Local Department.

-Sunday next is St. Candlemas day. -The churches were crowded last Sabbath.

-The meetings still continue in the M. E. church, of this place.

-On and after this date, overcoats will be sold at cost at Newman's Eagle Clothing Hall. Remember this. 2-tf

-An old colored woman well known by the name of " Louisa Gray " died Friday forenoon of last week. She was buried on Sunday.

-The item of loss to the Pennsylvania railroad is said to have been less last year than for any former twelve months for years previous.

-The Home and Foreign missionary society in connection with the Episcopal church seeks out and relieves many distressing cases of poverty.

-Francis Speer has sold out his nice little stationery and cigar store. We learn that the room will henceforth be used by Dr. George Harris for an office.

-Our former townsman, Wm. P. Duncan, Esq., of the Philipsburg Steam Flouring mills, was made Chairman of the Insurance Committee at the late Miller's Convention held at Lancaster.

-The Supreme Court has decided in regard to public roads that if a jury believe a road unsafe for travel, let the cause be what it may, it is an evidence of negligence, and the township is responsible for damages.

-We think our readers will find our agricultural columns of unusual interest this week. The intelligent and competent agriculturist who edits it will endeavor to make the contents of each succeeding nnmber fresher, brighter and more attractive than the last.

-That sweet trio of young ladies, the guests of Mr. D. G. Bush, Misses Annie and Maggie Callaway and Miss Laura Stockham, are not only ornamental but useful. On Sunday evening last they all sang in the choir of the Episcopal church, and the music was very much better than usual.

--- We acknowledge the receipt of a ticket and invitation to attend a grand concert held at Fillmore last Saturday evening. Although we found it impossible to be present, we hope it was in every way successful. Mr. G. W. Rumberger and the committee he represents will please accept our thanks.

-The largest number of falls of the season happened Thursday afternoon last. This is, of course, accountable to the fact

THE SCENE OF AN ELEGANT WEDDING ON that has enlivened Bellefonte for a long Lord Callaway of Baltimore, Maryland, and Miss Lizzie H. Bush, of this place. The groom is a handsome and polished young gentlemen, who is calculated to nake friends wherever he goes, and a son of one of Baltimore's finest families. It is hardly necessary for us to speak of the fair young bride, who is so universally well known; suffice it to say she is the only daughter of the Hon. Daniel G. Bush, a gentleman who has done more than any other to beautify our lovely little town in the erection of handsome public and private buildings.

It was a fitting crown for the many other brilliant affairs of the same nature that had been coming off in our midst, and the flutter of excitement into which the community had been thrown centered in this grand affair. When the hour arrived for the ceremony, St. John's Protestant Episcopal church was filled with the elite of Bellefonte and several distinguished guests from a distance. These were all shown to seats by the following gentlemen who acted as ushers : Mr. R. B. Hayes, of Lock Haven; George T. Brew, of Belle- fair Luna and the silent stars which ever fonte; T. G. St. Clair, of Baltimore; T. D. Polk, of Baltimore ; C. F. Montgomery, of Bellefonte, and J. Walter Ziegler, of Bellefonte. These exquisitely gotten up young gentlemen, together with Mr. Bush and Miss Amanda Tome, a sister of Mrs. Bush, supported the young couple to library. the chancel, where the impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church was performed by the polished Rector of that church, Rev. John Hewitt. The bride was elegantly attired in a heavy claret-colored embossed satin, made with most elaborate taste. She wore an exquisite bonnet of the same material. The groom was of course dressed in the usual dress suit of a gentleman on such occasions, it not admitting of nuch variety. There were no bridesmaids nor grooms-men. After the ceremony was completed, all parties bearing themselves with remarkaable ease and composure, the crowd reentered their carriages and were driven to the handsome residence of the bride's father. Here the guests thronged the spacious and elegantly-appointed rooms of the mansion, about one hundred and twenty-five in number. One of the most elegant and costly collations ever served in Bellefonte was given to the assembled guests. Many of the cakes and much of the fruit were ordered from Philadelphia. Here also were on exhibition the rich and tasteful presents presented to the fortunate young couple. They consisted mostly in articles of silver-ware, with a proper admixture of oil paintings, elegant clocks and other ornamental articles. Among the silver-ware we noticed a masive silver dish in the form of a chariot and resting on silver wheels, the dish inhild with gold. This was labelled from Mrs. Horton and daughters, New York. The six ushers, Mrs. Tome, mother of Mrs. Bush, and several more of the friends of the contracting parties were represented among the gifts. We noticed the names of Mr. and Mrs. Malin and scores of others from our own town attached to handsome presents. The entire entertainment at the house was pronounced exceedingly fine. After the bride and groom had received the earnest congratulations of their many friends, they were driven to the depot where they boarded the westward bound train, and will spend a few weeks of happiness in a tour of the great cities. They will settle quietly down in the City of Baltimore, where we earnestly hope many years of happiness await them.

