

The Centre Democrat

BELLEFONTE, PA.

THURSDAY, NOV. 22, 1860.

W. W. BROWN, ASSOCIATE EDITOR.

Listen to the Music.

Court is in session this week, but the attendance is unusually small, owing to the fact that it is a special Court. Next week there will be a rush, and then look out for the money. The lean pocket book of the printer will grow miraculously fat, and "ob" that will be joyful, joyful to see the precious dough. We know our "dear patrons" won't think of coming to town without the "pewter" for the printer. Next week we will be "hanging" round the corners all week watching for the "republicans," and if our friends don't "plank over" pretty liberally they will expect to see us "hanging" in our garret some morning. We must have money—we have promised over two hundred dollars, and we look to our subscribers to pay us that amount. We will stop every man, and if he don't want his bill stuck under his nose he had better pay quick. There are some fellows on our books that ought to have our "stick" under their nose. They promise to pay every time they come to town, but take care never to make good their word. Now friends, remember we are depending on you. Don't let us look in vain. Everything shall be fixed up snug for your receipt, and we will have a nice clean receipt for you, a good fire in the office, and then when you see the big placard on the wall at door No. 2. Arcade building just step up and "we will be very glad to see you"—pay the printer.

Prudence, not Peace.

Disunion, secession, and rebellion, is now the cry, that comes to our ears from all quarters of the country. Some pretend to treat the present excitement with levity and scorn while to others it furnishes the gravest cause for alarm. In our opinion attempted secession is an inevitable calamity. The South will never be satisfied, until she has attempted to separate these states and failed. The disunion sentiment has been growing in this country for the last twenty years, and Yancy Rhett & Co. have labored faithfully to prepare the cotton States for the "Revolution" into which they propose now to precipitate the entire South. The rapid growth of sentiments and ideas in this country forbids us to procrastinate crushing an evil. Any system if allowed to grow for a few years, will become formidable. Poligamy, spiritualism, and fourism are examples of this truth. Disunionism ten years ago would have been easier crushed than now, and it will be easier to crush it now, than ten years after this. We are then for meeting this danger at once. We counsel prudence, but not peace. Let us do nothing but patiently wait the ultimate action of the cotton states. If they precipitate themselves into revolution and rebellion, let the strong arm of the Government arise upon such treason. Let us do nothing to aggravate the south—let us do nothing to conciliate her—let us leave her alone. To aggravate the south, would be to make ourselves responsible for what might follow unless to conciliate her, would be to put off for a little while longer, a danger that must come sooner or later upon the country. The red hot clouds of anger that have been raised in the south had better burst upon the country, than pass over only to leave their poison lingering in the air to gather other and more dangerous storms. The country will never be stronger, never better able to stand the test of disunion, than at this moment. Again we say, if we are to have disunion at all, let us have it now.

Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet.

There is much speculation just now as to who will be members of Mr. Lincoln's cabinet. We see that John Bell is talked of, but we hope there is no foundation for such a report. H. Winter Davis is also spoken of as one of the cabinet, but a mere unfounded appointment could not be made. Mr. Davis did all he could to defeat Mr. Lincoln, and we think no such men should be in the cabinet. If Mr. Lincoln desires a member of his cabinet from Maryland, there are other men there besides Mr. Davis, men who are deserving and who worked hard to secure his election. Mr. Bates is also urged as a cabinet officer, and a better selection could not be made. Mr. Corwin will, in all probability be in the cabinet.

How the President is Elected.

By the act of Congress of 1843 the Electors for President and Vice President of the United States are appointed in each State on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November. 2. By an act of 1793 those Electors are to meet on the first Wednesday in December after, in their respective States, to cast their votes. 3. The votes, when cast, are to be certified by the Electors and sealed up and sent to the President of the Senate. On the second Wednesday in February after the sealed certificates of the Electors are to be broken open and the votes counted, and the result declared in the presence of Congress. It is noticed that none of the South Carolina postmasters have shut up shop yet. The probability is that none of them will. South Carolina has not begun to yield revenue enough to pay for transporting the mails and paying the salaries of postmasters required for the State. When the wealthy planters and property holders begin to pay enormous taxes to support the secessionists, a speedy reaction will ensue. With all their boasted independence, Carolinians will feel the loosening of the purse strings quite as keenly as the native born New Englanders.

Disunion was threatened in various quarters at the first election of President Jefferson in 1801. He thus referred to the subject in his inaugural address in 1801. "If there are any among us who would wish to dissolve the Union, or to change its republican form, let them stand undisturbed, as monuments of the safety with which error of opinion may be tolerated, where reason is left free to combat it."

Difficulties in the Way of secession.

