

CORRESPONDENCE, containing important news, solicited from any part of the county. No communications inserted unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Local Department.

—March was a very pleasant month— for March. —Mr. Speer moved from town to his farm last Tuesday. —The rush at "The Bee Hive" dry-goods store still continues. —Hiram Young, of Curtin township, will soon erect a new house. —Large congregations attended the various churches last Sunday night. —March winds and April showers, are said to bring forth May flowers. —James H. Pennington, of Fillmore, was in town last Saturday morning. —About one hundred students are attending State College this year. —A. C. Musser, Esq., of Millheim, has broken ground for a new house. —Senator C. T. Alexander will please accept our thanks for legislative documents. —Walter Bayard, this week, went to Howard, to clerk for the firm of Lauth & Co. —Prof. Gardner delivered a temperance lecture at Philipsburg last Friday evening. —The interior of the Bush House office looks quite handsome since the recent improvements. —Save an agent's profit by buying of Bunnell & Aikens, corner Bishop and Allegheny streets. —Call at "The Bee Hive" store and inspect their goods. It is considered a pleasure to wait upon customers. —Mr. J. H. Rishel, Jr., called on us for the first time on Friday last. We hope he will find time to do so again. —The trial list for coming court will be found on another page, local pressure being so high as to force it there. —Mr. William McClellan has removed his tailoring establishment from his former location on Allegheny street. —The Centre Minstrels say they will give another of their popular entertainments in the course of two weeks. —Aaron Williams, Esq., makes a good many visits to different parts of the country. Last week he was at Baltimore. —On and after this date, overcoats will be sold at cost at Newman's Eagle Clothing Hall. Remember this. —Mr. Louis Doll will soon move his shoe store into the room on Allegheny street just vacated by Mr. William McClellan. —We understand that John Heston, Esq., of State College, conducted the services in the Baptist church last Sunday evening. —Out of twenty-three applicants for license before the last term of the Williamsport Court, Judge Cummin rejected nineteen. —Gen. James A. Beaver conducted the exercises in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association last Sunday afternoon. —The moon will be full next Sunday; most persons on this mundane sphere will be in a similar condition on Saturday night. —The Missionary Society, in connection with the Episcopal church will meet this afternoon, at half-past three o'clock, in the parish rectory. —Ex-Senator Robert P. Allen, of Williamsport, was in town last Friday morning. He is a handsome gentleman and a good lawyer. —To ladies—Send to Bonnell & Aikens for your pattens. $500 worth of Butterick's and $500 worth Mme. Demorest's always on hand. Catalogues free. —Robert P. Dinges, who formerly acted as clerk in the drug establishment of J. Zeller & Son, has just graduated from a Philadelphia college of pharmacy. —Rev. Howard Malcom, one of the most noted divines in the Baptist church and at one time President of the Lewisburg University, died recently. —The beautiful new sign before the store of Joseph Bros. is one of the prettiest on Allegheny street. The letters are of white and a deep red on a black ground. —The great spring rush for job printing at this office has commenced in earnest. Persons wishing work quickly and neatly executed will please bring it in early. —Mr. H. A. Campbell, a former citizen of Philipsburg, has removed from that place to a farm about one mile and a half distant from Bigler's Station, in Clearfield county. —Rev. Yocum, of the M. E. church, preached a good sermon on that interesting subject, "Getting married." It was listened to attentively by the young folks, of course. —The Presbytery of Huntingdon, of which the Presbyterian denomination here is a part, will meet in the First Presbyterian church, Altoona, next Tuesday, April 8, at ten o'clock A. M. —The solemn service of Holy Communion, which occurs quarterly in the Presbyterian church, was celebrated last Sunday morning. Services preparatory to that event were held in the church during the previous week. —We hear that Mrs. Cameron Boak, a lady in Snow Shoe, was, last week, lying quite ill as the result of an overdose of medicine containing belladonna, administered by a physician. The lady, we believe, is now recovering.

