LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Sad Affair.

On last Sunday night a tragedy transpired, which has cast a deep gloom over our community. A number of persons, on member of that body is in favor, as he extheir way from Pennsvalley Campmeeting, stopped at the residence of Elias Horner, near the summit of Nittany mountain.—

An altercation occurred between William the course that ought to be taken, if the Government, whether taken on the sea or land." This is undoubtedly the course that ought to be taken, if the Government, whether taken on the sea or land." Hays, Edward Lipton, and Huston Poor, ernment regards this matter as simply an Hays, Edward Lipton, and Huston Poor, and man which resulted in the death of the latter. We give, below, the particulars of the affair, taken from the evidence given bemeasures, is in favor of such a course as will measures, is in favor of such a course as will fore the coroner, at the inquest. For this show to the world that we are in earnest in evidence we are indebted to Wm. J. Kealsh, this matter, and that traitors found in arms who was present when it was given against the Government must expect and re-Esq., who was present when it was given in, and who kindly furnished us the copy.

Augustus II. Foorman and Wm. Fisher came to the house of Elias Horner, a little while before sun down, on Sunday evening, and took supper there. About dusk, Edward Lipton and William Hays came to the house on their way from camp meeting, and stopped and asked for a drink of water. It stick, (which the witness said "was an inch and a quarter through,") which he called his horse. He was told where he could find it, and while he had it in his hand, and before he turned to join Fisher, who was two rods distant and over the yard fence, he and Liptor got into another quarrel of words.— Poor:nan said he was a "good man." Lipton said he was a good man too, for the size of him. Poorman then threw away the of him. Poorman then threw away the stick, and, in the language of the witness, "rolled up his sleeves." Lipton picked up the stick and gave Poorman a blow about the head which staggered him, and "he staggered and run," turning his back toward Lipton, when Lipton struck him again on the back of the head. This blow knocked Poorman down and he fell on one side ed Poorman down, and he fell on one side and rolled over on his back. The witness says he never moved or struggled afterward. Hays, after Poorman was knocked down, Hays, after Poorman was knocked down, joined with Lipton in beating and kicking Poorman. Fisher came as quickly as possible, and pulled Lipton away, and Mrs. Horner pulled Hays back, breaking his watch guard and pulling out his watch.—Hays picked up his watch, put it in his pocket, and then went at beating and kicking Poorman again. After Poorman was knocked down, Lipton had thrown the stick to one side Mrs. Horner, serged the stick to one side, Mrs. Horner setzed the stick and when Fisher pulled him back, she struck him (Lipton) with it, and told him he had killed the man. Lipton pulled the stick from her and said he did not care a G-d d-n, that he have sping to that he knew it, but that he was going to war. Hays ran to the buggy and urged Lipton to come, which he did, and they started off rapidly down the Mountain to-ward Bellefonte. While they were yet in sight, people returning from camp meeting, stoped at the house, and everything was done that could be done. A doctor was sent for to Centre Hall, but life was extinct, and the pulse must have ceased beating a few minutes after the occurrence.

Some person stopped on the way and told a brother in-law of Porman, that Hust. Poorman was killed. He and the father of the deceased came to Bellefonte about one o'clock on Monday morning, got a warrant for Lipton and Hays, put it in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Isaac Lose, who started immediately with a strong posse to Milesburg, the home of Lipton and Hays. A friend had given the parties notice of the death of Pooran, and they, so we are informed, came to to Bellefonte for legal advice. The Deputy Sheriff, noticing a horse and buggy standing in front of an attorney's office, went in and found both Lipton and Hays in consultation with their attorney. They were arrested without any difficulty, and conveyed to our mortem investigat on :

The Coroner subpostated Drs. Fairlamb, Dobbins, Green and Mitchell, to make a st mortem examination. Drs. Green and Dobbins, were early in attendance and commenced operations. Drs. Potter and Mitchell came in after the operation of taking off the top of the skull had been p rformed, they were however in time to examine the extent of the injuries. There appeared to have been severel severe blows upon the head, one just above the left eye, cutting the skin to the boneof the brow; on the top of the head near the crown; there was markes of a blow upon the scalp which had communicated its stunning affects to the brain; another blow below the crown had also affected the brain, and two others of the same character near the base of the brain. A blow had been given behind and below the bottom of the right ear which seems to have destroyed everything to the bone. The brain exhibited large quantities of e. sated blood. A thorough examination was made of the neck, by Drs, Dobbins and Green, by disectory down to the bone, when it was found that the neck had not been dislocated as was at first supposed.