The World predicts that one great difficulty in the way of the secession movement would be the incompetency of the vaporey and hot-headed politicians who now occupy the ear and eye of the nation, to arrange those practical details which, in the case of a State setting up for itself, require the patient and intelligent supervision of men possessing a thorough knowledge of the business of the world and of affairs of state—men of executive capacity, with more fondness for the figures of mathematics than the figures of speech. This is a class who are now in the background, biding their time, but without whose help, the men now conspicuous, cannot so much as get into secession nor get out of it. A more monstrous and absurd doctrine than that of the right of any State at its pleasure to secede from the Union, has never been put forth. The Government in such a case would indeed be a mere rope of sand. According to this dogma, Cuba, after we shall have paid $200,000,000 for her purchase, as a State may at once secede, and leave the United States Treasury to place the small item to the account of "profit and loss." Texas, when she came into the Union, after we had paid many millions to discharge her debts, and other millions to go into her coffers, was and is entirely at liberty to secede with the booty. Each and all the States carved out of the Louisiana purchase, for which we also paid an immense sum, may do the like. So, too, States in which the largest amounts of public property may be situated, may at any time secede with that property.

How it Works.

As no vessel can lawfully leave a port of the United States without having first obtained a proper clearance, the present position of the Federal authorities of Charleston is extremely awkward. The collector of the Port has resigned, but probably the Deputies will perform the duties of the office, so that the resignation does not effect anything after all. But supposing the Custom House is closed, to please the secessionists, what then? If a vessel desires to proceed to sea, there is nobody to give a clearance, and if a clearance could not be had, why the vessel must rot in port till one can be had, or if sent to sea without it, it is virtually without protection from any responsible government. It won't take long to remedy this thing; the Custom House will be re-occupied, and Charleston will continue a port of the United States, for a few years longer at all events. There are too many interests at stake in the South to permit dissolution.

The Adjutant Generalship.

We see several gentlemen are spoken of in connection with this office, and among others notice the name of Gen. James Negley, of Pittsburg. Mr. Negley is well qualified for the position, and one of the most enterprising military men in the State. His whole soul is in the military cause, and no man in his case more to give us an efficient military system. Allegedly can well claim the appointment; his troops are an honor to the State, and Gen. Negley has done more than any other man, to give them their present proud position. He was a soldier in the Mexican war, and served with distinction. In our opinion he is just the man for the position, and we are for him, first, last, and all the time.

Tremendous Failure.

It becomes our duty, as faithful public journalists, to announce to our readers this morning, the total failure of the great Democratic Spolia Company. It has been in a tottering condition for some years past, but has been held together by the cohesive power of public plunder, until Tuesday last, when the concern exploded with a tremendous crash. A powerful effort had been made to procure an extension on its creditors, but a conviction of its rottenness induced them to peremptorily refuse. The failure is one of the worst on record. Extensive frauds are known to have been committed, running back through a long series of years. The concern will go at once into liquidation. Creditors will realize nothing whatever on their claims, the assets consisting only of broken plasters and bogus principles, all of which are worthless. Burlington Hawk Eye, November 10th.

The Kansas Election.

LEAVENWORTH, Nov. 14.—Complete returns from the Territorial election for members of the House of Representatives show a large Republican majority in that body. Last evening Hon. Marcus J. Parrott addressed the largest and most enthusiastic meeting ever assembled here at any time during the late Presidential canvass, the occasion being in honor of Lincoln's election. Mr. Parrott spoke an hour and a half. The streets were illuminated, salutes fired, and the "Wide Awakes" paraded with full ranks. BARDICK'S WILL.—The will of Broderick, who was murdered on account of his political virtue, has been admitted to probate. His estate, which at one time was supposed to be very little above his liabilities, has since his death, greatly appreciated in value to such an extent, indeed, as to leave about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Mr. B. appears, had no near relatives; hence, after bequeathing $10,000 to one friend, he has left Mr. George Wilkes, well known as connected with the sporting press, as duary legatee—making him a rich man, unexpectedly.

Victoria Coming.

The Duke of Newcastle intimated to a prominent gentleman of that city, that another year this country and Canada might be visited by the Queen. Here will be a chance for another excitement. Let Victoria come, and we promise her on the part of our gallant countrymen, one of the nicest kind of receptions. We are fond of things of that sort, and all the fonder when there is a woman involved.

The Republicans Claim California.

New York, Nov. 20. A special dispatch to the Post, from the Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee of California, says that the returns received by that agency foot up 90,000 votes. Lincoln leading by 2,000, and it was expected he had carried the State.

Future of the North and South.

Many persons do not seem to understand why the South attaches such importance to the late election. A few facts and figures will easily explain this. The election for the next House of Representatives, and, of course, the next President will be under the census of 1860. The South now has Senators, Representatives, 30 90 Her electoral vote, 120 The North now has Senators, Representatives, 36 147 Her electoral vote, 183

Her electoral vote.