—The season for catching the "speckled beauties" commenced on Tuesday. Mr. Van Tries, Penn Bigony and other veterans of the art of angling took advantage of the first opportunity. —The services at the Episcopal church, and we suppose at most of the other places of worship in our town, will commence next Sunday evening at half-past seven instead of seven o'clock as heretofore. —The monthly meeting in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, to which persons of all ages, sexes, denomination, color and condition are invited, will be held next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. —A Rev. Sherrard, a talented clergyman of Millin, assisted Rev. Wm. Laurie in Communion services at the Presbyterian church last Sunday. He inspected the Sunday-school and the adult Bible class in the afternoon. —If that young Englishman they call Rowell would locate in this neighborhood he might be utilized as a mail-carrier. He recently ran eight miles in fifty-three minutes. At that rate he could go to Centre Hall and return in a couple of hours. —The Williamsport Pipe Line, although meeting with every conceivable obstacle, expects to finish the laying of pipe about the last of this month. A firm with abundant capital has been organized in Williamsport to engage in the refining business. —The Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association are requested to meet at the Association room to-morrow evening. It will be necessary to make arrangements regarding the conduct of the reading room during the summer months. —Tuesday was a delightful day for moving. It requires a delightful day for that duty, however, as it is by no means a pleasant task. We do not think there were as many people who took advantage of the opportunity to change their residence as is usually the case. —S. A. Brew & Son, on Allegheny street, are among the most fair dealing and honorable grocery men in our town. They always keep a large supply of fresh groceries, nuts and fruit, and persons calling at their store will be certain to get the best the market affords at the lowest prices. —The Huntingdon Local News says that eighteen societies of the Woman's Foreign Mission Society of the Presbytery of Huntingdon, composed of 618 members, contributed $1,690.51 during the past year. The next annual meeting of the Society will be held in the 2d church, Altoona. —The Centre Minstrels do not intend to exhibit, but J. H. Bauland, of "The Bee Hive" dry-goods store, has on exhibition beautiful goods, which he takes pleasure in offering to the people of Centre county at prices so low that they cannot be equalled by any other establishment in town. —Wonderful reduction! Newman had reduced his suits of clothing to $400, but wishing to lay in another stock, he has still further reduced these elegant suits to two dollars and seventy-five cents. Call quickly and select from his handsome stock. Store on Allegheny street, near Bishop. —Mrs. Harry Teats is one of the most successful cultivators of house plants in our town. Throughout this past winter persons who passed her house on Howard street could not fail to admire the profusion of modest little primroses which look innocently out from beneath the more pretentious geraniums and larger roses overhead. —Centre Hall was the scene of a slight conflagration on the night of the 19th ultimo. The fire was caused by a defective flue situated in an out-house attached to the residence of D. K. Geis. At one time it was feared the dwelling of Mr. Geis was in imminent peril, but upon the timely arrival of half a dozen men the flames were extinguished without doing much injury. —On Saturday night, the 22d of March, a general variety entertainment was given by the home talent of Millheim in the elegant new hall at that place. From the Journal's encomiums, we judge that it was in every way a brilliant success. It is but another attestation to the fact that the people of our county need not depend on any outside talent for their entertainment. —A new floor has been laid in the room formerly occupied by Dr. Kirk as a drug store and to be used in the future by our jewel of a watch-maker, Mr. C. F. Richards. The skill of Doak & Lonberger has been brought into requisition to beautify the interior with fresh paper and paint. Mr. Richards took possession on Tuesday, and it is now one of the most artistic little jewelry establishments imaginable. —Another comet is approaching the earth, but will not come near enough to be of any benefit to the ordinary observer, as its closest proximity to our planetary globe will be about seventy-five millions of miles, on the 16th of this month, and then will require the aid of an opera glass to discern it. It is a comet, it seems, that was first noticed only thirty-three years ago, and since that time has approached the earth regularly every seven years. No fear need be apprehended, from it, however; and if we behave ourselves real well, there is no danger of its touching our pleasant little earthly home even with the tip of its long tail.

