THE COMING SCHOOL TERM .- Eight long months of school will begin next Monday morning. The first stroke of the morning bell will signal the termination of the recent pleasant holidays. The children should not delay until then to search for their books and slates. During to-day, to-morrow and Saturday they should collect all the necessary articles to be used in school, review the few concluding lessons of last term, and be prepared to start with their studies where they left off. There is a time for work and a time for play, and they will grow up to be nothing more than great, useless dunces if they devote it all to play, and therefore all the children should look forward to the next eight months with SUMMARY OF THEIR METEORIC DISTURBING the same pleasure with which they hailed the holidays, for each is important in helping them to grow up good and useful citi-

Next Monday morning will doubtless find Mr. David Lieb, Mr. Henry Wetzel, Miss Rosa Woods, Miss Nannie McGinley, Miss Mary Nesbitt, Miss Bella Rankin Miss Lizzie Campbell, Miss Annie McAffery and Miss Mary Schrom in their places ready to welcome the children. Every child of six years of age and over who can possibly go to school, should be sent, bepossibly go to school, should be sent, beginning the first day and continuing through the term. The corps of teachers enumerated above are very proficient, and will doubtless exert themselves to their best endeavors in improving the physical, mental and moral condition of their scholars. Then, go to school and do your best, confident that although you may never become the President of these United States,
you will at least be in a position to gain,
by your learning and moral worth the esteem of all good people.

by your learning and moral worth the es-teem of all good people.

Nor would we omit to add that there is also a pleasant school for the colored chil-dren of the town, under the care of Mr. Brooks, whose capability was tested last year and proved equal to the occasion. There are many of these children to whom the coming term of school may be of great benefit if they will attend.

Bellefonte Academy.

THE YOUNG LADIES' SCHOOL

will be opened for the fall session on Wednesday, September 3, under the charge of Mrs. W. W. Robinson, a lady of liberal culture, large and varied experience, and Christian refinement. Mrs. Robinson formerly had charge of a young ladies' seminary in Cincinnati, and more recently has had a very successful experience in the addition to her other classes, she will give instruction in drawing to young ladies of Bellefonte. In this department she has had successful experience. She brings with her the highest testimonials as to her fitness for her work from those who know her well.

THE YOUNG GENTLEMEN'S SCHOOL will open on Thursday, September 4. The Principal has secured as classical teacher and first assistant, Mr. Chas. Heebner, a graduate of Lafayette College, of high standing, having taken three of the prizes of his class, one of them being the prize in classics. He has also been very successful in preparing boys for admission into ful in preparing boys for admission into Yale College. He is a young man of rare ability, fine scholarship, and comes to us highly recommended.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOL

will open on Wednesday, September 3, un-der the care of Mrs. Ogden, who is already so well and so favorably known among us.

A REGULAR COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT will be opened in the boys' school for the young men of Centre county. The Principal will give instruction in Commercial Arithmetic and Book-keeping, and Prof. Charles Bauer, who is already well known among us a successful teacher of penmanship, will take the entire charge of the writing department without extra expense to the pupil.

Thus, with a full corps of competent and successful teachers, we purpose to furnish all needed instruction to meet the intellectual wants of the youth of Bellefonte and Centre county, and to have the Bellefonte Academy do more for the credit of its friends and patrons in the future than it has done in the past. What we sak from those who take a pride in their own institution is a cordial sympathy and a liberal support in return.

The Sprague scandal comes to the The Sprague scandal comes to the surface again in the fight of Mrs. Sprague, with her children, from her husband's house, and her temporary disappearance. Unhappily it is only temporary. The next act of this domestic drama is likely to be played in the courts, and the whole story of the divided household will be spread before the public in saddening detail. There is not a great deal of sympathy called for on behalf of either the husband or the wife, except that sympathy, which the wife, except that sympathy, which always must go out to those who have started out on the voyage of life with brilliant promise and have made an early shipwreck. If we have any sympathy to spare we may spend it on the children; the parents have been mainty, the architects of their own misfor. ly the architects of their own misfor-tunes. When Kate Chase was married to William Sprague everybody thought it a brilliant match; but the man has disappointed everybody's expectations, and none could have been more disapand none could have been more disap-pointed than the ambitious woman whose love he lost when he lost the world's respect and hers. Less promi-nent people might have suffered in silence, as man and woman do suffer every day, or if the rupture came it would have attracted no attention. But these people have lived before the world, and they cannot now escape the public scrutiny of their most intimate relations. We need not attempt to judge between them, for when husband and wife so fail in their duties one to another condemnation and pity belong alike to both. The one person who stands absolutely without sympathy in the whole sad business is the man whose intolerable vanity brought about this present scandal. Mr. Conkling's conduct is without defence. No matter how innocent his thoughts, he knew as all the result has been been been as the control of the cont all the world knew how he was compromising the woman's reputation and un-dermining the peace of a family. It pleased him to hear his name coupled with hers; he fed his own vanity by flattering hers, and it is now his proud privilege to reflect that he has broken up once a respected family, bringing sorrow and shame upon those whose hospitality he has enjoyed, and covering the lives of their children with a cloud. If this scandal should bring Mr. Carkling not only a properly discarding the contract of the contrac

By permission of the Treasury Department the revenue cutter Perry left Erie for Buffalo last Wednesday morning, with between thirty and forty guests on board. Among them were Hon. Samuel Butler, Republican candidate for State Treasurer, Hon. L. F. Watson, and O. H. Hunter, Esq., of Warren; Hon. Harry White, of Indiana. Many of the gentlemen were accompanied by ladies. After visiting Niagara Falls, the party returned to the Perry Friday morning, after a pleasant voyage all around.—Warren Mail.

The "Treasury Department" is John Sherman, who is getting up a boom for himself as the Republican candidate for 1880. Beginning with the days of Grantism this use of Government ves-sels for junketing parties is getting to be an every-day occurrence. Sherman, himself went in a Government craft along the New England coast to Maine the other day, nominally on a tour of inspection, but really to make stump speeches. SOUND REASONS

Why we can undersell any exclusive Clothing Store in Centre county.

Reasons which if carefully weighed will convince any one with average common sense:

First----We deal in all classes of general merchandise, including DRY GOODS. Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, Queensware, Notions, Carpets, Hats and Caps, and everything generally kept in a well regulated Country Store.

Second---- We keep the largest and best assorted stock, in styles and qualities, of Men's, Youth's and Childrens' Clothing in Centre county.

Third---- From the two foregoing reasons any one can easily see our maintenance does not depend upon the large profits that must be made on a suit of clothing by any exclusive clothing store, and consequently we can afford to sell at a smaller profit than any of them. And since we can afford it we are willing to give our customers the benefit of the same.
