

WENONAH TO PLAY 18 GAMES IN CAGE

Cadets Are Out to Win the Title in Penn-Jersey League

FIRST GAME JANUARY 13

After finishing the most successful football season in the history of the institution, the Wenonah cadets have now turned their attention to basketball. The football team had only two first downs made against it during the entire season, and blanketed its opponents in every game.

With the exception of Scotch, the Hamilton N. Y. High School, the entire basketball squad is composed of gridiron men. Participants of Atlantic City, the 200-pound tackle, seems to have the center berth, while Dickie Davis and Mapleson, both more than six feet, are giving him a hard fight.

Dutch Redolferter, the most successful last year's team and one of the best scholastic forwards in the State, has been out of the picture since with an injury received in the Wilmington Blue football game, but will be available to participate in the opening first round Atlantic City.

Brundiff, of Salem High, occupies the logical choice for the other forward position. Max and Red B. B. are expected for a forward berth on the team. Captain Knudsen, of the Philadelphia team who has played four seasons, is expected to play at guard, while Dickson of Collingswood High, a former member of Brigleton High, New, of Salem High, and Semmelbach of Haverhill, N. H., are expected to play at guard, while Dickson of Collingswood High, a former member of Brigleton High, New, of Salem High, and Semmelbach of Haverhill, N. H., are expected to play at guard.

Snow-Balling Voted Legitimate Sport

The sport of snow-balling has received official recognition. City officials voted to permit it when school children gather with a lot of other things up to the Good Citizen League.

The league adopted a resolution stating that "snow-balling is a legitimate sport." The resolution was adopted by a vote of 10-0.

It is not to be taken as a license to throw snowballs at each other, but as a recognition of the fact that snow-balling is a legitimate sport.

SPHAS' BASKETEERS ON HOLIDAY JAUNT

Downtown Cage Five Will Play Continuously for Almost Two Weeks

P. G.'S ACT AS SUBS HERE

The South Philadelphia Hebrew Association basketball team is off on its holiday trip, which promises to be one of the most prosperous ever undertaken by a local independent five. All of the regular players are on the team with Manager Harry Passon and his assistant, Eddie Gortel.

Last night the team played at Northampton. This evening they will tackle the Coffee Club, of Pittsburgh, and Wednesday will find them in Yonkers, N. Y. The Thursday clash is with the Slacks, of Philadelphia, O. Friday's opponent is the team they play in New York on Saturday.

The Sphas will start against the Hamilton N. Y. High School on Monday in New York City, and on Tuesday will play the Philadelphia team in Philadelphia. On Wednesday they will play the Coffee Club, of Pittsburgh, and on Thursday they will play the Slacks, of Philadelphia, O.

On Friday they will play the Slacks, of Philadelphia, O. On Saturday they will play the team they play in New York on Saturday.

Await Return of Suzanne to Nets

Paris, Dec. 26.—A dispatch to the Herald from Monte Carlo says that Miss Suzanne Lenglen will play an exhibition tennis match on Saturday morning.

Followers of the game are greatly interested in seeing whether the champion has benefited by her long rest on whether her absence from the courts has affected her skill.

Among the leaders of the Philadelphia Manufacturers' League, will represent the downtowners on the home floor at Seventh street and Snyder avenue. They oppose immediate conception on Thursday and on Friday journey to Philadelphia to play the Philadelphia team.

In connection with Thursday's game the four shooting tourney conducted by the Sphas will get under way. Twenty slanders, ten male and the same number of female basketlers will try for the six prizes to be awarded on the opening night.

Don't forget to examine the ground conditions of the Sphas. It is not to be taken as a license to throw snowballs at each other, but as a recognition of the fact that snow-balling is a legitimate sport.

MUSICAL RIVALRY FOR RADIO DANCE

Listeners-In on WIP to Judge Between Navy Yard Band and Orchestra

AUDIENCE TO SETTLE IT

As a fitting ending to the Christmas holiday, WIP, the Gabel Brothers-Public Ledger broadcasting station will tonight give a unique Christmas radio dance. The music will be furnished by two Philadelphia Navy Yard organizations and behind their agreement to play for the radio audience lies a story of long rivalry which this event is expected to settle.

The Navy Yard boasts a band and an orchestra. Both are under the direction of Bandmaster R. Montague. Each one has been extremely popular among its own followers and the Navy Yard is about evenly divided in opinion as to whether the band is better than the orchestra or the orchestra is better than the band.

That is what the radio audience will be asked to decide this evening. The contest will be held in the form of a radio dance.

Part of tonight's program will be played by each organization and announcement will be made before each number which one is to play it. Then the radio audience will be asked to decide the contest.

LAST OF THE HOLIDAY IMBIBERS FREED TODAY

Nearly 300 Persons Were Arrested Since Saturday on Drunk Charges

The remaining score or more of between 270 and 300 persons arrested over the holidays for intoxication were discharged by magistrates this morning.

Most of the celebrants were released yesterday in time to eat their holiday dinner, but the remainder, picked up yesterday afternoon and last night, were held to sleep off the effects.

A majority of the week-end arrests occurred in the central section, and both the Eleventh and Winter streets and the Tenth and Buttonwood streets had well-filled cellars.

In the latter station forty-five arrests were registered. Many of the inebriates were gathered up in the vicinity of elder saloons in the old Tenth street section.

YOUR BOY GO TO A WIP SCHOOL

It is fitting that Philadelphia be a promoter of National Radio Week. It was here that A. Frederick Collins built the first wireless telephonic about twenty years ago.

The electrical principles involved in radio and the amplification of sound are said by some to be destined to make startling changes in the future achievements of mankind.

The results of Paul Revere's ride could now be accomplished by radio in less time than it took him to saddle and ride his horse.

ATLANTIC SERVICE Never fails!

Dependability is the first requisite of any public or commercial service. It is one of the outstanding qualities of Atlantic Service.

Time and again Atlantic Service has responded to emergencies with feats of performance under difficulties that seemed impossible. All due to the highly organized distribution system which daily, under all conditions of weather, can be depended on to keep public utility and commercial concerns supplied with modern industry's "vital fluids"—gasoline and oils.

In blizzards and heavy snowstorms, for instance, Atlantic Service is generally first to be called upon to deliver gasoline.

To steam and electric power companies, to trolley and street car lines, etc., so the lines of transportation may be kept open.

To stores and hotels, to thousands of homes with their various necessities.

In great companies, so their trucks may not fail in their important warmth-giving service.

In trucking contractors, so snow may be moved and highways maintained in possible condition.

In telephone and telegraph companies, so storm damages can quickly be reached by their repair trucks.

In express companies, so perishable and other goods may reach their destinations on time.

These are but a few examples showing the vital part gasoline has in today's industrial scheme, the importance of dependable gasoline service, and the emergencies and difficulties for which Atlantic Service is ever prepared.

Atlantic Service covers every section of the city and a wide surrounding territory. It is available day and night, week-days and Sundays, month in and month out. It never fails. That's why it is preferred by most concerns operating truck fleets, garages or gasoline stations.

ATLANTIC GASOLINE Puts Pep in Your Motor

This Is National Radio Week December 23rd to 30th

The purpose of National Radio Week is to cause a closer spirit of co-operation and friendliness between the hundreds of thousands of Americans who "listen in" during all hours of the day and night. No invention of the past has been so quickly and enthusiastically adopted by the American people as has the radio telephone.

Radio development continues day by day, and the time is near at hand when the speaking film—a picture that talks, will take its place in the gallery of radio marvels. Then the voice of the star will be heard as the lips of the picture move.
