Democratic County Committee—1879.

Table listing Democratic County Committee members for 1879, including names and their respective precincts.

Local Department.

—Senator Alexander and Representative Gephart were in town on Tuesday.

—We return thanks to Hon. Wm. A. Wallace for copies of the Congressional Record.

—Francis Murphy will tell the people of Altoona what he knows about temperance on next Monday.

—Dr. Miles Kirk, brother of Dr. E. I. Kirk, of this place, is now a practicing physician at Rebersburg.

—On and after this date, overcoats will be sold at cost at Newman's Eagle Clothing Hall. Remember this. 2-11

—The snow of last Thursday was a welcome visitor to all. Since then sleighs have been flying merrily, and people generally have been happy.

—An old couple married lately at Mt. Etna, Lebanon county. The bride, Mrs. Sallie Keller, is 86 years old, and the groom, Mr. Leonard, Immell, is 87 years old.

—There will be a supper given by the members of the Lutheran congregation of this place on the evening of Tuesday January 28, for the benefit of their Sunday school.

—The current number of "Madame Gossip" announces that a young Baltimorean has been led into am-bush, and will, a week from to-day, be sacrificed at the hyemal altar.

—"Clear the track!" was the shout of the young urchin as he coasted down High street the other day, and we noticed that every one seemed to think obedience to this peremptory mandate much "better than sacrifices."

—The four sons of Mr. Henry Beck were riding last Sunday afternoon, when the sleigh, striking a drift, tipped over, precipitating them to the ground. They are all young, the oldest being but 17 years, and all fortunately escaped injury.

—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in their hall on Friday evening next. All members of that Committee are expected to be present, without regard as to how excellent the sleighing may be.

—Sunday last was a beautiful day, but there were too many horses and sleighs in rapid motion to accord with the sacredness of the day. Sleigh bells do not chime very well with church bells, and if the Fourth Commandment was not broken outright it was fearfully bent by many persons.

—The senior partner of the "Model Book Store" earnestly protests that that institution, although very prosperous, will hardly support two married members. But for all that, it is very mysterious what calls him away from town so often, always coming home in such a very pleasant humor.

—During the season of good sleighing run-a-ways are a common occurrence, and a sleigh ride without one is voted "slow." There was one or more on Saturday and also on Sunday, but as we did not hear of any one being killed or any thing smashed up, it is perhaps not necessary to go into details.

—Most of the churches of this place held exceedingly interesting services during last week, and they are being continued in the Presbyterian church during the present week. Nightly services will be held in the Baptist church of Millsburg this week, and so any one desiring to go to church has an excellent chance to do so.

—Saturday evening last was universally chosen by our young folks as the night of the season for sleighing parties, and indeed a more favorable time seldom occurs. We heard of at least four from this place. One particularly gay party went to Centre Hall, partook of a delightful supper at that place, and, after an enjoyable time all around, returned.

—An immersion took place in Spring creek Sunday afternoon last. The names of the three persons immersed are Mr. C. W. Parks and Mrs. Parks, the mother of Mr. Parks, and Miss Ada Haupt. Rev. W. A. Biggert, of the Baptist church, was the officiating minister. To an ordinary observer it would seem a very cold ceremony at this time of the year, but Rev. Biggert avers that he did not feel the cold until coming out of the water.

LECTURES.—Quite early last fall it was hinted that the public, during the present winter, would be treated to a course of excellent lectures. A committee of the Young Men's Christian Association was appointed some time since to effect this object, but, because of delay, arrangements were not completed as soon as desirable. But now that the first of these lectures is soon to be delivered, we think that all will forgive the delay in the superior merits of the speaker who will first grace the list, and in the interesting subject of the lecture. No less distinguished speaker than Schuyler Colfax has been secured, and he will deliver his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln." Anything in regard to the life and character of this President is interesting, and when given by one so competent to know of him and so brilliant an orator as Schuyler Colfax it will be doubly valuable. The date on which the eminent speaker will be able to deliver his lecture to a Bellefonte audience has been appointed for Tuesday, January 28, probably in the Court House. The price of admission to all the lectures given under the auspices of the Association will be reasonable and within the reach of those who desire to attend. It is very necessary, however, not only that the lectures may be a financial success, but because of the excellence of the speakers secured, that large audiences shall greet each one; and we know that our people are sufficiently appreciative to secure this.