—It is sometimes unpleasant that their is such a thing as a moon in existence, and we feel sure that if all the trouble the moon would cause had been apprehended it would not have been created to "rule the night." The town council evidently believe that the mission of the moon must not be overlooked, and it conduct their actions at night as rigorously as the veriest tyrant that ever ruled in the Roman Empire. For instance, if the almanac announces the fact that a little rim of silver light from the "new" moon will commence illuminating the heavens on a certain night, just so surely goes the mandate forth that on that night the street lamps must not be lit. It would be a horrid crime, you know, for any artificial light to take the place of the "fairy moon-light." If such should be the case, fair Luna might take offense and depart and never again cheer us with her delightful rays. For instance, the usual almanac that hung in the council rooms on Wednesday night of last week must have indicated "new" moon, and consequently great haste was made to give the order "no street lamps must be lit." Now, the most respectable portion of the inhabitants of this town are accustomed to attend prayer meeting on that night—in this instance they paid dearly for the privilege. On emerging from the church, the moon had long since vanished, no street lamps were in sight, and darkness reigned supreme. In addition, the rain was coming down with blinding fury, and persons had to make their way home as best they could. Fortunately, we have not heard of any one who was lost beyond recovery, although several times persons wandered a great distance out of the way, and many cases of miraculous escapes from drowning are reported. By encouraging shouts and help from those accustomed to "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain," everyone at last succeeded in reaching their respective homes alive. —The Philipsburg Journal gives the following account of an accident that happened to Mr. James M. Rosensteel, who is connected with the extensive tannery at that place: "On Monday afternoon, as Mr. James M. Rosensteel, was loading a car load of leather at the tannery, he met with an accident, that proved comparatively slight in the injuries he received. Having twenty-five sides of leather on a hand truck he was pushing on an elevated trestle from the dry house to the railroad track, the trestle having been disarranged from some cause and not being fixed immediately, was forgotten, and therefore, when Mr. Rosensteel was passing over it with the leather if fell to the ground, a distance of about eight feet, throwing him and the truck upon the pile of timber. Fortunately no bones were broken and he escaped with only some severe bruises. —The Central Pennsylvania Conference closed its annual session at Bloomsburg on Tuesday last the 25th of March. Rev. Yocum, of this place, was in attendance during the session. John S. W. Dean, Professor in Pennsylvania State College, was made a member of the Bellefonte Quarterly Conference. Among the clergymen appointed to the several charges are the following: Bellefonte, A. Duncan Yocum; Milesburg and Unionville, Joseph B. Shaver; Penn's Valley, Walter R. Whitney; Pleasant Gap, John A. Wood, Jr.; Howard, J. Benson Akers and Asher R. Cronce; Half Moon, George W. Bouse; Port Matilda, Joseph R. King; Pine Grove, Henry T. Creighton; Snow Shoe, Harvey S. Lundy. —Part of the choir in the Wigwam Sunday-school just saved themselves from creating a decided sensation last Sunday afternoon when they rose from their seats and remained in a standing position while the others were sitting. Those in the audience part of the room did not know exactly what was the matter, and supposed they had merely risen too soon, by mistake, and were too stubborn to sit down again. The truth is, the seat threatened to give away beneath the heavy weight upon it, and the choir was compelled either to rise or else take a lowly and uncomfortable seat on the floor. —Those young ladies who only care for their beaux for the sake of the elegant buggy and fast horses that they own are just now in a quandary. They do not like to give them the "mitten," while, at the same time, these beaux are worth no more to them than so much superfluous rubbish. In view of the present condition of the country roads, it will be some time before they can take a ride with pleasure, and the aforesaid young ladies ladies have merely to "endure" these beaux until the weather will permit them to be of some use. —J. Newman, Jr., king clothier, says that he is not trying to humbug the people (or trying to run anybody out of the trade) by telling that he is selling at cost. But he positively does assert that he does sell better goods for less money than those that advertise to sell at cost. His goods are all new, perfect and regular. He has no shill-worn, shoddy or moth-eaten goods. He is perfectly reliable and what he tells you, you can depend upon. He has pants at 40 cents, hats at 25 cents, shirts at 25 cents, and everything in proportion. —At the music store you can buy a new Domestic sewing machine of Bunnell & Aikens, corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets, for $30. Reason—no agents.

