Local Department.

- -Full moon next Saturday.

- coldest of the season.
- -Over forty persons intend leaving Clinton county for the West this spring.
- -A service will be held to-morrow after-
- noon at 4:30 in the Episcopal church. G. W. Rushenberger, a veteran of the
- Mexican war, was in this place last week. -They kill men off at an average of one or more every day on the railroad at Al-
- -The first Sunday in Lent was observed with appropriate services in the Episcopal church
- -We have found by experience that the thing that keeps Lent the best is our new umbrella.
- -One who professes to know says that there have already been forty-two snowfalls this winter.
- -A meeting of Walker Grange, Hublersburg, was held on Saturday, to which all were invited.

- -The Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet tomorrow evening in the rooms of the society. All the members are requested to be
- -The singing at the Y. M. C. A. room on Sunday afternoon was just so good as to give the audience an idea of how excellent it might be if the choir would practice together occasionally.
- -The ladies who meet in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms Thursday afternoons will probably change their place of meeting to a pleasant room in the Logan hose house.
- -Never have people suffered more from colds than they have this winter. It is best for us all to take unusual good care of ourselves, as a bad cold often results in breaking down the constitution.
- -Immense strings of fish are being caught by some of our fishermen about town. They are generally of that kind called "suckers." We do not know whether there is any pleasanter name for them of not.
- -The Philipsburg Journal editor does not think 70 below zero is very cold when you get used to it. The next time a Polar expedition is fitted out if that man is placed in command it will surely be successful.
- -We were incorrect in saving that the fire in Louis Doll's shoe store originated from a lamp. We accepted our information from the excited conversation of persons who attended the fire, which nine
- times in ten is not true. -A grand ball was held at Snow Shoe Wednesday night of last week. Many of the lively ladies and gentlemen of Bellefonte were present, and the highest anticipations of all were abundantly realized in the enjoyment of the occasion.
- Mr. Adams, relict of the late John Adams, of Julian Furnace, died on Saturday night last at the residence of her sonin-law, Mr. F. M. Webb, of this place. She was an aged and much esteemed lady and her loss will be mourned by many friends.
- -It is said that there were only four ersons in a sleigh driven by Mr. Jim Lane on a recent occasion. Jim tried to turn in a dexterous manner, when they all had the opportunity of trying the vir-tues of a snow bath. He intends to practice alone after this.
- -The liveliest revival meeting thus far held in this vicinity is the one that has for several weeks past been in progress in the M. E. Church at Milesburg. People from all over this end of the county have ating to be present from a distance