What is to be Done with the Pirates?

This question is now seriously discussed in the Cabinet, without any definite answer being arrived at. It is supposed that in the next four weeks, our newly sent out fleet will have captured at least four hundred Southern sailors, who according to the doctrine enunciated by the Executive, must be regarded as pirates and executed as such.—But you are aware that the subject is full of difficulty. At the time Gen. McClellan took so many prisoners with Col. Pegram, I wrote to you that the War Department had sent him orders to release them all. This order, of course, he obeyed. I stated at the same time, that the Administration had decided time, that the Administration had decided not to hang any of the sailors taken on board of Southern privateers. This was true at the time. The decision was made, not from any feeling of elemency towards the captur-ed sailors, but from motives of policy. No instance of banging has as yet taken place The Centre Democrat. instance of hanging has as yet taken place on either side; and the Administration felt unwilling to begin a course of policy which might be followed on the other side.

The result of the inauguration of such a policy would be the indiscriminate murder of hundreds of prisoners in the hands of the Rebels, including many valuable citizens, and the enactment of scenes of horror unequaled by those of the French Revolution.— The Administration, therefore, decided, as I have said, not to bang any of the pirates. ceive a traitor's doom. But the Secretary State is in favor of a milder, and as Augustus H. Poorman and Wm. Fisher thinks, of a wiser course of policy. He admits to the house of Elias Horner, a little mits that, by the strict rules of law, the Southern privateersmen are pirates, and to hang them might be justifiable; but, he says, necessity has led us to disregard former con-stitutional provisions, since the commence-ment of this strife. In this instance, the stopped and asked for a drink of water. It was not long until a difficulty occurred between Poorman and Lipton, but which was settled without a fight. Poorman and Fisher had started to go home, when Poorman discovered he had forgotten his walking stick, (which the witness said "was an inch and a quarter through,") which he called his horse. He was told where he could find he would recommend under ordinary cfreumhe would recommend under ordinary cfroum-stances. His opinion has great weight with the President; but the matter is by no means decided. The other members of the Cabinet are divided in sentiment on the subject. Mr. Wells sides with Mr. Seward, and the Secretary of War holds about the same views, only he objects to any further release of prisoners, as in the case of Col. Pegram's nen. Mr. Bates and Mr. Blair both go for extreme measures, regardless of consequences; and Mr. Smith entertains the same views .- Cor. Phil'a. Inquirer.

The Battle at Springfield.

. ROLLA, Mo., Aug. 13. The following additional account of the battle at Springfield furnished by an eye witness, who lelt Springfield on Sunday morning and came through to this place on Our army mare led out of Springfield on Friday evening only fifty five hundred strong the Home Guards remaining in Springfield. Our forces slept on the prairie a portion of the night, and at about sunrise on Saturday morning drove in the outposts of the enemy and soon after the attack became general. The attack was made in two co'umns by Gens. Lyon and Sturgiss and gen. Seigle leading a flanking force of about one thous sand men and four guns on the north of the enemy's camp. The fight raged from sunrise until one or two o'clock in the afternoon.

The rebels in overwhelming force charged on Capt. Totten's battery three distinct times but were rapulsed with great laughter.

Gen Lyon fell early in the day. He had been previously wounded in the leg and had a horse shot from under him. Tie Colonel of one of the Kansas regiments having be-came disabled, the boys cried out "General you come and lead us on." He did so and t once put himself in front, and while cheer ing the men on to the charge received a bullet in the left breast and fell from his horse He was asked if he was hurt and replied "no not much," but in a few minutes afterward he expired without a struggle.

Gen. Siegel had a very severe struggle, and lost three of his guns. His artillery horses were shot in their harness, and the pieces disabled. He endeavored to hau! them off with a number of prisoners he had taken, but was finally compelled to aband in them. He first however, spiked the gun-and disabled the carriages.