HOLY WEEK, OR PASSION WEEK.—Next week is the last week of Lent. It has been observed by Christians from a very early date as a time of special solemnity. From the important events which occurred in the last week of the Saviour's life, it has been called from primitive times, The Great Week, and The Holy Week, and later, The Passion Week. As at the time of Chrysostom, Bishop of Constantinople, A. D. 354-407, there was during this week a general cessation of business among the Christian part of the people. Fasting was observed with greater strictness than in the other weeks of Lent, and special acts of mercy and charity were engaged in by all, the Christian emperors setting an official example. The first day of the week is familiarly known as Palm Sunday, and is derived from the custom of branch-bearing, which was practiced at one of the high festivals of the Jewish church—the Feast of Tabernacles—and was a reminder to the Israelites of their going forth out of the wilderness. They were commanded—"Ye shall take you on the first day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of palm trees, and the boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook; and ye shall rejoice before the Lord your God seven days." (Lev. xxiii. 40.) And there seems to be a connection between the usage of palm-bearing and the Divine ritual, both of Sinai and the New Jerusalem; for John writes:—"After this I beheld, and lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes and palms in their hands." (Rev. vii. 9.) In the ancient English church on this Sunday the Blessing of Palms took place before the beginning of the Holy Communion. The narrative of Israel's encamping by the twelve wells and three score and ten palm trees was first read; then the account of our Lord's triumphal entry into Jerusalem, when the people cut down branches from the palm trees and spread them in the way. After this the palm, yew, or willow branches were laid upon the Holy Table, and the minister pronounced a blessing over them. A procession then passed round the church singing anthems, and distributing the branches. On this day the Lutheran, the Reformed, the Episcopal and the Roman churches begin to set before men the sufferings and death of Jesus Christ, which is contemplated at least in their liturgies or forms of worship, throughout the entire week. —The name of Mr. William Buck, a butcher in Hollidaysburg, deserves to go down to fame. The Altoona Tribune says of him that "twenty years ago he shut down at one and the same time on liquor, tobacco and profane language, without ever informing his wife. Six months after he connected himself with the church, and soon after started business with a very small capital, and has now a flourishing and paying business established, and a smiling, happy family to greet him when he goes home in the evening." The above is a hard thing to do, and if you don't believe it, try it yourself. —The Centre Hall schools closed on Friday the 21st of March, on which occasion Mr. B. F. Arney, President of the School Board, made the following promotions: From Primary school to Intermediate Grade—Amanda Krumbine, Annie Mingle, Ella Noll, Lizzie Sweeney, Sadie S. Ross, Maude Neff, Samuel F. Snyder, James I. Snyder, A. D. Gregg, Wagner Geiss, Eddie Wolf, George Krise, Wm. H. Tobias. From Intermediate to Grammar School—Elsie Geiss, Sadie Giferer, Katie Bechdel, Robert Wolf, David Snyder, John Farner and Harry Dinger. —It has now become among the possible events that Rev. W. A. Biggart, of the Baptist church, will remain with the congregation here. A strong effort is being made by his little flock to raise his salary, which, if they succeed in doing, will enable him to remain. Both the pastor and congregation desire this result, as they are dearly attached to each other, and the Rev. Biggart's labors in his present field are attended with greater success, than any one who may succeed him will be likely to meet with. —Mr. John Coolidge, we believe of Howard, and who formerly read medicine with our young friend Dr. Dartt, will probably return to this place during the summer and assist his former tutor in the prosecution of his extensive practice. Mr. Coolidge has recently graduated from the Ann Arbor University of Michigan, and was honored by the offer of the position of Assistant Professor in the chair of Materia Medica, in the homoeopathic department of that seat of learning. —The Centre Hall Reporter gives the following as the result of a recent meeting of the Bellefonte, Aaronsburg & Youngmanstown Turnpike Company for the purpose of electing officers: President—John Stoner. Secretary and Treasurer—J. C. Motz. Managers—John Stoner, J. B. Leitzel, Adam Weaver, John Frederick and William Fichtner. —The term April is derived from aperio, to open. Figuratively speaking, smiles and tears alternate during this month and it has been designated the sweetest of the series because it ushers in "delicate-footed May."