- -Mr. Hayes in his message to Congre on Saturday says that the reason the Chinese want to come to this country is be-cause they have heard of the famous clothing store of our friend Newman, Jr., or Allegheny street, and will not rest satisfied until they have secured one of his elegant suits of clothes. "Were it not for that," continued Mr. Hayes, "I would approve
- -Gen. James A. Beaver, on Sunday last said that he had sent a check for $250 to the American Board of Home Missions, as the contribution of the Presbyterian Sabbath-school of this place to that object. He received therefrom in return a profusion of thanks and an offer of a regular correspondent from the mission field if the school choose to have one.
- -Dr. Hamlin, of Altoona, is gaining much popularity as a lecturer in his present tour through the surrounding country. In every paper we pick up are laudations of his oratorical ability and the manner in which he treats his various subjects. It seems that a likeness between him and our poet Longfellow has been discovered by some editor.
- -The State Grange at its last meeting held in Bellefonte took up the questions of Fertilizers, School Books, State Board of Agriculture, Co-operative Societies, Fencing, Railroads and Officers' Salaries," and is now working up petitions to Congress, and to the Legislature through every subordinate Grange in the State. These petitions are very generally signed by Patrons and farmers.
- -An effort will be made to-day by the adies of the Episcopal church to form a Woman's Missionary Society. The ladies of that congregation are invited to meet this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. A. S. Valentine, where the initiatory proceedings looking toward that object will be commenced. We hope that the first meeting will be largely attended, and their efforts may be entirely successful.
- -The coasting on Lamb street on Friday was splendid. Sleds could start far up on the top of Bunker Hill, and come rapidly down the entire length of Lamb street, turn at the creek, and go a considerable distance farther, in all over a quarter of a mile. It was slightly dangerous, too, for if any one crossing Allegheny street should have been struck by one of the large sleds which attained their most rapid speed at that place, it would have been as much as their limbs were worth.
- -The annual delivery of orations of the Senior class at Franklin and Marshall College, which always occurs on Washington's Birthday, was much better and more attractive this year than ever before-all ecause four Centre county youths exhibited their talents on that occasion, as follows: A. E. Gabble, of Penn Hall, on 'The Influence of Charles Sumner;" P. Hosterman, of Penn Hall, on "Ideals: Harvey Musser, of Aaronsburg, on "David C. Broderick;" P. J. Vonda, of Zion, on "The Mission of America."
- -That new Penitentiary at Huntingdon s such a very important affair that it is impossible for newspapers to tell all about it at once. Little items of news appear week after week in the neighboring newspapers. and will probably continue to do so until the building is completed. We are now informed that "the area of the bottom of the Middle Penitentiary reservoir at Huntingdon will be 40,000 square feet, capacity 960,000 gallons, and will require 4,400 cubic yards of earth to be excavated. It will be surrounded by an embankment twelve feet wide, surmounted by 1,500 feet
- of paling fence.' -Centre Hall will be lectured to next Tuesday evening by Dr. Calder of the State College, on "China" - a very opportune subject just at present. Dr. Calder is fully able to treat the subject in an entertaining and instructive manner, as he resided in that country for six years. Being President of a College, it is to be inferred that "china" occupies considerable of his thought, as both teachers and scholars are supposed to eat from it, and where so much is used, there will also be much broken and the requisite amount is kept up at considerable expense. The Dr. will exhibit during the lecture several interesting curiosities brought from China. An admittance fee of 10 or 15 cents will be charged. The lecture is for the benefit of the library of Progress Grange, P. of H., and will be delivered in the Evangelical church.
- -It is no surprise to us, nevertheless we are sorry to hear that it is the intention of talents are at least uncertain. The latest Rev. W. A. Biggert, our present Baptist circumstance of this kind is that of our esclergymen, to leave his present position and seek some place where his services will be better compensated. We were aware that the gentleman, while serving hard and faithfully the denomination here and also at Milesburg, was not well paid for his services, and have often wondered that to enter the United Brethren ministry. he had not ere this accepted some of the It is true, in his last issue he compared the many calls to more lucrative positions which have been tendered him. He has heretofore refused to do this merely because he considered he could be of most use to the struggling congregations which he has up to this time ministered over; but now necessity compels him to take this step. We do not think the reverend gentleman will find it difficult to settle himself in a a second edition of Joseph Cook. The much better position financially, but we ministers and people of that denomination shall nevertheless be extremely sorry to are to be congratulated on the acquisition, st useful members of this community.

- While we are talking about organists, it may be well to mention that Miss Orbison fingers the keys for both the Presbyterian church and Sabbath-school, and in this profession is not a whit behind the

MRS. MACKALL.-By a postal just resived from her son, we regret to learn the death of Mrs. Martha Mackall, of Washington City, who died after a short but painful illness at her residence in that city Thursday last, in the sixty-seventh year Mrs. Mackall was the wife of Brook Mackall, of Washington, and daughter of the late Michael T. and Elizabeth Simpson, who many years ago resided in this place. Mr. Simpson, when Mrs. Mackall was quite a young lady, was a prominent official in the Post Office Department at Washington. She joined him there and was married to Mr. Mackall and asequently never returned to this place reside, although her mother continued her residence here during her lifetime. She was the granddaughter of Col. James Dunlop, a niece of John Dunlop and James Harris, the founders of the Borough of Bellefonte, and in their day the leading men of this section of the State. Mrs. Mackall therefore had, and still has a large relationship in this place. She was a lady of fine impulses and great kindness of heart -hospitable and entertaining, as the writer of this can attest, having often enjoyed her society when surrounded by one of the most interesting families it was ever his pleasure to witness, who idolized her in a harmony of love beautiful to behold and his agency connection with us. We trust ever to be remembered. This was many years ago. Since then Mrs. Mackall has seen much trouble, by death and other afflictions in her family. But through it all the good wishes of the company, she retained that cheerfulness and sprightly character in her social relations so peculiar and fitting to her lively and generous temperament. But our friend has ceased to exist, has changed the mortal for the immortal, and we most sincerely sympathize with those who remain, in the bereavement which deprives them of the daily association of the beloved one.

