Local Department.

Saturday last was as fair a day as ere is seen in winter. Houses for rent. For particulars apply to Edward G. Brown. Mrs. D. G. Bush departed yesterday for a visit to Baltimore. The cigars sold by Harry Green are constantly increasing in popularity. Mr. Frank Montgomery returned from a trip to the city on Tuesday night. Smoke a cigar and meditate, but be very sure that you buy the cigar of Harry Green. The Mountain City Band serenaded Dr. R. L. Darrt and bride last Wednesday evening. Miss Nannie Harris has returned from Altoona, where she has been visiting for some time. We would inform those interested in the moon that it will be one-quarter full next Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Simon Harper returned from their wedding tour last Tuesday night on the late train. The Addisonian Literary Club did not meet last Saturday night. Exactly why is not known. We are indebted to Mr. Robert Henderson, of Benner township, for the pleasure of a recent visit. The many admirers of Miss Kate Jackson will be pleased to know that she has returned from her visit to Lancaster. Dr. Fairbank had so far recovered from his long and tedious illness as to be able to ride out on Saturday and Sunday last. Mr. William and Miss Dolly Burns arrived in this place last Tuesday night. Their many friends will be glad to see them. We regret to learn that Miss Mary Nesbit, one of the lady teachers in our public schools, has been ill for the last two weeks. Mr. Wilson Fleming and lady, of this place, departed yesterday to visit friends at a distance. They will be absent for a month. Miss Long, private governess in the family of Mr. D. G. Bush, departed on Tuesday morning to her home in Philadelphia. Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, Frank P. Blair will sell, at auction, all his fine silver show cases. First class goods, a chance for a bargain. We have the pleasure of publishing seventeen marriage notices this week, which shows the season is particularly active in this kind of events. The Young Men's Christian Association of Centre Hall held a public prayer meeting in the Presbyterian church of that place last Sunday afternoon. Miss Snowden has returned from her prolonged visit, no doubt even better prepared than before to assume the duties consequent upon her large music class. A new night school opened at Millheim, last week, in which German is taught. The instructor is Miss Josephine Kauffman, a lady of superior attainments. A musical convention, under the direction of Prof. P. H. Meyer, will commence at Spring Mills on Monday next. It will close with a concert on Friday night. A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association is called for Friday evening next, January 16. Business of importance is pending. Doctor Wilson, father of Mrs. ex-Governor Curtin, was quite ill last week at the Brockerhoff House, but, we are pleased to learn, has again recovered sufficiently to sit up. Mr. James Milliken took his departure from this place on Friday last. His brief visit was much enjoyed by the acquaintances of the talented and handsome gentleman. The popular drama of "Uncle-Tom's Cabin," as presented in this place last Saturday evening, was considered very fine. The same troupe played in Phillipsburg last evening. The new frame residence being erected on Penna street, between Howard and Lamb streets, will be quite a commodious structure. It is being built by Mr. John Ardell for other parties. Rev. John Hewitt preached a very interesting sermon last Sunday night about the three Magi, or wise men, who, under the guidance of the star, were led to the manger where Jesus was born. Sechler & Co., the model grocers, are now offering customers unusual inducements at their store. They are always supplied with a full line of superior groceries. Call and be convinced. The auction sales of jewelry by Frank P. Blair still continue, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons being reserved for ladies. Chairs are generally provided on such occasions for their comfort. Some very valuable watches and silver ware are disposed of at wonderfully low prices.