Among the visiting parties who came from a distance to witness the cere onv

-Among the many pleasant occurrences A GRAND SOCIAL EVENT-BELLEFONTE to come off in the near future we take THURSDAY .- The grandest social event pleasure in noting a grand dramatic entertainment to-morrow evening in the Armory time was enacted on Thursday last at 1:30 Hall of the State College, which has been P. M., in a wedding between Mr. Charles fitted up and comfortable seats added, rendering it quite pleasant. The several the fiscal year beginning December 1, 1877, characters in the pleasing play founded on Charles Dickens' celebrated story of "Oliver Twist," will be personated by a portion of the members of the College

Faculty and a few of the students Among the principal characters are Prof. J. Downey and Miss Cooper. Miss C. has charge of the ladies in the College. Prof. D.'s name alone should bring a full house, as whatever he does is well done. Their first performance, "Julius Casar," was good. A rare, pure and pleasing entertainment may be expected, as those College boys have a faculty of excelling in whatever they undertake. Should the elements be propi tious, a ride to the College beside a pretty girl and beneath the shining moon, which will then be in her glory, will make an enjoyable event in the courtship of any of our young gentlemen, and may afford the long-wished-for time of proposing. Any young lady whose beau does not ask her to go may know that he is faithless, and does not wish for a time alone where none will hear his vows of devotion 'cept rumain the same and reveal no secrets. To be practical, you can also do some good by attending, as the boys will be encouraged in their laudable efforts to improve themselves in the art of characterization, and also help to purchase books for the College

-Mr. Amos Oberdorf, of Centre Hall, and his family, who were riding down Nittany Mountain towards their home, or Saturday met with a narrow escape. They were riding along at their usual pace when, hearing a noise behind them, they saw a team of horses attached to a sled come tearing at a rapid rate down the nountain towards them. To escape was impossible; so commanding his family to crowd as low as possible down in the bed of the sled, he grasped the reins of his own horses firmly, and awaited the onoming event. The tongue of the sled ame protruding over his own; and Mr. Oberdorf, lashing the frightened horses with all his might, succeeded in making them stop before his own had in turn become frightened. It was a narrow escape, and shows how valuable is presence of mind in such trying circumstances. Who the runaway team belonged to we did not discover.

-The Mountain City Band, for the first time in several weeks, on Friday evening iast, made the air melodious with some of the beautiful music, which they can render in such an exquisite manner. The parties especially favored on this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. James Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Hoover, and Mr. and Mrs. Teller, the happy couples who have so recently yielded to that destiny which seems to pursue us mortals and joined their affect ions and their hearts. It is needless to ay that in each case the compliment was esponded to in a manner belitting the ceasion, and an increased estimation for all parties was the result when the band ceased its music several dollars richer in pocket and well provided with cigars.

