Mr. Levi Straub was in town again last Sunday. A large number of guests register daily at the Bush House. Charley Cromley and lady made their appearance in town on Tuesday. The Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. A. meets to-morrow night. Which is "The Day we Celebrate," Fourth of July or Decoration Day? The Lutheran Sunday-school, of Aaronsburg, held its annual picnic last Friday in Bower's woods. Ex-Governor Curtin will soon give a lecture for the benefit of the Centennial Temperance Club. It is not prima facie evidence merely because a man hails from Walker township that he excels as a pedestrian. The Ladies' Missionary Society, of the Episcopal church, will meet this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Wilkinson. Mrs. Hattie Olmstead, of Williamsport, has been visiting the family of Mr. John Ardell, this place, for the past two weeks. Bauland still has for show, dress goods of a superior kind; ladies to him will certainly go if they are in their right mind. We learn that Mr. John Gled, of Mt. Eagle, had the sad misfortune to break his leg one day last week, while unloading lumber. Dr. T. J. Trapp, a Williamsport dentist, has been devoting his attention to the teeth of the inhabitants of Spring Mills, this county. Mr. Michael Shaffer, of Walker township, called upon us last Friday evening. We found him as usual an exceedingly pleasant gentleman. A large number of persons from this county departed in the train on Tuesday for Altoona to attend the sessions of the Sabbath-school convention. The moon, which has added so much to the loveliness of the last few evenings, reached the zenith of her glory last night, and now her light is on the wane. Philip Teats visited his old home over last Sunday. He seemed so terribly full of business, that he must be creating a sensation in the dairy line in Altoona. J. L. Spangler, Esq., advertises for sale an E. A. Wood mower, the sale to take place Saturday next at 2 P. M. in front of the Court House, for whatever price it will bring. Who bids first? An exchange, in answering the question, "Do hogs pay?" replies that a great many do not; that they take the master for several years and then have the post-master send it back marked, "refused." A trout was caught in Spring Creek last week eighteen inches in length and which weighed two pounds and two ounces. We believe that Mr. Frank Blair became the possessor of this elegant fish. Mrs. James Mitchell and her daughter, Miss Ollie Mitchell, of this place, departed on the 6:30 train Tuesday morning to visit friends at Latrobe, Westmoreland county. They will be absent about two weeks. Now the rain has come and made us all feel glad; we must never, never, never more be bad. So, those ladies who consider themselves very, very fair should go at once to the Bee Hive store and get something nice to wear. We recommend our numerous readers, and what few other persons there may be in this county, to buy their groceries from the elegant stock of our grocers, S. A. Brew & Son. Those who cannot be satisfied there we verily believe would cry if they were to be hung. The Pennsylvania railroad, says the Jersey Shore Herald, is getting out its observation cars. These cars are open on the sides, have chairs instead of double seats, and are intended to run between Altoona and Cresson, to allow the passengers to see the views of the horse-shoe curve. Mr. Ira C. Mitchell, formerly of this place, but now practicing law in Lock Haven, is a member of the Good Templar lodge of that place. He attended the convention of the organization recently in session at Renovo, and was elected a delegate to the State Convention of Good Templars which meets at Reading this month.