DEATH OF A FORMER BELLEFONTE.—The sad intelligence has been received of the death of Mr. Charles T. Zimmerman, at Perry, Kansas, on Thursday, the 2d day of January. Charley, as he was usually called by the young men of our town and by whom he was so well known, was a most estimable and exemplary young man, and was universally respected. He went to Kansas several months ago, being in rather delicate health at that time. His health continued to fail until the termination of his earthly career at the time mentioned. The sad occurrence which closes his life just on the threshold of manhood will, we feel sure, send a pang of sorrow to the hearts of all his acquaintances and friends in this vicinity. But mingling with our mournful thoughts the recollection is pleasant that "none knew him but to love him," and with such death is but the developed realization of life.

—We are not naturally proud, and of all things we do despise conceit; but this frigid weather our inmost feelings rise up in silent self-congratulation at our noble cast-iron stove. It is not beautiful, neither is there any comeliness to be found in it, and it wouldn't grace a drawing-room worth a cent; but when its cheek blushes rosy red, and it quivers with a warm glow, it assumes a positively entrancing aspect in our eye. One like it has lately been placed in the Presbyterian "Wigwam" and makes that cracked-up edifice quite comfortable. When our own gets to doing its level best we often feel like rushing outside the office for a draught of fresh air.

—We have been so wonderfully pressed for space in our local columns of late that we have neglected to note the re-organization of that fine musical combination, the "World-Renowned Jubilee Singers," of Centre county. In the above title we believe we have inserted all the words, although in these matters one is quite liable to err. It is a band of five colored ladies and gentlemen, who give concerts, and whose music is pronounced by all to be surpassingly sweet. They gave their initiatory concert of the season at Centre Hall, on the 2d of January. At that place a large audience greeted them, and so enthusiastically was the audience that a repetition of the performance was asked for, which was given last Friday night to a large and very well pleased audience. They expect to perform at Snow Shoe and other places, and we can promise persons at all these localities a rare treat if they attend.

—Gen. Beaver announced in the Presbyterian Sabbath-school last Sunday afternoon that the contributions of the previous Sunday had been the means of rendering four families very happy. The remainder of the month the contributions will be devoted to the same purpose, and all can rest assured it will be wisely expended. There is much destitution in our midst, but there are also many kind hearts and willing hands to offer relief.

—We regret to learn from the Lewis-ton True Democrat, that David I. Pruner, Esq., for many years a well-known citizen of Bellefonte, is suffering from a stroke of paralysis, being the second with which he has been afflicted. Mr. P. is at present a resident of McVeytown, Mifflin county, and is past seventy years of age. In Bellefonte he was always regarded as a man of remarkable vigor for his years.

—No school was held in the public school building of this place last week. All the schools commenced again, however, last Monday morning. The building was too cold during the early part of last week for our pretty lady teachers and the darling little cherubs who come to them to be taught, and so they adjourned over for more moderate weather.

—In appointing Capt. Jacob Eisenhuth, of Millheim, mercantile appraiser for the present year, the County Commissioners have paid a deserved compliment to a worthy democrat and an excellent man. Capt. Eisenhuth will make an efficient officer.

—As usual, the cold snap was very destructive to house plants. Apples and potatoes also suffered.

THE DEATH ANGEL.—Perhaps no more terrible dispensation of Providence could possibly be visited on mortals than has, since our last issue, occurred to our popular Register, Mr. W. E. Burchfield, and his interesting family; at least it seems to us peculiarly severe. His much-loved wife has for several years been in delicate health, alternately better and worse—once or twice near to death's door—and yet her devoted husband and many friends failed to realize that she was so near this life's final end. A few weeks ago she was stricken again with an attack of an old constitutional malady, and was for days hovering between life and death. So low was she, that on the Sunday previous the report of her death reached us. Her husband was, of course, almost in a state of distraction, and very severe was the parting when the Angel Death at last brought relief to the suffering body, and the Angel Mercy wafted the tried spirit to a place of rest. An unusually deep affection existed between these two earthly companions, which had been year by year made stronger as link after link appeared to bind them together. Four children had been given them—the oldest aged twelve, the youngest four. One was silently laid away in the cemetery at Pine Grove. Is it any wonder that she wished to live and guide the steps of those on the earth?—yet God willed that she should join the one in Heaven, whose name she often repeated while on her death bed.