—The southwestern heavens just now on a clear evening present a magnificent spectacle, the Centre of which is Orion, the most brilliant constellation vouchsafed to mortal vision, with Sirius on the left and the Pleiades and below them Venus on the right. Orion can be easily distinguished by several stars forming a triangle. The three principal stars are sometimes called the Three Kings, and are spoken of in the book of Job as the "Band of Orion." —A week's holiday, which commenced at State College last Friday, is now just drawing to a close, and to-morrow the students will again commence translating Latin exercises and digging for Greek roots. This recreation from study, coming as it does after a long winter of hard labor, is very acceptable to the young gentlemen, and prepares them for the hard work of the concluding three months of the year. —Philipsburg has received several additions to its population during the last week. Mr. Pottsgraves has accepted a position in the extensive mercantile establishment of the Grey Brothers, of that place, and has removed there with his family from Half Moon. Mr. Jona Dinges, the engineer of the passenger train on the Moshannon and Morrisdale branches of the Pennsylvania railroad, has removed from Tyrone to Philipsburg with his family. —Matters are announced to come to a focus to-day in Williamsport, and the city council must give the treasurer the authority to apply the funds now in the treasury to the payment of judgments and overdue interests, or the court will institute more decided and severe measures. The city council and treasurer may be incarcerated in duration vile, the city itself put up for sale, or something else of an equally diverting and entertaining nature. —J. Newman, Jr., of the popular clothing house, is meeting with great success. It has been sufficiently demonstrated that he cannot be undersold by anyone. Tuesday he started again for the city, for the second time this season, to lay in another stock of goods. He is constantly receiving new goods, and the way they disappear proves that the people know where to go to get things cheap. —Among the various clerks now employed at "The Bee Hive" dry goods store we notice Mr. Charley McClure, formerly of Valentines store, and Mr. Cal. Mingle, of Wolf's store, Centre Hall. These attractions will certainly bring the pretty girls, as Mr. McClure's reputation as a ladies' man is well established, and Mr. Mingle, if appearances are not deceptive, will be equally successful. —We wish to mention a few of the selections that will be read to-night by Miss Hulda Baker: "Buryal of Moses," "Rock of Ages," "Biddy McGinnis," "Last Hymn," "Dot Leadie Looosa," "The Famine," "For a' That and a' That," "J. B. Gough," and "Fourth of July Oration." Many of these have never been read before a Bellefonte audience. —A memorial was addressed by the Quarterly Conference of Howard Circuit, this county, to the late M. E. Conference, calling attention to the manner of conducting camp-meetings. The subject was discussed, and by a vote of 126 to 46 it was resolved to request the managers of camp-grounds to hereafter close the camps on Sunday. —Rev. Hiles Pardoe has been transferred from the pastorate of the M. E. Congregation of Philipsburg to one at Sunbury, Pa. The people of Philipsburg very much regret his departure, as he has labored long and earnestly in their midst, and has been of great use during his sojourn among them. —Still another young Centre county gentleman has just graduated in medicine from a Homeopathic Medical College in Philadelphia. He is F. P. Hoy, son of John Hoy, Esq., who lives about two miles below town, and is said to have taken the second honors in his class. The people of Natick, Mass., will have the benefit of his services. —D. S. Keller, Esq., as will be seen in the legal card on another page, has changed the location of his office. He can hereafter be found by his clients and friends on Allegheny street, south side of Lyon's store. We hope the business prosperity which has been attending him will continue with him in his new quarters. —The Altoona Tribune says that Rev. John Switzer, a superannuated member of the Central Pennsylvania Conference, died at his home in Philipsburg on Tuesday morning, March 25. He entered the traveling ministry in 1841, and was a devout, godly man. —The general appearance of the building in which the dry goods store of Wagner & Son is situated is very much improved since the veranda has been removed from the front. The show windows have been enlarged and extended out on a line with the street. —The Girard House in Lock Haven was, on the first of April, occupied by Mr. David Johnson & Son, formerly of the Brockerhoff House, this place. This announcement will be sufficient to attract Bellefonters to that hotel on visiting Lock Haven. —Operator Malin was delighted to receive a visit from his brother, of York, Pa., who spent last Sabbath with him.