We cheerfully pay a deserved compliment to Mr. George W. Rodgers, the competent gentleman who now controls the water works. It is true that ever since he has occupied this position a ceaseless stream of pure "Adam's Ale" has continued to flow through the pipes. Temperance people especially have reason to be grateful for this, as during the dry, warm weather which now prevails much of the temptation to imbibe something stronger has been removed, as none can give scarcity of water for an excuse. We have not of late heard any complaints from any quarter of the town about lack of water, and Mr. George W. Rodgers can consider our hats off to him as a great public benefactor. Rev. John Hewitt, rector of the Episcopal church, led the meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, last Sunday afternoon, and delighted all who heard him by the good taste he displayed in choosing and treating his subject, his smooth, flowing and convincing language and easy delivery. The exercises were further engaged in by Gen. Beaver and Mr. James Sommerville, of this place, Mr. Young, of Baltimore, and Revs. Hughes and Laurie, of this place. The Association hopes to have the pleasure of enjoying the presence and aid of Rev. Hewitt frequently in the future. It is quite refreshing to notice the many superior qualities constantly being discovered in the general make-up of our legal and learned friend, Judge Orvis. It has long been recognized that as a legislator and Judge he has no superior, and now our exchanges convey the additional information that the Judge is the most expert angler in the State. We had more than half suspected this, and will be fully convinced on the practical attestation of it in the receipt of a dozen or more fair-sized fresh mountain trout--fruit of the Judge's own piscatorial skill. The sermon of Rev. Frank Wetzel, who preached in the Lutheran church of this place last Sunday morning, is described by those who heard it as an able production. Though provided with copious notes, he was enabled, after proceeding with his sermon, to speak almost without referring to them. The subject was in reference to the "Unity of the Church of Christ." It is quite evident that, ended as the young gentleman is with a love for his occupation, careful and earnest practice only is required to make him a most effective preacher. A large number of guests are soon to arrive and take up their summer residence at the Bush House. A party from Richmond, Va., will lead the van, on the 25th of this month. Several parties from Philadelphia and Baltimore will follow suit. Through July and August this fine hotel will contain a gay throng of visitors, who, together with the large number of persons permanently boarding there, should be able to furnish sufficient entertainment to give a pleasant summer to all. Several gentlemen arrived in town on Tuesday to aid in installing the recently elected officers in the Grand Army of the Republic, which took place on Tuesday evening in the hall over the Council chamber. Among them are: David Johnson, and John Johnson, of Elk City, Pa., and E. W. Hale, H. P. Blair, James I. Dennis, Samuel T. Johnston and Howard Watley, of Philadelphia, this county. Among the distinguished Philadelphians in town this week, we notice the names of W. W. McEwen, of the grocery house of Wainwright & Co., and Thomas Foster, of the Frishmuth tobacco house, registered at the Brockerhoff; and James H. Young, of Zeigler & Swearingen's notion house, at the Bush House. We have no doubt their numerous customers here were all glad to see them. Wilson, McFarlane & Co. are headquarters for the farmers. We notice a large number of Cultivators, Shovel-Plows, Double Harpoon Hay Forks and Rope and Pulleys of all sizes. The latest improvements are always secured by them and sold at the lowest prices. They are willing to give the farmer as low prices as he can secure directly from the manufacturer. As the season advances J. Newman, Jr., still enjoys a very large share of patronage. He employs such elegant workmen, and constantly has on hand such a large and complete stock of ready-made clothing, that people of Centre county are thoroughly convinced that it is to their interest to buy of him. Mr. James McCartney has a very handsome design of ornamental tissue fly paper which he is prepared to hang in stores, shops and saloons at a reasonable price. Persons desiring anything of the kind would do well to give Mac a chance. Orders may be left at Yeager's Saloon. They will receive prompt attention. Newman, Jr., is his name and some people call him King; but then these great men are not dismayed when we titles at them fling. He's a bigger man than Grant, every time; and the way he manufactures gent's clothes is just sublime; gentlemen, buy of him and you will always look fine. Wilson, McFarlane & Co. have secured the sole agency for Centre county of the unsurpassed Double Harpoon Hay Fork, which gave such universal satisfaction last year. Farmers, beware of the useless imitations of this wonderful fork. Buy none but the genuine. The Rev. W. A. Biggart seems to be an indefatigable worker. In addition to the oration Friday afternoon, he preached in the country on Saturday night, and performed his usual duties on Sunday.