Mrs. Burchfield's maiden name was Susan Lytle. Her home was at Pine Grove, this county, in which place husband and wife also resided until his election for Register, when Bellefonte became their home. She was about 33 years of age at the time of her death. Words are inadequate to depict the grief of the stricken husband, and to estimate the loss to the children of being thus early rendered motherless. But let the separation not be forever; let it only be a departure for a better home for a few short years. Both father and children have now a stronger tie to draw their affections Heavenward. Her careful and consistent life and her glorious death should not be without its lesson to those remaining behind.

The funeral services were held at her husband's residence, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. William Laurie officiated. A large number of friends followed the body to its last resting place in Howard street cemetery.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—On Friday evening last the train brought to this place Mrs. D. G. Bush and the oldest of her sons, a lad of not over twelve years, each of whom had suffered painful accidents. Miss Lizzie, a daughter, and Mr. Tomb, of Jersey Shore, a brother, accompanied the sufferers to minister to their wants. The injuries from which they were suffering, though not serious, were painful. The young lad had a broken leg and Mrs. Bush was the victim of a serious fracture of some of the small bones in a lower limb—the result, in the case of Mrs. Bush, of a run-a-way in Philadelphia. How the boy's accident we did not learn. Mr. Tomb left Bellefonte the following morning. The sufferers are doing well. They will remain a short time at the Bush House, when they will go to their residence on Spring street.

NEW ORGAN FOR THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—The Episcopal congregation, of this place, have on hand the erection of a new and beautiful organ in their church. The one now in use is very old and much out of repair. It was third-hand when brought to this place, thirty-eight years ago, and has been in constant use ever since. The congregation have determined, therefore, that rather than repair the old one it is policy to purchase a new one. A contract has been closed with a prominent New York firm to have the organ placed in position and ready for use before the expiration of February. The firm is the same one that furnished the grand organ at present in Trinity church, New York, and also organs for other prominent churches, and so the music may be expected to be very superior. This congregation is doing everything possible to render the services attractive, and a constantly increasing attendance is the result.

TEMPERANCE SOCIABLES.—The temperance element of Bellefonte intersperse considerable social entertainment in their work. Not only do they meet in formal assembly and discuss the condition of their work, but almost weekly they assemble at some of the pleasant homes in our midst and enjoy the social companionship of their co-laborers. The last one was held on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. John G. Love, on Linn street, and there enjoyed the pleasant entertainment which the host and hostess of that residence know so well how to give. The assembly consisted largely of young folks, and pleasant and refined enjoyment seemed to find its full expression. Music by those graceful and skillful performers, Miss Green, Miss Snowden and Mrs. Love, on the grand Chickering piano which was lately purchased by Mr. Love, formed a prominent portion of the evening's pleasure. Being temperance people in act as well as profession, at a reasonably early hour the assembly dispersed, expressing by their joyful countenances what a pleasant and profitable evening had been theirs.

—Quite a sad accident occurred to Mr. George Gross on Monday. He was riding from Penn's Valley to Bellefonte on a load of hay. The load not being properly put on, tipped over, precipitating Mr. Gross to the ground, and injuring the cap of his knee. We sympathize with George, as such accidents always entail much suffering.

—Governor and Mrs. Curtin returned to Bellefonte on Monday last from their visit to Philadelphia and New York. The Governor appeared much improved in health.

EX-GOVERNOR BIGLER'S 65TH BIRTHDAY.—Centre county was the home of Ex-Governor William Bigler in his younger days, and throughout the length and breadth of the county he has many warm friends and sincere admirers who will be highly delighted to hear how he was honored by his neighbors of Clearfield on the anniversary of his 65th birthday. We therefore copy the following account of a very pleasant event from the Clearfield Republican:

One of the happiest events that we ever witnessed was played off on Governor Bigler and his excellent lady, on the night of the 31st of December. The Governor, on account of his health, had been housed for a week or more, and he was not aware of what was transpiring outside of his room. But that day being the anniversary of his 65th birthday, the friends and neighbors had conceived the idea of "putting up a job" on Mr. and Mrs. Bigler, in the shape of a grand old-time gathering, or reception, at their spacious mansion.