-We notice that our good editorial brother of the Reporter informs his many readers and the public generally that a new and exclusively dry goods store will be opened in this place some time during the month of March, in the store room at present occupied by Bunnell & Aikens. It will be presided over by a brother-in-law of J. Newman, Jr., the distinguished clothier, and if he has even a small part of the business tact and energy that characterizes the transactions of his relative here J. Newman, Jr.'s fine clothing store, to the new enterprize will be an assured success. The proprietor's name is Mr. J. H. Bauland. -Many accounts regarding great endurance to the cold are afloat. The Altoona Mirror gives the following about W. D. Cramer, of Mifflin station : "Train Master W. D. Cramer, brother of James H. Cramer, of this city, whose headquarters is at Miflin station, is a man of wonderful endurance, as was demonstrated by the late cold and snowy weather, when his presence was needed on the road for eighty-four consecutive hours, during all of which time he did not partake of a moment's sleep or one square meal. He froze both his heels until the skin cracked open. For a few days he had a sore time of it."

CENTRE COUNTY AND THE STATE TREASURY .- The report of the State Treasurer for the year 1878 shows that the following smounts were paid into the treasury of the state by citizens, officials and corporations of Centre county during

Other empanies and corporations of the county may have paid taxes into the treasury. It o, however, they could not be recognized by their names, and localities are not stated.

-If there is one thing more than another in which people can take their choice it is in festivals. Of course, if anything is going on the Pleasant Gapers are sure to take part. Now that excellent band called the Pleasant Gap Silver Cornet band announes that they will hold a festival in the Methodist church of Pleasant Gap, commencing Friday afternoon, and terminating on Saturday. We had occasion last week to say that when these people undertake anything they generally excel, and we can assure all that in festivals they are not one whit behind-hand. The band is well known, not only for its good music, but for he pleasant and jovial qualities of its members, and its many friends will be sure to emember it next Friday and Saturday by attending the festival and partaking of the good things for sale, and quite likely be entertained by excellent music.

-A loquacious correspondent of the Philadelphia Sunday Times, who was present at the Inauguration and gave his attention particularly to the manner of marching and general appearance of the soldiers on parade, after indulging in comremarks about the Fifth regiment which we are quite sure are not worth repeating pays the following deserved tribute to the College cadets: "The cadets from the Pennsylvania Agricultural College brought up the rear of the brigade. Their marchng was very commendable, step even and in good cadence; alignments and distances well preserved-altogether made a very creditable display."

-The man who was considered the nost handsome of any at the Inauguration Ball was from Bellefonte. He is modest. and would not like his name to be made public. But we are permitted to say that before going he arrayed himself in new under garments, new suit and new hat at ch he gives all the credit. J. Newman

Mr. Lauth and his daughter are musicians of the highest order, and we congratulate the mansgers of the entertainment upon having gained their consent to play for then

-Misses Dornblazer and Conley, reprecentatives of an interesting young ladies' literary society in Nittany valley, gladdened us by their presence in town during the early part of the week.

-Our latest social event of importance as the marriage, last week, of Mr. A. J. Weber, junior member of our leading and nost enterprising business firm, B. Weber & Co., to Miss Moore, sister of our popular young druggist, H. A. Moore, Esq Mr. Weber is one of our most substantial and reliable young men, and, with his fair bride, very popular.

-Mr. Thomas Butler, the fortunate essor of one of the finest fields of 'bottom'' land along the Bald Eagle creek, has made use of the good roads afforded by the snow to haul large quantities of stone to be used for ditching purposes, and to fill up a small portion of the old creek bed, which had a course through it, prior to the straightening of the creek by the state, many years ago. Mr. Butler made an oldfashioned "frolic" last week, which was well attended by his neighbors.