—Miss Hulda Baker, the lady elocutionist, of Syracuse, N. Y., was in this place last Friday evening and gave a parlor recital at the residence of Mr. John G. Love, on Linn street. About twenty persons listened to the entertainment, and pronounced it very fine. We learn, just before going to press, that Miss Baker has, by request, returned to town and will read this evening in the Young Men's Christian Association room. The Muncy Luminary has this to say of her: "Miss Baker is certainly one of the most accomplished elocutionists that have ever visited Muncy. Her characterizations were particularly good and were warmly applauded by the audience. The whole entertainment, however, was most enjoyable, and all who were present were perfectly delighted with her selections," &c., &c. Admission for to-night—Adults, 25 cents; children, 15 cents. —Last Saturday Council No. 141 of the Junior Order United American Mechanics was organized in this place, by J. C. Hight and Henry Kelley, Jr., of Altoona. The organization starts with fifteen members and the following officers: Counselor, William Long; Vice Counselor, William Nelson; Recording Secretary, William Saylor; Assistant Recording Secretary, J. C. Kinney; Financial Secretary, David Haynes; Treasurer, William H. Brown; Warden, George Dry; Conductor, George Ginter; Inside Sentinel, John Hockenberry; Outside Sentinel, William Wilson. —An almost incredible escape of two horses occurred lately on the Dick's Run road. Grant Hoover, son of Harvey Hoover, was driving the animals, which were attached to a wagon. He endeavored to turn the team around, when, notwithstanding all his efforts to the contrary, the horses backed over an embankment said to be almost eighty feet high, Grant escaping by leaping from the wagon. Wonderful to relate, although the wagon was entirely demolished, the horses escaped without serious injury. —On last Tuesday the following persons departed from this place to seek future homes in Kansas. Griffith Lytle and family of three persons, Mr. E. B. Heston and family of five, and Mrs. Peters and three children, all of Oak Hill, went to Beloit, Kas. Miss Kate E. Kreps, of Pine Grove, also went to Beloit, Kansas. Another gentleman, whose name we did not learn, accompanied the party. —Miss Lydia Johnson, on a recent Wednesday evening, entertained Misses Maggie McMicken and Lizzie Taylor, who were guests of Miss Lizzie Shortlidge, together with other friends. As usual it was a pleasant affair. —Mr. Will Petriken, brother of Adolph Petriken, is sojourning in town, and entertaining his friends generally with vivid descriptions of Brazil from which country he has lately returned. —A little girl, the daughter of E. A. Smith, of this place, slightly injured her right arm by a fall while at play with her brother on last Thursday night. —Jesse Dunlap, Esq., and son, of Farmer's Mills, have returned from Kansas, and do not bring with them very flattering accounts of that State. —The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bellefonte Library Association will be held at their rooms on Monday, April 7, at 7 o'clock P. M., at which time an election will take place for seven managers to serve the ensuing year. Paragraph 5, section 2, of Constitution: "No member shall have a right to vote or be eligible to any office under this Association who shall be in any arrearage in the payment of, or assessments on capital stock." By order of Board of Managers. JACOB V. THOMAS, Secretary. —The Centre County Pomona Grange meets at Centre Hall next Tuesday, April 8. Three sessions will be held during the day, viz: At 10 A. M., and 2 and 7 P. M. A full attendance of the order is requested. Grange will open promptly at 10 A. M. LEONARD RHONE, Master.