At about one o'clock the enemy seemed to be in great disorder and retreating. Their baggage wagons were on fice. Our forces were too much fatigued and cut up to pursue, so the battle may be consider-

The Missouri First and Iowa First regigents suffered the most. General Price was not killed. There were rumors on the field that Ben. McCullough was killed but the rebels denied it.

Ou Swarday night Dr. Marcher and others of our army went back with ambulances to the battle field from S. ringfield to see about the killed and wounded. They found the enemy on the field and were considerately

Gen Lyon's body had been treated with great respect and was brought back with of the wounded to Springfield. Major Sturgess took command of the bat-tle field after the death of Gen. Lyon. Gen. Siegel took command after the battle

Our loss is variously estimated at from 150 to 300 killed and 700 wounded. The enemy's s is placed at 2,000 killed and wounded. Our boys captured one hundred horses of

PROF. O. J. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL

BLOOD RENOVATOR. Is precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the faste, it is revivifying, exhil reating and strengthening to the vital powers. It also revivifies, reinstates and renews the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all.

reach of all,

So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tenic, and yet perfectly adopt ed so as to act in perfect accordance with the law of nature, and hence soothe the weakest stomach and one up the digestive organs, and allay all ner-ous and other irritation. It is also perfectly ix-ilerating in its effects, and yet it is never folhilerating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those thoroughly combining powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure.—
As a sure preventive and cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Faintness, Nervous Irritability, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Hypochondria, Night Sweats, Languor, Giddiness, and all that class of cases so fearfully futal called FEMALE WEAKNESS, AND IRREGULARITIES.

AND IRREGULARITIES.

THERE IS NOTHING ITS EQUAL. Also, Liver Derangements or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidney, or any general derangement of the Urinary organs.

It will not only cure the debility following CHILLS and FEVER, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences, and cure the diseases at once, if already attacked. Travelers should have a bettle with them, as t will infalliably prevent any deleterious conse-quences following upon change of climate and water.

As it prevents costiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits.

Ladies not accustomed to much out-door exercise should always use it.

Mothers should use it, for it is a perfect relief, taken a month or two before the final trial, she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety.

There is no mistake about it THE CORDIAL IS ALL WE CLAIM FOR IT!

MOTHERS TRY IT!!

And to you we appeal, to detect the ilnless or decine not only of your daughters before it be to late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the former from false delicacy, often go down to a premature grave, rather than let their cendition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business, that if it were not for you, they too, would travel in the same downward path until it is too late to arrest their fatal fall. A ND testimonials, new, and almost without a number, might be given from ladies and gentiemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony none could resist, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the bald and gray, and preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 21st, 1858.

Trop. Woon:—Thee wilt please accept a line to inform thee that the hair on my head all fell off over twenty years ago, caused by a complicated chronic disease, attended with an eruption on the head. A continual course of suffering through life having reduced me to a state of dependence. I have not been able to abtain stuff for caps, neither have I been able to do them up, in consequence of which my head has suffered extremely from cold. This induced me to pay Briggs & Holges almost the last co.t. I had on earth for a two dollar bottle of thy Hair Restorative about the first of August last. I have faithfully followed the directions and the bald spat is now covered with hair thick and black, though short, it is also coming in all over my head. Feeling confident that another large bottle would restore it entirely and permanently, I feel anxious to persevere in its use, and being destitute of means te purchase any more, I would ask thee if thee wouldst not be

Thy friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY, Ligonier, Noble Co., Ind., Feb. 5th, 1859.
Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir:—In the latter part of the year 1852, while attending the Stats and National Law School of the State of New York, my hair, from a cause unknown to me, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of six months, the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bereft of its covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the side and back part of my head shortly after became gray, so that you will not be surprised when I tell you that upon my return to the State of Indiana, my more casual acquintances were not so diana, my more casual acquiintances were not so much at a loss to discover the cause of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate acquainces were to recognize me at all.

I at once made application to the most skillful Lat once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but, receiving no assurance from them that my hair could again be restored, I was forced to become reconciled to my fate, until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restorative was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and found to my great satisfaction that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time, I have used seven dollars' worth of your Restorative, and as a result, have a rich cont of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I have recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect. Very respectfully, yours,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.