If "Carl S." of Millheim, will favor us by calling at this office, we will with pleasure converse with him upon a subject which we do not deem it expedient to occupy space with in our columns. So encouraging were the results of the meetings held in the different churches during the week of prayer that it has been deemed advisable to continue the meetings in several of the churches during this week. By the first of March next the State will be prepared to issue to the several companies of the National Guard new "great" coats, haversacks and other necessary equipments. We suppose that Company B. will receive its share. During this week the Phillipsburg Banking Company will remove from their present location into the elegant new stone structure known as the Hale building. This change for the better indicates the prosperity which this company is enjoying. Mr. Elmer C. Green, of this place, and a member of the M. E. Sabbath-school, is developing artistic abilities of a high order. He has been elected as special artist for the M. E. Sunday-school, and illustrates the lessons for each Sabbath on the blackboard. Messrs. J. B. and E. Ford, of Jeffersonville, Ind., were at the Bush House, this place, on Friday last. They enjoyed confidential confabs with sundry of our citizens, the subject matter of which is said to be the re-establishment of the old glass manufactory at this place. The Convocation of Williamsport assembled in Christ's church, Williamsport, on Thursday evening last. The parish of St. John's Episcopal church, this place, is a branch of the Convocation of Williamsport, and the rector, Rev. John Hewitt, was present at its meeting. The Bush House has recently established a barber shop in connection with the hotel. The shop is under the management of Mr. William Strayer, formerly of the Garman House. Mr. Strayer is an excellent barber and will give satisfaction to all who favor him with their patronage. Rev. G. W. Miller, the former talented and eloquent pastor of the M. E. church, of this place, but now of Chambersburg, has received a call from a church in Wilmington, Del., at a salary of $2,500 per year. Well, the learned divine is worth $2,500 if he's worth a cent, and we hope he will accept. The price of many necessary articles has lately taken an upward tendency, but groceries remain the same. At least this is true in regard to S. A. Brew & Son's grocery store, and, if any change has been made by this popular firm, it has been rather to reduce their prices. They always keep the best. Diphtheria is raging to some extent among the young folks in Penn's Valley. Two little girls—a daughter of Mr. Emanuel Musser and a daughter of Mr. John Zeigler—were victims of its terrible ravages last week. We extend to the afflicted parents the deepest sympathy. Your dear little girls are now where no more pain or sickness can ever come. Among the visitors from Lock Haven who attended the Camp Fire of the G. A. R., on Tuesday afternoon we noticed Mr. Jack Schuyler, the genial superintendent of the Fallon House. Mr. Schuyler met many friends, and judging from the good company in which we found him, after the lecture of Col. Bacheider, we should say he had a pleasant visit to our town. The attention of the public is directed to the fact that the new patented gate which is being introduced by Prof. Robt. Moore has merits which make it superior to any we have heretofore seen or used. John Rockey, Robert Valentine, Constance Curtin, J. A. Hunter, Dr. Hale, J. Dunlop Shugert, Major Wm. F. Reynolds, A. J. Shivery, R. & J. Henderson. Needs only to be seen to be appreciated. The Phillipsburg Journal says that Dr. H. Allport and lady, of that place, celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening of last week. The occasion was a pleasant one. The happy couple of ten years' married life received many tin tokens of the high appreciation which their friends entertain for them, but more than all they enjoyed the kind wishes expressed by their friends for their future prosperity and happiness. Mr. M. Lamb, of Baltimore, who has been in this place for several months engaged in painting the Bush House, Mr. D. G. Bush's residence and other property, was, during last week, quite ill at the Bush House. His illness is said to have been the result of a severe fall he received last summer while employed upon Mr. Bush's residence. This week he will go to his home in Baltimore, to visit his friends and to improve his health by recreation. He expects to return to this place after a few weeks absence, and we hope when he does come he will be restored to his usual vigor. The late rains have occasioned considerable increase in the volume of water flowing into the rivers and have caused them to rise to the much-desired rafting point. This fact is hailed very joyfully by lumbermen, among whom is our honored citizen, John Ardell, Jr. It exhibits, too, in a wonderful measure the constant and watchful care of a superintending Providence, which is even too beneficent in its workings. While in the fall it was but natural to think that the continued drought would not only materially injure business but also check the sprouting of early sown wheat, the recent precipitations of moisture and grateful warmth have remedied all injury that was occasioned from that cause, while doubtless some all-sufficient cause for it is retained in the councils of Jehovah.

THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG.—The illustrated lecture of Colonel John B. Bacheider, on the battle of Gettysburg, drew a fine audience to Reynolds' Hall on Tuesday night. Col. Bacheider was introduced to his hearers by Gen. James A. Beaver, and for over two hours his interesting and, at times, thrilling story was listened to with profound interest. His knowledge of the battle and all the important incidents connected with it, down to the minutest details, is thorough and accurate, and without any attempt at fine oratory he tells all in a plain, direct and engaging manner that at once commands and holds the attention of every hearer. With the aid of his large maps he described every important tactical movement of the troops, and every turning point in the terrible combat of three days. When requested to do so by any one in the audience, he gave the positions and movements of regiments, and related interesting reminiscences in connection with them, that at once developed his entire mastery of the whole plan of the battle and the different positions of the troops, showing that his study of 16 years has not failed to bear good fruit. It is the intention of Col. Bacheider to make Gettysburg the great illustrated battle field of the world. And with this purpose in view, he will still continue his researches, examining every new incident and detail that comes to his knowledge with the determination of bringing everything down to the point of absolute accuracy. He gives notice in all his lectures that he will be at Gettysburg in the last week of July and will be glad to meet visitors there at that time who desire to go over the field and view in person the great battle ground of Pennsylvania. Great numbers will undoubtedly take the Colonel at his word and be on hand at the time fixed. Indeed we hear so many of our citizens, who listened to the lecture on Tuesday night, express a determination to go, that some of the more ardent are already beginning to agitate the propriety of getting up an excursion to the historic field. Miss Fisher, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Harry Teats, of this place, is at present absent on a visit to other friends in this vicinity, but is expected to return to this place in a few weeks. We call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. J. A. & T. E. Griest, of Unionville, who offer a small farm for sale. Any one desiring to purchase a fifty acre farm may find a bargain in this offer. Flowers do not bloom very luxuriantly this season for even the most skillful cultivators of these beautiful objects. Walter Zeigler, however, has an unusually pretty flowering geranium in his drug store window. A lovely white lily and other pretty flowers are blooming very profusely in the Allegheny street window of the residence of our friend, Mr. W. F. Webb. We expect, however, they are the products of his wife's tender care and attention. Mr. S. D. Wetzel was a passenger on the out-going train on Tuesday afternoon. He is now on his way to Denver, Colorado, which he will make his future place of abode. His address is No. 25, South Fourth street, Denver, Colorado. We hope he will have a pleasant journey. The grocery firm of Sechler & Co. has been in existence so long, always dealing so liberally with customers, that reference to it is almost unnecessary. Persons who call there for groceries during the next few weeks will be able to buy from the largest and freshest stock in Bellefonte. A first-class meat market is kept in connection with the store. We understand that our friend Mr. J. N. Van Ormer, now of Miles township, has rented the Humes mill, in Spring township, near Bellefonte, and will take possession of it in the spring. Mr. Van Ormer comes to this locality with the reputation of being one of the best millers in Centre county. He is a genial, wholesome man, and we trust he will meet with the success that we know he deserves. The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Episcopal church, this place, will meet in the lecture room of the church to-morrow (Friday) evening. This is a society composed only of ladies, but from the manner the announcement of their gathering was made we infer that gentlemen may attend if they desire. The society has accomplished so much that for the last nine months it has not been found necessary to ask for money for missionary purposes from the pulpit of the church. Erastus J. Burkert, who is said to be a native of Centre county and who at present must live in the vicinity of Chicago, is reported in the Chicago Tribune to be guilty of the wonderful feat of writing 7,606 words, on an ordinary postal card. The words written include the fifth, sixth and seventh chapters of St. Matthew and the first, second, third, fourth and fifth chapters of Ecclesiastes. This is the greatest feat of its kind on record. Amid the din and clash of contending factions, and the general upheaval of the great political parties consequent upon the near approach of an important national election, it is gratifying and cheering to know that at least one man in the country will look upon the mighty contest with the philosophic unconcern which characterized the attitude of the old woman as she watched the conflict between her husband and the bear. Our fellow townsman, Mr. H. O. Hoffer, has announced his entire and complete separation from all political parties and creeds. Hereafter he is a free lance and will owe no allegiance to either men or measures. We wish Hiram success in his modern crusade against the political Saracens.