WISDOM FROM THE PULPIT.--The two sermons delivered by Rev. John Hewitt last Sunday were each so interesting and instructive that they cannot be passed over without notice. The morning discourse was founded on Deuteronomy 16:16, "Three times a year shall all the males appear before the Lord thy God in the place which he shall choose; in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles, but ye shall not come before the Lord empty." The rector referred to the services of the church. That collects were known to have been compiled as early as the fourth century, and are in use by the Lutheran and several other denominations. That they each have reference to some separate blessing we receive from God, and all point to Christ as the chief corner-stone of the church. That the services of the church are divided into two parts--first, those having reference to the mysteries of religion, and, second, those putting the same into practical application. That Whit Sunday, or Pentecost, was the close of the first part. In the early days of the church no distinction was made between communicants and non-communicants. All who were baptized were admitted to the privilege, which it was customary to celebrate whenever they met together, and although it was not necessary for all to join on each occasion, they were required to do so at least three times in the year. At these times they must not come before the Lord empty-handed, but must give of what they have according as the Lord has prospered them, at least one-tenth of their income. The Lord gives to us the capability to accumulate wealth; and has a just right to demand a full partnership. This is no recent demand, either, as it was required as long ago as the time of Abraham, who gave tithes to Melchizedec. The discourse closed with a strong exhortation for all to present themselves as often as possible for communion. The first clause of Job 13:5 was the topic in the evening, "He taketh the wise in their own craftiness." Prominent instances were given in illustration, principally the somewhat notorious Tom Paine. The utterances made by him when in his days of health, and those made afterwards when on a wasting bed of sickness were contrasted with fine effect. It was known that Tom Paine wrote much before he died, but these writings have never been published. If they had consisted of more indel arguments his associates would hardly have given them to the world. Men make reason their God. They conclude that all rewards and punishments are visited on people in this life and hence conclude that there is no hereafter. The revelations we have of God are too strong to be overthrown. When the devout Arab was asked how he knew there was a God, he answered, "How did I know that a camel passed my tent last night but by these tracks in the sand?" and pointing to the sun setting in the western heavens, he said, "I know that those are not the tracks of man." The entire discourse was replete with convincing incident and argument. As a most marvelous answer to prayer, we need only mention that on Sunday in many churches there went up from the minister's lips the entreaty for "moderate showers of rain," and we listened with pleasure to the fervent "Amen's" which followed the prayer; when lo! ere the words of the evening petition had scarcely passed from his lips there came the welcome sound of a refreshing shower. This was followed on Monday, after a prolonged drought, by one of the most delightful, penetrating rains which has ever been experienced. This should make us rejoice, and should also convey to us its appropriate lesson. We were practically convinced of the fact that the enterprising firm of Furey & Dawson have opened their delightful ice cream saloon by the gift of some elegant ice cream and cake on last Monday afternoon. If that sent us is a sample of what may always be obtained at this establishment we must say that they deserve and will doubtless obtain most of the patronage. Hereafter when a young lady hints to her beau that ice cream is very desirable, we would recommend her to mention that Furey & Dawson's ice cream is particularly so. They are located in Bush's Arcade building. Oh, how we should enjoy being at Manhattan Beach on Saturday of next week when this new summer resort will open amid a crash of instruments which is advertised as the finest programme ever given at any concert in the United States. Then, every day the charms of the place will be intensified by the presence of Gilmore's Band and the far-famed Cornetist, "Levy." The finest hotel of its kind in the world is there and a balloon ascends every day. Any one who wants a near approach to Elysium itself need only remain a few weeks at Manhattan Beach. The festival for the benefit of the M. E. church last Friday and Saturday was a success. The receipts were over sixty dollars, and fully fifty dollars of this will prove a clear profit. This should make our M. E. brethren feel as gay and festive as a big sun-flower and certainly merits our congratulations. Mr. John Anderson, of this place, lost an interesting little boy, under distressing circumstances, last Sunday morning. He was attacked on the evening previous by inflammation of the bowels, superinduced by a bath, and died early the following morning.