FAREWELL.-Curious ideas sometimes take possession of the wills of men, causing them to leave professions in which they are ornaments and enter others for which their teemed brother in the faith Mr. Joe. (now called Rev. Joseph) Furey, lately connected with and the principal light of the Watchman. The Williamsport Gazette and Builetin informs us that he has severed his connection with that paper and is about Watchman to the Bible, but we had never dreamed by the tone of his editorials or from the formation of his physiognomy that he was intended for a minister or contemplated the solemn step he has now taken. He may, however, (as strange things are occuring every day) make a creditable minister, and we earnestly hope he will be part with him, as he has been one of the but we think the journalistic profession in

'The companies,' says the Altoona Trib. une, "were recruited in Huntingdon, Hollidaysburg and the Mines, Blair county. -Mr. John S. Lucas, formerly of Curtin township, but at the time of his death a practicing lawyer at Gainesville, Florida, died a few days ago. Deceased was well and favorably known throughout this ounty where he had spent the greater ortion of his life. He was a student in the Millersville State Normal School during the summers of '72 and '73, and in 1875 took advantage of one term at State College. After several years experience as an instructor in a country school, he, in company with Prof. S. D. Ray, of this place, conducted a Normal School at Howard in the fall of 1877. In his leisure hours Mr. Lucas pursued the study of law, reading with William Parsons and S. D. Ball, Esqs., of Lock Haven. On the 16th of January, 1878, he removed to Florida and entered upon the practice of his profession. He had tried but one case when a severe sickness seized him, from which he died. Some time previous to his death he was terribly poisoned by a plant called "Shumac," which may have been

-Our polite and genial landlord, our affable citizen, and that ever "hale fellow well met," Mr. Frank McCollum, who during his brief stay with us has attracted more friends than any one in the county, has taken his departure from Bellefonte to engage in the general meachandise and life insurance business at Warren, Warren county, this State. Of late he has been acting in the capacity of special agent in this county for the Brooklyn Life Insurance company, of New York, and in his new field he will act as local agent for the same company. R. M. Magee, Esq., general agent for that company in this state showed us yesterday the following flattering testimonial of the value in which Mr. McCollum is already held by the company. It said: "We take occasion now to express our appreciation of the honorable manner in which Mr. McCollum has conducted his new field of enterpri succeed both as to his Life Insurance and other work." It gives us pleasure to echo

Mrs. Lizzie Schall (P. O. Address) Coudersport, Pa. MR. POTTER's report, signed by all the

Democrats on the committee, will demonstrate beyond question or cavil that Louisiana and Florida were carried by the Democrats, and that the electoral votes of those States were cast for Hayes and Wheeler wrongfully, illegally and fraudulently. It will show that the Louisiana returning board violated the laws of the state in many instances and in the most flagrant manner; and that it was only by such violations that they were enabled to throw out votes lawfully cast for the Democratic electors. It will show, also, that had the Florida returning board obeyed the laws under which it purported to act, it must have given the votes of that state to the De mocracy. The various crimes commit-ted in furtherance of the plot will be fully exposed and fitly characterized. The visiting statesmen will get their deserts. The committee will declare, in plain terms, the fact that all who have in this investigation been shown to have been concerned in this corrupt and lawless stealing of the vote of the s have been rewarded with Federal ces of varying importance by the Administration, and will express the opinion that this can be regarded only as a confession of secret and undue influences exercised by these worthless persons over members of the Administration in securing pay out of the public treasury for their illegal and corrupt treasury for their illegal and corrup work; that this is especially a fair infer work; that this is especially a lair inter-rence when it is remembered that the Administration has constantly made professions of devotion to a reform of the civil service, and has repeatedly as-serted that only persons of established character and fitness ought to be ap-central to multiple office, but has constipointed to public office, but has conspi-ciously and unfailingly violated all its promises and pledges on this subject in its appointments in Louisiana. This report will be adopted by the House, and will go into history as the opinion of a majority of the popular branch of and will go into history as the opinion of a majority of the popular branch of Congress—the opinion of a majority of the American people. It is the verdict of the court of last resort, and stamps on Mr. Hayes, on the Administration and on all who aided and abetted in the crime that placed Mr. Hayes in his stolen office, the ineradicable brand of "fraud."—Washington Post.
