RESOLUTIONS.

The Democratic party of Centre county, by its delegates in convention assembled, olves, st. That we endorse the platform

Ist. That we endorse the platform adopted by the Democratic State Convention as a correct exposition of the principles and purposes of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania.

2nd. That in Daniel O. Barr the Democracy of Pennsylvania have a candidate for the important office of State Treasurer entitled to public confidence and worthy of popular support. In an eminent degree he embodies the Jeffersonian standard of "honesty and capacity," and his ard of "honesty and capacity," and his election, in the words of the resolution of election, in the words of the resolution of the convention that placed him in nomina-tion, "will preserve the commonwealth from any repetition of the systematic em-bezzlements of interest and other spolia-tions which marked the long and scanda-lous career of the Republican treasury ring."

ard. That the finding of the Electoral ommission which deprived the choice of the people of his rightful seat as Execu-ve of the nation, was a blow at free-ective government which deserves and should receive the just condemnation of all honest men, and common justice de-mands that SAMUEL J. TILDEN should once again receive the nomination of the Democratic party for the Presidency in

4th. That we recognize in the Hon. WILLIAM A. WALLACE a statesman of commanding ability, power and useful less. As one of our representatives in the Senate of the United States we most heartily commend him for his laborious research and able and exhaustive presentation of facts bearing upon correct princi ples of constitutional government; for hi firm and unwavering stand against the un-constitutional and destructive centralizing tendencies of the Republican party; and for his energetic and fearless efforts to ex-pose and repel the wicked attempts of the Republican leaders to coerce and over-ride the popular will by Federal power, civil and military, at the elections of the people.

5th. That we approve and endorse the general course of our Representatives at Harrisburg, the Hon. C. T. ALEXANDER, in the Senate, and the Hons. J. P. GEP-HART and W. A. MURRAY in the House of Representatives during the late session of the State Legislature. In an atmosphere of corruption, and amidst flagrant attempts to debauch the legislation of the State, no stain of suspicion or reproach dis-honored one of them. Honest where many were years they proved themselves able honored one of them. Honest where many were venal, they proved themselves able and efficient in the discharge of their sev-eral duties; attentive and faithful to the interests of their constituents, and de-serve the high encomium of "Well done, good and faithful servants."

6th. That we believe that at the general election, held on November 5, 1878, Hon. Andrew G. Currin received a majority of all the legal votes cast for the office of Representative in Congress from the 20th District of Pennsylvania, and that he was therefore duly elected to the said office. And we most heartily endorse his course in contesting the right of his opponent to

Mr. Haves must have astonished the crowds who recently listened to his masterly eloquence when he repeatedly made the startling announcement that "the signs of reviving prosperity are visible on every hand." That fact has been patent on everybody but a wooden man for about twelve months. But Messrs. Hayes, Sherman and Schurz insist on crediting the Administration with this revival of business, while the common sense of the people compels them to declare that the improvement has come not by the aid, but in spite of the Administration. Mr. Hayes should note the broad distinction. He may as well claim honor for the "sweet fields arrayed in living green and rivers of delight" as ask to be commended for the fact that this young and vigorous country, with its measureless resources, is Mr. HAYES must have astonished the try, with its measureless resources, is recovering from depression largely due to long-continued mal-administration.

How Blaine Carried Maine.

Augusta Correspondence New York Herald.

Beyond the arguments on the stump, distribution of political literature, bull-dozing of employes and United States pensioners, the Republicans employed a lever which was more powerful and effective than all the others combined: effective than all the others combined: viz: money. They evidently had a large fund and they expended it judiciously and to the best advantage. It was raised at home, and the National committee gave permission to the State committee to draw upon it for as large a sum as might be necessary to buy the State. All the Republican State and National officials were assessed five per National officials were assessed five per cent. on their salaries, while all the can-didates were mercilessly bled to raise an immense corruption fund. One of the mail route agents on the train from Bangor to Portland was assessed $42.50 on his salary of $850, and I suppose he paid it, for he is still running on the train, and that would not be possible had he refused. A country postmaster in this district, with a salary of $45, was forced to disgorge $2.25 as his share of the fund. Voters were bought in this city like sheep in the shambles in this city like sheep in the shambles, and the same was true of the other cities and many of the larger towns in the State. The price paid for votes varied, and was somewhat smaller than in former years. I am told that $5, $10, $15 and $20 were paid, and in some instances $20 and $30, and even as high as $45 were paid for a single vote in the close districts. The buying was carried on to some extent by both sides but on to some extent by both sides, but the Republicans had a fund fifty times as large as their opponents, and easily outstripped them in this race. It is an encouraging thought that after year, if the biennial constitu constitutional amendment be adopted, as now appears to be the case, the moral sense of the people will not be offended by the disgraceful spectacle of vote-buying but once in two years.

The Cost of Collecting the Revenue.

cial Correspondence of The Times

Washington, September 14.—The disproportion between the cost of collecting the internal revenue and the cus-tems revenue is very great. Some in-teresting facts appear from a study of the amount of revenue derived from customs and from internal revenue and the cost of collecting the same respect ively from the year 1863 to 1878. Thus during the closing years of the war, when the internal revenue service had just been organized, the cost of collec-tion ranged only from 0.18 to 0.29 per cent, for amounts increasing from $37, 640,787 to $209,464,215, while the co the customs revenue was from 4.09 to 6.39 per cent. in collecting from $69, 59.642 to $102.316.152. Then the of collecting the internal revenue rose as high as 5.30 per cent. in 1871, but fell afterward to 2.99 and 2.96 per cent. or 1877 and 1878, the amount collected being $118,630,407 and $110,581,624 respectively. Meanwhile the cost of col cting the customs revenue has for the last five years ranged between 4.47 and 3.96 per cent., while the amount collected each of the last two years has been

THE Grant boom is about to open on he western shore of the continent to the western the alarm of all the Republican compet-itors for the next presidency. It is an-nounced by telegraph that everything will be done that the boundless control of money can invent and accomplish to give success to the ovation of welcome to Gen. Grant on his arrival in San Francisco. The City of Tokio which bears the Cæsar and his political fortunes is expected to arrive in San Fran-cisco about the 19th of this month. Gen. John McComb announces that the committee of reception has instructed the pilots to keep a lookout for the Tokio and to signal its approach by rockets and firing of guns until the sig-nals are answered from Point Labos. A battery of field pieces will fire a saattery of neid pieces will rive a sa-lute of twenty-one guns from the head of California atreet. All the church and fire bells will ring for a half hour. The committee will embark on the China, which will be loaded with fruits and flowers, to meet the Tokio, and all the vessels in the harbor are invited to form a fleet to meet the general and escort him to the city. The vessels of the navy will he ordered from Maro Island to join the cortege of welcome. The regular troops, the militia from all parts of the State, the civic organizations, and the crowds of citizens will be formed in line on the wharf and will escort Gen.
Grant to the Palace Hotel. It is evident that nothing will be wanting on the part of Grant's admirers on the Pacific to make his reception a complete success. The boom may well strike dismay to the hearts of Sherman, Blaine and the rest of his Republican visuals.

THE Radical papers that are clamor ing for "a strong government," and de claring sgainst the existence of violence in the Southern portion of the Union, must have knowledge of the fact that when the "strong governments" existed in the South things were much worse than they are now, even on their own showing. Under the administration of showing. Under the administration of Grant the carpet bag governments were upheld by military force, and the adventurers who were living off the sub stance of the people had things all their own way, if there be any virtue in military force. It is a fact however that despotism is the parent of violence and crime, and if General Sheridan and other high Radical authorities who sent blood-curdling reports North during those days when the Republic was a those days when the Republic was a semi-military despotism, are to be believed, more nurders were committed in Louisiana in a day then than are now committed in a year. Despotism produced whatever violence may have existed. Under the reign of liberty peace is returning and the political assassins are being exterminated. Even if the Constitution did not forbid it, a return to the barbarous government of return to the barbarous government of 1875-76 would be a most unwise pro-ceeding. But leaving that out of the question, it remains that the only traitors who are in this country to day are the men who are howling out for a mil-itary despotism to supplant the Repub-lic.—Hollidaysburg Standard.