A FESTIVAL .- We wish to direct the special notice of every one to the fact that a festival will be held to-night in the vacant rooms in McClain's block, just next to the Watchman office. This festival is to be given for the benefit of the African M. E. church, and should commend itself to every one. There will no doubt be good things enough on hand to repay all for going, and the small amount that will be required in payment. The best skill of some of the old colored folks will be employed. and those who attend can, for the time be ing, fancy themselves on an old plantation in the South. No worthier object than this can be presented, as it will enable a struggling denomination to pay off some of the old debts. Those who wish to aid a good cause and the same time want a good

SCHUYLER COLFAX AT THE COURT Harvey Miller, living on the farm of HOUSE .- Last Tnesday evening Ex-Vice-Samuel Reber, was destroyed by fire about President Schuyler Colfax delivered his five o'clock Tuesday morning. Cause famous lecture on "Abraham Lincola," supposed to be a coal among the ashes in a in the Court House of this place, to a large and very appreciative audience. The audience must have numbered about 350. The lecturer was introduced in felicitious language by Gen. James A. Beaver, Peifer. Mr. Heverly is dangerously ill, and in the opening of his remarks first complimented the beauty of Bellefonte, referred to his former acquaintance with

We do not think Mr. Lincoln was quite as weak in mind as we would imagine from the Ex-Vice Presi. dent's remarks, and do not think this part of his character, as represented, at all flattering. The conclusion of the lecture was very fine, Mr. Lincoln being compared to Moses, as he died with only a Pisgab-like glance into the promised land to which he led the nation. Mr. Colfax is by no means a fine orator. His articulation is very indistinct and it is necessary for the listener to pay the strictest attention. He speaks more rapidly than is agreeable.

We are glad that in all respects the lecare was such a success, and hope that the Association realized a large sum from the proceeds, and that they may be able to treat us with more lectures equally good.

-A Y. M. C. A. meeting was held at Unionville Saturday evening, in which Rev. S. A. Taggart, Gen. James A. Beaver, Chas. F. Cook and others took part. At 2:30 Sunday afternoon a meeting was held in Centre Hall. This was attended by Rev. S. A. Taggart, Mr. Isaac Mitchell and many others. We hear that they were all interesting and largely attended.

-And now they render us absolutely breathless by hinting that Benjamin F. Butler, Esq., will gaze with that single luminous orb of his directly at a Bellefont audience as he tells them in eloquent words what he knows about capturing Demo cratic conventions, or some other equally entertaining topic. The Grangers will have the credit of bringing this to pass.

-Our good friend Dr. J. R. Smith, of Pine Grove, was in town on Tuesday, and reported that an epidemic of something like influenza of a very violent type was prevailing in his neighborhood. In two days the Doctor was called to treat about twenty-five cases. We regret to learn that among those very ill with this disease are Mrs. James Sample and a daughter of Mr. John L. Musser.

we would mention, in addition to the ushers enumerated above, Miss Amanda Tome and Mr. Tome, Miss Anna and Maggie Callaway, of Baltimore, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. Stockham and daughter, of Camden, N. J.

The morning following the wedding flattering notices appeared in the Philadelphia Press and other city journals, anouncing the nuptials between the high contracting parties.

-The several parties who excited this quiet community by plunging head over ears into matrimony showed much consideration for the memories of our people by having their weddings all occur within a few hours of each other. Unless there are some of which we have not yet heard, the second on the programme was that of Mr. J. C. Brachbill and Miss Maggie Mulhollen, which occurred at the residence of the bride's parents between 21 and 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday. Rev. Mr. Yocum, of the M. E. church. performed the marriage ties in his own graceful and impressive manner. The groom, as all know, is a pleasant, affable young gentleman, and we are quite sure that few weddings have been graced with more lovely brides than Miss Maggie, or by those more true and womanly in mind and heart. They departed on the western bound train in the afternoon for a brief wedding tour.

Samuel Sankey, Esq., formerly of Millheim, but for the last few years a resident of California, has forsaken for a short time the land of gold dust, and is sojourning among his old friends within the shades of hospitable Millheim.
