Chester Jail until police can investigate the possibility of his having been implicated in the barn burnings. He was arrested in Norristown as a vagrant.

Farmers of six townships in Chester County met last night in the Municipal Building, West Chester, to elect a committee to check the spread of incendiarism in their territory.

Major Wilhelm attended the meeting and it was concluded the organization of the farmers.

Wood, who is sixteen years old, was taken into custody at Norristown last night by Chief Wilson, acting in cooperation with the State police. He was accused of having set fire to the barn on the farm occupied by his father, Alfred Wood, near Bridgeton.

The barn was destroyed Wednesday night along with an automobile, most of the farm machinery, hay and fodder.

WOMAN AND GIRLS DIE FROM FLAMES

Mrs. Rachel Bernstein, 85, Victim of Attempt to Save Child of Neighbor

An aged woman and two little girls were burned to death in their homes yesterday.

Mrs. Rachel Bernstein, eighty-five years old, of 1231 Norristown street, was fatally burned when she tried to beat out the flames enveloping Molly Spiro, five years old.

Following the Jewish custom, on Friday night, Mrs. Bernstein lit a number of candles, then ignited a curtain. Molly tried to extinguish the flames and her clothing caught fire. When Mrs. Bernstein tried to beat out the flames spreading over the child, her own clothing caught fire.

Samuel Nathanson, a neighbor, saw smoke and turned in an alarm. Firemen found the woman and girl on the floor, their bodies charred. They were taken to the Stetson Hospital, where both died several hours later.

Mrs. Spiro, who lives on the second floor, is in the University Hospital and left her daughter in the care of Mrs. Bernstein. She has not been told of the tragedy.

Four-year-old Martha Timmerino was burned to death when her dress caught fire in her home at 2845 Salmon street. Several brothers and sisters of the child tried to beat out the flames, but without success.

PIT MURDER PROVED AGAINST BECKER

Bronx Taxicab Operator, Who Reported Wife Missing, Faces Execution

COMPANION TO BE TRIED

New York, Dec. 22.—Abraham Becker was cleared guilty of first-degree murder in a verdict returned early today by a jury in the Bronx County Court. The penalty for the crime in New York State is electrocution. Sentence will be pronounced Tuesday.

He was convicted of killing his wife, Jennie, last April by striking her over the head with an iron bar and burying her in an ashpit.

Months later, when neighbors became suspicious and Becker had been arrested, her lifeless body was found in the shallow pit in the lot adjacent to Reuben Norkin's garage.

Norkin also was indicted for murder in connection with Mrs. Becker's death and is awaiting trial.

Becker, owner and operator of a taxicab, reported to the police in April that his wife had left him and their children, and asked aid in locating her. There were rumors of foul play at the time and when, sometime later, neighbors reported that the body had been found in the pit was that of his wife, but neighbors identified in court clothing taken from the body as having been those of Mrs. Becker.

The latter, police believed, made a statement charging the taxi man with killing Mrs. Becker. Norkin stood watch while Becker buried her, still moaning, the alleged confession stated.

Becker fled to the city and hid in the pit was that of his wife, but neighbors identified in court clothing taken from the body as having been those of Mrs. Becker.

The jury deliberated an hour and ten minutes, after getting the case early today.

DR. CONWELL WILL TELL HOW GREAT FORTUNES WERE MADE

In Forthcoming Book Will Turn Spotlight on a Few Who, He Says, Acquired Wealth Dishonestly

The United States since its infancy has produced 4043 millionaires and of this vast array of money kings, less than 1 per cent, of the men who have become rich, have acquired their wealth honestly.

The figures are those of Dr. Russell H. Conwell, pastor of Grace Baptist Temple, and founder and president of Temple University. Dr. Conwell disclosed the fact via radio that he has been laboring for twelve years to produce a volume on the lives, the work, and the wealth of the men of America who have accumulated fortunes above the million mark.

Dr. Conwell had been keeping this a secret and he disclosed it probably without realizing that an audience of perhaps 500,000 persons from Philadelphia to California was listening to his every word.

Some time ago, at the invitation of John W. Winkler, Dr. Conwell agreed to deliver his lecture "Acres of Diamonds" to the people of the United States through W. O. the broadcasting station of the Winkler store. It was the first time Dr. Conwell had ever talked to an invisible audience.

Before him during the course of his address, which took an hour and thirty minutes, he said nothing but the small microphone and a velvet curtain. "Acres of Diamonds" has much to do with wealth. It has produced millions of dollars with which Dr. Conwell has been able to found Temple University and educate young men with meager means.

In this lecture Dr. Conwell denies that money is the root of all evil and lauds the man who is able to accumulate wealth. It was at this point that he mentioned the book he is preparing on the lives of the millionaires of the United States. He has the material all in hand and the text is about two-thirds complete. Next week he will go to Atlantic City and spend several weeks finishing the job. He hopes to have the work published by March and looks to it, he said today, to support him in his old age.

In addressing his invisible audience, Dr. Conwell said that 3780 of the 4043 American millionaires began life without a dollar. "They were all poor boys forty years ago," he said, "and I want you to realize that the chances to become wealthy today are hundreds of times greater than they were then."

Dr. Conwell said today he will mention names in his book, and while he will not criticize some of them, he will tell how their money was made, and why he thinks their wealth was dishonestly earned.
