Letter from Gen. Wolf.

We have received the following spirited letter from Gen. Jonathan Wolf, and we publish it entire. The Gen. is bound that Centre county shall do her share toward putting down treason and rebellion, and if it comes to fighting he is just the man to lead the "Old Brigade" against the enemies of our country. Let the splenthe enemies of our country. Let the splendid military companies of Centre county listen to the voice of their commander, and prepare for war:

MAJ. J. S. BRISBIN :-Dear Sir :- I see a reference made to me in the last Democrat. in which you inquire what I will do concerning the present excitement that distracts our hitherts happy country. In reply, I would say, I have waited with anious solicitude in hope that something would transpire to hall the excitement. Nothing of the kind (however much wished for) has happened. and at last I am compelled to vield to force of circumstances, and order out the troops under my command to defend the Constitution and the Union. We cannot longer close our eyes to the dangers that surround us .-A crisis has come and we must meet it. It is a sad alternative; but an appeal to arms, and the God of battles is all that is left us. The roar of the hostile cannon at Charleston should awake every citizen of the land f.om the lethargy that has hitherto I ound his energies. " Be united," was the last in junction that trembled from the lips of Washing-

THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the mast expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incooperate them into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cepalic will become as common as Electrotype and many others whose distiction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'ARDLY REALIZED.

Hi 'ad 'n 'orrible 'eadach e this hafternoon, hand I stepped into the bapothecaries hand says hi to the man, "Can you hease me of an 'eadache?"—"Does it hache 'ard," says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'pon me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad an 'eadache.

I 'ardly realized I 'ad an 'endache.

The Headache is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might other vise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiophatic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is ey mpathetic of diseases of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepathic disease constituting sick headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseasas of the heart are very frequently attended with Headaches; Anemia and piethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddelly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acceptity of tenner. In ing at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, beralded by depression of spirits or accrbity of temper. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking yomiting; under this class may also be named

Neuralgia

For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cephalio Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the dis are of which Headache is the unerring in-BRIDGET.—Missus wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it naither; but ous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grav. Among the lighter evils of which contiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of like nature. while a long train of frightful diseases, such as Malignant Fevers Abeeses, Dysentery, Diarrhea, Dyspop sia, Apoplexy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondrissis, Melancholy and Insenity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming symptom. Not unfrequently the dis-eases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the case is erad-icated in an early riage. From all those consid-erations it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insiduous approaches of diseases and destroy this dangerous fee to human