During the next four years, the probabilities are that five organized Territories will be admitted as free States. That at the lowest figures, would give ten Senators, and certainly five members of the House, and of course would modify the new Congress and Presidential election. The new census and the admission of those States would largely add to the political power of the North. In the Presidential election of 1864, the North will have votes based on 23 States: Senators, 46 Present House of Representatives, 147 Add under new census, 18 Five new States at one each, 5—170 216

The slaveholding States as at present:

Senators, 70 Loss of 18 on the census, 32 102 The leading minds of the Southern States have fully pondered of these pregnant statistics, and with them the people have been "now, or never." But seceding from the Union would only be out of the frying pan into the fire. They want to sell us their cotton, sugar, tobacco, &c., and to buy our grain, cattle, and manufactured products.—Our unqualified policy is to allow the friends of the Union in the South to fight the battle of the South of Southern soil, and they can and will triumph. Ninetenths of all the fire eating speeches and resolutions that may be passed will be harmless. These are admirable safety-valves to let off superfluous steam that might otherwise burst the boiler. Friends of the Union and Constitution remain quiet and firm; the Union will be stable and enduring when the present smoke clears away.—Pittsburg Commercial Journal.

Inauguration of the Mayor of Baltimore.

A UNION ADDRESS. BALTIMORE, Nov. 12. In Wm. George Brown, who was recently elected Mayor of this city, on the Reform ticket, was inaugurated to-day. He closed his inaugural address with a strong expression of the Union sentiment.—He declared that he expressed the unanimous sentiment of the people of Baltimore—the largest of the Southern cities—when he said that the true policy of Maryland is to adhere to the Union so long as she can do so with honor and safety. In conclusion he said: "No cause has yet arisen sufficient to justify the overthrow of the noblest and most beneficent Government ever established by human wisdom, and which is consecrated and endeared to the hearts of all—not only by the abundant blessings of the present moment, but by the sacred memories of the past and the great hopes of the future." The expediency of calling a mass meeting of citizens to sustain the Union is much canvassed by our business men. A Southern gentleman made his appearance on Baltimore street this morning with a blue cockade in his hat. He was regarded with much curiosity, but evidently with little favor.

A CALIFORNIA R-MANCE.

The St. Louis paper tells a strange story of one John Hardwick, a P. & B. mechanic. In 1853 he went to California, leaving a wife and two children behind. Reaching the land of gold, he dug a pile which his partner stole from him. Then he fell sick, and recovered only to find himself quite impoverished, enfeebled, and discouraged. He wrote frequently to his wife; she did not receive his letters, nor did she from her reach him. He concluded that she was glad to get rid of him, so he began to dig again. In the meantime, the wife married for him once, and after a time died also. With in a month, Hardwick, the California adventurer, having accumulated a fortune, came towards the East, travelling by the overland route. Stopping in St. Louis he walked about the city, looking at the tower. While so engaged he met his wife. "Mutual explanations" followed. The dead children and the new ones were welcomed with affection. Then the clergyman united the pair for the second time, and all parties soon left St. Louis.

How a Pennsylvania Republican Won a Barrel of Wheat.

During the late campaign Judge Kelly, of Philadelphia, stumped the State of Illinois, and in one of his addresses at Springfield, asserted his willingness to bet a barrel of Illinois wheat, that the old Keystone would give a larger Republican majority than Illinois. It was immediately taken up by the Springfield Republicans.—The result is well known, and our friends in that city having lost the bet, they had a neat barrel specially made, the name and address of Judge Kelly being inscribed in full on its side, and intend to forward it in a few days. It is filled with the best quality of wheat that could be found in Illinois.—This is the first Republican bet that we have heard of being lost.

Out West several people are inconsolable because the elegant and refined Joseph Lane is not to be our next Vice President.—They say that his defeat is a death blow to American literature, and will cause a complete stagnation in that branch of the book trade devoted to Webster's Spellers. It is rumored that his friends in Oregon were affected to tears by the following dispatch: "Me and Briek are depehited, but God's will be dun. GOSPEL LANE." The Western people are so disgusted with those New York merchants who sought to create a financial panic at the close of the campaign, in order to defeat Lincoln, that they have determined to adopt the policy of non-intercourse with every New York merchant who entered into this treacherable conspiracy. Through one of their journals, the Detroit Advertiser, they call upon the Republican papers of New York to publish a list of the disunion merchants of that city.

The Vermont Legislature has passed a law against prize fighting—principals, ten years imprisonment or $5,000 fine; aids, second or surgeons, five years imprisonment or $1,000 fine; and citizens of the State who attend a prize fight in other capacity, out of the State, to receive the same punishment.