IN JAIL AND OUT.—Most of the people of our county know what it is to be out of jail, but there are not many who have any acquaintance with life inside the gloomy walls and behind the strong bars. We, however, had a quarter of an hour's experience in the latter situation one day last week, in the mammoth stone structure known as Fort Spangler on top of the hill, and found, notwithstanding sundry accounts to the contrary, that it is not such a terrible place after all. Nevertheless, we would advise people to keep out of it if possible. In all, Fort Spangler contains about twenty cells, two only of which are for females, which would indicate that the men of this county are nine or ten times more in need of such correction than the women. The proportion represented by the inmates of the jail at present is even greater than that—6 to 1. The cells are all supplied with barred iron doors, but these are only closed on the inmates at night, and, if peacefully disposed, they are given the freedom of the halls during the day. But back of these cells on the first floor—one on either side of the hall—are two places called dungeons. Massive iron doors shut on the hapless occupant of these cells, leaving him in the blackness of darkness. Only one of them, however, is shut off entirely from the light, and a small window sheds a ray of light in the one on the left. The necessity which compels the maintenance of such a place is to be regretted, but it is seldom if ever that one becomes so depraved as to merit incarceration in the dungeon. All the cells are provided with water and heat, and the jail is comfortably warm throughout in the severest of weather. The cells and halls are light and almost cheerful, and with the aid of the three substantial meals each day that are given the prisoners, they can, if so disposed, improve the time by the perusal of books and papers, which are always provided. In addition to bountiful meals, they are given coffee twice each day. We are also informed that they can, at their pleasure, enjoy the freedom of the large yard surrounded by the high wall to the rear of the jail. There are at present only six prisoners in the jail, all of whom are placed there for trivial offenses. This is the smallest number that have been there since Mr. Spangler took possession. We are glad that such a secure and pleasant place has been provided for the evil-doers of our county, but would rejoice to see morals so much improved as to render such an institution as a jail an unnecessary incubance. LEAP YEAR LAW.—The Supreme Court of Indiana has afforded a principle in respect to the computation of time which is likely to prove of serious trouble to bankers and others. It is that the 28 and 29 of February are to be computed as one day. The question becomes of special importance now that leap year (1880) is with us. To illustrate, suppose that a note be drawn on the 28th of February, A. D., 1880, on one day after date. If the 28th and 29th be counted as one day, the note would mature on the 4th day of March, but otherwise on the third. If on the third, clearly protest on the 4th would not hold the endorsers. Vice versa, if the rule of computation be to count separately the 28th and 29th of February, the protest on the 4th would be of no avail. The question in Indiana was suggested by the fact of there being ten days previous service of process necessary for judgment. And the cause having been begun in the last leap year, 1876 the process was not served in time, if the 28th and 29th days of February were to be computed as one day. And the court held that they must be so counted.—Phillipsburg Journal. INSPECTION.—In speaking of the quarterly inspection of company E, Fifth Regiment, National Guard, which took place at Phillipsburg on Tuesday evening of last week, the Journal states that Captain Harry Simler received high praise from Colonel Burchfield because of the excellent condition in which the company was found. The inspection revealed the fact that the arms, accoutrements, &c., of Company E are superior to those of any company yet visited. Previous to the inspection an election took place to supply the vacancy caused by the resignation of Second Lieutenant Myers. Mr. Jeff. S. Jones was the successful candidate, and if his examination, which will be held before the Military Board in this place to-morrow, proves satisfactory, he will immediately enter upon his duties. HIS RIGHT HAND CUT OFF.—A most unfortunate accident occurred to Dr. J. M. Stewart, of Snow Shoe, on Friday last. He was engaged at the time in his shingle mill in sawing the lathe with which to bind the shingles. By some means for which he cannot himself exactly account, his right hand came in contact with the saw entirely separating the fingers from it. Dr. Dobbins, of this place, was summoned, and departed on the evening train for Snow Shoe to attend his patient. He remained there until the afternoon train to this place on Saturday, giving his suffering patient the benefit of his skill. It was found necessary to amputate Dr. Stewart's hand across the palm. At last accounts Dr. Stewart was doing as well as could be expected. MONDAY, January 5, 1880.—Our stock of woolens for the spring and summer season of 1880 just received. Leave your order now. Respectfully, MONTGOMERY & Co., Tailors.

A SEQUEL TO "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."—Among the many other excellent features to "Uncle Tom's Cabin," as represented by Rial and Draper's celebrated troupe, was a laughable after-piece on Sunday night, which introduced the blood-hound, the pursued and pursuers and several more of the dramatic personae. That excellent colored clergyman, Rev. James Palmer, with good reason, gave his congregation a few wise words of counsel in regard to attending theatrical exhibitions to the neglect of religious duties. This incensed some members of the aforesaid troupe who were listening to the divine, and they immediately left the church in a rather insulting manner. Not satisfied with this they waited for Mr. Palmer on the street, at the conclusion of the service, determined to make the gentleman retract his words. The members of the congregation, however, conducted him home in safety. As soon as practicable, Rev. Palmer entered a complaint against the aforesaid offenders for disturbing a religious meeting and indulging in profane language, and they were bound over for appearance before the justice on Monday morning. The major portion of the troupe went on to Clearfield to fill an engagement at that place in the evening, while the managers promptly appeared at the proper time. Loud and profuse were the testimonies given on either side, but the troupe were found guilty of the offenses charged and were fined $15.00. When traveling troupes sojourn over Sunday in a place where the public sentiment on moral questions is so healthy as it is here, they should remember that they attend church only to hear of their faults and to profit by—not find fault with—what they hear. MEETING OF PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.—According to notice, a public meeting of the Patrons of Husbandry, was held in the M. E. church at Centre Hall, Saturday afternoon, January 10, which was of unusual interest. The exercises consisted of essays, speeches and music. James H. McCormick read the "Declaration of Purposes of the Order." Mrs. Kate Conley read an excellent essay on the "Education of the Working Classes." Dr. Calder, President of State College, spoke for over an hour on the "Objects and Advantages of the Order." Miss Maggie S. Rhone read a very able essay on "Home—How to make Centre county Homes Pleasant and Attractive." These exercises were sandwiched by some of the best music the people of Centre Hall ever had the pleasure of hearing. It was rendered by the Centre Hall class under the instruction of Prof. Philip Moyer, and received much deserved praise. The meeting adjourned about 4 o'clock, and all departed well pleased with the entertainment. ELECTING OFFICERS AND DECLARING A DIVIDEND.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad was held in the Fallon House, Lock Haven, on Monday. The election of officers resulted in the following wise selection: President—Hon. L. A. Mackey. Secretary and Treasurer—Edmund Blanchard, Esq. Board of Directors—Col. Thomas A. Scott, Hon. James A. Gamble, Col. A. C. Noyes, Hon. C. A. Mayer, Hon. A. G. Curtin and Hon. John Irwin, Jr. After the election the Treasurer, Mr. Blanchard, presented a report upon the financial condition of the company, which, as usual, exhibited a very encouraging condition of affairs. The Board of Directors then declared a semi-annual dividend of three per cent. upon the capital stock. The Bald Eagle Valley Railroad has thus entered upon a new year which will doubtless be more prosperous than any preceding one. PASSING AWAY.—One by one the roses wither and die; one by one old things pass away and new ones take their place. The old fight of one hundred and fifty, or more, steps, leading from Water street up the "hill of science" to the Bellefonte Academy at the top, which, in youthful days, many of our acquaintance used to climb—their bosoms heaving with ambitious thoughts of future education and glory—have been, during the past few years, slowly crumbling away, until now but half a flight of broken steps remain at the top of the hill. Would it not be better to have left them there to suggest to the present generation what a hard, steep, straight road all must climb to attain true greatness and glory? DEATH OF A VENERABLE OLD LADY.