PROGRESS OF THE ROBBERS--AN UNWILLING PRISONER.--Fortunately the course of robbery, like that of true love, does not always run smoothly. Some persons or persons who calculated on securing a good haul from the residence of our postmaster, Mr. John Johnson, last Saturday night, only succeeded in putting themselves to much inconvenience and accomplished nothing. The family of Mr. Johnson remained up until a late hour on that evening, and because of the oppressive state of the atmosphere allowed the doors of the house to remain open. Mr. Robber thought he was going to have what is called in language more expressive than elegant--a "soft" thing of it--when he entered the open door of the basement kitchen and concealed himself in a dark corner. At about eleven o'clock the good lady of our postmaster descended to the kitchen and fastened the somewhat complicated lock of the outside door, which she did with a blissful unconsciousness of this terrible man gazing at her from the corner. On ascending from the kitchen, she as usual locked the door leading up-stairs, thus cutting off Mr. Robber's further entrance into the house. When he thought that the inmates were safely locked in the arms of Morpheus, Mr. Robber commenced making explorations in his underground retreat. He found he could not with safety force his way into the house, and finding nothing to delight his eye or please his taste in the kitchen, he considered that a retreat would be the better part of valor. But lo, he could not manipulate the lock, and his heart began to quake with guilty fear at this prospect of his exit being cut off. Desperation gave him strength and he succeeded in forcing his way out, but in doing so he awoke Mrs. Johnson. On an examination being instituted, it was found that nothing had been carried away by this individual; indeed, we doubt not he is now congratulating himself that he escaped with a whole skin. It is also said that a being resembling one of the genus Robber was seen prowling around the residence of Gen. James A. Beaver, but that Mr. Cameron Burnside looked at him and the robber fled. THE TEMPERANCE MASS MEETING.--The evening of Decoration Day was appointed by the "powers that be" for the temperance mass meeting, which doubtless originated with the Women's Christian Temperance Union. At half-past seven o'clock the Mountain City Band, with its usual sweet strains of music, called the people together. A large crowd was attracted by the music, but the number who entered the Court House was not as great as was to be expected. S. Stewart Lyon, Esq., was elected President of the meeting and Mr. Thomas Barnside was appointed Secretary. A regular programme had been prepared and opened with the patriotic hymn, "America," lead by a quartette consisting of two of the Misses Lyon, and Messrs. Evan Blanchard and Frank Keller, the two gentlemen representing, perhaps, the best tenor and bass in our town. Rev. R. Crittenden then made an opening address, he being appointed as a substitute for the Rev. A. D. Yocum. This was succeeded by music from the choir and an address by Mrs. Ellis, of Philadelphia, which as usual was a very able effort. President Lyon must have been seized by a feeling of ennui, or else felt a sudden craving for ice cream, for he here suddenly abbreviated the exercises, saying that the people had perhaps heard all that they cared for. Closing with the singing of "All Hail" and the benediction by Rev. William Laurie, the audience dispersed, most of them perhaps following Mr. Lyon to the Methodist festival. POSITION OF THE PLANETS FOR JUNE.--The Altoona Tribune says that Mercury will be in a longitudinal line with Saturn to-day, in a similar line with Neptune on the 11th, in ascending mode on the 12th, and in a line with Uranus on the 30th. Mercury will also be in superior conjunction with the sun on the 18th. Mars will be in conjunction with Saturn on the 30th. The moon will be in conjunction with Venus on the 23d. The principle disturbing positions of the planets for June, appear to be located about to-day, the 12th, 17th to 20th and 30th. The temperature June for will probably be below the mean of the season over the great areas of territory in the north temperate zone. Sun-spots may be looked for during the greater part of the month. As Mansell's Planetary Almanac has hit the temperature of the weather pretty accurately for the past five months we may infer from the foregoing that no one will run any risk of being melted in June. There may be some very warm days, but, like May, the average will probably be below the mean of the season. BAPTIST FESTIVAL.--It has been decided to hold the Baptist festival next week, beginning on Thursday. The Baptist have treated our people to festivals on several previous occasions, and only those who have attended are aware of what excellent affairs of this kind they are capable of getting up. Besides, if there is one congregation more deserving of our sympathies than another, because of the great work accomplished, it is this little struggling denomination. Let those who desire to be full of good works and ice cream turn out next week and give the Baptists a rousing benefit. Mrs. Brockerhoff is enlarging the conservatory to the east end of her Bishop street residence.

MONDAY NIGHT IN THE COUNCIL ROOM.--Last Monday night President Humes and Messrs. Crider, Harper, Kabelle, McClure and Reynolds rested their weary limbs on the soft seats which furnish the Council chamber, with Clerk Mitchell and Solicitor John G. Love also in attendance. The minutes were read and approved, as is the case with most things executed by the competent clerk. The Street Commissioners reported that the citizens, represented by Isaac Guggenheimer, Esq., desired the bridge on High street to be widened and were willing to recompense the borough to the tune of $100. The Nuisance Committee reported that they had not yet secured a place for the pound. Clerk read the report of Mr. James Harris, the Treasurer, for $3 paid to him by the Market Clerk. Solicitor Love said that in his opinion Council could not collect tax on dogs otherwise than provided by ordinance. On motion of Mr. Harper, seconded by McClure, Council appropriated $200 to Undine Hose Company and $50 to Logan Hose Company for this year. President did not follow the example of the