Below we give the official majorities for Lincoln in Pennsylvania, over the different candidates for the Presidency: Lincoln's present majority over Reading ticket, 93,735 Lincoln over Douglas ticket, 252,220 " " Bell " 257,415 " " all opposition, 63,735

DIED.

At his residence in Bellefonte, on Monday morning, Dr. A. W. Bayard, aged about 73 years.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

THE CANADA AT HALIFAX.

Important Despatch of Lord John Russell on Italian Affairs.

THE ATTACK ON GAETA EXPECTED.

THE FRENCH INTERFERENCE.

THE VICTORIES IN CHINA.

HALIFAX, Nov. 13.

The royal mail steamship Canada, from Liverpool on the 31 instant, via Queenstown on Sunday, the 4th, arrived at this port this afternoon. Her arrival is two days later.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The London Daily News publishes the text of a despatch from Lord John Russell to the British minister at Turin, dated October 27, in which he says: "The great questions which appear to the British Government to be at issue are these: Will the people of Italy be justified in asking assistance of the King of Sardinia to relieve them from the Government with whom they were discontented? and was the King of Sardinia justified in furnishing them the assistance of his army?" Lord John Russell says the Government does not feel justified in declaring that the people of Southern Italy had not good reasons for throwing off their allegiance, and cannot, therefore, blame the King of Sardinia.

The despatch closes as follows: "Her Majesty's Government will turn their eyes rather to the gratifying prospects of a people building up its independence on the ruins of the sympathies and good wishes of Europe."

FRANCE.

It was believed in Paris that the object of France in preventing the blockade of Gaeta by sea is merely to facilitate the escape of the King of Naples and prevent the complications which would result from his capture. The French journals offer no explanation for the course of the Government.

ITALY.

According to the Neapolitan accounts, Ciadina was beaten with great loss at the Garigliano, some despatches placing his losses as high as 2,000 killed and wounded, and five guns captured. Official despatches from Turin say these assertions are completely false, that the Sardinians have not been defeated at all. Capua was attacked on the 1st inst., and capitulated on the following day. The King's troops were honored with honors of war, having laid down their arms. They were to go on the 2d to Naples. Naples was illuminated, and there were great rejoicings over this event. The attack on Gaeta was expected to be commenced soon.

INDIA AND CHINA.

The French version of the late victories in China says that, on the 21st, the allies, after meeting with a valiant resistance, carried by assault the most important of the Taku forts. 200 of the French and 200 of the English were thrown hors de combat. One thousand Tartars, who were found in the fort, were killed. Among them was the generalissimo, who had not antecedently the disease named origin in Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A REAL BLESSING.

Physician.—Well, Mr. Jones, how is that headache? Mrs. Jones. Good Doctor, all gone! I'll just send you a few more of those pills, and I wish you would send me more so that I can have them in hand. Physician.—You can get them any Druggist. Call for Cephalic Pills, I find they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING.—Spalling's Cephalic Pills are a certain cure for Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Nervous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

By the use of the Pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing the Nausea and Headache to which female are so subject.

They gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, Delicate Females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

THE CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments having been in use many years, during which time they have proved to be a reliable and safe means of relief from all the various forms of Headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

The genuine have five signatures of Henry C. Spalding on each Box. Sold by Druggists and all other Dealers in Medicines. A box will be sent by mail pre-paid on receipt of the PRICE 25 CENTS.

All orders shall be addressed to HENRY C. SPALDING, 48 Cedar Street, New-York. Nov. 22, 1860.—A.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotypy and many others whose destination as foreign words has been worn away by long use until they seem "native and to the manner born."

ARDLY REALIZED.

Hi 'ad 'n' terrible 'eadache this afternoon, hand I stepped into the apothecary's hand says hi to the man, "Can you hear me of an 'eadache?" "Does it heave 'ard," says e. "Heceedingly," says hi, hand upon e "gave me a Cephalic 'eadache, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotypy and many others whose destination as foreign words has been worn away by long use until they seem "native and to the manner born."

HEADACHE is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and it is a disease, sometimes coming on suddenly, which may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism, and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of diseases of the stomach constituting sick headache, or hepatic disease constituting bilious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Headache, and anasarca and pithrosis are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of neuralgia, and is characterized by its coming on in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits, acidity of temper, &c. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia.

BRIDGE.—Misses wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Pills, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it neither; but perhaps ye'll be atterkin' what it is. Ye see she's high dead and gone with the Sick Headache, and wants some more of that same as reliever before.

DRUGGIST.—You must mean Spalling's Cephalic Pills.

BRIDGE.—Och! sure now and ye've sed it, hee the matter, and give me the Pills and don't be all day about it either.

CONSTIPATION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Constipation, or, in other words, costiveness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and attendant of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Dizziness, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Migraine, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom, Constipation, but late on an independent existence unless the case is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disease should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and at the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

CONSTITUTION OR COSTIVENESS.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent,