article in reference to the Farm School we clip from the Philadelphia Press. It may prove interesting to the friends of the institution :

"This institution is located in Centre Co., and was incorporated in 1855 by an act of Assembly, for the purpose of building up a system of agricultural instruction, in which itor wishes to say something smutty, which manual labor should be associated with study. he himself is ashamed of, he says 'Our Devil It was located by a board of trustees appoint ed to select a site, and in 1857 the Legislature voted an appropriation of $25,000 to erect buildings, and an additional $25,000 on condition a like sum was raised, (there hav-ing been $25,000 in addition to two hundred important personare in society - spreads the acres of land subscribed at the time of the act.) and $21,000 of the last appropriation has been received, making $46,000 received from the State, and, including the land donated, about $58,000 frem other sources. All this money has been expended for the purpose implied in the act, and an addition-al debt of $25,000 incurred, and it is estimated that it will require over $25,000 more to to visit his country cousins his chief boast is, complete the college buildings, which, when that 'he gets in shows, free, gratis, for nothfinished, will enable the institution to admit from three to four hun lred students.

attendance since February, 1859, at which 'no.' He sometimes stays out very late time the school opened. The difficurties encountered in carrying it on with its buildings incomplete, and with lumber, stones, bricks, debris, &c., surrounding it, are very great, and in addition to this, a debt of $25,000 has been incurred, which is sufficient to sacrifice the institution entirely if aid is not speedily afforded it,

In order to place it upon a proper footing, the trustees have applied to the Legislature for aid to discharge its debr, and to complete its buildinge. Governor Packer, who had visited the institution, and knew its necessities and its merits, earnestly recommended it to the favor of the Legislature, and the present Governor, in his inaugural, concurred in the friendly remarks of his predecessor. The trustees ask for $50,000, as the smallest sum that can be made available for the completion of the buildings and meeting the debt of the institution already incurred for bringing i's buildings to their present state. They have had a hearing before the Committee of Ways and Means, and it has reported in favor of their bill, and the question will soon be brought before the Legislature. As this is a noble undertaking, and one in every way worthy of the patronage of our great State, we hope that our Legislature may save it from ruin, and reader it efficiently active for the purposes designated in its act of incorneration.

Since the above article was in type we learn that the Legislature of our State has cals apparently expected to find money, as passed a bill appropriating a sum sufficient to insure the completion of the buildings, and the ultimate success of the school. The munificence of the State in this particular will, we hope, result in the most tangible and respect. substantial benefits to the people at large .- Robbery. Added to our system of common schools, per haps the very best in the world, a school deand chemistry, cannot fail if properly conduc-

The Printer's Devil. The "Devil" in a printing office is an institution of himself. His duties and doings are as varied as the bues of the rainbow. He sorts the 'pi' at the office as well as the 'pie' at the house. He inks the forms; he knocks down more type than two regular typos; he kindles the fires-fit The following work for a fiend. He carries the papers; sweeps the office ; brings the water ; stays away, when sent on an errand, much longer than is necessary. He "quiets the baby," if the Editor has one ; does the chores about house; is the butt of all the jokes got off by the inmates of the office, and is 'bored' almost to death by the typos. When the Edsays thus and so, ' and the Devil has to stand it. His most important duty, however, is to stand on the street corners and inform the important personage in society ; spreads the news by reading manuscript to loafers, and giving away the Editor's exchanges before he has read them. He is always on hand when a 'show' comes to town, and presses his claims as a member of the press until he is admitted free of charge; and when he goes ing.' He is particularly down on setting At present only about one hundred can be manuscript. He sometimes attends church, accommodated, and that number has been in and takes the 'gals' home if they don't say o'nights, and frequencly finds the door locked when he comes home.

We never knew a printer's devil to rise in life. We have heard of a few instances of them letting themselves down so low as to become members of Congress, Senators, and even Governors. In this particular the devils of the CENTRE DEMOCRAT have been decidedly unfortunate, three of them having turned out Governors, and our present Devil fears that his fate will be a similar one .-Who knows?

So much for the Devil. We know the animal perfectly well, we have been there our. solf.

Daring Robbery.

On last Tuesday nigh', some persons entered the store house of S. Haupt & Co., at the upper foundry, and took there from goods to the amount of fifty or sixty dollars. Among other things which were taken were fifty pounds of sugar, twenty pounds of tobacco, ten pairs of boots and shoes, twenty quires of paper and several packs of envelopes. The room was entered by forcing open a window, which was found open on the following morning. The rasthe desks were broken open and the contents scattered over the floor. Money being too scarce, these days, to be left laying around loose, the rascals were disappointed in this John Aikman, Samuel T. Bodine,

A Strange Eird.

An adventurous hunter having visited the interior of Africa ia search of game, often noticed a little gray bird, twittering and chattering on a branch of the nearest tree. It seemed greatly excited, and anxious to attract his attention. When it had fairly won his notice, it darted forward in wavy lines, still keeping up its incessant twitter, as if inviting him to follow its flight. Allured by its strange manner, he one day followed it until it reached a hollow tree .-Hovering over this tree a moment, it pointed to it with its bill, and then, quietly perching on a neighboring branch, watched his movements. Guided by the action of the bird. the hunter locked into the hollow of the tree' with honey and wax. He afterwards learned that the little chatterer was named the "honey bird," and that the natives were in the habit of relying upon its guidance when in quest of the sweet stores of the bees. Now, just what the honey bird was to the bunter, this notice is to those persons who are about purchasing their spring dry goods. Hoffer & Bro's cheap store is at the old stand of T. F.