Washington Fraud by interposing his veto, so the appropriation bill passed on third reading. The Logan boys get their hall rent free, which is supposed to make up the extra $150. The clerk read a communication from G. W. Rodgers, engineer. Solicitor Love submitted an opinion relative to rights of Duncan, Hale & Co., height of dam, etc. On motion of McClure, the legal opinion of the Solicitor was submitted that his services to date were worth $20, which was accepted and passed. Nothing more appearing on the clerk's minute, it is to be inferred that the Council congratulated one another on the prospect of more rain and retired to legislate for their families at home. Gospel temperance meetings began at the Court House last evening and will continue through this and to-morrow evenings of this week. The attendance and co-operation of every friend of temperance is solicited and an earnest invitation is extended to all. The meetings will be participated in by Mrs. R. F. Ellis, of Philadelphia, and by Dr. Richard and Mrs. Mary W. Thomas, of Baltimore, Md., who have during the past winter been co-laborers with Mr. D. L. Moody, and whose efforts have been blessed of God in the conversion of many. The meetings will open at eight o'clock and will be under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Bellefonte. We can assure all that they will be interesting and profitable, and hope that there may be a large attendance. Among the recent additions to the Episcopal church, of this place, are an index board and an arrangement in the vestibule on which to place notices that may be of interest to those who enter the church. The index board is suspended next the organ in the church, and indicates the day of the month and the hymns which will be sung. From this convenient arrangement all the services of the day can be found without any announcement from the pulpit. The index board was a present from one of the classes in the Sunday-school. Alluding to flowers, those in the street window of our baker friend, Mr. Albert Kauth, seem to be as full of life and vigor as any we see; and for out-door flowers those surrounding the lawn in the rear of the residence of Mr. Thomas Reynolds are prettily arranged and gay in coloring, and form an attractive picture. We have received Vol. 1, No. 4, of the Weekly Record, a new and handsome paper which will record the weekly events of Sewickly, Allegheny county, and treats its readers to reliable Democratic doctrine. It is as acceptable as it is handsome, and we cheerfully welcome it to our exchange list. The Philadelphia Journal says that Mr. Harry Williams, formerly of this place, but now located at Philadelphia, was horseback riding with his lady on Monday evening week, when he was thrown forcibly from his seat to the ground, sustaining some disagreeable injuries about his face. Alva Grow found occasion to visit Lock Haven again last Thursday. We would suggest that if Alva would hurry up that wedding it will save him the inconvenience of making so many trips in that direction. The police of New York are being vaccinated. But what's the use of it? They never catch anything.--Boston Courier. That's so, and the intention perhaps is to keep the devil from catching them. The Quarterly Meetings of the Society of Friends are in session this week. A meeting will be held in their meeting house this morning at 11 o'clock, which will be addressed by Friends from abroad. The public is cordially invited. Young men and old men, and in fact all members of the male persuasion, are invited to attend the meeting at the room of the Young Men's Christian Association to-morrow night and learn something to their advantage. Farmers, have you examined the Self-Dump Leader Horse Hay Rake for sale by Wilson, McFarlane & Co. For simplicity, conveniences and rapid execution it is unsurpassed. We had a pleasant call from Messrs. Hale and Blair, of Philadelphia, both officers of the G. A. R., who came on Tuesday to assist in the re-organization of the post of the order in Bellefonte.

TOM THUMB COMING TO TOWN.--Mr. George Peck, the gentlemanly advance agent of Tom Thumb's lilliputian troupe, called on us yesterday and announced that the valiant little General, accompanied by his wife, the infinitesimal Amy Reed, and the skatorial phenomenon, Major Newell, will appear at Reynolds' Opera House next Wednesday, giving an afternoon matinee and an evening performance. Here is sport for the children and the grown folks, too; as people never weary of witnessing the comic performances of these little nidgets. They come this time with a new and original piece entitled, "The Mischievous Monkey." It will certainly be a pleasing entertainment for young and old. The temperance people at the forge announce a grand picnic for Friday, the 13th instant. The proceeds of the dinner will be devoted to liquidating the debt which still exists on the temperance building now about being completed. A platform will be erected, which we suppose means that those who wish to dance can do so. FOUND.--On Spring street, between the residences of Adolph Loeb, Esq., and Mr. John D. Leib, a valuable brown kid glove, the property of a lady possessing a very handsome hand. The fair owner can recover the same, by calling upon or communicating with the editor. In doing so please designate to which hand the glove belongs. The account of Decoration Day ceremonies throughout the county may be found on the fourth page. MARRIAGES. The happy pair were supported by Misses Gray and Hunter as bridesmaids, and Messrs. Frank Zimmerman and Edward Chambers, as groomsmen--the latter a brother of the bride. Bounteous and elegant refreshments were served and all went merrily as the proverbial marriage bell, the train who were now one receiving congratulations with beaming modesty.