The surprise was complete on the part of the venerable Governor, but not so on the part of Mrs. Bigler, who happened to pass through the dining room about 8 o'clock P. M., and discovered that the table was loaded down with provision, etc. She, however, soon realized what was on hand, and secrecy was enjoined, at least so far as the Governor was concerned.

About 9 o'clock the 60, 70 and 80-year old neighbors commenced flocking in, and the parlor was soon filled. The Governor became nervous and nodding to his wife, who immediately slipped into the library, he remarking:

"Mother, what does all this mean this cold weather? Why, we are entirely unprepared for anything of the kind! How will we treat our neighbors under the circumstances?"

Mrs. B. then opened the door leading to the dining room and said:

"There! Sixty-five years ago this 31st day of December!"

The Governor remarked: "I see it all; the joke is on me." He then became reconciled and returned to the parlor, shaking the hands of Calvinist, Armenian, Catholics, Skeptics, Democrats, Republicans, Greenbackers, and everybody else.

About 10 o'clock, a younger grade of callers began to pop in, and among them was the Governor's son Edward, who was aware of the plot, but conveniently absent during the evening. Upon his entrance, the Governor spoke to him as follows:

"Why, Ed, where have you been all night? You came very near missing the fun we are having here to-night. All our neighbors are calling upon Ma and I." Ed, of course, adjusted himself according to circumstances and the facts in the case, and the Governor's enjoyment increased, he in the meantime declaring that he was only 65, while a half a score of middle-aged widows were within hearing distance.

In fact, the affair was a happy one for everybody. It was a true expression of the respect and affection that is entertained in this community for Mr. and Mrs. Bigler. The meeting will long be remembered by those present, as an occasion of joy and delight.

AUGUSTUS HOOVER YESTERDAY.—It is curious what a penchant our wives young ladies from a distance. Augustus M. Hoover, it is true, did not go very far, but still he went out of town. Now, it was not everybody who knew Augustus was in love; but they should have known it, for who ever heard of any young man with that romantic name who did not have a heart susceptible to the many charms of the fair sex. Augustus, like a sensible young man, was not very communicative about his matrimonial intentions, but of course love, like murder, will out, and the suppositions of Miss Grundy became a reality in the Presbyterian church of Beech Creek yesterday afternoon at exactly 3 o'clock. The fair young lady who was thus rendered happy was Miss Addie Tomner, of Beech Creek. Messrs. J. Wesley Gephart, Edward Humes and John C. Miller, the senior partner of Mr. Hoover in the "Model Book Store," accompanied the groom to act as ushers. The happy pair departed on the 4:30 P. M. train for Philadelphia and New York. Their tour will be prolonged for about ten days; and we prophesy and earnestly hope that their period of happiness will have no end. They have our earnest congratulations.

—Our friend, Samuel K. Faust, of Miles township, paid Bellefonte a visit on Monday last, accompanied by his good wife. Since the sleighing set in, Mr. Faust has been doing a thriving business in the way of selling new sleighs. Sam is an excellent mechanic and his work is always in demand.

—When the Washington correspondents state that General Burnside is the most elegantly dressed man in the Senate they neglect to say that it is because he orders his clothes direct from J. Newman, Jr., on Allegheny street, this place.

—Lord Beaconsfield is one of the greatest statesmen of the age. This is because when in his youth he wore such fine clothes that he was called a "fop." Go thou and do likewise; they can be secured best at J. Newman, Jr.'s, on Allegheny street.

—After an absence of nearly two months, Mr. J. N. Cassanova, of Phillipsburg, returned to that village last week, and received a hearty welcome from his many friends. During his absence Mr. Cassanova visited the island of Cuba.

—Mr. R. A. Beck, the polite barber and hair-dresser, was the victim of a serious fall on the ice just outside his shop door yesterday morning. He thinks that no bones were broken, but since the fall he has found locomotion very difficult.

—We return thanks to the Watchman for a copy of its handsome almanac for 1879.