—In this place, on the 31st day of December, 1879, occurred the death of Mrs. Mary Powers, mother of our good citizens, John, Patrick and James Powers, Esq's. She was also the mother-in-law of Mr. Merty Cunningham and the grandmother of 37 grandchildren. Two other sons, a brother and a nephew she sent to the Union army, one of whom was killed in the battle of Antietam. At the time of her death she was 75 years of age and had resided in this place during the last thirty years. Those who knew her in life hold her name in pleasant remembrance. She was a faithful, zealous Catholic, and a liberal, Christian woman. In her death her friends suffer a great loss. Her funeral on Friday, the 2d instant, was largely attended. —One hundred and fifty dollars were realized as the proceeds of the festival held for the benefit of the Centre Hall Lutheran church during the holidays. —About four inches of the beautiful snow fell in this place on Monday afternoon and night. It was the heaviest fall of the season up to this date.

THE GRAND ARMY CAMP-FIRE.—Tuesday was indeed a grand day with Gregg Post, G. A. R., of this place. In addition to the attraction of Col. J. B. Bacheider's lecture, it was determined to make the day one which would carry their minds back to the scenes of the war in all its details. For this purpose several neighboring Posts were invited to participate in what is termed a "camp-fire" celebration. None of the Posts found it convenient to accept the invitation except Post 122, of Lock Haven, which sent about twenty members to this place on the afternoon train. Before they arrived, however, many old soldiers and other persons about town accepted the invitation extended to all to join with the home Post in eating a dinner prepared in genuine war style. Four rough tables had been constructed in the corner room on the third story of Humes' building. Tin dishes, tin cups, iron knives and forks, &c., were used. The bill-of-fare consisted of bean soup, pork, boiled; salt horse, boiled; hard tack; and coffee—no cream, but sugar. The dinner and also the supper, which was given to the visiting Post after the arrival of the train, was much enjoyed. C. M. O'Conner, Post Commander of the Lock Haven Post, was also present. After the supper an informal meeting was held in the room of Gregg Post. Gen. James A. Beaver made an opening speech in which he related several interesting and amusing anecdotes about the war. Gen. Curtin responded to call and also related a number of amusing incidents of the war that came under his personal observation during his active connection with it as Governor of the State. The remarks of the Governor caused much merriment, as he resumed his seat he received hearty demonstrations of applause. The Governor promised to present the Post with an engraved copy of Rothermel's celebrated painting of the "Battle of Gettysburg." Post Commander O'Conner next took the floor and, after returning thanks in behalf of the members of his Post for the cordial manner in which they had been received and for their kind entertainment, expressed the hope that they would sometime have the pleasure of receiving Gregg Post at Lock Haven. Mr. Chatham, G. Keller and Mr. Shultz followed in their remarks, the latter telling a laughable experience of army life while in camp in Maryland in 1862. This informal way of passing an hour in the rooms of the Post was an exceedingly pleasant feature of the gathering and will be remembered with great pleasure by all who were present. The work of the committees who had charge of the arrangements was well done and reflected great credit upon them for their efficiency. LECTURE.—An event of considerable importance to the African M. E. church of this place will occur on Tuesday the 27th day of this month. It will be the presence of one of the most learned divines in their church, Bishop Wayman, of Baltimore, who will deliver a lecture in the Court House. The lecture will be for the benefit of the denomination in this place and will be in every respect worth hearing. Remember the time and place and prepare yourself accordingly. PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.