A GOOD WORD FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.—If "the sun never sets upon the British Empire," it certainly continues to shine upon the Sabbath-schools of Halfmoon township in Centre county, embracing a portion of Blair county adjoining—at least it was so on the third Sunday of the present month. Commencing with the Centre Line Lutheran school, at 9 A. M., others followed during the day, until the Centennial Union School, composed of four denominations, filling its neat and commodious school room, went through with its lessons and other varied exercises in a most interesting manner between 7 and 8:30 in the evening. If any strict denominationalist thinks there must be something ajar or out of joint in a Union Sunday-school of our Union schools in Northern Centre County, Pennsylvania, beginning with at least three not more than four miles from Bellefonte. That the new year may be the best yet enjoyed by all our churches and schools, is the heart's desire and prayer of yours hopefully in the work, R. CRITZENDEN, Bellefonte, December, 1878.

THE COURT HOUSE.—After six years of faithful and efficient service in the Prothonotary's office, Mr. Aaron Williams has made way for Mr. J. C. Harper, who, for the present term at least, will be the presiding genius of the place, and promises to be as popular and capable as his excellent predecessor.

In the County Treasurer's office, Mr. Daniel A. Musser has been succeeded by Mr. Adam Yearick. Mr. Musser was an obliging official and handled the county funds with great care. The business of the office, under the direction of his son, the genial and whole-souled Pierce, was always well performed. Pierce will be greatly missed at the Court House. Always affable and pleasant, he made many friends in the position he filled so well for three years. Mr. Yearick is a gentleman well qualified for the new duties he has just assumed, and will no doubt fully sustain his good reputation as the custodian of the people's money.

In the Register's and Recorder's offices, Messrs. Burchfield and Tobias are respectively their own successors, and in the discharge of their official duties are both certain to prove as popular and efficient in the coming three years as they have in the past three.

Mr. John Spangler is safely domiciled in the castle on the hill in place of Mr. Levi Munson. Mr. Munson performed the arduous and oftentimes unpleasant duties that pertain to the office of Sheriff with entire satisfaction to the people and retired with the kind regards of every one. Mr. Spangler is an active, energetic man, and will doubtless meet his responsibilities as fully and as ably as any one who has ever filled the place. We know John Spangler, and are certain that what he finds to do will be well done.

The well-known bakery firm in McCafferty's block, heretofore existing under the firm name of Dawson & Co., has changed hands, and will henceforth be carried on under the name, style and title of Furey & Gross—J. Milton Furey and Joseph Gross being the proprietors. The bread, cakes and pies will, however, be as excellent as they always were. Mr. John Dawson, the prince of bakers, will continue to superintend the operation of preparing them.

The County Auditors met at the Court House on the 6th instant for the purpose of auditing the accounts of the Commissioners and Treasurer for the past year. They remained in session in the performance of their duties until the 8th, when they adjourned to meet again on Saturday next to finish their work.

Williamsport has a sensation in the mysterious disappearance of Mr. Peter Herdic. Until recently Mr. Herdic was regarded as the wealthiest and most influential citizen of that city. He failed, however, about one year ago for over a million dollars, and in view of his financial difficulties his disappearance has excited considerable comment.

Mr. W. B. Teller, of the Brokerhoff House, was married to Mrs. J. I. Fox, at Richmond, Va., on the 26th ultimo, and returned to Bellefonte on Wednesday of last week with his bride. This newly married pair have the good wishes of our entire community for a long life of happiness and prosperity.

—When the Washington correspondents state that General Burnside is the most elegantly dressed man in the Senate they neglect to say that it is because he orders his clothes direct from J. Newman, Jr., on Allegheny street, this place.

—Lord Beaconsfield is one of the greatest statesmen of the age. This is because when in his youth he wore such fine clothes that he was called a "fop." Go thou and do likewise; they can be secured best at J. Newman, Jr.'s, on Allegheny street.

DEATHS.

GRUBE.—In Singlerville, Mifflin county, Penn., of congestion of the liver, Jeremiah Grube, aged 69 years, 2 months and 1 day. An appropriate sermon on the words "To die is gain," was delivered by Rev. J. B. White, of Millroy, Pa. G. Shannon made a few touching remarks following the funeral. The deceased was a son of James Grube, of near Farmer's Mills, and for a number of years a resident in Penn's Valley.

GROSSMAN.—At Lena, Illinois, December 20, Mrs. Catherine Grossman, nee Catherine Rhoads, and formerly of this county, aged 81 years, 3 months and 8 days.

GILLILAND.—In Karthaus township, Clearfield county, December 26, after a lingering illness, Mrs. Adaline Gilliland, widow of Joseph Gilliland, aged about 62 years.
